TOLLGATE

October 15—The present week we claim the indulgence of the readers for going back to Sunday, October 8, when Edwin Smith and family journeyed early to Rochester. They arrived at the home of Mrs. Smith's mother and sister at about 5 a. m., enjoyed breakfast there, visited for a time, then motored to Hilton which we understand is 18 miles further. Then they met two brothers of Mrs. Smith and a sister, with their families. They were entertained at dinner by the latter group, returned to Rochester in the afternoon, left that city sometime before dark and arrived home at a reasonable bedtime. They made the journey without accident, save a flat tire. They were weary but happy when they recalled the satisfaction and pleasure of the day.

The same day Forrest Woodward and wife were dinner guests of Frank Everts and family. They were shown through the Presbyterian church and Memorial building by Earl Everts. Later they called upon Raymond Gibbs and family at Pratham.

Wednesday of last week, Sydnie Hughes, suffering from throat trouble, returned home from Syracuse. The family physician, L. D. Pulsifer, was called and successfully treated the ailment. She was reported improved on Saturday and if she continued could resume her work in Syracuse the middle of the present week.

Thursday the correspondent enjoyed a good dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Smith.

The afternoon of that day Merrick Gorton arrived home, remaining home until Monday morning.

Mrs. A. Gorton was employed both Friday and Saturday by Mrs. Alfred Hughes as Mr. Hughes was selling cattle both days.

The correspondent enjoyed a very interesting visit Friday in the home of Irving Griffin.

Friday evening Edwin Smith and family were agreeably entertained by Mr. and Mrs. E. Hutchinson at North Scriba.

Saturday Mrs. John Thornhill of Orwell, visited her father, Waldo Cross.

Mary Rose Gorton, having completed her work at Oswego, will be home for a time. She was a week-end guest of William Pierson and family at Richland. Sunday, with George Pierson and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sorenson of Pulaski, she visited relatives at Oneida.

Mrs. Edgar Miller spent Saturday with her relatives at Baldwinsville, while her husband was employed at Syracuse.

Saturday evening Edwin Figler and wife enjoyed a long visit with Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Woodward, with games and social conversation.

The same evening Irving Griffin and wife visited her aunt at Pulaski.

Mrs. Charlesbois of Syracuse was the week-end guest of her nephew, Clair Fitzgerald and family.

We now quote Sunday's activities:

Nelson Cross and wife of Liverpool, were dinner guests of his father, Waldo Cross. John Cross and wife of Mexico, called in the afternoon.

Mrs. Almon Raymond accompanied her sons, Walter and Alton Raymond with their wives, visiting relatives at Boonville and Forrestport.

Lawrence Rattray and wife, visited at the Murray home and called upon friends.

Harley Pickens and family of Mexico called at Carl Halsey's.

Fred Juno and son Leroy of Fulton, were dinner guests at A. Gorton's. In the afternoon, Clarence Gorton and wife of Watertown, with Mrs. Leafy Johnson, also called at the Gorton homestead when enroute to Oswego. Later, Willard Paschoud and wife of Vermillion, called.

Charles Cogswell attended a gathering of VFW held in Syracuse. Edgar Miller and wife visited his sister and family at Rochester.

Frank Stevens, wife and daughter, Grace, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Stevens to Daysville, visited relatives there for a picnic dinner, which they heartily appreciated as the health of both is by no means good.

In the evening Luke Clearwater and wife, also Mr. and Mrs. Albert Felt of Maple View, called at Winthrop Stevens'.

William Clement of Syracuse, was a Sunday guest at the Rogers and Raymond home.

Edwin Smith and family enjoyed a chicken dinner and a very interesting visit at William Tanner's in Mason homestead: Kenneth Sherman and family of Cicero; Frank Elmhrst and wife; Charles Wilson and family; Charles Sherman, the latter group from Mayville.

Clair Fitzgerald and wife visited friends at Fulton in the evening.

Mrs. Daniel Cunningham spent the day with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Parsons in Fulton.

Ray Adams, with sister, Mrs. Eva Gilson and Mrs. Mae Daggett, attended religious services in the evening in the West Baptist church, Oswego.

Truman Cook of Central Square was a guest of Frank Stevens and family Thursday.

Irving Griffin and wife, visited relatives at New Boston, Sunday.

Monday Mrs. Forrest Woodward, with her niece, Mrs. Edgar Miller, called on Mrs. Irving Griffin.

Monday evening George Mason and wife called at Peter Montrol's, Texas. We are delighted to learn that Mrs. Montrol's health is greatly improved.

Monday evening Irving Griffin and wife, called upon their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harland at Daysville.

The same evening Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Litts with Mrs. Litts, all of Pulaski, called at Lawrence Rogers.

The correspondent was a dinner guest at Forrest Woodward's Tuesday, George Mason and wife calling at Roy Woodward's. While absent they received a call from Charles Woolson and family.

The correspondent was a caller at Sylvester Hargraves Monday evening.

John Strong is about to move his family to Seneca Hill that he may be nearer his work at Battle-Island through the winter season.

Dorothy Harvey was a supper guest of Beatrice Hughes Friday. C. F. Harvey and wife, also Wesley Clark of Mullen Hill, called at the Hughes home in the evening, visited for a time and expressed their interests and sympathy for Sydnie Hughes in her unpleasant suffering condition.

Lawrence Rogers and William Woodward are installing a cider press at Roger's place.

TOWN LINE

October 7—Mrs. Nellie Swarouth is spending some time with her niece, Mrs. Ora Calkins.

The Ladies Aid is holding a chicken supper and sale, October 10 in the church parlors.

The 1940 card club met with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bough, October 4. The next meeting, October 11 is with Mr. and Mrs. D. Whitney in New Haven.

Miss Irene Stevens, who is soon to be an early fall bride has been the guest of honor at showers recently given by her mother, Mrs. Alice Stevens, Mrs. Florence Stevens, Mrs. Mary Broadwell and Mrs. Grace Clark. At the Clark shower, a large white cake with a miniature bride and groom occupied the center of the table. It was a gift to Irene by her cousin, Viola Bowen. Irene has received many useful gifts.

Mrs. Bessie DeMills and Mr. Hosford of Seneca Hill were guests Sunday of Mrs. Alice Stevens.

Mr. and Mrs. Ethel Stevens were guests at a birthday dinner for Mrs. Hattie Hawley and Mr. Chester Broadwell at Mrs. May Broadwell's Sunday.
