London, August 2.

The "Sportsman" says: We have now received the second deposit of fifty pounds on behalf of Trickett and Hanlan.

A Vienna dispatch says there are reports from Constantinople of a nature to diminish the prestige of England, among which is the distribution in Turkish military circles of printed accounts of the Afghan disaster, charging the British troops with cowardice, and their leaders with incapacity.

A Paris correspondent telegraphs that negotiations for the naval demonstration in Turkish waters are still proceeding, and the final details of the expedition are on the point of being settled. There has not been the slightest foundation for the report of a joint Anglo-French command of the expedition, as all the Powers are agreed in giving the command to England. The rumors representing the scheme as having been abandoned, and that France, Austria or some other Power, is shrinking from the execution of the plan, are equally unfounded, but if the Porte promptly settles the Montenegrin question, the demonstration will be suspended.

At 4 p. m., physicians announce that Gladstone is doing as well as could be expected, but his fever continues.

Calcutta, Aug. 2.

One of the leaders of the Rumpa rebellion has been shot. Several others have recently been sentenced to various terms of imprisonment. The rebellion, however, shows no sign of collapsing, as the British troops cannot stand the unhealthy climate.

Athens, Aug. 2.

The Greek government intended publishing yesterday ordinances for mobilization of the army, but in consequence of the advice of the Powers, it decided to postpone the measure for the present.

Wytheville, Va., Aug. 2.

On Saturday evening, in a quarrel over a domestic difficulty, David James, a prominent citizen and iron manufacturer, fatally shot John Loveless, a young millwright.

Providence, R. I., Aug. 2.

Martin Shay was shot, probably fatally, yesterday, by the accidental discharge of a pistol in his pocket.

Latest news from Afghanistan is that General Phayre is advancing toward Chaman. He fears he may have to fight for possession of Khojak Pass. Two-thirds of Burrows' forces were destroyed. According to some accounts the slaughter was even greater. Ayoob Khan is said to have Russian military advisers. Reinforcements leave England next week. Meanwhile all the available forces in India are being pushed rapidly toward Candahar.

The battle between General Burrows' force and the Afghans is said to have been well contested. The British cavalry and artillery were badly cut up at the commencement of the fight, but the infantry inflicted such heavy loss on Ayoob Khan that he has not ventured to advance upon Candahar.

The latest advices by letter from Canhar are that the fever had broken out among the troops in the citadel, owing to the failure of water.

Society at Paris has not recovered from the commotion Mrs. Wetmore's death occasioned, though means are being successfully taken to hush up the scandal. The marquis of Anglesey, who behaved cruelly to the lady, is a wealthy and unscrupulous noble and ignoble, and his agents give out that she died from a drunken bout. The Voltaire, which first gave the sad news, has probably been "squared" and is silent. It does not either confirm or deny the original statement.

A Mississippi Republican now in New York, says: "There are just as many Republicans there as ever. If we could have a fair election and a fair count this year, we would give Garfield the electoral vote of Mississippi by 25,000 majority. But that is out of the question. It is impossible to obtain a fair count."

Profits of Free Labor in Cotton.

Speaking about Marlboro county, S. C., the Charleston News says: "Since the war the land has improved fully 30 per cent. in value and productiveness. The yield of cotton has been greatly increased. The largest crop produced before the war was 12,000 bales, and the yield of last year amounted to nearly 18,000 bales. This large increase was brought about by high fertilizing, deep cultivation, good drainage and improved implements of husbandry. The average yield of cotton to the acre is 800 pounds in the seed, or, upon land that has been brought up to a high state of fertility, from 1,200 to 1,500 pounds, or one bale of ginned cotton to the acre. The staple always commands a good price.

The average cost of production, counting in the value of the slave property under the old system, has not been reduced, but the profits have been increased. The crop is now ready for market three weeks earlier than before the war, while the transportation is cheaper and more direct, and the profits on the improved fertilizing, making and gathering of the crop will aggregate fully 80 per cent. Ten per cent. profit on the investment was a full average until 1860, but the percentage of clear profit will now reach not less than 35 per cent. The cost of labor, which is well regulated and remunerative, is $10 a month for first-class hands, with comfortable quarters. The farm year consists of eight months, during which the laborers are paid regular wages; the remaining four months belong to the laborers, except in case there is work to be done on the plantations upon which they are employed, which must be given the preference, and for which they are paid at the rate of their regular monthly wages. The laborers are all colored, and are thrifty, willing workers."

Census Statistics.

This is a time when, as Americans, we feel like doing a little boasting. One hundred and four years ago, when we declared ourselves to be a free and independent people, our population was less than 3,000,000. Today, according to General Walker's rough estimate, it is 48,000,000. Boston was then an insignificant village, so far as population was concerned, and New England had but a few scattering schools and two colleges. The entire country had but thirty-seven newspapers, and the best of them were not equal to the worst weeklies printed today in the mushroom towns of the Rocky Mountain region. In 1789 we had but seventy-five postoffices, and the mails were carried on horseback over 1,800 miles of road, at an expense of $22,000 per year. Today we have 380,000 postoffices, and new ones ... are carried over 353,000 miles of post-roads, at an annual expense of $39,000,000. We have nearly a quarter of a million miles of telegraph wire. We have 141,000 school houses, 63,082 churches, 793 daily newspapers and over 8,000 periodicals of all kinds. Our farms are valued at not less than $9,363,000,561, our farming implements at $327,878,456, and our live stock at $1,325,276,457. Our farm products in a single year have brought us $3,447,580,000, and in the same time we have paid, in farm wages, $310,286,285. Our crops are bountiful, yes, enormous, and our exports have reached nearly $475,000,000 in twelve months. Our manufacturers are prosperous. In cotton goods we challenge the world. In one year our 900 mills turned out cloth enough to encircle the earth twenty times, if made into one piece, with still enough left to make every human being a suit of clothes, and furnish each with pieces for patching.—Boston Post.

Seven hundred little children and two hundred mothers and attendants were given an excursion down New York Bay, Saturday, on the floating hospital of St. John's guild. There has $250 and other contributions been received for a similar excursion, Tuesday.

A captive balloon, well inflated, while up with a man and woman from the country, broke loose at Youngston, Ohio, on Saturday, ascended to a great hight and disappeared in a northeasterly direction. Dispatches were sent ahead to keep a lookout for it. It is feared it drifted into the lake.

Judge Hilton and Mrs. Stewart, administering the estate of A. T. Stewart, have caused endowments to be made aggregating $3,000,000 for erecting a collegiate institution at Garden City, L.I., where it is intended to educate both sexes for less than $100 a year. One building is completed, and is said to be the finest one of the kind in America. It will accommodate 500 students. Two other buildings of equal dimensions will be erected.

Dr. Tanner, at 4 p. m. on Saturday showed his pulse beating regular at 78, temperature 99 2 10, respiration 14, weight 136 1-2. His strength, as tested by the dynamometer was 85 kilometers in right hand and 80 in the left. On Sunday noon Dr. Tanner entered on the 35th day of his fast. He appeared refreshed. In the morning he was attacked with nausea and vomiting at different periods, throwing up a mixture of bile and mucus. Several times last evening he had other attacks of vomiting and at 9 retired and appeared to be sleeping. His medical attendants said he was in feebler condition than on Saturday.

A twenty mile foot race at New York on Saturday between James Warburton of England and Patrick Byrnes of Halifax, who have the reputation of being the best long distance runners in the world, was not a success. Byrnes broke down completely after covering 5¼ miles. Warburton kept on two miles more, when he was told he could stop. The latter ran seven miles in 44:55.

Miscellaneous News.

The cable system of canal towage is in disfavor among the boatmen. They denounce it as an obstruction to canal navigation.

The population of New York is roughly estimated at 5,088,000; that of Ohio at 3,160,000; that of Missouri at 2,400,000; and that of New Hampshire 347,311.

The coolest place in the United States now is the signal station on the top of Mount Washington. Wednesday the temperature ranged between 34° and 40°, and on the day following a thin film of ice was formed, the mercury having fallen to 31°.

The hay crop generally throughout New England has been light, but the prospects are that there will be an unusual crop of rowen. Miscellaneous.

New York and other large cities are relieved. An ice famine is no longer feared or predicted. The supply is equal to the demand and a famine, if one should occur would be due to no lack of ice, but to a "corner." The average annual ice crop of the United States is estimated at from 30 to 60 per cent., leaving from 4,000,000 tons to 7,000,000 for actual consumption. The bulk of the supply now used is from Maine, and the Hudson River and Lake Champlain supply is held in reserve. Last winter the amount of ice stacked in the State of Maine was 1,426,800 tons, and large quantities of this immense supply belong to New York speculators. The rates, though high, are not oppressive, and there will hardly be another rise in prices.
