The campaign in the big Northern New York Congressional district goes merrily forward. The candidacies of Major Daniels and B. H. Snell of St. Lawrence and H. D. Stevens of Franklin will go to the primaries. That there is no present promise of an agreement upon a candidate for these two counties makes it more probable that Clinton or Essex will produce a candidate.—Syracuse Post-Standard.

Florida, Mex., copies of which were received here today. This publication prints what purports to be letters from President Cabrera to General Huerta. In one of these letters President Cabrera is quoted as saying:

"It does not appear difficult to me to conciliate the revolutionary elements of General Villa with the military elements so worthily personified in you. As ruler and in my private capacity, you may count on my aid in any possible way to tranquilize Mexico. I am sure you will meet no opposition in Chiapas or Tabasco, in carrying out this great business."

Positively the best vaudeville that ever appeared in the city of Ogdensburg, is the criticism of all who witnessed the performance yesterday. Mr. Hordes, the Russian dancer, is by far the best of the kind that ever played the town. Misses Morse and Floss have a real sister act far above the usual run. The girls have beautiful gowns, pleasing personality; their numbers are well rendered and their dances are a trifle different. In all the show is great. The Hippodrome changes back to Universal Pictures Monday.

If I do not sell at once will leave them in the homes of reliable people for free storage. If interested write now. Address H. News office.

Douglas, General Carranza's American counsel, called the Carranza agency here today that before General Gonzales evacuated Mexico City he had distributed to the poor one million pesos—enough to aid 40,000 families and had brought into the capital 40 carloads of foodstuffs and established 140 distributing depots.
