Twining Purchases Part of Co-Operative Company Building and Will Engage in Flour and Feed Business—Chickering Antiques Bring High Prices—Old-Time Concert and Fiddler's Contest June 25.

(Mrs. N. D. Terrill, Correspondent.)

Miss Mildred Richtelle, of Cleveland, Ohio, is the guest of Miss Elizamae Smith.

Mrs. Maud K. Blodgett is visiting her sister, Mrs. Vernon Martin, and family, in Vernon.

A son, named Harry Melvin, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Farron, in Linwood, N. J., on June 15. Mrs. Farron was formerly Miss Doris Ver Schneider, of this village.

Claude Ryel, of this village, is now connected with the Carl Fenton Brunswick Recording Orchestra in New York. Mr. Ryel called on friends here before leaving for New York.

Miss Gladys Archer, who was awarded the second prize for the best essay on the subject, "The Backward Child," at the graduation exercises of the Potsdam Normal school, is a native of this village, where she spent her young girlhood and attended the high school before removing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fay Archer, to Lacona.

Marion Wood Datoush, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor C. Wood, of this village, was one of the eight nurses to be graduated from the State Hospital in Utica on Tuesday. The ceremonies were impressive, speeches being made by persons high in the nursing profession. At the same time eight young ladies from Faxton Hospital and four from the Homeopathic Hospital were graduated. Mr. and Mrs. Wood and Jerome Datoush attended the exercises.

The personal property of the late Mrs. Charles A. Chickering, consisting of household goods, was sold at auction at the Chickering residence in this village on Thursday, Sheriff Albert Schoff, of Lowville, acting as auctioneer. Quite a number of articles in furniture were sold at the appraised valuation before the sale. There was a large attendance, buyers being present from Carthage, Lowville and Watertown, who paid high prices for antiques, the balance of the goods selling at good prices.

In Odd Fellows hall Friday evening, June 25, will be presented an old-time concert and old fiddler's contest for the benefit of the Congregational church in this village. The old fiddlers to participate will be George Bardo, of Beaver Falls; Fred Conroy, of Black River; William Henry, of Champion; James Gray, of Watertown and others. W. A. Twining has purchased of the Copenhagen Co-operative Co., Inc., the half of the building owned by the company on Main street, formerly known as the Ryel hotel. It will be remembered that the company sold a half of the building to L. H. Smith about two years ago. Mr. Twining did not buy what is known as the factory building on the rear of the lot, but has rented the same for a storehouse. The part of the building sold to Mr. Twining is fully equipped as a grist mill and Mr. Twining, it is reported, will conduct a flour and feed business, opening early the coming fall. Ray E. Simmons, who has occupied the store part of the building as an automobile salesroom, will soon vacate and occupy his former location in the Carpenter block.

The baccalaureate sermon to the graduates of the Copenhagen high school was given Sunday evening in the Congregational church by the pastor, Rev. John A. Bennett. Monday evening the faculty and graduates motored to Henderson Harbor and enjoyed dinner at the "Harbor Inn." The graduation exercises were held Tuesday evening in I. O. O. F. hall, when Dorothy Cramer, Harold Roberts, Harold Jones and David Roberts received their diplomas. Nearly all will enter higher institutions of learning in September. The results of the recent examinations of the local school are excellent, the students having held up the standard of the school in fine shape. The report sent out annually by the State Department of Education shows an unusual record for the Copenhagen faculty and students. The school stands well up in the list and far above many of the schools of the state, standing about ten per cent above the average. Following is a transcript of a recent report from Dr. Skinner, of the education department at Albany, sent to Dr. W. H. Cramer, president of the local board of education: "I am of the belief that a complete transcript of our Mr. Thompson's report of his inspection of the Copenhagen high school will be of service to you and your board of education, in administering the affairs of this school. We have had a favorable impression of the work of the school under the direction of Principal J. J. Brainerd. There is nothing in this report that leads us to change this opinion, and there is much in it that ought to be a source of satisfaction to your board and to your corps of teachers." The results of the recent examinations show that the instruction has been very thorough and it is gratifying to know that there were so few failures. About 90 per cent of those who tried having passed and many high marks were obtained. An alarm was sent to this village at 9:50 and within a couple of minutes the local firemen had responded. As there was no water supply near the farm it was impossible to save the building but the residence was saved from the flames.

It is thought that the fire might have been started by tramps in the building. The loss was partially covered by insurance.
