DAILY TIMES

WATERTOWN, N. Y., JUNE 13, 1884.

HOW IT TAKES.

Specimens of Remarks Seen in the Newspapers Since Blaine was Nominated.

Democratic prudence and unity alone will lead to Mr. Blaine's defeat.—World, dem.

I am a republican and my own action shall be that of a republican. Further than that I have nothing to say.—George W. Curtis.

The republican party has been guilty of a stupendous blunder in nominating James G. Blaine.—New York Truth (of Morey letter memory.)

In the counties of St. Lawrence, Franklin and Lewis, Mr. Blaine will receive the support of every republican.—John I. Gilbert.

It is a first-class nomination. Arthur could not have carried one side of New York. The campaign will be one of grand enthusiasm and Blaine will be elected.—Col. Ingersoll.

Blaine is the one man who does not depend upon a particular state to ensure his election. James G. Blaine is the candidate of no one state, but of all, from Maine to California.—Troy Telegram.

I voted for Edmunds on every ballot, and I deeply regret that he was not nominated. Yet Mr. Blaine's nomination will meet with the fervent approval of the people of Tompkins county, where I reside.—Andrew D. White.

There is no use of denying that the mass of the republican party desired the nomination of Mr. Blaine. We are going to elect him. No democrat can defeat him in New York, or in any other northern republican state.—George H. Sharpe.

For the first time since its organization the republican party has deliberately nominated its ablest man as its candidate for the presidency. In this the convention at Chicago has done better probably than most persons dare expect.—Toronto Mail.

Never was a nomination more assuredly due to popular favor than that which was tendered to Mr. Blaine. In view of these facts it is the height of absurdity to predict that Mr. Blaine will prove a weak candidate.—New Haven, Conn., Palladium.

Not the convention, but the people, made Blaine the nominee. For the convention to have rejected him would have been a defiance of the clearly expressed wish of the republican voters. It would have been at once a blunder and a crime.—Cleveland, O., Herald.

And we hold it now to be the duty of every man who believes that the great principles of the republican party ought to triumph, to fall into line and give the ticket the most hearty and effective support in its power. Close up the ranks! Forward, to victory!—Providence Press.

That a united democracy, well-organized and well led, can defeat Blaine, we have no doubt, but the result of the republican convention should not be regarded by the party as a license for mismanagement and blundering.—Buffalo Courier, dem.

"There is no democrat, not even Tilden or Henry B. Payne, who can carry Ohio as against Blaine. Even in Cleveland and Cuyahoga county, the home of Payne, the Maine statesman will carry the district by a tremendous majority."—Western reserve delegates.

The republicans have selected as their standard bearer the ablest, most brilliant, the boldest and most unscrupulous man of their party. He will be beaten. That is, assuming that ordinary common sense guides the action of the democracy a month hence.—Syracuse Courier, dem.

Mr. Blaine was not my choice, but being a republican and he being the nominee, I shall give him my support. The result was brought about by perfectly fair means. This is the fifth national convention that I have been in, and it has been the most fairly conducted of them all. Every delegate fought for his man, as he had a right to do.—J. D. Lawson, New York.

His nomination must be accepted everywhere abroad, as well as at home, as that of one of the foremost among living American statesmen; and if he should be elected no one can reproach the people of the United States as having gone to the subordinate ranks of their public men for the chief executive of their country.—Philadelphia Ledger.

He has been true to his principles ever since he was in public life, and the people know they can trust him. He will carry the state of New York by a big majority. He is right on all the questions before the people now, and I believe it will be possible for him to sweep the country as the whigs did in 1840 with "Tippecanoe and Tyler too."—Elliot F. Shepard.

The young men, as well as many of the older men of the nation, are unmistakably for Blaine. They will make it exceedingly lively for the other side, and roll up a tidal wave of popular support and of popular ballots for the brave and able man of Maine that will carry him into the white-house with a sweeping majority. This may be set down as a "foregone conclusion."—Chicago Journal.

But those who imagine that, because of such dissection, the country is now to witness a spiritless canvass, and an easy triumph for the opposition, are, in our judgment, very much in error. Mr. Blaine is a fertile and sensational politician, and he will force the fighting from the start. Moreover, a party in power is always hard to beat; and the republican party can outdo in this respect all others that ever existed outside of Mexico.—New York Sun, dem.

I am glad that he was nominated if Arthur could not be. We came here opposed to any dark horse. The tail has wagged the dog too frequently lately. We thought the wishes of the mass of republicans behind Arthur and Blaine ought to be respected and not those of a minority of republicans. The supporters of President Arthur in New York will surrender the party organization to Mr. Blaine's friends. They ought to have full control of it. We shall aid them in every way to carry the state. I anticipate a lively campaign.—James D. Warren.

Now that the man who was most generally desired is chosen, those who rejoice are many and ostentatious in their delight, and those who regret are inconspicuous and silent. Mr. Blaine has many admirable and engaging qualities. He is as popular as Henry Clay and in character somewhat resembles him. He is the candidate of the party, and the feeling of party loyalty, an honorable and generous feeling, will silence many misgivings and bring to his support the substantial strength of the party.—Worcester, Mass., Spy.

There is no excuse for bolting. The independents who voted for Edmunds could have nominated Arthur instead of Blaine. They preferred the latter, and nominated him by their persistency. If any men are bound to support Mr. Blaine, George William Curtis, Andrew D. White and Theodore D. Roosevelt are thus committed, for to them he owes his nomination in a fair convention. Let them now rally grandly and nobly to his support and give him the victory.—National Republican.

If this election can be carried by dash, and enthusiasm and splendid leadership, the event may possibly justify the audacity of Mr. Blaine's friends at Chicago, but the chances are fearfully against him. His character has been so malignantly blackened and distorted by the newspaper organs of the present administration during the strife for the nomination, and emeryaplous friends of Mr. Arthur to support him, that the fight for Mr. Blaine must be a sort of forlorn hope at the best—a fight only to be won by sheer desperation aided by wonderful luck.—Buffalo Express.

Not only has he been the most popular candidate from the outset, but he is beyond all question the most conspicuous and respected politician in the ranks of the republican party, which has done itself honor by the nomination of so well known and distinguished a man. If the democrats could make up their mind to a definite and reasonable free-trade policy, they would certainly secure more sympathy on this side of the Atlantic than has hitherto been accorded them. Meantime we must congratulate the republic on the choice of a candidate so eminently fitted as Mr. Blaine to represent and uphold the dignity of the United States.—London Times.

Personally, it gives me great pleasure to know that Mr. Blaine, with whom I have sat around the presidential council table, should be called and thought worthy to sit at the head of the table. And the fact that the nomination has been made in the face of so great and persistent opposition, is a genuine tribute to the personal character and popularity of the man. Entirely without patronage and without doing a single thing to accomplish his own nomination, it nevertheless has been brought about because the popular feeling in his favor demanded it. Mr. Blaine will make a president whose administration will recall the very best days of the republic's history.—Thomas L. James.

Under the heading "A Beaconsfield Beyond the Sea," the Pall Mall Gazette says: Mr. Blaine's nomination is the most notable event for England since President Lincoln was assassinated. Whenever Mr. Blaine can oust the British from the position they hold on the American continent he will endeavor to replace English influence and trade by American. His menacing intimation that he would disregard the Clayton-Bulwer treaty is an evil augury for the future relations of England and America. His intervention in Peru was most ominous when he declared that he disliked England to win commercial triumphs in fields which legitimately belonged to America. England will watch with extreme solicitude the progress of the electoral campaign.

In Pittsburg, the Pennsylvania railroad company have filed a bill in equity to compel the Fort Wayne & Chicago company to issue $1,200,000 of special guaranteed betterment stock, being the balance of that stock unissued.

The house committee on ways and means has agreed to report favorably the bill to admit free of duty articles intended for exhibition at the Cincinnati industrial exposition. Their sale or consumption, however, without the payment of duty, is made a violation of the revenue law.

William A. Cock and his partner, C. C. Cole, deny the statements made before the Springer committee, to the effect that several hundred dollars were paid them to prevent the indictment of Contractor Colgrove in the star route case. They say that the charges have no other foundation than private enmity.

The Victoria (B.C.) Colonist, the government organ, publishes a bitter article on the failure of the Dominion government to carry out the terms of the settlement bill. It says that Mainland railway roads are still tied up. Hundreds of immigrants have left for the United States, and the situation is becoming threatening.

In Russell county, Va., a few days ago, two of Harvey Osborne's little boys were picking strawberries in a field, when a large Negro boy joined them. The older white boy left the field, but when the Negro ordered the other to leave he refused. The Negro placed a pistol at his stomach and fired, the ball passing out near the spine. The Negro dragged the victim to a sink hole, but the child was still alive and cried aloud. Becoming frightened the Negro fled, but soon went to the house and informed the mother that her child had shot himself. The mother ran to the dying child, who lived long enough to reveal the crime. The Negro was jailed, but he was afterwards taken out by the citizens and lynched.

The Safest and Best Internal Remedy.

It is safe to take Brandreth's pills at any time, but to get the best results they should be taken on an empty stomach, going to bed. It is well on the night you take them to eat little or no supper. As no two people are affected precisely the same by a like quantity of the same medicine, it is difficult to determine the dose; and it is something which must be left to the discretion of the patients. We will say, though, the average dose for an adult is from four to ten, according to effect.

For constipation or dyspepsia, one or two taken every night will, in a short time, perform an absolute cure. It is well to take a purgative at least once or twice a month as a preventive of disease, and as these pills are entirely vegetable, and are made with the greatest care, we know them to be the safest and most effective purgative ever introduced to the public. They have been sold in this country for over fifty years, and have in that time attained an unprecedented popularity.

State News.

The president has nominated Charles T. Jackson to be postmaster at Goshen.

In Albion, Miss Helen Aurelia Church, daughter of the late Chief Justice Sanford E. Church, was married, Wednesday, to Dr. Samuel Robert Cochrane.

The car builders' association of the United States convened at Saratoga with an attendance of 200. Leonard Garey, of New York, was elected president.

The village of Knowersville, Albany county, has been visited by a disastrous cloudburst, which filled cellars, washed out the railroad track, flooded the lowlands, destroyed crops and did other damage. No lives were lost, but the injury to property will aggregate many thousand dollars.

The commencement exercises of Vassar college were largely attended. The graduating class numbered thirty. At the trustees' meeting William Allen Butler introduced a resolution, which was adopted, expressing great confidence in President Caldwell's management and ability.

Suicides as follows: Walter Oakley, Cooperstown, June 9, shot himself; same day, Caspar Steerman, Rochester, attempted his life with a revolver, but was prevented and locked up; Charles Q. Carpenter, soldier discharged from Fort Buffalo, found fatally wounded near Lewiston, financial troubles being the cause; Silas Worden, a wealthy farmer of Newton Center, hung himself to an apple tree, Sunday.

At Lockport, a man representing himself to be William H. Smith, captain of the canal boat William H. Stewart, called at Williams & Cole livery stable and stated that his boat was tied up and he wanted a good horse and buggy to take himself, wife and child out to the Crew farm near Tuscarora reservation, to look over the place with a view of buying it. A horse worth $175, and a good covered side-bar buggy, whip and lap-robe were furnished him and he started, stating that he would return about dark. He failed to come back, and there is little doubt that he intended to steal the rig, as no tidings of the man or horse have been found, and there is no such boat as the William H. Stewart tied up in that vicinity.

At the Metropolis.

The suit of Matthew Manning against the Brooklyn city railroad company for $30,000 was dismissed in the city court.

Wm. J. Webber, a German, hanged himself to a tree in Fifty-fifth st., Brooklyn. When the body was discovered by horrified passers by, it was still warm, but life was extinct.

The grand jury of Long Island City have found indictments of murder in the first degree against Mate Walsh of the bark Myrtle, for the murder of a sailor, and C. B. Waring of Dutch Kills, charged with killing his brother-in-law.

While James Ryan was crazy drunk he flung a big paving stone through a $175 pane of plate glass in E. H. Kent's ice-cream saloon at Seventh avenue. Ryan was arrested, and at Jefferson market, was committed for three months in default of $1,000 bail.

William Seaton has challenged George Slosson to play a game of cushion carrom billiards for $1,000 a side, 500 points, in the latter part of September, a toss to be made for the choice of cities. Seaton, in order to prove his good faith in the matter, has deposited $250 with the Mirror of American Sports.

The body found on the beach at Fire Island, Monday, is supposed to be that of S. E. Hopkins, who was lost some time ago, as a deposit blank of the Ninth national bank, containing the words "Deposited by S. E. Hopkins, No. 39 White street, New York city," was found in his pocket.

Mary Fleming, aged thirty-six years, proprietress of a grocery on Ocean avenue, Jersey City, has been missing since the 1st inst. Some years ago she married a man named Cavanagh, whom she subsequently learned had a wife and family in England. Since then she has been despondent and her relatives fear she has committed suicide.

New York has a record worse than Ephesus. Rev. Henry Kimball, who preaches every Sunday from the City hall steps, chose the temperance question for his subject the other day. A drunken mob, in spite of the efforts of a squad of the "finest," drove the preacher from the City hall, pelting him with bananas skins and other vegetable missiles.

Boats, Bicycles and Hay Fever

With the opening of the season of outdoor sports comes the time of trouble for the poor victims of Hay Fever. For them flowers have no odor, and the summer little or no beauty. To muff, sneeze and wipe their weeping eyes for three or four successive months;—this is their pitiable portion. There is no help in sea voyages, there is no help in high mountain air. These only lighten the pocket and leave the disease unabated. But there is a positive cure in Ely's Cream Balm. Try it. If you continue to suffer it is because you neglect a remedy as sure as it is cheap and pleasant.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, and barks. It gives tone to the stomach and makes the weak strong. Sold by druggists.

Bogart & Co., who recently failed, are $2,100,000; the nominal assets, including the securities pledged for loans, $1,418,000; actual assets, including equity and securities pledged for loans, $97,000. The individual statement of C. N. Bogart shows liabilities of $51,000; actual assets, $9,000. That of R. W. Bogart shows liabilities of $81,000; actual assets, $4,000. That of A. M. Wilcox shows liabilities nothing; assets, $1,000. The value of the securities pledged for loans is stated to be $118,000. The total amount of unsecured deposits is placed at $737,000.

A Fact Worth Remembering.

Physicians and medical societies recommend Gilmore's Aromatic Wine more highly than any other medicinal preparation in the world, because it makes new, rich blood, is the best tonic and vitalizer known for men, women, or children, while for all those diseases peculiar to women it is a positive cure. Sold by H. H. Rice.

I hereby certify that I am well acquainted with the composition and uses of Gilmore's Aromatic Wine, and have no hesitation in pronouncing it superior to any other remedy within my knowledge for the purposes for which it is designed.

Only those who have suffered from the effects of piles realize the torture which the writer of the following letter endured:

Mischievous Malaria.

To say that malaria is mischievous is to put it very mildly. It is all that and more—it is insidious, deceitful, treacherous, sly, and underhanded. It does its work in the dark and in such a sly way that much of the mischief is done before it is discovered. It saps the foundations of a healthy system. It robs the blood of its vitality, demoralizes the liver, confounds the stomach, and makes the victim wish he were in his grave. A REMARKABLE CASE.

SIX YEARS OF ALMOST CONSTANT SUFFERING.

Statement of John Barr, Jr.

For the past six years my son, now years of age, has suffered excruciating pain in the head, accompanied with dizziness. Many times I have despaired for him, no less than seven different physicians, among others Dr. Graham, of this place, have been employed.

Finally, I had all, pertinent to exercise his native wit, to kill received some time before, and re-doubled their assaults, all to no relief whatever, until, in addition to pain being almost continuous, convulsions occurred. During the intervals of suffering, he was left in a state of mental imbecility, from which no person could be found in the street, and he would sink and take the bed, and for a crying paralysis. On the 6th of May, however, I was induced by one of my friends to call in Dr. Greene, of this city, who is in advertising as successfully diagnosed the case and stated the cause of his suffering, that by the repeating almost constant pains, he had received a severe injury to the spine, and as permanent relief from all pain, he would be would speak. At this personal call, Dr. G. left me entirely free and proceeding without fear, for the first time in six years. The improvement was immediate, and from that time forward, the pain gradually left the head, and the terrible paroxysms have entirely ceased, and he is now in the enjoyment of perfect health. Dr. Greene's method of treating diseases by electricity, magnetism and medicine, is unquestionably the most successful of the present day, and I would advise all who are afflicted to consult him.
