To Redden the Blood

Rich, red blood.

That is what pale, weak, nervous people need.

Red blood to form new cells and tissues, to invigorate the nerves, to strengthen the heart's action, to give energy and vigor to the organs of the body.

The elements from which nature forms rich, red blood are found in condensed and easily assimilated form in Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and because of its wonderful blood-building qualities this great restorative has become world famous.

There is no guess work, no experimenting with this treatment. Every dose is bound to do you a certain amount of good.

Mrs. H. Harbough, Mansfield, Ohio, states:—"A child of mine was pale, bloodless, weak and nervous. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills acted splendidly, making the nerves strong the blood rich, the color good, and building up the system in every way."

A programme was arranged by Mrs. Smith and our president Mrs. Byron Wood, for the occasion as follows: Reading by Mrs. Grace Smith on the "Ridiculous things that occur by trying to put on airs." Mrs. Wesley Millard read a piece on the difference in the country and city ways of living and how uncomfortable people can make their guests feel in their homes by following or trying to follow modes and customs. The lady in question was very glad to get back home from her visit to the city, and her old broken coffee pot that had been an eye sore to her before looked good to her, and was also glad for something substantial to eat. Ex Supervisor C. W. Noble gave a declamation entitled, "A German's Remedy," which was enjoyed by all. Then followed devotional exercises, which was concluded by singing by a male quartette of young people. Thus ended a happy day, which will be looked back to with pleasure. Constipation paralyzes the blood vessels of the lower bowel, and often causes piles. Women and all other indoor workers, are the most frequent sufferers. Things That Are Not Clear.

As I am sitting all alone,
In a little farm home I call home;
I th ught I would write a rhyme,
And to let thoughts develop, I have taken time.

There were some things that are not quite clear
So I want to ask some questions here—
Perhaps some one that is smart will know,
Why farmers never have a show?

I took some potatoes to town last fall,
I could hardly sell them there at all,
Because I held them for my price,
Now you that are square, do you think that nice?

And if we go with a load of hay,
The consumer there will always say,
"We will give you just so much a ton,
And if you don't like that we will keep our sum"

If we have any swine to sell they say,
"Bring it right down most any day,"
And when they get it they say with a smile,
"We pay so much and have all the while"

But if we buy meat there, so I have been told,
We must pay them just twice for what we have sold.
Now I ask you good people that are smart and will know,
Do you call that giving a farmer a show?

Now I have taken apples down to the store
And they say, "We will pay you so much and no more.
We want you to take it in trade, (yes we do),
And then we can make on our goods and yours too."

We go to the station and carry our milk,
That is cooled on ice and is finer than silk.
The company will tell us just what they pay,
And if that don't suit, we can draw it away.

Now I ask kind friends, who claim to know,
Why farmers never have a show?
Why do we always have to take
The price the middleman sees fit to make?

There are plenty of unions throughout the land,
But the farmers don't have any—they lack the sand.
I will tell you, kind friends, if I had had my say,
There would be a farmer's union right here today.

You may think that I am a young farmer crank,
But how long could they live on their dough in the bank?
It wouldn't be long ere their prices they'd carve.
And they would pay us our prices, before they would starve.

LIQUOR MEN ANXIOUS.

Advocates of Local Option Bill Appear Confident of Passage.

ALBANY, Jan. 26.—Although up to date there has been no local option bill introduced and no sign or announcement of one, brewers and liquor interests of this region, and, so far as can be learned of the rest of the state, are displaying considerable anxiety over the prospect of "unfavorable legislation" this year. They seem to have the notion that whether or not Governor Hughes advocates a local option bill or other legislation, he will lend his influence to such measures, and the vision they have conceived of what will happen in that case is disturbing their rest at night.

The men who previous years have advocated the passage of a local option bill in various forms seem confident that this year they will obtain at least some part of the legislation they desire. They have one factor in their favor, at least, Assemblyman Gray, of St. Lawrence county who introduced the local option measure last year, this time is chairman of the Committee of Excise, which naturally would assure the bills being reported from committee and voted on by the lower house. But it would take more than this to account for the seeming confidence of the anti-saloon people, and the report has been abroad here for several days that they have obtained from Governor Hughes some statement of his position on this question. This story was so strong at one time that many legislators expected to see the Governor make some reference to the proposition in his annual message.

Local option bills in previous years have provided for a vote on the license question according to counties, or "residence districts" of sizes and descriptions varying with the vintage of the bills. It seems to be the general idea that this year efforts will be concentrated on passing a local option bill applying to cities as a whole. The argument is made that this would be a practical demonstration of the home rule principal, and some of the anti-saloon men seem to believe that on that ground it would meet Governor Hughes' approval even if it did have his open support. There is little question that if this phase of the excise laws is brought up with any great strength, so it will force the Legislature to give it more than the proforma consideration which the annual local option bill has received in other years, the question of Sunday opening will be advanced also.

LINCOLN STAMP ISSUE.

Sale to Begin on Centenary of the President's Birth.

WASHINGTON, Jan 25.—An issue of 100,000,000 two cent Lincoln stamps was ordered by the Postmaster General. The stamps will be placed on sale throughout the country on February 12th, the 100th anniversary of Lincoln's birth. Postmaster General Meyer took this action in response to the vigorous editorials that have appeared in the Tribune and to the insistent demands from many parts of the country that the Lincoln centennial year be commemorated by returning his portrait to the postage stamps.

Long before the Dawson resolution was passed by the House of Representatives the artists of the department were at work, and the result will be the reproduction of the striking features of Lincoln found on the Saint Gaudens statue in Lincoln Park, Chicago. There is a fine plaster cast copy of the Saint Gaudens statue in the Corcoran Gallery in Washington, and to save time the artists copied the profile of this copy. Mrs. Saint Gaudens, the sculptor's widow, readily gave her consent to the government's use of her husband's work.

The new stamp will be of the size and shape of the regular 2-cent postage stamp, and will be red, like the Washington 2 cent stamp now in use. A spray of laurel leaves will appear on either side of the ellipse surrounding Lincoln's head, and above will appear the words, "U. S. Postage." Below, the ellipse is broken by a ribbon containing the dates of Lincoln's birth and its 100th anniversary, "1809, February 12-1909," with the denomination "two cents" in words beneath.

It was explained at the Postoffice Department that lack of time would prevent the issuance of more than one denomination of Lincoln stamps, and as the 2-cent stamp is the one generally used for domestic postage, it was thought that it was the most appropriate.

A Higher Health Level.

"I have reached a higher health level since I began using Dr. King's New Life Pills," writes Jacob Springer, of West Franklin, Maine. "They keep my stomach, liver and bowels working just right." If these pills disappoint you on trial, money will be refunded at F. C. Snyder's drug store, 25c.

BUTTER, CHEESE AND EGGS.

Prices Paid by New York City Jobbers for Farm Products.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Butter—Early in the day there was a little jobbing demand against immediate wants, but later trade became very slow, and the market developed pronounced weakness. Advices of a further drop at Chicago added to the unsettled feeling here. Official quotations were not changed, but buyers were able to get the stock very easily at the quoted rates, and on qualities below extras they secured favors not previously conceded. This applies to both fresh and held creamery. Process is slow and a shade easier in tone. Factory about steady, but still moving slowly. Packing stock easy. Creamery specials, per lb. 33@33½c; extras, 32@32½c; firsts, 28@31c; seconds, 25@27c; thirds, 23@24c; held specials, 30c; lower grades, 23@2c; state dairy, common to fair, 21@26c; process, 18@25c; western factory, 18½@19c; packing stock, 18@24c.

Cheese—With a continued very satisfactory demand for most all grades of full cream cheese and stocks steadily reducing the market is in firm healthy shape, but nothing to warrant actual change in quotations. Skims only moderately active, but finer grades held about steady. Exporters could use suitable grades, but firmness of holders interferes with movement, and little if any doing on export account. State full cream specials, 14½@15½c; large and small colored or white fancy, 14½c; good to fine, 14c; winter made best, 13½c; good to prime, 12@13c; common to fair, 10½@11½c; skims, 1½ lb specials, 11½c; skims, fine, 9@10c; fair to good, 7½@8½c; common, 4@5c; full skims, 2½@3½c.

Eggs—Arrivals are lighter and advices indicate very moderate supplies for next week. There is speculative buying, largely for western account, and a little more call from local trade, under which prices rule firmer with a slight recovery. Storage quiet. State, Pennsylvania and nearby selected white fancy, 36c; fair to choice, 33@35c; brown and mixed fancy, 32@33c; fair to choice, 30@31c; western firsts, 30c; seconds, 28@29½c; thirds, 27@28c; refrigerators, 24@27½c.
