FOREST PORK STORES, Inc.
Widely Known For
FINEST MEATS, BOLOGNA and SMOKED MEATS
MEATS SMOKED GERMAN STYLE
ON OUR OWN PREMISES
Our RIDGEWOOD STORE
66-39 Forest Avenue corner Woodbine St.
Telephone: 497-2853

RENT-FOR-LESS
$8.95 a day 8¢ per mile

OUR CARS ARE RECONDITIONED FOR RELIABILITY

LOCATED AT 350 St. Nicholas Ave.
RIDGEWOOD
212-821-3060

OPEN SUNDAYS
For Your Shopping Convenience
Glenwood Discount Center
ALL MAJOR APPLIANCES—
Television-Refrigerators-Ranges-
Stereos-Washers

WITH THIS AD
SPECIAL DISCOUNT
Refrigerator $199.95
many others available

Plus...Many In Store SPECIALS
60-65/67 MYRTLE AVENUE
RIDGEWOOD 386-0490

YOU MAY SAVE MORE THAN EVER BEFORE! on your INCOME TAX RETURNS

POLYDRAST — FOOT SPECIALIST
Hospital-Affiliated

JEFFREY F. OZINITSKY, D.P.M., PC
Medicine & Surgery of the Foot

HOUSE CALLS AVAILABLE
Office Hours By Appointment
Medicaid, Medicare & Other Insurances
Accepted as Partial or Full Payment

READ THE LEGALS

Police Officer Patrick Bradley of the 104th Precinct participates in the Downhill Dual-Slalom during the N.Y.C.-P.B.A. annual ski event held at Hunter Mountain.

Transitway (Continued from Page 1)

senses." The coalition, a group of 35 civic, merchant and political organizations claiming to represent 250,000 Queens residents, had been meeting monthly for the past two years to fight the transitway proposal, Paolino said.

Dario Centorelli, vice chairman of the coalition, said the group would support alternative proposals being studied by the PA to improve service on buses and the Transit Authority's IND "taxi to the plane" subway line to JFK.

"We also would like to see the section that goes through Forest Park permanently designated as parkland," Centorelli said. "It is one of the last natural forests in the city and has 160 species of birds as well as raccoons, rabbits and other animals."

Ellen Schwalb, a delegate to the coalition from the 240-apartment Forest Park Crescent cooperative development, noted that this was not the first proposal to revive the abandoned rail spur as a mass transit route. The development on Union Turnpike has leased a section of the right-of-way for use as a parking lot and playground.

Representative Geraldine Ferraro, another foe of the transitway, said the PA should now consider the construction of additional roadways leading onto and off the Van Wyck Expressway at the airport.

READ THE LEGALS

Police Officer Patrick Bradley of the 104th Precinct participates in the Downhill Dual-Slalom during the N.Y.C.-P.B.A. annual ski event held at Hunter Mountain.

Transitway (Continued from Page 1)

senses." The coalition, a group of 35 civic, merchant and political organizations claiming to represent 250,000 Queens residents, had been meeting monthly for the past two years to fight the transitway proposal, Paolino said.

Dario Centorelli, vice chairman of the coalition, said the group would support alternative proposals being studied by the PA to improve service on buses and the Transit Authority's IND "taxi to the plane" subway line to JFK.

"We also would like to see the section that goes through Forest Park permanently designated as parkland," Centorelli said. "It is one of the last natural forests in the city and has 160 species of birds as well as raccoons, rabbits and other animals."

Ellen Schwalb, a delegate to the coalition from the 240-apartment Forest Park Crescent cooperative development, noted that this was not the first proposal to revive the abandoned rail spur as a mass transit route. The development on Union Turnpike has leased a section of the right-of-way for use as a parking lot and playground.

Representative Geraldine Ferraro, another foe of the transitway, said the PA should now consider the construction of additional roadways leading onto and off the Van Wyck Expressway at the airport.

READ THE LEGALS

Police Officer Patrick Bradley of the 104th Precinct participates in the Downhill Dual-Slalom during the N.Y.C.-P.B.A. annual ski event held at Hunter Mountain.

Transitway (Continued from Page 1)

senses." The coalition, a group of 35 civic, merchant and political organizations claiming to represent 250,000 Queens residents, had been meeting monthly for the past two years to fight the transitway proposal, Paolino said.

Dario Centorelli, vice chairman of the coalition, said the group would support alternative proposals being studied by the PA to improve service on buses and the Transit Authority's IND "taxi to the plane" subway line to JFK.

"We also would like to see the section that goes through Forest Park permanently designated as parkland," Centorelli said. "It is one of the last natural forests in the city and has 160 species of birds as well as raccoons, rabbits and other animals."

Ellen Schwalb, a delegate to the coalition from the 240-apartment Forest Park Crescent cooperative development, noted that this was not the first proposal to revive the abandoned rail spur as a mass transit route. The development on Union Turnpike has leased a section of the right-of-way for use as a parking lot and playground.

Representative Geraldine Ferraro, another foe of the transitway, said the PA should now consider the construction of additional roadways leading onto and off the Van Wyck Expressway at the airport.

READ THE LEGALS

Police Officer Patrick Bradley of the 104th Precinct participates in the Downhill Dual-Slalom during the N.Y.C.-P.B.A. annual ski event held at Hunter Mountain.

Transitway (Continued from Page 1)

senses." The coalition, a group of 35 civic, merchant and political organizations claiming to represent 250,000 Queens residents, had been meeting monthly for the past two years to fight the transitway proposal, Paolino said.

Dario Centorelli, vice chairman of the coalition, said the group would support alternative proposals being studied by the PA to improve service on buses and the Transit Authority's IND "taxi to the plane" subway line to JFK.

"We also would like to see the section that goes through Forest Park permanently designated as parkland," Centorelli said. "It is one of the last natural forests in the city and has 160 species of birds as well as raccoons, rabbits and other animals."

Ellen Schwalb, a delegate to the coalition from the 240-apartment Forest Park Crescent cooperative development, noted that this was not the first proposal to revive the abandoned rail spur as a mass transit route. The development on Union Turnpike has leased a section of the right-of-way for use as a parking lot and playground.

Representative Geraldine Ferraro, another foe of the transitway, said the PA should now consider the construction of additional roadways leading onto and off the Van Wyck Expressway at the airport.

READ THE LEGALS

Police Officer Patrick Bradley of the 104th Precinct participates in the Downhill Dual-Slalom during the N.Y.C.-P.B.A. annual ski event held at Hunter Mountain.