

A. T. Stewart.

Alexander T. Stewart, the merchant prince of New York, died at his home in that city on Monday afternoon, of inflammation of the bowels; aged seventy-two years and six months. Mr. Stewart was born in Ireland, and his parents were poor and humble. He came to this country quite early in life, and began a course of literary study, with the view of adopting the profession of a clergyman; but subsequently abandoned it, and turned his attention to teaching as a means of support, having studied and become quite familiar with the languages. He was married, while quite young to Miss Cornelia Church, of New York; and soon after abandoned his profession and literary pursuits for those of a mercantile life. A relative, dying, left him a small sum of money with which he began business, and from which he acquired his immense fortune estimated at nearly $60,000,000; a sum nearly equal to the entire assessed valuation of Jefferson county. To form a correct idea of the vastness of his wealth, one only need imagine a man in possession and using the entire real and personal property of Jefferson county, and receiving rents from every one of its farmers, mechanics, tradesmen and laborers. And yet with all his wealth he is dead; and, like all others, who have left only wealth behind them, will soon be forgotten. The $60,000,000 which he leaves, and which are the proceeds of sixty years of arduous, incessant mercantile labor, are all that remain to remind us that he has lived. Unlike Mr. Astor, no children or relatives are left to heir his riches, his wife only surviving him, and to whose relatives, undoubtedly, a large share of his wealth is willed. His funeral was largely attended from St. Mark's Episcopal church on Thursday morning, and is said to have been very imposing. The floral decorations at the house and church, costing $5,000, were the most beautiful and elaborate ever seen on like occasions in New York. The coffin is of oak covered with black silk velvet; the handles and mountings are of gold, and the lining of white satin and fringe. The box in which it is to be enclosed to preserve it from decay, is of cedar, lined with lead two inches thick. The remains were interred in St. Mark's churchyard, on the family vault, where they will rest just as quietly, we suppose, as do those of any "unknown" in the nameless graves of the Potter's fields of the great city cemeteries.

The bill to extend Comptroller Green's term passed the Senate on Wednesday. Senator Morrissey introduced a bill to make the office elective, which was referred to the Committee on Cities.

According to the New York "Express" of Wednesday, one DeCosta, who claims to have been a waiter at Delmonico's, has been interviewed by Boss Tweed, while traveling from Genoa to Leghorn, sometime during last month. Tweed is known in Leghorn as an American baron, and says he is making a Continental tour for the benefit of his health.

The "World" says that the bill which recently passed the House, reducing the President's salary to $25,000, is about to be vetoed by Grant, who has had it under consideration several days. Sympathy for the coming man and an interest in his temporal wants, doubtless, is the cause of the rash act. Fraternity is a fearful disease when it takes hold of a man that way.

The soup and shin-bone business was a source of much profit to certain Freedman's Bureau patriots for a while after the war closed, and contributed quite largely to the assets of those officials. Emulating their example, Delano, according to report assumed the responsibility of adding to his stock of earthly wares by supplying the noble red men of the Department of the Interior—which is the department of Delano—with tin kettles, at $2.50 each. The bill authorizing this expenditure provided for the purchase of iron kettles at $1.50 per "doz"; but somehow Delano managed to construct it to mean $2.50 for each kettle, and tin ones at that. What march civilization is making toward the West.

The resolution offered in the Assembly to furnish transportation to National Guard organizations to the Centennial being defeated, many of those brave boys in blue who have had the flattering attention to their sons that there was a "good time coming" and that free transportation to the great exposition was to be meted out to them, are elected to stay at home, as there are no visible means left them for getting there.

Now that Williams the bank robber is safely housed in the State prison at Windsor, wouldn't it be well for the powers that be in Washington, to ask his Excellency, the Governor of Vermont, to pardon him, that he may be able to testify in relation to Babcock's safe burglary business. No doubt Williams is familiar with all the details and knows all the parties who had a hand in the business. "Innocent man escape," though the heavens fall. Send up a New York "Herald" reporter to interview him, and, if it is ascertained that he knows anything about it, by all means let him out.

Public Stock Sales.

At the adjourned meeting of the committee held at Hungerford's Bank, the following regulations were adopted: For the accommodation of those who wish to buy or sell farm stock the committee has decided to hold the first of its stock sales, for the public sale of horses, cattle, hogs and sheep on the fair ground, in Adams, at 10 o'clock a. m. June 1st, 1876. For the purpose of defraying the necessary expenses of the sale there will be charged the following "entry fee," to be paid by the seller when receiving his stock with the secretary:

Horses, each $1.00; colts, under two years, 50 cents; cattle, per head 50 cents; cow and calf, to be sold together 75 cents; hogs, per head, 25 cents; sow and pig, to be sold together 50 cents; Sheep, per head, 25 cents; calves, per head, 25 cents.

Also, one per cent. of all sales to be paid by the purchaser. The committee will hold supervisory control of all stock from the time it comes on the ground until released by the committee. They will furnish suitable stalls and forage tree of charge. The immediate care of feeding, and watering, &c., will rest with the owners.

Parties wishing to sell poultry, seeds, farm implements and machinery, at private sale, will have space assigned them on the grounds upon proper application. They will not be allowed to call attention to their wares in a loud or disorderly manner.

Each owner shall be present or represented at the sale of his stock, and make in writing, or verbally whatever statement he wishes concerning the animal offered. Also his terms of sale.

The seller will be allowed the option of making one public bid, in which case it shall be the starting bid, or of making no bid and reserving the privilege of withdrawing his animal at any time before it is struck off by the auctioneer. If he chooses to make the public bid, and it is not raised, but the animal is struck off to him, the same percentage will be payable by him as would be charged an actual purchaser. If he chooses not to make the bid, but to reserve the right to withdraw his animal, as provided above, he shall pay two per cent. on the price which the animal has reached at the time it is withdrawn. In neither case will in-bidding or re-bidding be allowed.

Sales to commence at two o'clock a. m. and continue until everything is disposed of. Persons applying for entries are desired to give number of each kind of animal and their ages if possible, and if thought proper to give their name in full. The committee will take every precaution for the safety of animals while attending the sale, but will assume no responsibility in case of loss or damage. Upon this condition, and a full compliance with all the regulations of the committee the animals will be received. The sales will not be postponed on account of the weather. The large and well arranged buildings will enable us to proceed with the sales regardless of wind or weather.

As an expression of the intention and desire of the committee in establishing these sales, the following regulations, unanimously adopted, are hereby given:

Agricultural, community, only, and no purpose or desire for "money making" for itself or any of its members, therefore.

Resolved, That the Sales Committee be authorized and directed to proceed with the sales upon the plan and regulations submitted; and that they be required to make a full detailed report as soon after each sale as is practicable, of the amount received from entry fees, percentage on sales and all other sources, together with an account of their expenditures in detail.

Resolved, Further, that all moneys remaining after defraying the absolutely necessary expenses of the sale, such as printing, forage, auctioneer's services, &c., shall be held as a special sale fund, to be applied to the reduction of entry fees and percentage at future sales.

Entries of stock for sale may be made by addressing D. A. Dwight, Secretary of Sales Committee, Adams, N. Y., up to nine o'clock p. m. of the day previous to the sale. It is, however, especially recommended that entries be made as soon as possible, that they may be mentioned in the general advertisement and printed list.

The committee adjourned for two weeks, at which time an executive committee superintendent and auctioneer will be appointed.

D. A. DWIGHT, Sec'y.

Jefferson Co. Lodge No. 31 I. O. of G. T.

The thirty-second quarterly session of this Lodge will be held at Pleasant, with Lodge No. 391, on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 25th and 26th of April, 1876.

There will be a public meeting in the evening of Tuesday which will be addressed by earnest workers in the cause. Delegates and others attending this session will take the train on the Utica & Black River Railroad, leaving Watertown at 10:40 a. m., changing cars at Carthage for Redwood; or on the Rome & Ogdensburg Railroad on the first train from Rome or Ogdensburg in the morning, changing cars at Philadelphia for Redwood. Carriages will be provided by our pleasant brethren to convey all attending on the arrival of the morning train at Redwood.

The members of Pleasant Lodge extend a very cordial and earnest invitation to all members of the order, and sincerely desire that they may have a large number meet with them. Arrangements will be made enabling all who desire to reach home on Wednesday evening.

Some questions of vital importance to our cause will be presented for consideration and it is earnestly hoped that a large delegation will be present to participate.

By ORDER OF EXECUTIVE COM. Wm. H. CLARK, Cor. Sec'y.

TURP NOTES.

From the "Spirit of the Times." The Watertown River Park Association claim June 27 to June 29, for their summer meeting. The amount of passes has not yet been announced.

Gen. W. F. Withers has sold to G. J. Shaw, Detroit, Mich., the yearling chestnut colt, Gen. Withers (late Col. West), by Almont, out of Bloom, by Hatcher's Ashland, grandam by Tomasto Chief.

About May 1, Judge Fullerton, the great trotter, will be taken to Cleveland, where he will undergo the grand preparation for the approaching campaign.

An express train from Tarrytown killed two valuable horses belonging to Mr. Thorn, at Riverdale, on the evening of the 4th inst.

Mr. John Welch, President of East Saginaw Driving Park Association, has been nominated for Mayor by the Republican party.

The California Spirit of the Times says: Report has it that Budd Doble is going to purchase the Stark mare, and carry her East with him. It is also claimed that he drove her half a mile on Wednesday morning, in 1:10, although there was a high north wind blowing. There can hardly be much controversy as to her possessing a high rate of speed; how she will perform in a race is something which has yet to be proven.

ARAB HORSES ON THE ENGLISH TURF.—The London Sporting Times says: "Mr. Chaplin, in order to prove how our horses have deteriorated, has imported some first-class Arabs, that are now being trained by Bloss, at Newmarket. There are four of them, and they cost $2,000. They are the best that could be bought, of the purest blood, and enjoy a great reputation in their own country. Mr. Chaplin's fellow steward, Sir John Astley, has been speaking extensively of these Arabs, and says Scamp shall run them every day for a fortnight over the Beacon Course, at Newmarket, 'one down, 'other come on,' for as much as Mr. Chaplin can rake together."

The one-ounce steeples have mare Lobelia, by Bonnie Scotland, dam Capitola, the property of Col. McDaniel, was shot last week on the premises of her owner, at Saratoga. She had been turned out for a little exercise in the park and was at the groom's side, leading Sister of Mercy through the gate. Lobelia galloped up behind her, Sister of Mercy kicked up and struck the side of the mare in the shoulder, splintering the bone so badly that the veterinary surgeon thought she would never be of any service as a breeder.

Visit to Jas. Brodie & Son's Stock Farm.

We had the pleasure the other day of visiting the premises and stables of Messrs. Brodie & Son, of Loyal Hill, New York. These gentlemen are importers and breeders of blooded cattle. Mr. Brodie has a very fine residence, which is most admirably situated on the summit of a slight knoll, which overlooks his whole farm. Everything around indicates thrift and systematic labor.

We found Mr. Hugh Brodie hauling logs, but he very kindly left his business and showed us around. Their stables are in comfortable repair, though not as new and convenient as many we might name in Ellisburgh. And here permit us to say that we know of no town that can compete with Ellisburgh in barns. But all of this is of no account, as we came more to see the cattle, than to make comments about the buildings.

The first we came to were the young cattle, some of which were undergoing a horn-straightening process, and all of which were in fine condition. Surely, "blood tells." In a pen close by were six last year's calves which Mr. Brodie informed us were the best six that ever stood in his stable. He is constantly receiving orders for stock, and only a few days before had shipped a pair to Cuba.

We next paid a visit to the "Duke of Hamilton," a fine imported bull; in fact, he is a genuine old Scotchman and has a pedigree a great deal too lengthy to mention in an article like this.

A little distance from here was "Lady Ayrshire," a handsome specimen of a cow and worthy a good place in any man's stable. Next was cow "Diamond." We should presume that this cow is quite well advanced in years. Judging from the number of prizes she has taken, she has had honors enough for one cow. We have it upon the authority of Mr. Brodie, that "Diamond" took seven prizes, at fairs in Scotland when two years old. Since she has been in this country there is no end to the number she has taken, both at State, county, and town fairs.

There were nine other imported cows in the stable besides, all of which are worthy of note, but we haven't space to enumerate here. There were also two other very fine bulls; one called "Duke of Hamilton, Second," is Mr. B's favorite and he flatters himself, will, in time surpass anything he has ever owned. The other whose name we failed to obtain, is a splendid looking animal and was sired by the noted imported Ayrshire bull, "Woodville Chief," owned by Mr. James Converse, of Woodville, N. Y.

There were fifty head of cattle in the stable and we did not see a bad one among the whole herd.

The feed for the cattle is all cooked by steam, and up to the time of our visit their feed had been nothing but corn-stalks. Not a bit of grain had been fed and yet they were all in excellent order.

Mr. Brodie has been quite extensively engaged in stock-raising and breeding about twenty-five years; having commenced in 1851, and continued in the business ever since. At one time he dealt quite extensively in "Short-horn," but at present he has nothing except Ayrshire stock. As a breeder Mr. Brodie has had very much experience and is widely known in Jefferson county as one of the most successful. Much of the interest manifested in regard to cattle-raising in this country (and which the people are justly proud of) is owing, in quite a measure, to the efforts of the Brodies.

MACBETH.

Our Buffalo Letter.

BUFFALO, April 11, 1876. Spring, gentle Spring, appears to have come at last in all her ethereal mildness and much of its oft-quoted gentleness. The air is soft and balmy; cold, raw, snapping weather of winter has at last gone. The streets are crowded with equipages and promenaders seem to have a real fourth of July aspect without the little boy's plaything—fire crackers. Hundreds of ambitious and impatient girls of the period are out in all the glory of new finery, in costumes and bonnets, and we have one of the features of Easter day in advance. There is no denying the fact that the new Spring fashions are beautiful.

Miss Charlotte Thompson, the fascinating actress of the period, concluded an engagement in this city last week. Her engagement was crowned with success. She is handsome, graceful, emotional and magnetic; and she has a luscious pair of eyes which are very attractive in a dramatic way.

Extensive preparations are in progress for the Easter season of gayety, now close at hand. The services at the different Episcopal and Catholic churches will be unusually grand and impressive, especially at St. Paul's, St. John's, Trinity, and the Cathedral. The floral decorations will be profuse, and the music grand. The social world, just now is quiet, because of the Paschal Week; no balls, no raffles, no musicals, nothing but miserable winners. The mere mention of Shaker's this week will be sacrilegious. Four-in-hands are creating the usual sensation. The roof of the coaches are pretty girls and the gossamer riding along at a rapid pace on Franklin avenue, Terry's, Kuntz's, and others are the scenes in this respect.

The Centennial fever here is perceptibly on the increase, as the time for the opening of the national exhibition draws near, in May, June, July, and especially August. There will be a rush to the city on account of the Falls, the races, and our beautiful parks. They are making great improvements here of all kinds, and the people of Buffalo may well be proud of it.

There is a great noise being made by lager beer dealers on the Sunday liquor law. Many saloon keepers have been arrested for selling beer or liquor on Sunday, but every one has escaped punishment, hence, the temperance men have gone to Albany to have things enforced. But last Friday the committee on internal affairs reported the Buffalo Sunday law adversely, whereupon Mr. Gallagher moved that the report be disagreed with and that the bill be referred to the committee of the whole. This bill gives power to the police commissioners to grant licenses to sell liquor, etc., on Sunday under certain regulations and the temperance people don't like it, and the anti-temperance people think that

"A spring that never get grow stale, Such virtues be in Adams' ale."

THOMASVILLE.

From our Own Correspondent.

—One of two enterprising farmers have commenced plowing.

—Where is that bone yard, "Alonzo," and where, oh where, is that drifted mud?

—Mrs. Joseph Martin is at present quite unwell of inflammation of the throat.

—Last autumn's bears have again paid us a visit. "Ten cents to see the bear dance." The granger, only, "shelled out."

—Pigeons are exceedingly plenty in this vicinity. One gentleman estimated that upwards of three hundred thousand passed over this place the 11th inst.

—Mr. Bailey Potter, one of our enterprising citizens, proposes to erect a new house the coming summer, near his present residence, which will add to the beauty of this embryo city.

—Mr. Collins, of Henderson, while passing through this place on Saturday last, with a buck-board, drawn by two horses, carrying himself and the "Cory boys," was suddenly precipitated into the mud; cause, rotten boards and a rough road; effect, no bones broken.

—"Alonzo," although he claims to be "the brave," seems to be a little perturbed in his "great mind" as to where Thomasville is situated, and at theory's five items" which he says were published in the Journal. Strange phantasies for so great an intellect. In reply to the first, we would say ask the editor; in regard to the second, "good things bear repetition," even if touched by the illustrious quills of Alonzo the heap big, brare & c.

WARDWELL SETTLEMENT.

From our Own Correspondent.

—The cheese factories in this vicinity will commence operations May 1st.

—Pool and Sanders are doing a lively business in the real line.

—Log Leedon has a steam saw mill; Brayton Gurney is the owner.

—There is an epidemic among the juvenile here, and several have died of it.

—Miss Frank Hicks will wield the scepter in the school in this place, this season, and Mrs. James Grinnell in Log Leedon.

—F. H. Pool shot a wild goose on Monday last, which weighed ten pounds, 19 rods, with BB. shot; can any of our sportsmen beat that?

—We understand that this place will be represented at the Centennial. Boys remember your fillings, and go slow.

—There are several new houses going to be built here the coming season; so much for the Centennial year.

—Mr. B. Hodder commences business this spring, with a fair partner whom he secured during his recent trip to England. "Ben's" bachelor life is ended at last. Let us wish him success and may "God save the Queen."

—Some of our boys went suckering the other day. We know it, for we met them coming home, singing "The little brown jug."

—Mrs. Castor, a veteran lady of this place, died on Thursday, the 6th inst. She was 84 years of age, and had a large circle of friends and relatives. She has been partially deranged for several years. TRIP-TAT.

BISHOP STREET.

From our Own Correspondent.

—Bishop Street is going it strong for Peas and Beans.

—The north part of this place was entertained by three men and two boys dancing and singing; they went north and no doubt are teaching the art at Smithville.

—Last Saturday Gen. Jones and S. W. Abbott were returning from Adams, driving a very spirited team, when near the cheese factory at Roberts Corners, their team took fright, and as they were both trying to hold them, Mr. Jones was thrown from the carriage. After running about half a mile, Abbott got them under control, and turning them about, went in search of his partner; met him with blankets, etc., as I saw them, I do not think that the worst sight I ever saw. Mud was no use for it. The result was one horse bruised and one, Jones, sustained a bad standing position, but Lewis' arms were not in as good trim for handling such, as usual. BLACKBOARD.
