"Nellie Bly" Express, Running at Full Speed, Crashes Into an Accommodation Train, With Awful Results.

Seems too early to think of gauzy cottons while winter's here?

Not if you like gowns to be different; these "different" gowns are made of the styles that Blossom nonsense and are not obtainable when the first frosts are gone. They may be no colder than those that came last in each infinitely admirable season, but they bear enough of a touch of exclusiveness to their wearers. Assortments are very full now, and styles are so beautiful man ever. Colorways are much in power to give us a touch of the brightening touches given by monochromatic striped and striped are added an array of scarfs, shawls, Pearses—\-figures without number and prominence with little limit, almost.

Sheer Cottons—General variety to every shade of every color. blooming and Shantung—coming of the season. Short ribbons are woven, in.
