FOR THE TABLE

Mother's Cake.

One and one-half cups sugar, three-fourths cup butter, three eggs, whites and yolks beaten separately, one teaspoonful lemon or vanila extract, one saltspoon powdered mace, one-half cup milk, three cups flour, two teaspoonfuls baking powder. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, then yolks of eggs beaten smooth and light, then flavoring. Mix baking powder in flour, add milk and flour alternately, a little at a time, and lastly add whites of eggs. Bake from 40 to 50 minutes in moderate oven. Vary this by adding one cup chopped walnuts, and putting a layer of unbroken halves of English walnuts over the top.

Watermelon Cake.

For the white part stir to a cream two cupfuls of sugar with one of butter; then stir in one cupful of sweet milk, mix two teaspoons of cream of tartar and one of soda with three and one-half cupfuls of flour; then stir in with the other ingredients and add the beaten whites of eight eggs. For the red part, take one cupful of red sugar, one half cupful of butter, stirred to a cream; then add one-third cupful of sweet milk, two cupfuls of flour, in which has been mixed one teaspoon of cream of tartar and one-half teaspoon of soda; then add the beaten whites of four eggs and a cupful of small seedless raisins; bake in a round baking pan; put in a layer of white dough in the bottom of the pan, then all the red in the middle, then all the rest of the white dough around the sides and on top; bake in a moderate oven.

Deviled Ham Sandwiches.

Chop cold boiled ham very fine, fat and lean together. Measure, and for each cupful allow the yolks of two hard boiled eggs, one teaspoonful of lemon juice, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of mixed mustard and one tablespoonful of soft butter. Mash the eggs to a paste with the butter, add the mustard and work well together with the ham. For all sandwiches the bread should be two days old. Trim off all crust, butter the end of the loaf, then cut off a thin slice, butter again and cut off another, and so continue until you have as many slices as you may need. Spread a slice with the ham, cover with a second slice, press together and trim into any desired shape.

Tomato Soup.

Skim all grease from a quart of beef stock and turn into it the contents of a can of tomatoes. Bring to a boil and simmer steadily for three-quarters of an hour. At the end of this time strain the soup through a sieve, and return to the fire with a heaping teaspoonful of sugar, a teaspoonful of onion juice, the same quantity of kitchen bouquet, and pepper and salt to taste. Add a half cup of boiled rice, bring the soup to a boil and take from the fire.

German Sponge Cake.

Stir the yolks of eight eggs and one pound of sugar continuously in one way for 30 minutes. Add the well beaten whites and stir for 15 minutes longer. Add one-half cupful of flour, four tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, the juice and grated rind of one lemon. Bake in a moderate oven.

Hot Cream Sauce.

Take one pint of rich cream, four teaspoonfuls of powdered sugar, whites of two eggs, beaten stiff, extract of vanilla, one teaspoonful, and one teaspoonful of nutmeg. Heat this slowly by setting the dish in a pan of boiling water; remove it from the fire, add the sugar and nutmeg, stir three or four minutes and add the whites of the eggs, mix very thoroughly and add the vanilla. Keep warm until ready to serve.

Nora Pout Pie.

Clean and dress the fish (always skin them), and parboil for a few minutes in fresh water; cut them up and put in a stewpan with salt, pepper and butter and cook for ten minutes, and then put in a pan lined with paste, cover with the gravy in which the fish were stewed, adding rich stock if needed to make a sufficient quantity, cover with a top crust and bake.

Rich Cup Cake.

One cup butter, two cups sugar, one cup milk, four cups flour, two teaspoonfuls baking powder, salt, four eggs, one nutmeg. Bake in moderate oven.

Berwick Sponge Cake.

Beat six eggs to a froth, add three cups sugar, four cups flour, in which is mixed three teaspoonfuls baking powder; one cup water and a little salt. Flavor with vanilla.

Fish in Jelly.

Take cold boiled fish (either salmon or halibut) and cut in small squares; use the unflavored gelatine, and when dissolved and ready to set, stir in the cold fish and juice of half a lemon; this makes a nice hot weather dish for luncheon.

Arrested for Jewel Theft.

New York, June 10.—A handsomely dressed woman who says she is the niece of a prominent official, was arrested last night, charged with grand larceny, it being claimed that she had stolen jewelry valued at $4,000. The woman gave her name to the police as Miss Antoinette Cortelyou. At the same time she was arrested the detectives also placed under arrest her colored maid, Ruth Bundy.

The complainant against the two women is Mrs. Dorothy Auerbach, who told the police that she called yesterday on Miss Cortelyou, whom she had known for five years, and that on returning home she found that jewelry valued at $4,000 had been abstracted from her chatelaine bag, which she left in Miss Cortelyou's room while she went to use a telephone.

Didn't Mean That.

To the Times:

I am sorry to learn that it was understood in both district conventions yesterday that the resolution of Pomona grange for ballot reform, which I read before them, was what I asked them to adopt, preamble and all. I think it is considered allowable for farmers' gatherings to express themselves in such matters with a freedom hardly to be expected of a party convention.

Here is the resolution, a copy of which I had left with a member of each convention, and which I hoped to see adopted. "While recognizing the necessity for political party organizations we think it unwise to throw any obstacle in the way of independent action for checking the abuses so prone to creep into such organizations, and we advise an amendment to our ballot law giving to any body of voters entitled to a ticket on the official ballot the right to have printed on their ticket the name of any candidate who accepts a nomination for the same office on any other ticket."

Do not let any blunder of mine hurt the cause of ballot reform.

INDIAN CURIOS.

Every Figure Tells a Story—Mysticism or Symbolism.

Chicago Record:

One of the most interesting collections of Indian curios is owned by J. L. Hubbell, Indian trader at Ganado, Arizona. Besides a collection of Navajo blankets, Mr. Hubbell has all sorts of Indian articles which interest the ethnologist and collector of Indian goods. One charm about all of these Indian products to the lover of Indian lore is the mysticism or symbolism which is woven into each article, for every figure tells a story. Not a line but means something to the maker as an individual or as a member of a tribe.

Take the Navajo marriage basket, for instance. A close observer will notice that the pattern never meets. This is due to an old superstition that spirits of children come from the lower world, represented by the outside of the basket, to the inner world, represented by the center of the basket. To do this these little spirits must pass through the earth, the dark portion with points jutting into the under world and upper world, and so the earth is never quite closed lest the little spirits should be debarred from entering.

No Indian marriage basket was, on this account, ever known to have the border closed, and no Indian woman would perjure her soul by making one without this opening, though large sums have been offered various women to test them.

Quite as interesting is the marriage ceremony, when the same bowl is filled with meal, and the bride and groom alternately take pinches of the grain and scatter to the winds until all is gone and their hands meet in the center.

Though carved and painted wooden figures on Mocqui gods representing mythological characters are scarce, Mr. Hubbell has quite a number, as well as unique Navajo silverware and jewelry. All these productions of the Navajo silversmith are from solid silver, melted, hammered or molded with their own primitive appliances. Some are finished with plain surfaces, others are elaborately engraved, stamped or embossed.

Carthage, June 10.—At the special school meeting last night the taxpayers voted to raise $28,000 to erect a new High school building in Carthage on the site of the present building. This is the fourth time a proposition has been submitted to the people. Each time previous it has been for larger appropriations, which were defeated. At last night's meeting George W. Dickinson acted as chairman and Rev. J. W. Brainard and Seth M. Strickland were tellers. There were 122 votes cast, 77 in favor of and 45 in opposition to the proposition. F. E. Hall, an official of the state department at Albany, was present and said a few words in favor of the proposed scheme. The new building will be erected as soon as possible on the corner of Fulton and North James streets and will be entirely separate from the present one. It is to be used entirely as a High school building and will contain an assembly hall large enough to seat the entire school when needed. Plans for the building have been drawn by Architect D. D. Kieff of Watertown, and the details will be completed and the contract awarded as soon as possible.

PAUL MORTON FOR CHAIRMAN.

Secretary of the Navy to Manage Equitable's Affairs—Present Officers are Out—Hyde Loses Control.

New York, June 10.—Paul Morton, who retires as secretary of the navy July 1, was yesterday elected chairman of the board of directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society.

His election marks the first and most important step in the reorganization of the society and was followed by the tender of the resignations of President James W. Alexander, Vice-President James H. Hyde, Second Vice-President Gage E. Tarbell, Third Vice-President George T. Wilson and Fourth Vice-President William H. McIntyre.

Mr. Morton, as explained by Senator Chauncey M. Depew, was the unanimous choice of the directors, although the meeting was not altogether harmonious.

Morton to Have a Free Hand.

The new chairman, to further quote Senator Depew, did not consent to take office until he had received positive assurance that he would have a "free hand as to measures and men."

Mr. Hyde "divested" himself of the majority control, but, as made clear in his letter to the board, retains a substantial interest in the society.

All of the resignations submitted at the meeting are subject to the pleasure of Chairman Morton, and none has yet been accepted. Just what action Mr. Morton will take as to these resignations was not disclosed, but it was strongly intimated that President Alexander and Vice-Presidents Tarbell, Wilson and McIntyre retired with the belief that their executive relations with the Equitable had ended.

Two Score in Syndicate.

The people to which Mr. Hyde disposed of his stock number some two score individuals, led by Thomas F. Ryan, vice-president of the Morton Trust company, which has close relations with the Mutual Life Insurance company, one of the Equitable's principal rivals. Mr. Ryan is said to be heavily insured in the Equitable, as are, according to report, many of the others who acted with him in the purchase of the Hyde holdings. The price paid for the Hyde estate stock, which is to be trusteed practically in perpetuity, was not disclosed, but estimates vary from $3,500,000 to $5,000,000.

In addition to the 502 shares of stock held by the Hyde estate, which includes that of the widow of Henry B. Hyde, founder of the society, and his daughter, Vice-President Hyde is said to hold between 160 and 170 shares, and it is these holdings which constitute a "substantial interest," which Mr. Hyde retains.

The men requested to hold the majority stock by Mr. Ryan are former President Grover Cleveland, George Westinghouse of Pittsburg and Morgan J. O'Brien, recently elevated to the chief justiceship of the appellate division of the supreme court of his district.

Interests Already Allied.

Mr. Ryan is the acknowledged head of the Metropolitan Traction company in this city and only a fortnight ago induced Mr. Morton to ally himself with this interest as the operating chief of the New York City Railway company, by which title the Metropolitan surface lines and their affiliated companies in Manhattan and the Bronx are corporately known. Concerning the purchase of the Equitable stock and the disposition of it, Mr. Ryan said:

"In connection with some other policy holders who, like myself, have never had any relations with the Equitable except as policyholders, I have purchased from Mr. Hyde a majority of the stock of that society.

"We have made this purchase for the sake of putting an end to the present unfortunate condition of the company's affairs, not only in the interest of the policyholders, but for the general business interests of the entire country.

"We purpose upon receiving the stock to immediately divest ourselves of all voting power and accomplish in substance and effect the plan of mutualization already approved by the superintendent of insurance.

"We propose to do this by conveying the stock to a board of trustees composed of men of such character as to command universal confidence and having no connection with Wall street, with power to vote the stock for the election of directors, as to 28 directors in accordance with the instructions of the policyholders of the society and as to the remaining 24 directors in accordance with the uncontrolled judgment of the trustees.

One-Man Power Gone.

"This will at once accomplish the object of putting the control of the company in the hands of the policyholders and will eliminate entirely the one-man power, to which so much objection has been made.

"Our willingness to take this course has been influential in inducing Mr. Morton to accept the chairmanship of the board and to undertake the reorganization of the society, which it is our wish to have made as thorough and complete as possible.

"I have already asked ex-President Cleveland, Justice Morgan J. O'Brien and George Westinghouse of Pittsburg to act as trustees of the stock. The last two named are among the large policyholders of the Equitable."

Victory for Hyde Faction.

Mr. Morton declined to discuss the meeting except to say he had relinquished the position as chief of the Metropolitan Traction company and its proposed subway extension and that he had accepted the Equitable chairmanship.

Mr. Morton's selection in the opinion of those who have followed events, is in the nature of a compromise and a victory for the Hyde faction. In any event the outcome was seemingly a surprise to some of the members of the so-called Alexander forces.

Hyde's Statement.

Last night James H. Hyde addressed a letter to the Equitable directors in which he said:

"Now that the legal rights of the stockholders have been determined by the supreme court of the state I have reached the conclusion, as the result of the most earnest and anxious reflection that the welfare of the society founded by my father, and which I have so deeply at heart, demands that the stock control shall cease to be vested in any one person and that I should part with a majority of the stock in such form that no one individual shall continue in control of the destinies of the society.

"I have accordingly, but not without great hesitation and personal regret, sold the stock which my father placed in trust. I am advised that as the holder of the controlling stock I have the power and hence the responsibility of repairing the damage that has been inflicted upon the society in so far as that may be possible. It is in the discharge of that responsibility that I have parted with the majority of the stock in the interest of the policyholders, and in a form which I believe will enable the society to regain its prestige and resume its interrupted era of prosperity. If that be the result I shall be content."

Get Them All.

A medical missionary at Pakhoi writes: "We get an immense variety of diseases, * * * * but never enteric fever, scarlet fever, nor diphtheria. On the other hand, we get every skin disease there is and every eye disease known from a professional point of view, many affording the greatest clinical interest. Our clinic would be the envy of many a professional man in Europe, and indeed it would make a splendid training ground for a medical career."
