OSWEGO, N. Y., FRIDAY, JANUARY 5, 1906.

ESTABLISHED 1819.

EJECTED FROM WHITE HOUSE.

Mrs. Minor Morris, Sister of Representative Hall, Created a Scene and Secret Service Men Put Her Out.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Mrs. Minor Morris, sister of Representative Hall, was forcibly ejected from the White House yesterday afternoon, probably making no protest in the matter. For several years an estrangement existed between Mr. Hall and his sister, growing out of the settlement of their father's estate.

"I haven't seen or spoken to my sister for years," she said. "The whole thing is extremely distasteful to me, and it is not pleasant to have to discuss it. The fact of the matter is that, in my opinion, Mrs. Morris was not responsible when she called at the White House. At times, I believe, she labored under the delusion that everybody was trying to rob her of what she called her rights. It was perfectly natural for the Secret Service men at the White House to regard her as they did, because of the manner in which she acted, in insisting on seeing the President."

Mr. Hall asserted that the incident of Mrs. Morris's husband from the medical service of the army occurred four years ago, and that he was at a loss to understand her agitation of the subject at this time, especially as Dr. Morris's appointment had not been made under the Civil Service, and therefore there was no necessity for the head of the department giving any reason for his discharge. Mrs. Morris, however, insisted that her husband had been the victim of a conspiracy, and it was her belief that if she could see the President she would remedy the supposed injustice.

It is stated on behalf of Assistant Secretary Barnes, who ordered Mrs. Morris's forcible ejection from the White House, that her identity was entirely unknown to him, and that her manner led him to believe that she was a "crank." Not until late last evening was it learned that Mrs. Morris is the sister of Representative Hall.

Mr. Minor Morris is represented as the result of the rough treatment she received at the White House yesterday afternoon while being ejected by the police and Secret Service men under orders of Assistant Secretary Barnes. She is confined to her room in the new Willard Hotel and is under the care of her physician. Dr. Morris, her husband, has been summoned from Ohio. When he arrives it is likely that some step looking to redress an account of her ill treatment will be taken.

The statement of Mr. Barnes. A lengthy statement regarding the incident was issued by Mr. Barnes at the White House today. After detailing the circumstances of Mrs. Morris's call, his refusal to let her see the President, and the vigorous manner in which she protested against being put out, Mr. Barnes says:

"Mrs. Morris's piercing shrieks were heard throughout the building, and it became necessary in the interest of order to have her removed. She was accordingly taken in charge by police officers who had witnessed the whole affair. Before applying force the officer asked her three times to leave the office quietly. She shrieked her refusal to each request, and was then led from the room. She struggled violently with two police officers all the way from the office building to the eastern entrance of the White House. As soon as she was outside of the office building she threw herself on the ground, and it became necessary to carry her. The officers repeatedly asked her to stand up and walk quietly with them, so that they would not have to use force, but she refused to do so, and defied them in shrieks that were heard throughout the White House. She was finally removed to police headquarters, where she was charged with disorderly conduct. After her arrest she produced an envelope addressed to the President, which she asked to have delivered to him. This envelope was found to contain a lengthy statement on the subject of insurrection, which she said was her own composition. She stated to the officers that she had not slept for seven nights past."

Mr. Barnes denies the published story that a negro messenger of the office had looked at Mrs. Morris.

Looking for a Will. The indications are that the late J. Shepard Wick failed to leave a will. None has been found by those who are interested in the search for one and the opinion is growing that one did not exist at the time of his death.

WEATHER PREDICTIONS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—For Western New York—Colder tonight; snow tonight and Saturday.

State Committee met Pleased. State Committeeman John T. Mott, who has been in Albany since Saturday last watching the fight over the Speakership of the Assembly, returned home late yesterday afternoon. When seen today Mr. Mott expressed satisfaction over the result, especially the fact that the representatives from this district all voted together for Wadsworth.

Mr. Mott said: "The Oswego members will be taken care of when the committee are made up. Mr. Lewis and Mr. Whitney were with the Governor from the very first and were willing to stand by him or his choice for Speaker even before Mr. Wadsworth was put forth as a candidate. There was no truth in the statement that Mr. Lewis was at any time wavering. He attended the conference in New York and his action at that time prevented any definite action being taken binding those present to any candidate. It was Mr. Lewis who said: 'Gentlemen, before I take any definite action I desire to return to my home and confer with the people whom I represent.' This was the cue which the others followed and prevented any action being taken."

According to the Albany Journal of yesterday Mr. Lewis has asked to be reappointed Chairman of the Committee on Insurance, and it is understood that his request will be granted.

Real Estate Sale. Thomas W. McDouglough has bought the building which he occupies as a restaurant and home from George H. Hoos, of Toronto. The sale was made through Attorney F. D. Colkin and the consideration is private. Mr. McDouglough has occupied the building for ten years. He expects to make extensive improvements and plans in the future to erect another story.

Mechanical Drawing to Be Taught at Y. M. C. A. A class in mechanical drawing will be organized at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday evening, and all desiring to enter should be on hand promptly at 7:30 p. m. Mr. Harry Rauch, who teaches the apprentices at the railroad shops this subject, will give the class a course of twenty lessons. Already fifteen men have given their names in for the class. Any member of the Association may avail himself of the course on the payment of a small fee, the amount of which will be made known on inquiry.

Protecting His Brand. Before Commissioner F. J. McNamara, special appointee of the Patent Department, a hearing was held yesterday to secure evidence in the application of T. E. O'Keefe for a copyright on the name "Beaver Brand" for a certain grade of whiskey which he distills. It seems that an Albany concern makes a whiskey called "Beaver" and Mr. O'Keefe will now use the Patent Office that he previously used the name.

Department of Charity. Because of the sickness of Commissioner Brunswick, the Department of Charity did not organize yesterday, but was left until the next meeting.

A Still Alarm. There was a slight fire in the home of Frederick Leonard, 299 East Second street, today. A still alarm summoned the Department. Loss slight.

Will of J. Shepard Wick. Any one having knowledge or information of the making of any will by Mr. Wick will confer a favor on his relatives by communicating the same to D. P. Morhouse, Grant Block, Oswego.

CAR-FERRY MISSING.

CONTRAULT, O., Jan. 4.—The second car ferry, Marysville, Contrault, No. 1, is missing. The pilot between Contrault and Fort Sandusky, and also the latter port Wednesday, and which these things have been heard of her. She carried a crew of thirteen.

COX INSTEAD OF LEWIS.

It is Said to be Practically Settled That Moreland Will Have Ways and Means and Cox, of Buffalo, Insurance.

ALBANY, Jan. 5.—The two main improvement committee chairmanships within the gift of Speaker Wadsworth have practically been decided upon. It can be stated with authority this afternoon that unless unforeseen complications arise next week to change the state, Sherman Moreland, of Othman county, will be Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means and majority leader, and Robert L. Cox, of Buffalo, will be at the head of the Insurance Committee.

There is less and less likelihood that the positions of majority leader and the Ways and Means Committee Chairmanship will be separated. Just how former Leader Rogers will be taken care of is not yet decided. It has been thought that Assemblyman George B. Agnew, of New York, would be made Chairman of the Cities Committee in place of Barnett, of Ontario.

But the latest information leaves Burnett in his old place and sets Agnew at the head of the Committee on Electricity, Water Supply and Gas. Conference are still in progress and the other committee appointments will be fixed during the time that intervenes before the Legislature meets again next Wednesday evening.

Speaker Wadsworth spent the entire morning in considering requests from various members for committee appointments. His only announcement was that the minority representation on committees would be no greater than last year. Inasmuch as Speaker Nixon in 1905 made a substantial cut in minority representation on all committees, it is evident that upon no committee of the Lower House will more than three Democrats and places, while in most cases there will be but two.

It is generally believed that Percy Hooker, of Genesee, will have Lewis's place at the head of Railroad and Codes Chairmanship will be retained by Jesse Phillips and Fish, of Madison, is not to be displaced as chairman of the Judiciary. Jean Barnett, of Ontario, will receive again his old place at the head of the important Rules Committee. The all-powerful Rules Committee will probably be made up of Wadsworth, Chairman; Moreland, Cox and Hooker, Republicans; and Palmer and Tompkins, Democrats.

In the Mysterious Murder Case of Charles A. Edwards.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 5.—After spending half the night in the examination of Allen Maxey Miller, who is held by the coroner in connection with the murder of Charles A. Edwards, the officials retired to their homes for a few brief hours of rest, only to resume the investigation of the tragedy at an early hour this morning.

Mr. Miller was taken to his home in Temple street at midnight following the examination, and this morning he rose about nine o'clock and said he had not slept a wink. He at first declined to discuss his talk with the coroner in any particular, except to say that he had answered all questions and was quite sure he could prove that he had nothing to do with the shooting of his brother-in-law.

Coroner Mix and his deputy, Philip Poole, conferred at an early hour and made another trip to the College street house where the shooting of Edwards occurred last Tuesday night. What they did there was, of course, not divulged to anyone, so the place is still kept under close guard. Coroner Mix and Mr. Poole then returned to their office where it was rumored that Mr. Miller was to meet them for another examination. Later it was said, however, that he would not be brought down until this afternoon.

Removal of Senator Platt's Dangerous Illness Are Pronounced Unfounded.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Reports of the alarming condition of Senator T. C. Platt, of New York, are declared to be unfounded and untrue by his official stenographer in this city. The Senator is in Hot Springs, Va., with his wife. He passed through Washington for that place last week over a week ago in fairly good health. He announced that he expected to be absent until the middle of January.

WHOLESALE ASSASSINATION.

Is the Change in Tactics By the Russian Revolutionists.

GLASGOW, Scotland, Jan. 5.—The correspondent of the Herald at St. Petersburg writes that while the revolutionaries have been crushed in their attempt at open revolt they now declare their intention to carry on the struggle by wholesale assassination. Their enemies are to be massacred for death and they even include the Czar in the list of those to be put out of the way.

ALLEGED MURDER IN CHICAGO.

William Moran Held Charged With Killing Robert Collier. CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—William Moran, eighteen, is being held by the police for the alleged killing of Robert Collier, seventeen, last night. Collier's dead body was found on the railroad tracks where, according to the police, Moran is said to have confessed he dragged it after he killed Collier, thinking a train would mangle the remains. The body was found a few minutes before a passenger train is scheduled to pass the place. The boys had been friends and had quarreled, according to the police and Moran shot Collier.

OHIO WANTS TO INVESTIGATE.

Griddle Ready for the Insurance Companies Doing Business in That State.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 5.—A griddle has been gotten ready for insurance companies, and the Legislature will be asked to light the fire under it next week. A joint committee of the House and Senate and an appropriation of $50,000 is to be used in an effort to learn how insurance companies operating in Ohio have cared for the interests of the policyholders. One legislator has been in consultation with Inspector Hughes, of the New York Legislative Committee. An effort will be made to secure the services of the latter in the investigation in this State.

PREPARING FOR TROUBLE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The Government's anxiety over the boycott situation in China and the possibility of a serious outcome of the anti-American agitation, is responsible for the order reported to have been issued in Manila for three regiments to be ready to take the field at short notice.

NUBBINS OF NEWS.

The Canadian Government has prohibited the importation and slaughter of American hogs in bond from this country for exportation to Europe. The first United convention of the Root Newspaper Agency will be held in Cleveland on January 6th, 1906.

At Jacksonville, Fla., Addison F. Ackley and thirty-eight men were arrested last night by hanging themselves in the woods of his house. A landslide occurred yesterday near Potomac, Italy, which buried seven houses. Fourteen persons were caught in the slide. Four have been disinterred.

The British steamer Orizaba, a daring blockade runner during the war, was blown up yesterday at Saigon, by a fire on board. Several of her crew are missing and others injured. Stewart Edwards White, the young author of the "Blessed Trail" and "The Ojibwa's House," is a prisoner in a military prison at San Francisco. Illness caused by overwork and is not considered dangerous.

O. O. Edridge, Chief of the Oswego National Bank and Secretary of the State Bankers' Association, has accepted the Chairmanship of the New American National Bank, New York city.

According to advice received at the State Department at Washington 1,000 were killed and 4,000 wounded in the recent Moscow riot.

GOVERNOR FOLK ON WARPATH.

His Effort to Drive the Standard Oil Company Out of Missouri—The Case Resumed in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The fight of Governor Joseph Folk to drive the Standard Oil Trust from the State of Missouri was resumed here today, when officials of the Trust, living in this city, were called before Commissioner Frederick H. Sandborn to give testimony in two suits, brought by Attorney-General Hadley, now pending in Missouri.

The hearings here will last some time as many important witnesses have been subpoenaed. Those who have been served include H. H. Rogers, John D. Archbold, William G. Rockefeller and E. E. Bedford. John D. Rockefeller has not been served. He is out of the State. William G. Rockefeller was the first witness to put in an appearance this morning. The opening hearing was delayed by the late arrival of Attorney-General Hadley, whose train was late.

The State of Missouri, under the direction of Governor Folk, brought suit in the Supreme Court to take away the license to do business of the Waters-Pierce Company, the Republic Oil Company, the International Oil Company and the H. A. Williamson Company. Another suit was brought at Kansas City in the Circuit Court for an injunction to dissolve the alleged pool of the four companies with the Standard Oil, whereby trade is restrained and competition stifled. It is the contention of Attorney-General Hadley that the four companies are really the creatures of the Standard Oil, and in no sense independent companies.

The hearing began after eleven o'clock when Henry H. Rogers, W. G. Rockefeller, James A. McElrath, Edward Bedford and Howard Parsons appeared before Commissioner Sandborn and were sworn. John D. Archbold will appear later and be sworn. The witnesses were sworn in a private room and the attendance of the press was not permitted. The witnesses stand had been made they were excused.

A. B. Jockey was the first witness called. He had just been sworn by the Commissioner, Standard Oil counsel, moved that the testimony be taken by the Commissioner in long hand under section 919 of the Code of Civil Procedure in this State. Attorney-General Hadley objected, but to no purpose. Hadley said that if the testimony was taken in long hand they would be here all winter. "We don't care," said Hagerman, we, from out of town, can have no objection to staying in New York. There are plenty of shows here."

Attorney-General Hadley asked if it would be satisfactory to have the testimony taken in shorthand, and described in longhand and have the witness sign it. The counsel for the Standard Oil insisted on the Code of Procedure being carried out. Mr. Hagerman said the whole proceeding was nothing but an advertising game.

Notes of the Y. M. C. A. The Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. will meet Monday night. Secretary J. Lee Broughton will present his annual report and show seventy new members will be elected. Certain recommendations of State Secretary Cook will be taken up and discussed.

The State Y. M. C. A. convention will be held at Troy February 22d and 23d.

The conference of the State Secretaries will take place at Albany February 21st.

Baseball will be played at the gymnasium.

A horrible story of the burning at stake, by Commendator of two Russian Jewish girls, who tried to cross the Romanian border, comes from Bucharest.

$100 Reward, $100 The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there has been a cure in all the cases of Catarrh of the Nose, Throat, Lungs, and Bladder. THE FINANCIAL OUTLOOK.

Financiers Feel Some Alarm Over the Situation—A More Elastic Currency—Required.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The alarm sounded by Banker Jacob H. Schiff in his address yesterday that a great panic is inevitable unless steps are taken to alter the currency condition of the country, is shared by many financiers here.

Lyman J. Gage, former Secretary of the Treasury, is one of those who are alarmed. He says that the monetary conditions which have existed in this country during the last sixty days are disastrous to us as a nation and I further agree with him that a standing panic is but a matter of time unless something is done. Mr. Gage declared he did not think a panic is necessarily imminent, but that the danger is apparent and the country will suffer if it sits quiet under the present conditions. "To provide a more elastic currency without a moment of needless delay, regard as the highest public duty," said Mr. Gage.

Frank A. Vanderlip, Vice-President of the National City Bank said: "It is apparent to even a casual observer of national financial conditions that our currency system lacks the desired elasticity, and that in time this condition must lead to embarrassments unless a cure is applied."

THE CZAR ASKS FOR ADVICE.

And Emperor William is Said to Have Given It.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 5.—The correspondent of the Publishers' Post is informed authoritatively that the Czar has asked Kaiser William for advice as to how to deal with the Letts and the uprising in the Baltic provinces. The Kaiser has urged that the most extreme measures be taken to crush down the insurgents, and has pointed out that the revolutionists are creating against German residents, who own a great deal of property in those provinces, as much as they are against Russians. Counters are being sent to the Czar at Berlin, and the Czar is, according to reports, and exchange dispatches.

A BANKINGHOUSE IN DIFFICULTIES.

The Company to Show Cause Why It Should Not be Restrained from Doing Business.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 5.—With less than $1,000,000 available cash and assets the directors of the Standard Building and Loan Association are endeavoring to meet the demands of the 9,000 depositors, most of them persons in small salaries, the Provident Security and Banking Company of 100 Franklin street, with branches in Lynn and Brockton, is to appear before Judge Lathrop in the Supreme Court today to show cause why it should not be restrained from doing further business until a receiver is appointed.

The Savings Bank Commissioners, of Massachusetts, made an examination into the condition of the association three days ago and reported it to be in a state of collapse. Chairman Lock, of the Savings Bank Commissioners, said last night that the liabilities of the company were about $1,000,000 and that he was unable to estimate, even approximately, what were the assets. A large amount of the money paid in by the small depositors is tied up in auxiliary speculative companies, notably the Shomdown Irrigation Company of Denver, in which healthy Massachusetts investors and the French-American Cotton Company.

Bests the Snake Cure.

"To keep the body in tone," writes Mrs. Mary Brown, 23 Lakeside Street, Northampton, N. Y., "I take Dr. King's New Life Pills. They are the most reliable and pleasant laxative I have found." Best for the Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Guaranteed by A. D. Hall, druggist, No. 114 Broadway, N. Y.

DEATH RATHER THAN DISHONOR.

Pursued by Poles the Wife of a Young Farmer Throws Herself and Child Into a Creek.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5.—A shocking death rather than dishonor, and clasping her eighteen-month-old son to her breast, Mrs. Alfred Dedock wife of a wealthy young farmer near Ambler, Pa., is believed to have fled from her home, and closely pursued, to have leaped into the swiftly running waters of the Washikoon creek which runs in the rear of the farm. The woman's body has been recovered from the stream, which is now being dragged for that of the child.

In the Ambler jail John Vincenzi, a Pole, is locked up and is raving madly and cursing his fate. It is believed that he was found hiding in the barn shortly after the disappearance of the woman and child was discovered by the frantic husband, who choked him into insensibility and would probably have killed him had not others intervened.

A posse of officers headed by Frank Craft, a brother of the dead woman, and Constable Richard Ford, is scouring the countryside for others of a band of Polanders who have been seen hanging around Ambler for several weeks past.

It is the theory of Chief of Police Bollean that after Mr. Dedock had left the farm shortly before noon yesterday Vincenzi, and probably others of the band of Polanders, saw the house and either attempted to assault her or gave her such a fright that she snatched up her baby and ran from the house. Her footprints in the soft soil, made as she ran toward the creek, were plainly discernible and mingled with them in confusion were the marks of heavy boots. The belief is that one or more of the men closely pursued Mrs. Dedock and that rather than fall into their hands she leaped into the stream, there finding death both for herself and her babe. She was a daughter of J. Watson Craft, the wealthiest merchant in Ambler, and the entire section of Montgomery county is aroused as it has not been before in years.

A SYSTEMATIC BOYCOTT.

To Be Organized Against American Steel and Hardware Goods by German, Austrian and Swiss Dealers.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Jan. 5.—German, Austrian and Swiss steel and hardware dealers are making plans to put in operation a systematic boycott of American goods of those lines. The purpose of these engineers is to force the American manufacturers to reduce their prices. American manufacturers invaded the European markets and began bidding with extraordinary enterprise for contracts. It is estimated that American firms have captured forty per cent of the steel trade and the percentage is growing larger each year. A conference will be held at Berlin, Switzerland, during the coming summer to decide on the methods to be employed in making the boycott effective.

Representatives of American firms who travel in Europe have discovered particulars in regard to the boycott plan and will endeavor to prevent the carrying out of the scheme.

IT MAKES HIM VERY TIRED.

Mr. William O. E. Wants No Reporters to Call Upon Him.

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 5.—Dr. William O. E. is evidently tired of retorting his denial that he ever visited chloroforming unless civil war. He is now in Toronto and has addressed a polite note to the editor of the local papers announcing that he will probably arrive in Baltimore today to spend a month at John Hopkins with his old students and friends. He concludes: "Will you kindly ask your reporters not to call upon me."
