THE "NEW DEAL" RELIEF AND RECOVERY ORGANIZATIONS

A year ago the country turned its eyes anxiously to Washington. Black clouds overhung the economic horizon. Depositors were frantically withdrawing funds from banks where banks were still open; twelve to thirteen million workers were unemployed; lengthening bread lines shuffled their weary way day after day; indexes of industrial and economic life were dropping; farmers, wage-earners, and business men were desperate. A year has passed. But the picture is changed. From despair and doubt the people of the United States—realizing the still tremendous problems to be faced—have regained courage and are looking at the future with confidence and hope. At Washington a tremendous and complex set of administrative machinery has been put into operation. It takes all the letters of the alphabet to form the initials of the names of these boards, councils, administrations, commissions and bureaus. Would you like to have an outline of their organization, powers, duties, financing and operations?

Our Washington Bureau has a new bulletin ready for you, alphabetically arranged, telling in brief and understandable language what each one is, what it does, and how it does it. Fill out the coupon below and send for it:

BIRDS WILL BE FED BY CLUB

Fulton County Federation Receives Authorization to Purchase Feed

Officials of the Fulton County Federation of Forest, Fish and Game clubs have been authorized by the New York State Conservation Department to purchase feed for the preservation of bird life because of the heavy fall of snow in this vicinity. Anyone knowing where there are birds needing food should get in touch with the nearest official of the Federation. Their names and addresses are: Clarence Gortey, Benedict; T. E. Lee, Broad-albin; John E. Wells, Johnstown; and H. J. Clifford, Gloversville. Fulton County received the last of its full quota of 900 varying hares yesterday and the average condition was the best for the entire number that ever came to the county and this covers a period dating back to 1908. Advice from the shipper in Maine state that the weather conditions are the worst he ever knew and not more than one-half of the Conservation Department order of 20,000 will be filled this season. Sportsmen of Fulton county can be thankful for it means that approximately one-tenth of the hares coming into the state came to this county.

LEADER COMIC STRIP ARTIST PASSES AWAY

Readers of the "Scorchy Smith" comic strip in The Leader-Republic will learn with regret of the death Tuesday night in Coral Gables, Fla., of John C. Terry, the artist and originator. However, readers will learn with interest that the strip will be continued with a new artist in charge. Concerning the artist's passing, an Associated Press despatch reads: "Sick Since Last Fall CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 28.—(AP)—John C. Terry, comic artist and a pioneer in animated cartoon films, died here last night. He came here last Fall from New York, suffering from a kidney ailment. Terry created "Scorchy Smith," boy aviator strip, for the Associated Press Feature Service four years ago and the feature has achieved widespread success. It will be carried on by Noel Sickles, who has collaborated with Mr. Terry recently. Born in San Francisco in May, 1880, Terry started working in the Call's Art Department while in his teens. From there he went to Anaconda, Mont., as cartoonist for the Standard, and later was with the former New York World and with the St. Paul Dispatch. Terry first made animated cartoons in 1912. A brother, Paul Terry, still is engaged in the work in New York. His wife, Mrs. Alexa Terry, also survives."

COAL DEALER CODE GOES INTO EFFECT

The coal dealers in the Glove Cities have requested the general public to place orders earlier in the week because of the changes under the N.R.A. code for retail fuel dealers, which went into effect Monday. Under the code the coal companies have established a new 48-hour week during the winter season and a 40-hour week during the summer. Prior to this time the companies worked on a basis of a ten-hour day, six days per week. The general public is urged to assist the coal dealers by placing their orders early in the week so they can be handled by the men without working overtime.

FROST BREAKS MAIN ON W. FULTON STREET

The water supply of the tanneries of John Johns and the Gloversville Manufacturing Corporation was shut off for a time Tuesday afternoon when frost snapped off the main connected to the hydrant at the corner of Rose and West Fulton street. The workmen from the Gloversville Water Works replaced the broken main about midnight. The two mills were forced to shut down for a short time when unable to get any water.

Is This Too Good For Your Cough?

Creomulsion may be a better help than you need. It combines seven major helps in one—the best helps known to science. It is made for quick relief, for safety. Mild cough often yields to lesser help. No one can tell. No one knows which factor will do most for any certain cough. So careful people, more and more, are using Creomulsion for any cough that starts. The cost is a little more than a single help. But your druggist guarantees it, so it costs nothing if it fails to bring you quick relief. Coughs—danger signals. For safety's sake, deal with them in the best way known.—Advertisement

CLARA TREE MAJOR'S PLAYERS TO PRESENT OLD FASHIONED GIRL

Another play entitled, "An Old Fashioned Girl," will be presented Monday morning at 10 and in the afternoon at 2 in the Gloversville High school auditorium by the Clara Tree Major players. The plays are being presented in Gloversville under auspices of the Parent-Teacher Associations. Music will be furnished by a group from the Estee Junior High school.

"An Old Fashioned Girl," by Louisa May Alcott, was planned to be a sermon against frivolity but which insisted instead in becoming one of Miss Alcott's most fascinating stories, full of mischief and troubles and joys and anticipations and yearnings and dreams that go to make up the lives of all children of all ages and nations.

Tom Shaw and his sisters, Fanny and Maudie, with their friend and visitor, Little Polly Milton, have lived in the affections of the children of six decades, though they have never before been brought to life on the stage. Tom, spoiling the molasses candy by putting in the nutshells and eating the nuts—Tom reciting "Horatius at the Bridge,"—Tom manfully asking pardon when he has been guilty of reading Polly's diary—Tom trying desperately to dance, but succeeding only in stepping on Polly's toes and bumping into every possible piece of furniture—these and many others are all dear, familiar pictures in the minds of three generations. Fanny with her bustles and sashes and false curls, Little Maudie who howls on nearly every occasion, dear Grandma Shaw—and Polly—Polly Milton, the old fashioned girl who visits the fashionable Fan—all combine to fill the story with lively interest and absorbing incident.

SPIRITUALIST SERVICE
A public spiritualist service will be held at 15 Church street, second floor, Thursday evening at 8. Rev. Clara Osborne will be the speaker and message bearer.

"Then I learned how to cut down on RUNS."

"It seemed I used to get a run almost every time I stooped down," says Helene Spear. "Then a friend suggested washing stockings with Lux. They last much longer—seldom get runs now!"
LUX cuts down runs because it saves stocking elasticity. Cake-soap rubbing and soaps with harmful alkali weaken elasticity—then the silk tends to break, instead of giving, under strain. No harmful alkali in gentle Lux!

TIMKEN Silent OIL HEATING Automatic

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: Feb. 27, 1934
In October 1932, I installed a T. S. A. Oil Burner in our vapor heating system, which not only heats our eleven room home with perfect satisfaction, but also provides an abundant supply all year around of domestic hot water. Actual check-up shows that this service is being supplied at less cost than was formerly incurred in heating a much lesser space by coal. I have particularly appreciated its performance during the recent unusually cold weather.
Yours, etc.

In Local Theatres

"By Candlelight"
"By Candlelight," Continental comedy which plays today and tomorrow at the Schine's Hippodrome theatre is quite the cleverest picture we have seen in many a day. This engaging screenplay deals with gay doings among the nobility of Europe, and presents Elissa Landi and Paul Lukas as stars in a story which is filled with a swift succession of situations which are embarrassing, to say the least. In the picture the pair are both servants of royal masters who succeed in convincing each other that they themselves are of noble rank, but retribution, in the form of jealous husbands, soon places them in a position from which they are glad to be relieved even at the expense of discovery.

Miss Landi and Lukas are delightful in their characterizations and they are ably supported by such sterling players as Nils Asther, Esther Ralston, Lawrence Grant, Dorothy Revier and Warburton Gamble. Director James Whale has produced a picture which preserves a delightful European flavor at all times, and provides a quality of entertainment which is all too rare. It is amazing how capably this director, who is a master of the grotesque in such pictures as "Frankenstein" and "The Invisible Man," has handled the delicate comedy situation here.

Last Times Today
A superlative four-star cast portraying a quartette of characters that match their distinctive personalities is a point whose value can't be exaggerated in favor of "All of Me," which closes today at the Schine's Globe Theatre.

Miriam Hopkins, Fredric March, George Raft and Helen Mack comprise this quartette of contrasts, whose odd natures are pitted one against the other to make striking drama.

Engaged to a young college instructor, played by Fredric March, she isn't certain of her love until devious contacts with life teach her the meaning of devotion. Although the picture is crisscrossed with plot and dramatic situations, one looks in vain for a villain, unless it be society in general.

Raft plays the part of an errant youngster, who can't go straight in order to realize love with Eve, played by Helen Mack.

It is the drab fate these two meet that brings realization to the doubting lovers of the upper strata, represented here by Miss Hopkins and March.
