Britain's Budget
Cut Again to Ease
Economic Crisis

London—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee announced today that he will reduce Britain's public spending ($700 million) by govt­ ment spending to ease Britain's economic crisis. The cut will include a $300 million reduction in public works, a $100 million cut in social services, and a $100 million reduction in government salaries.

The Prime Minister said that this will not affect the government's ability to provide essential services. He also announced that the government will be suspending the National Health Service for the next two years.

Economic Crisis

The government is facing a severe economic crisis due to the civil war in Spain, which has caused a significant decrease in exports. The government is also struggling to pay its bills due to the international crisis.
