MAKING THE WORK EASIER

Little Things in Themselves, but They All Mean a Lightening of the Daily Labor.

A small basin of hot water will facilitate the cutting of citron for mincemeat or fruitcake. When the slicing knife becomes sticky dip it into the water to dissolve the sugar.

Take a piece of one-eight stiff wire, bend about this at short intervals small wires shaped into hooks and fasted above your kitchen table to hang spoons, potato masher, egg beater and other light kitchen utensils on.

To remove ink stain from a carpet mix some cornstarch in half a cup buttermilk until a thick paste is formed. Apply this to the ink spot. On the second or third day moisten this a little bit. Scrape it off on the fourth day and all traces of the stain will disappear.

When the bread or cake sticks to the pan tip the latter up to an angle less than 45 degrees to the table and lay a damp cloth on the bottom of it. This causes steam to arise inside of the pan. The bread is released by the steam and will slip out slowly.

When milk is scarce and dear economize by omitting it from the griddle cakes. This will work no hardship, for just as good, fluffy and delicious cakes may be made from potato water as from milk. Save the water after boiling potatoes and when cool mix the cakes with it as though it were milk.

FRUIT SURPRISE VERY GOOD

Peaches, Pears, or Plums May Be Employed, and the Result Will Be Gratifying.

For this use a can of peaches or of pears or of plums, chopping or crushing them with the liquor, so that you have a quart of the pulp. Put with this a cupful of sugar if the fruit is sweet, two cupfuls if it is tart, one cup of cold water, and the whites of four eggs. Do not beat the eggs. Turn into a freezer and freeze until firm, pack, and let it stand for an hour or so before serving.

This dish is excellent made of fresh oranges—and for this the small tart oranges will answer—or with any kind of soaked fried fruit or canned fruit, berries or the larger fruits. Bananas are also good in it if combined with oranges, and chopped dates and figs may be added to apple sauce and used for a foundation. The "surprise" is neither so heavy nor so expensive as ice cream, and while it may not always take the place of this, it is a very pleasing family dessert.

Pickled Peppers.

Choose rather large peppers; wash clean, cut off the tops and scrape out all seeds. Fill with a mixture made as follows: To two quarts of finely chopped cabbage add four large onions, about two tablespoonfuls of pepper seed, two tablespoonfuls of salt, and either two cupfuls of chopped celery, or one-half teaspoonful of celery seed. Pack the peppers as solidly as possible, taking care not to burst them, and press the tops back on. Lay in jars or crocks and cover with hot vinegar. To one gallon of vinegar use about half water if the vinegar is very strong, add four cups of sugar and a teaspoonful of mixed spices; any spice liked extra well can be used. Cover the peppers and set away where cool. They do not need sealing.

Chicken and Tomato Salad.

A can of tomatoes, half a box of gelatin, left-over chicken too small for slicing, make a delicious salad. Season the tomatoes with onion, chopped parsley, a bay leaf, a teaspoonful of salt, cayenne and black pepper to taste. Stew for half an hour, strain through a fine sieve to leave much of the substance, return to the stove, add the gelatin (previously soaked in a half cup of cold water). Stir in the chicken, cut into small cubes and stand in a mold or ring to stiffen. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

Boiled Indian Pudding.

Warm one pint of molasses, add four well beaten eggs, one-half a pound of beef suet chopped fine, one tablespoonful of ginger, one-half of a tablespoonful of cinnamon, one teaspoonful of salt; then alternately one pint of milk and sufficient cornmeal to mix to a thick batter. Dip the cloth in boiling water, wring out and flour it; turn the pudding in it and tie up, leaving room for it to swell. Boil steadily for three hours and serve with cream or a liquid sauce.

To Clean Satin Collars.

The white satin collars that are so fashionable now but so hard to keep clean may be rinsed out in ether and cleansed immediately. Do not try to sponge off the spots, for that leaves a ring, but put a little ether in a small bowl or teacup and squeeze half the collar at a time and it comes out perfectly white. Ten cents' worth of ether will clean the collar many times.

Grape Ice Cream.

Take one pint of rich cream—whip until nice and thick—then add one large cup of grape jelly (dark) and whip again until thoroughly mixed. Freeze from ten to fifteen minutes. It is a pretty mauve color and delicious.—Good Housekeeping.

Rich Lemon Pie.

To the juice and grated rind of two lemons, add yolks of four eggs and white of one egg beaten with seven tablespoons white sugar and one tablespoon melted butter.

ABANDONING THEIR HOME TO THE WATERS

Hundreds of residents of Dayton were taken from their homes in boats, like those seen in the photograph, leaving behind everything but the clothing on their backs.

Not Particularly.

"Did you notice that woman who just passed?" inquired he.

"The one," responded she, "with the gray hat, the white feather, the red velvet roses, the mauve jacket, the black skirt, the mink furs and the lavender spats?"

"Yes."

"Not particularly."

CRAMPS, HEADACHE, BACKACHE,

Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—"I was always tired and weak and my housework was a drag. I was irregular, had cramps so bad that I would have to lie down, also a distressed feeling in lower part of back, and headache. My abdomen was sore and I know I had organic inflammation.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier have helped me wonderfully. I don't have those pains any more and I am all right now. There are a great many women here who take your remedies and I have told others what they have done for me."—Mrs. CHAS. MCKINNON, 1013 N. 5th St. W., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

There are probably hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over 30 years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering. If you are sick and need such a medicine, why don't you try it?

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

WAITING FOR THE RESCUE BOATS

LEGISLATION TO AVOID DISASTER

Flood of "Cures" For Every Great Tragedy.

NONE CAN BE EFFECTIVE.

Now Suggested to Impound Flood Waters at Heads of Streams—Scheme Declared to Be Impractical—Senator Martin, Though "Turned Down," Retains All His Committee Places.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, April 3.—[Special.]—After every great disaster comes a flood of remedies and "cures." Congress was flooded with propositions to prevent anything like another presidential assassination after McKinley was shot. The Slocum disaster fired a spirit of reform for the improvement of steamboat service. The loss of the Titanic brought forth many proposed ocean safety suggestions. And what legislation is there now on the statute books which would stop an assassin from killing a president if he were willing to give his life in the attempt? Another Slocum could burn people to death as easily as the first. Another ocean liner speeding to make a record could strike an iceberg and go to the bottom of the sea.

The great difficulty is that legislation cannot very well be enacted to meet unforeseen disasters. The president cannot be kept in a steel cage nor surrounded by a cordon of soldiers. Any steamer may burn or strike's berg or derelict in midocean. Legislation cannot reach these things.

Impounding Flood Waters.

Already it has been suggested that the way to prevent such disasters as Ohio and Indiana have experienced is by impounding flood waters at the heads of streams. But think what sort of lakes or lakes would be created in that low, level region should great reservoirs be constructed which would hold such torrential rains as created the havoc in those states. Then suppose after such storms those reservoirs should break? The disaster would be greater and more widespread than even those of last week. Another serious problem is that the national government has no control over the streams or the lands affected by those floods save in the big rivers which are navigable. Although congress will be flooded with bills on the subject, it is not likely that effective legislation will result.

Can They Agree?

A statement by the national conservation association says that if the plans of the president of that association are carried out "Washington may see the unusual spectacle of joint committees of conservationists and the forces which have been fighting conservation calling on the government departments and asking that certain policies be put in practical operation on the main issues of the conservation question which have been fought so fiercely for the last five years."

This would indeed be a "spectacle." It seems that the plan is being worked out by a committee on forestry and practical lumbermen as regards forests, and by others interested in power sites over which there has been so much controversy.

Turning Down (?) Martin.

Senator Martin of Virginia was held up to the new Democratic senators as a "reactionary" and not to be trusted as chairman of the Democratic caucus and whilom leader of the party in the senate. So he was set aside, "turned down," it was said. And yet Martin has been made chairman of appropriations, a committee considered by many as the most powerful in the senate. The late Senator Allison chose it in preference to finance when he had an opportunity to choose. Martin retains all his committee places. He has the best rooms in the capitol and by all precedents is better off than other senators. We have heard about men being "kicked upstairs."

Monkeying With Money.

Not having any real important business to transact, the young men with whom former Secretary MacVeagh surrounded himself in the treasury department took to monkeying with our money. It started in the Roosevelt administration, when many new kinds of coins were put out, but the following administration tried a number of new schemes. They washed old bills, for one thing; then they set to work and would have reduced the size of the paper bills, but the new administration came in before that movement was consummated and stopped it. But the young men put out that curious nickel coin which has since been recalled.

That kind of currency reform does not do any good; but, then, it has the merit of not doing very much harm.

Hot Maryland Contest.

There is a very warm political contest in Maryland and two United States senatorships are involved. Both factions want the indorsement of the administration, but it is pretty hard for John Walter Smith, who is a candidate to succeed himself, to obtain administration support. He was on the other side at the Baltimore convention. Blair Lee ought to be pretty close as he was at one time Bryan's candidate for president. The contest must be settled this fall.
