WORK TO BE DONE.

Knights of Labor Before the Board of Works.

Idle Laborers Want Employment on the Proposed Sewers—The Street Railway Suit—Other Important Matters—A Complaint About A Sewer.

The Board of Public Works transacted a large amount of business at their meeting last evening. A committee of the stockholders of the Street railway was present and asked to be heard in relation to a settlement of the suit now pending between the city and the company to compel the latter to pay its portion of the expense of macadamizing East and West Bridge streets in 1866. When the city proposed to macadamize the streets, the railway company signified their willingness to pay their portion, and had paid some part of it, but there still remains unpaid $361.40, which the city is now suing for. After P. W. Culliano and James Dowdle of the committee had spoken, it was agreed to refer the matter for a settlement to City Attorney king, and ex-Superintendent Wilcox, who did the work.

The following petitions for the erection of electric lights were referred to the Committee on Lights and lamps: From O. H. Woodruff, corner East Fourth and Cayuga streets; W. H. Pulver, corner East Fourth and Albany streets; G. B. Wright, corner Third and Tallman streets.

The following accounts were allowed and orders drawn: Smith & Schneider, $8.10; Post & Henderson, $90.25. The Superintendent reported the amount of the pay rolls for the weeks ending Dec. 28th and Jan. 4th to be $647.74.

A communication from the Common Council relative to the building of the sewer in West Utica street was received and placed on file.

A communication from Patrick Fennell relative to the stopping of a sewer in the Fifth ward and the consequent overflowing of sewerage and damage to property, and praying that the sewer be opened, was received and the matter referred to the Superintendent.

A committee consisting of Frank Walker and Patrick Jacobs addressed the Board in behalf of the Knights of Labor and asked that the sewers contemplated to be built by the Board should be begun at once, and not delayed until Spring, as in this manner two benefits would be derived, the employment of idle labor, and the completion of the sewers at an earlier date. The speakers stated to the Board that there were many men in the city who were not employed, and they asked that the work be commenced. No action was taken, and the matter was left open until the next meeting, when it is possible the sewers will be ordered begun.

A WRECK ON THE PHOENIX.

A Freight Engine Blocks the Tracks—A Bad Wreck at Hayward's.

A wreck occurred on the Phoenix division of the Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg railroad at Fulton to-day, blocking the tracks and making it necessary to transfer passengers. The wreck was caused by the locomotive drawing the local freight which arrives here about noon, jumping the track in the Fulton yard. The locomotive was turned completely across the tracks and the wrecking crew left this city at noon to clear the wreck. It was reported at the company's headquarters in this city that there was no other damage done than the jumping from the track of the locomotive and that one was injured. A telephone message says the locomotive and one car are off the tracks and that the tender of the former is badly broken. The wreck on the mountain at Hayward's station on Monday was a disastrous one and one that will cost the company ten or fifteen thousand dollars damage. The wrecking crew were thirty-six hours clearing away the debris and the company was obliged to run over the Central from Lewiston to reach Niagara Falls. There were forty cars in the train and nearly every one of them was heavily loaded. There is a steep down grade at the point where the accident occurred and the big elm tree which fell across the track was not seen until it was too late to check the train. The tree which was more than two feet in diameter was broken right in two. Thirteen box cars were piled up in a heap, broken into kindling wood, and their contents scattered along the track. The engine escaped much damage. The tracks have been cleared of the wreck and trains are running as usual.

Three car loads of wreckage were received at the shops in this city to day from the wreck which occurred a short time ago at Rice's station.

David Hamer's Story.

Sandy Creek News: David L. Hamer is a famous story teller, but his latest one about his experience with natural gas is a tough one. Recently, he says, he was digging a post hole about three feet deep when he smelled a peculiar odor, and holding his hand over a small crevice between some stones he felt a light current, of what he thought might be gas. He called to his son to bring a match, and on lighting it a flame burst out of the hole, singeing the hair of both father and son. The "pocket" was soon exhausted, but Mr. Hamer is after them in any quantity of gas sufficient the [illegible] of the town.

Syracuse and the Brewery Trust.

SYRACUSE, Jan. 17.—The options that were obtained on the Syracuse breweries, with a view of putting them under the control of a syndicate backed by English capital, have been extended 60 days, or until March 1. No additional forfeit has been demanded by the brewers, who were well pleased with the promptness and amiability with which the promoters of the scheme divided $25,000 on January 1st, when the original options expired. The terms are the same as under those original options, which are merely extended. The papers have been signed except in one or two cases, and in those there is no hitch. The men who are pushing the scheme are said to be confident that they can bring it to a consummation before March 1st.

The same brewers and maltsters are interested as before. It is understood that some overtures were made by John Greenway toward the taking into the combination of the Greenway and Germania breweries, but satisfactory terms could not be agreed upon.

THE CITY'S [illegible]

The Suit for Damages [illegible] Out of Court.

The Plaintiff's Evidence Was Lacking in Quantity and Quality—A Suit That Will Interest Marine Men—Other Legal Matters.

OSWEGO, Jan. 17.—The case of Mary Schneider vs. the city of Oswego came to an abrupt termination in Circuit Court yesterday afternoon. The case is one in which the plaintiff sought to recover for damages occasioned to her property by an overflow of water from a break in the Syracuse avenue sewer in June last during an unusually heavy rain storm. Several witnesses testified for the defendant. After the plaintiff's evidence had been closed, regarding the movements of the ditches and the sewers near the point named, the people that a pool of water had stood for some time in the lot in the rear of Schneider's whence the waters broke through and one, John Leonard, that a ditch running East and West had been maintained for drainage on the Schneider property up to within two or three years ago. J. B. Higgins, who assisted City Attorney Thomas H. King in the case in opposition to D. P. Lester for the plaintiff, renewed his motion for a non-suit upon the grounds that the city was not liable for damage from an unusual and unlooked for accumulation of surface waters and that no evidence had been introduced to show that it had been guilty of neglect in failing to maintain its sewers as charged. It was granted by Justice Churchill, who held that the only question presented was that of municipal neglect and that an insufficient amount of evidence had been produced on this point to allow the case to go to the jury.

The next case moved was that of George Hillock vs. Albert Quance and others. W. A. Poucher appeared for the plaintiff and W. H. Kenyon for the defendants. The action is one for damages, the plaintiff charging the defendants with refusing to carry out a contract in 1888, according to whose terms he was to sail that season in the schooner D. G. Fort.

The first witness sworn in the case was the plaintiff, George Hillock, who testified that on March 23d, 1888, while the D. G. Fort lay at Ogdensburg, the owners of the schooner, through her master, agreed to ship him as steward during the season at one dollar a day up to July 1st, after which he was to receive $1.25; that they afterward engaged another steward and refusing his services, sailed without him; that he received no compensation except for 23 days employment on another vessel that season, and that by reason of being deprived of an opportunity to sail for the season on the Fort, he had lost $364.86, with interest from December 1st, 1888, for which amount he demands judgment. This morning Captain Daniels, Albert Quance and James H. McCarthy, owners of the schooner, were sworn by the defense to show that Hillock had never entered into a contract to sail on the Fort; that he had been offered such an opportunity at the terms which he had testified to accepting, but that he had demanded greater compensation and instead of holding his services at their command, had given them to the owners of another vessel.

Captain Daniels stated that about the middle of March he called on Hillock and attempted to secure his services as cook. Hillock wanted forty-five dollars a month, which Daniels refused to give. Afterward, while he was in company with Albert Quance, another conversation occurred with Hillock in Bridge street, during which Quance offered the plaintiff $1 per day up to July first and $1.25 for the balance of the season. Hillock had then declined to enter into any contract, but was to notify them in case he should decide to accept. He received no letter at Ogdensburg to this effect, as plaintiff on his direct examination had testified to sending.

Albert Quance corroborated the testimony of the above witness, in regard to the latter conversation, and told of a subsequent meeting with Hillock on one of the first days in May at the corner of East Cayuga and Third streets. He denied that at this or the previous occasion Hillock had offered his services for the compensation alleged, and said that if he had, he would have received employment. Hillock, when recalled, said he could not remember meeting Quance and using such words as were attributed to him in the Bridge street conversation.

The case was summed up and given to the jury just prior to the noon recess.

After dinner the jury returned a verdict for the defendant.

The next action for trial is No. 31, that of Kate E. Kelly vs. the National Fire Insurance company. The plaintiff's sister, Rose Mills, received a policy from the National company April 11th, 1889, on her saloon at the corner of West Seventh and Utica streets, which was burned four nights later. The loss was adjusted at $600, which the company paid. It is claimed that Miss Mills owed $130 to Mollison & Dowdle for meat and coal, and that an order for this amount on the insurance company was paid by them to the firm, and extracted from the amount called for by the policy. The order is now questioned and the claim put in by the plaintiff that the policy had been assigned to her, leaving her sister no authority to dispose of it in any manner. The case is being tried this afternoon.

Justice Churchill directed a verdict for $600.58 in favor of Kate E. Kelly.

No. 37 is on trial.

Following is the Circuit Court calendar for Monday: Nos. 37, 38, 4, 6, 11, 40, 24, 30, 34, 40.

Court Notes.

Daniel Britton was arraigned yesterday afternoon upon two indictments for burglary in the third degree. He pleaded not guilty and was held to the Sessions in $500 bail for each offense.

Constable George Cutler was seized with a severe hemorrhage this morning and is not in attendance at court to-day. He is a popular attendant and has the earnest wishes of all for his recovery.

Special Surrogate L. W. Baker has achieved a second victory in a case of considerable interest. The action, which has been previously referred to by the PALLADIUM, was brought about a year ago to recover for the value of thirty-two sheep. The plaintiff, Mary Dart, loaned four sheep animals to the defendant, Thomas Ward, on condition that he return them, with four more, at the expiration of four years. When the time had elapsed, he said he had neither sheep nor money, and was granted an extension of time upon an agreement to redouble the sixteen he would have then possessed. At the end of the second term it was found that [illegible] defendants appealed from a judgment in the County Court which now confirms the former decree. Inasmuch as before he took it, the case had been declined by other attorneys who told the plaintiff she could not recover, Mr. Baker feels reasonably satisfied with his success.

THE ALMS-HOUSE.

Annual Visit to that Institution Yesterday.

A party consisting of Mayor Stockwell, Aldermen McGowan, Supervisors Donovan, Woods, Wallington, Secretary and Cusick, Commissioner of Public Works O'Brien, Commissioners of Charity Dunn, Penfield, Secoy and Hough, Clerk Kelly, Clerk of the Excise Board Goble and Dr. Bulger, paid the annual visit to the City Alms house yesterday. The party left the City Hall at 10 o'clock and were driven in an omnibus to the Alms house, where they were received by Superintendent O. S. Newell, who escorted them through the various buildings. After the inspection the guests were invited to partake of a repast which had been prepared for them by Mrs. Newell. Speeches were made by Mayor Stockwell, Commissioner O'Brien, R. E. Wallington and Dr. Bulger. The party returned to the city well pleased with the manner in which the affairs of the Alms-house are conducted.

Clerk Kelly's annual report showed that there has been expended during the year for out door relief, $4,016.70; for salaries, $2,091.65. The alms-house house expenses, less amount received for board, was $8,540.78 and the farm expenses, $1,888.44. The amount of farm produce sold was $1,416.26.

The Board was organized on March 14th, 1866, and the expenses that year were $37,127.58. In 1876, they were $40,[illegible].94. The expenses have gradually been reduced. For 1888 they were $11,720.85, and this year $11,607.56. The amount set aside by the Council for the use of the Board in 1866 was $25,[illegible]. The amount inserted in the budget by the present Council was $10,000. There are 54 inmates in the house at present. The average for the year has been about 51 and the average weekly expense $1.56.

Hymenial.

At 8 o'clock last evening in the presence of a few of the intimate friends and the relatives of the contracting parties, at the home of the bride, occurred the marriage of Miss Jennie E. Young daughter of the Rev. William Young, to Mr. William H. Penney, jr. The ceremony was performed by the father of the bride, assisted by the Rev. F. H. Beck. Mr. John Young, brother of the bride acted as groomsman and Miss Grace Penney, sister of the groom, did the honors of bridesmaid. Many beautiful presents were received, including silverware, linen, clocks, etc., from friends and elegant household articles from the parents of the bride and groom. A bountiful wedding supper was served and at 8 o'clock the newly wedded couple departed for New York, where they will visit friends for two weeks. Returning they will make their home in West Eighth near Oneida streets, where a completely furnished house awaits them. The happy couple have a host of friends who join in extending the heartiest congratulations for their future happiness.

Arrests to be Made.

The Oneida Union says: "A crisis is approaching in the investigation of the attempt upon the life of Rev. Father Kelly. The detectives in the matter have worked the case up so it is quite probable that arrests will this week be made. Indeed, Father Kelly said as much during the course of his remarks Sunday morning, and further stated that when the guilty party stood revealed it would be a great surprise to his people. Father Kelly spoke earnestly and feelingly of the matter, and evinced thorough satisfaction that his assailant was about to be brought to justice."

The Rev. Mr. Dell Declines.

OSWEGO FALLS, January 16.—A letter was received yesterday by the officials of the Congregational church from the Rev. Mr. Dell of Oswego, in which he declines the call given him to become the pastor of the church here. His reasons, in brief, are that his duty to the church in Oswego is such that he can not accept the call.

WINTER MARINE NEWS.

Various Items of Interest to Vessel-men.

Kingston Whig: The steamer Pierrepont had a wild trip to Cape Vincent on Saturday. The hail and snow encountered in the Battan channel almost blinded the crew and Capt. Allan found it impossible to steer. He could not see anything ahead of him. Cape Vincent was, after careful navigation, reached at three o'clock. The Yankees were surprised at the arrival and congratulated Capt. Allan on his good management. Sunday morning a return start was made. The steamer had to force her way through a heavy field of ice. The Battan channel was frozen over so the lake had to be traversed. Much ice was encountered, but by level headed work the city was reached about eleven o'clock.

Owing to a rise in the price of steel, the 5,000 tons of steel plates, recently purchased by Captain McDougall, for which he gave $365,000 would now be worth $[illegible],000.

Dr. G. H. Sherman, of Detroit, has a scheme for tunnelling Detroit River, which if successful will remove all of the railroad companies' objections to a tunnel. The tunnel is to consist of cylindrical sections of cast iron 100 or 200 feet in length and of the diameter required, say 24 feet. The first section is closed at each end by an iron plate, is perfectly water tight and is made heavy enough to sink although full of air. The sections are laid across or under the river bed and joined together by powerful screws and bolts. The plates closing the ends of the sections are successively removed as the sections are joined together. The work of joining the sections is carried on from the surface of the water by means of a floating contrivance. It is claimed that it is not necessary to lay the tunnel pipe under the bed of the river. The ordinary tunnel must be constructed 100 feet under the bed of the river.

[illegible] ALWYN THE CROOK.

How He Talked a Clinton Jeweler Out of a Watch.

He Appears to Have Had an Easy Time Beating Hotels—He Asks for More Time to Settle up His Oswego Difficulties.

The case of Henry Alwyn, who was arrested in Rome and brought to this city on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree, in connection with the borrowing of an overcoat from Robert Blech and neglecting to return the same, and who is also accused of attempting to jump a board bill due Landlord Sawin of the Doolittle House, came up this morning. The case has attracted the attention of numerous hotel men throughout the State whom it appears Alwyn defrauded out of board bills and they all appear anxious to have him turned over to the authorities as soon as he has settled the charges made against him here. This morning Alwyn pleaded for more time and his case was put over until Tuesday. In speaking of Alwyn the Rome Sentinel of yesterday says:

"Henry Alwyn, the sleek New Yorker, who has been defrauding hotels around the county, not only played his little game on Landlord Tower, of the Clinton House, Clinton, to the tune of $26.40, including $5 of borrowed money, but he did up a jeweler in our village," said a man from Clinton. "He went into Mr. Marsh's jewelry store, introduced himself as an agent for the Century Company, New York, and desired to sell the proprietor the forthcoming Century Dictionary. While he was in the store he mentioned the fact that he desired to buy a watch worth about $50. He selected one, and with the assurance born of well-cultivated nerve, asked if he might be allowed to carry it till the next day, when he would drop in and settle. As the man was a total stranger to him, Mr. Marsh suggested the propriety of his getting up some sort of security, but, Mr. Alwyn held that such a proceeding was entirely unnecessary, as he would have a draft the next day and would step in and pay. There could be no possible chance of loss, he said. It was not Mr. Marsh's habit to do business in this way, but he finally let the fellow have the watch. Before the next day came Mr. Alwyn had left Clinton for fresh fields and pastures new—looking for more landlords and others to swindle, and he took Mr. Marsh's watch with him. The officer who went to Oswego after Alwyn found a dozen officers there before him."

Alwyn it is claimed is the man who defrauded the Citizen's National bank of Fulton on a draft that was no good.
