MORTON IN OFFICE.

INAUGURATION OF NEW YORK'S NEW GOVERNOR.

The Ceremonies Simple In the Extreme. The Greatest Cordiality Prevailed, and Society Turned Out En Masse—Addresses of the Incoming and Departing Governors Brief and Simple—Social Functions at the Capitol.

ALBANY, Jan. 2.—Levi P. Morton has been inaugurated the first Republican governor in 12 years and now occupies that office.

The ceremonies attending the inauguration of Levi P. Morton were impressive in their simplicity and yet striking in their character as a social function.

For an hour before the parade started the street was crowded and everyone seemed anxious to catch a glimpse of the new governor.

About 10:45 the parade started over Eagle street, where many of the houses were decorated with the American colors.

GOVERNOR MORTON.

First came the two mounted policemen and then a platoon of police. Doring's band followed, playing popular airs, and Lieutenant Colonel Fitch and staff led the Tenth battalion in full winter uniform.

Following the Tenth came Governor Morton, in whose sleigh beside him sat Adjutant General McAlpin. Opposite sat Colonel Selden E. Marvin.

The other sleighs immediately following contained the members of the governor's military staff.

Following the staff were 38 sleighs containing the members of the Albany Republican league, two in each sleigh. Every member wore a blue badge lettered in gold.

Governor Flower and his staff arrived at the executive chamber at 10 o'clock. The military staff gathered about him.

As the sound of the tread of the members of Mr. Morton's staff was heard in the corridor outside the executive chamber, Governor Flower's military bodyguard lined up across the southern side of the chamber and waited expectantly.

The private door opened and Levi P. Morton entered at the side of his adjutant general, Edward McAlpin.

"A happy New Year to you, old friend," was the hearty salutation of Mr. Morton, and the hands of the two executives met.

"And the same to you, Mr. Morton," answered Mr. Flower heartily.

The members of the two staffs were introduced by Adjutant General McGrath. Then the procession moved toward the assembly chamber.

The procession walked into the speaker's room of the assembly chamber where it halted. The band was playing a march. It stopped. Some one gave a signal and "Hail to to the Chief" sounded from the balcony where the band was stationed.

There have been many inaugurations, brilliant in point of display, but never one which equaled in social brilliancy that of Governor Levi P. Morton. As Lieutenant Governor Saxton appeared there was a quick round of applause.

The Morton party occupied the front row of seats to the right of the desk and Senator Parker joined those in the next row of seats. Then Mrs. Flower, stately and handsomely gowned as ever, entered. She was about to take a seat in the rear, when Mrs. Morton saw her and managed to make room for her on the front, after which the two ladies were the cynosure of all eyes, and sat chatting together until the arrival of Governor Flower, Governor Morton and Secretary Palmer and Bishop Doane.

The actual program of the inauguration was simple.

At three minutes to 11 Secretary of State Palmer rapped for order and Bishop William C. Doane offered prayer. General Palmer then introduced Governor Flower who was received with applause.

Governor Flower's speech was brief and was in the nature of a few remarks of welcome to the coming executive and of farewell to his fellow officials.

Secretary of State Palmer, when Governor Flower had finished, took up the Bible that lay on the desk and handing it to Mr. Morton repeated the constitutional oath, to which Mr. Morton in a firm voice answered "I do," and kissed the book.

There was a tumult of applause and the new governor bowed several times before it subsided.

Governor Morton then proceeded to deliver his inaugural address, which he did in a few well chosen remarks, his speech being brief in the extreme.

At the close of the inaugural ceremony, Secretary Palmer handed the Bible upon which Governor Morton had registered oath of office to Mrs. Morton, who received it with smiles and blushes of pride and pleasure.

Bishop Doane pronounced the benediction; the military staff started on its way downstairs again and Levi P. Morton had taken up the reins of government of the state of New York.

Fully 3,000 shook hands with Governor Morton at the executive chamber following the ceremonies and 2,000 more welcomed the governor and Mrs. Morton at the executive mansion during the afternoon.

The first official act of Governor Morton was to sign the commission of Ashley W. Cole his private secretary. The general public was then admitted and the room was filled with prominent men.

After the public reception following the inaugural ceremonies a group photograph was taken of Governor Flower and staff.

At the reception at the mansion Mrs. Flower assisted in receiving, while the staff made the presentations.

THE SPEAKERSHIP FIGHT.

Hamilton Fish Secures the Coveted Prize by a Big Margin.

ALBANY, Jan. 2.—The struggle for the speakership is over and Hamilton Fish is the choice of the Republican majority. In many ways it has been a close and most bitterly contested fight, but it ended in a burst of enthusiasm for the selected nominee for the office.

All afternoon Mr. Malby and Mr. Fish, with formidable backings, waged the fight for votes in the caucus. Every available means was used to get members to leave the candidates for whom they were pledged. All the incentives of committee leadership promised and appeals on more personal grounds failed to change the situation and when the caucus met it was wellknown that Mr. Fish had not exaggerated it, when he said he would be elected.

Danforth E. Ainsworth of Oswego was in the chair. The roll was called, showing 104 present, Mr. Bold, who was ill, being the only absentee.

Mr. Nixon moved to proceed to nominations, and this being adopted, Mr. Wray of Kings arose and placed in nomination for speaker Hamilton Fish. Mr. Wray said in substance that it was a pleasure to name during this year of Republican ascendancy, when a corrupt party had been thrust from power, a man whose Republicanism is known throughout the state as an honest, capable and upright one. Any man might properly aspire to the great office in view, and he named the very best man in the state to hold up the party and fulfill its pledges. [Applause.]

Mr. Keck of Fulton and Hamilton counties placed in nomination for speaker George R. Malby. He paid a high tribute to the ability of Mr. Malby; his splendid work as the speaker of the last assembly. His remarks were received with applause.

Mr. Smith of Herkimer, in highly eulogistic remarks, named for the office Danforth E. Ainsworth of Oswego. He alluded to his brilliant leadership last year.

The roll was called and the result was announced:

Hamilton Fish, 73; George R. Malby, 22; Danforth E. Ainsworth, 6; Messrs. Malby, Ainsworth and Fish not voting.

When the vote was announced there was a storm of applause and in a moment Mr. Malby arose and moved to make the nomination unanimous.

The nomination was made unanimous by acclamation.

Colonel Archer E. Baxter of Chemung was named for clerk by acclamation.

For sergeant-at-arms there were two candidates, Garrett Benson of Albany and George L. Weeks of Queens. Benson received 71 votes and weeks 32.

Benson's nomination was made unanimous by acclamation.

Joseph Bauer of Monroe was named for principal doorkeeper and was elected over J. K. Tyler of Otsgo.

J. S. West was named for assistant doorkeeper. He is from Rensselaer county.

Colonel Mahoney of Westchester was named for second assistant doorkeeper.

There was a contest over stenographer between Robert C. Chapin of Erie and H. C. Lamert of Kings. Mr. Chapin was elected and the selection made unanimous.

By resolution the following caucus committee was named: Messrs. Ainsworth, Malby, Wray, Howe, S. F. Nixon, W. L. Stephenson and W. D. Halpin.

The caucus adjourned after Mr. Ainsworth had notified members that the house met at 11 o'clock today under the new constitution.

Massachusetts Lawmakers Meet.

BOSTON, Jan. 2.—The Massachusetts legislature met at 11 o'clock this morning, each branch to organize and prepare for the subsequent work of the session.

The senate was called to order by Hon. William M. Butler, the senior senator in point of service.

The house was called to order by Representative Thomas E. St. John of Haverhill, after which each house took up the work of organization.

Democrats Choose Foley For Leader.

ALBANY, Jan. 2.—The 23 Democrats of the assembly held a star chamber caucus lasting about 20 minutes. By a vote of 17 to 6 Assemblyman S. J. Foley of New York was chosen leader over Assemblyman Hennessy of Kings.

AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

BRILLIANT SOCIAL FUNCTION ON NEW YEAR'S DAY.

The President and Mrs. Cleveland Receive Calls From All Officials From Cabinet Officers Down, Besides an Endless Stream of Callers of Lesser Dignity—The Regular Annual Program Carried Out to the Letter.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—With bright skies overhead, reasonably clean pavements under foot and crisp, clear winter air, official Washington was favored with all the conditions necessary to the complete enjoyment of such a New Year's day as only Washington knows.

Official Washington, it may be explicitly explained, includes the presidential household, the cabinet circle, the judiciary from the supreme court down, the ambassadors and ministers plenipotentiary, with the legation attaches, the members of both houses of congress, the officers of the army, navy and marine corps, various commissioners and heads of bureaus, with a host of assistant and deputy secretaries and lesser functionaries of the government department.

According to the time-honored custom, which was observed to the letter, all officials call at the White House where they are received in the order of their ranks, to pay their respects to the president; all the cabinet secretaries generals and admirals in turn receive the officials of lesser rank and many congressmen and others keep open house for their constituents and friends.

Society in general has in past time given itself over to the making and receiving of formal calls, but in Washington, as in other cities, the observation of Jan. 1 as a social day has come to be disregarded, and there were probably fewer open houses than ever before.

The people who did not take part in the oldfashioned observances had fine opportunities, however, to observe those who did.

When a Washingtonian desires to make an unpleasant comparison on the weather he customarily speaks of New Year's day, but the first of 1895 violated tradition utterly and furnished the finest sort of a show day. It was nothing short of a show in the fashionable section of the city, the spectacle of streets crowded with handsome turnouts making the rounds from one official residence to another, the gold lace and manycolored regalia of the diplomats of Europe and Asia, upon which the populace are privileged to gaze but once in a year, and the impressive uniforms of the army and navy, which the officers stationed at headquarters rarely find occasion to exhibit.

All the brilliancy and interest of the day were for three hours sheltered under the roof of the executive mansion, where the gaslight in the big ceremonial parlors fell on banks and palms and troops of richly attired ladies and many notable men. Apart from that interest which always attaches to the president and his family, Mrs. Cleveland has a personal popularity which draws many to her receptions. She shook hands with every man, woman and child who filed past in the long procession of three hours' length, and gave to the greeting of each one a warmth which gained for her the everlasting friendship of the recipient.

The president also grasped every caller by the hand and had a word for every one when there was time.

The irrepressible youngster was in line as usual and one of them vented his enthusiasm appropriately, as he thought, by shouting shrilly, "Hurrah for Grover," as he walked into the blue room.

One old man, a cripple, walking on crutches, seemed tired as he came in, and Mrs. Cleveland, noticing him, led him to a chair among the cabinet ladies and urged him to rest, so he sat in the state parlor for half an hour watching the procession.

The man "with wheels in his head," who has been personally commissioned by the Lord to do something ridiculous or dangerous, is the terror of the occasion. He was on hand. Very appropriately he wore long hair, and after he had passed the police he drew from his pocket a document bearing weird symbolic designs in red and blue, but the appearance of the receiving party seemed to dazzle him, so that he merely shuffled past without putting it to any use.

The policeman who endeavored to do his duty in compelling the observance of regulations and apprehends some high dignitary of the government in his misguided zeal is always in evidence. He endeavored to bar Secretary Lamont from the blue room, but readily yielded his point when the secretary good naturedly revealed his identity.

There were no accidents, however, and no unpleasant incidents, and the reception was a success, although not so many people attended as came last year.

The masked men then fired [illegible] the carriage, killing the horses and [illegible] Scott in the neck and wounding [illegible] McWharton, though not seriously. [illegible] first party was then joined by a larger [illegible] which had been placed across the road farther on to intercept the carriage had it escaped the first volley.

Scott and Schmidt were taken from the vehicle, blindfolded and thrown into a wagon, and the ladies were told to go on.

Schmidt has returned. He had been taken to a sod house in the northwestern part of the county with Scott. Schmidt was released with the injunction to get out of the country.

It is believed that Scott has been hanged, as the farmers of the county are terribly incensed over his work.

Scott's defalcation as treasurer of Holt county, his flight to Mexico, his subsequent arrest, the strong fight made against his extradition, his return in irons, incarceration, trial, conviction, sentence, appeal and release on bonds two weeks ago have been told at length from time to time since a year ago last August, when the defalcation was discovered.

Negro Lynched In Kentucky.

MOUNT STERLING, Ky., Jan. 2.—A mob of 25 men went to the county jail, overpowered Jailer Best, secured the keys and took from the jail Tom Blair of Morgan county, and hung him to a railroad trestle in the city limits. Blair fought desperately for his life and was beaten almost into insensibility before he was hung. Blair was one of the parties who assisted in killing Captain J. L. Bomar in this city last February. He was cleared of the charge and was in jail for shooting with intent to kill a few days ago. It is supposed that friends of Bomar were the lynchers.

Crazed Man's Fearful Crime.

BAY CITY, Mich., Jan. 2.—Daniel G. Tromley, a lumber inspector 23 years of age, crazed over politics, murdered his wife and child, set fire to the house and made his escape. The murder was first discovered by the firemen, who found Mrs. Tromley with her throat cut, lying on the bed and burned almost to a crisp. The child had evidently been smothered, as no marks were found upon it. Tromley has been arrested. He attempted suicide by jumping into a well.

Sir John Thompson's Remains.

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 2.—The British cruiser Blenheim, bearing the remains of the late Premier Sir John Thompson, arrived here. The casket containing the body was hauled on a gun carriage from the wharf to the provincial parliament building with solemn military formality, where it will lie in state until this afternoon. The funeral ceremonies will occur in St. Mary's cathedral tomorrow afternoon and the interment will take place in Holy Cross cemetery immediately afterward.

Turkish Outrages Denounced.

BOSTON, Jan. 2.—At a meeting of the Methodist Episcopal ministers of this city and vicinity resolutions were adopted expressing profound sympathy with the Christians in Turkish Armenia, thanking President Cleveland for having appointed a commission to investigate the Armenian outrages and urging the state department to prosecute this investigation by every means at its command.

Woman Fatally Burned.

LYNN, Mass., Jan. 2.—Mrs. Mattie Oakes, aged 41 years, has died at Lynn City hospital from burns received at her home. She accidentally overturned an oil stove and her clothing caught fire. She rushed into the street, and a man passing in a sleigh stopped and threw a buffalo robe about her, extinguishing the flames, but not until she had been fatally burned.

Fifteen Thousand Victims.

BOSTON, Jan. 2.—A letter just received in this city from a point near the scene of the recent outrages in Eastern Turkey places the number of slaughtered Armenians at fully 15,000. It is written by a man in whom the highest confidence is placed and portions are too horrible to repeat.

Weavers' Wages Increased.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Jan. 2.—Notice was posted in the Acushnet and Hathaway mills that wages in the various departments would be increased from 10 to 15 per cent. This action on the part of the manufacturers is due to improved business and an unusual scarcity of workmen at the present time.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative, effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

GOTHAM'S NEW MAYOR.

William L. Strong Formally Inducted Into Office.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—For the first time in 20 years a mayor not of the Democratic faith is at the head of the city government.

William L. Strong, who was yesterday inducted into the office, represents very much the same conditions and social elements that asserted themselves in 1872 in the elevation of William F. Havemeyer to the mayoralty. In both instances there was a revolt against municipal corruption.

The unearthing of corruption in municipal affairs is only a beginning of the work of reform which is in contemplation and which, before recurrences of such abuses may be prevented, it is claimed, calls for radical changes in the state laws relating to the government of cities.

It is proposed to enact a law giving the mayor the power of removal over heads of bureaus and an absolute control of the police department. Under the present system, while the mayor appoints members of the police board and other department chiefs, he may not remove them except through processes that practically amount to a deprivation of the power.

Shortly before noon the outgoing and incoming mayors met at the City hall. After the usual formalities, an interchange of greetings and the introduction of the several heads of the departments to Mr. Strong, Thomas F. Gilroy took his departure from the mayor's office and, as he has announced, from political life.

The new sheriff, Mr. Tamsen, also entered upon the duties of his position, and so did the new coroners, O'Meagher and Hoeber.

Conditions for the new officials will be somewhat different from those that have prevailed heretofore. The new state constitution went into effect yesterday. Under it every species of gambling is prohibited and classed as a criminal offense.

Rumors of intended resignations of many officials in the city departments are rife, but it is generally believed that the men in possession of these very much coveted places will hold on until they see whether a power of removal bill will be passed at Albany.

VICTIMS OF THE FLAMES.

Seventeen of the Delavan House Employes Still Missing.

ALBANY, Jan. 2.—Although 17 persons, all attaches of the house, are supposed to be buried in the ruins of the Delavan hotel, no attempt has been made to search the ruins for the whole mass is still so hot that work is impossible.

Chief Higgins of the fire department says:

"I don't know how many persons perished in the fire, but of their remains not even a bone will be found, for, in my opinion, every victim must have been completely incinerated. I don't believe a bone will be found, for the building for hours was a seething furnace, hotter than any crematory fire."

So far none of the persons reported missing has been located.
