A HOSPITAL QUARANTINED

A PATIENT AT ST. JOACHIM'S FOUND TO HAVE SMALLPOX.

Was Supposed to be Convalescent from Chicken-pox. A New Case in a Stone Street Lumbering House.

The worst and most deplorable incident that has occurred in the smallpox epidemic occurred this morning, when a case of the disease in its contagious stage was discovered at St. Joachim's hospital on Stone street and the hospital and the occupants of the ward have been placed under quarantine. The patient is Miss Muriel Noyes, of Copenhagen.

Another new case was discovered and quarantined this morning, the 6-year-old son of Mrs. Mary Merriman, at 35 Stone street. This is the house of E. D. Evans, and is occupied by several families including Mr. Evans.

Miss Noyes came here from Copenhagen and has been ill with an eruptive disease which was discovered by her attending physician as chickenpox. This in truth it proved to be, and she was discharged at smallpox. Miss Noyes' illness has been mild, and she has nearly recovered. Two weeks Sunday, at Great Bend, was in the hospital two or three weeks and receiving treatment for a broken arm. During the convalescence he was about the streets daily and may have come in contact with the contagion and introduced it into the hospital, where it affected Miss Noyes before it did him, or he may have taken the disease from Miss Noyes. In either case the source of the disease cannot be located.

The case of Mrs. Merriman's son, also cannot be traced to any definite source of contagion.

Two boys from the Eames home and the hospital were placed under quarantine. They are directly opposite one another, and one guard has been stationed to watch both places.

The situation at the hospital is peculiarly unfortunate. Though Miss Noyes is convalescent, it cannot be even surmised how far she may have exposed other inmates of the institution and the only safe action was to quarantine the hospital and to permit no one to enter or leave it during the period of quarantine, which will be 16 days from today. Miss Noyes is isolated from the other patients in the hospital, and if no new cases develop during the period of quarantine, the health officers can say with positive assurance after the building has been fumigated and the quarantine raised, that the building is as safe and free from contagion as before this unfortunate incident.

The board of education is considering the advisability of closing all the public schools, but as yet has not reached a definite conclusion. Health Officer Willard will have the Mood street school building fumigated with formaldehyde, and the same action will probably be taken with any other schools that may be closed.

The school at Great Bend, where there is one case of smallpox, has been closed.

The Italian under quarantine at Frank Canone's boarding house at 134½ Hawk street is not Canone himself but an Italian who boards there and who is known to his landlord and fellow boarders only as "Jim."

Vaccination Overjoyed.

Last night Dr. Willard telegraphed John C. Thompson of New York, president of the New York Air Brake Co., requesting that the company require a general vaccination of its employes in this city.

Yesterday Dr. J. M. Smith vaccinated at the expense of the firm all the employes of Sill & Jess.

Complications at the Sisters' Hospital.

The difficulties of the Sisters' hospital situation became apparent this afternoon, when the local physicians who have cases in the hospital began to come to Dr. Willard's office for the health officer's permission for them to enter the disfranchised hospital. Many of the patients in the hospital are those who require the treatment of physicians who are specialists in some branch of medicine, or surgery, or of physicians who have a knowledge of the previous history of their cases. Manifestly those physicians cannot be excluded from the hospital, but otherwise the quarantine will be strictly enforced.

The New Cases.

Only the two new cases in the city reported above have been positively diagnosed as smallpox today, but there are under precautionary surveillance several suspected cases that have not yet been investigated. Dr. Dandurand says none of the smallpox patients in the city are seriously ill, the disease being mild in all cases.

Guarding the Children.

Every precaution is being taken to prevent the small-pox from entering St. Patrick's orphanage on Coffeen street. A reverend father from the Sacred Heart church is to celebrate mass every Sunday, so that the children will not be exposed by going out to church. Access to the orphanage is prohibited to the friends of the inmates for the time being.

At Glen Park.

At Glen Park today there are five new cases, making a total of 25; but the cases are all in houses that have been previously under quarantine, and Dr. Calkins is of the opinion that the spread of the disease is checked at Glen Park.

The new cases quarantined today are Mrs. Elmer Jones, her young child and her sister Miss [illegible] years old, and Wilbur Christopher and his son.

Dr. Calkins states that a report has been circulated that he is visiting premises only the houses in Glen Park and taking the risk of spreading the contagion. This report, he states, is incorrect and unfounded, and the only houses in the village that he visits are those that are under quarantine for smallpox and in which his professional services are required.

Today's Count.

Today's new cases make a total of 25 at Glen Park [illegible] in this city and 47, all told, in Jefferson county.

Free Vaccination.

Dr. G. C. Sabin, 104 Main street, announces that he will [illegible] tomorrow, Sunday, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. to vaccinate anyone who applies for free vaccination.

CATHOLIC PRIEST MURDERED.

Drugged and Robbed—Seven Persons Arrested, Four Other Suspects Wanted.

Philadelphia, Jan. 19—The coroner today held an inquest in the case of Father Riegal, the Roman Catholic priest whose body was found in the hallway of a house on North Eighth street, two weeks ago today, stripped of his outer clothing and minus a considerable sum of money and other valuables. The jury brought in a verdict that his death had been due to opium poisoning, and holding the following persons, now under arrest, responsible for the crime:

Robert Byrne, Jacob Wynne, Stephen McNally, Ella Barrett, May and Annie Miller and Edward Hartman. The last is 16 years old. The jury also held responsible the following, who so far have eluded the police, Harry Leech, Paul Jones, Paul Goodwin, and a boy known as the "scowery Kid."

The testimony showed that the priest had been induced to visit a house frequented by the crowd above mentioned and while there drank beer. His drink was drugged and after his death he was robbed and his body dragged into the hallway of an adjoining house.

Binghamton Flooded With Counterfeit Bills.

Binghamton, Jan. 19—Merchants and bank officials of this city have been wrought up for some time owing to the large number of counterfeit $10 bills in circulation here. A detective from the United States treasury department has been in Binghamton for nearly a week and last night H. P. Holland and James North were arrested charged with the crime. The men were arrested on the evidence of a farmer living at McDonough on whom one of the bills was passed. The authorities have not yet been able to locate the counterfeiters, but are of the opinion that the bills have been circulated from this city as a center.

City Engineer McGrath Reports on Estimate for Orchard Street Sewer—Planning for Street Work Next Spring.

A brief meeting of the public works board was held last night. President Washington and Commissioners Flint, Clare and Haven being present. Com. Loughlin was absent.

City Engineer McGrath reported estimates of cost of construction of sewer on Orchard street from Coffeen to Pleasant, as $985.40.

"Before preparing the above estimate" he reported, "I made an investigation and find the sewer really built across the property of Mrs. Miles Guest is ample in size to afford drainage for the five houses on the west side of Orchard street. In order to furnish connection from the houses to the street and then connect them with the outlet referred to it will require an expenditure of $150. To this must be added the sum of $100 for right of way which Mrs. Guest demands as the indemnity, making a total of $250."

Pie in Prison.

New York Sun:

Why did they stop serving mince pie to prisoners in the Massachusetts jails? Buffalo News.

Because that jail was getting to be popular. Mince pie made that cloistered and meditative life too agreeable. Besides, how can a prisoner be brought to a realizing sense of his crime, and to a repentant mind so long as his palate is coddled with mince pie? We don't say that only the good deserve mince pie, for who is really good enough to be worthy of the best mince pie? Surely that prima donna delight is too lofty for a dungeon.

"THE KILTIES."

Canada's Famous Regimental Band of Highlanders Heard in Scotch Irish Melody.

Bandmaster John Slaver and his "Kilties" as Canada's famous regimental band of the 48th Highlanders is familiarly known, won the unqualified attention at the City opera house last evening. The members of the band appeared in full kilted regimentals there being 40 musicians in the organization including Master Slaver in not only a capable leader but is also a fine specimen of physical manhood and his men also are a stalwart lot of fellows who have not the least indication of the toy soldier about them.

Last evening's program was strongly pervaded by a Scottish element, with a Scotch reel at the opening, a fantasia of some of Scotland's famous airs, the ballad, "Annie Laurie," by a male chorus, "A Hunting Scene" with the bay of the hounds in full chase, and the quaint music of the immortal Sir Lyons, which stirs the blood of every Scot.

The band also played several of our own national airs with as much spirit as if they were native born Yankees. The first strains of Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever" were greeted with applause and the sturdy Highlanders gave the "March King's" production with a zest and fire that brought an enthusiastic encore. Several other encores were won, the male chorus being recalled three times. Harry Howe's trombone solo received merited approval and he responded with "Robin Adair."

The Highlanders gave their audience no "rag-time" music, the military spirit predominating in the program.

The dancing by Master Eugene Lockhart, a lad of 6 or 7 years, in Highland costume, the exhibition of swordmanship by Drum Major Roderick Donald MacCoarry, and the bagpipe solos of Piper McGregor were novel and pleasing features of the evening.

The members of the band, standing, sang "God Save the Queen" as a finale.

The concert was heard by a small audience.
