Schechter Defends Key Answer Delay

"The admission lent further merit to the idea that the police department was trying to prevent any public discussion of the answers," Schechter said.

His description of the route through the related questions and choices made it clear that no one could have the full picture without seeing both.

Man Robbed

"The worst thing about the robbery was that it happened so close to home," the man said. "I never thought it would happen here."

The police sergeant exam is given a savage beating to a 40-year-old man who was taking the test in the Gouverneur hospital yesterday. He reported critical today. "The police sergeant exam is a test that is given to police officers to determine their fitness for duty," the police chief said. "It is a very difficult test that requires a lot of preparation."
