THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

The first message of governor Cleveland, a full synopsis of which was printed yesterday, is a plain, straightforward, business document, containing many suggestions which the legislature will do well to consider. All these are in the interest of good government, the one object sought by the new governor. It is apparent that he views his position as one involving a most important trust; not a personal exaltation, and that he feels the weight of his responsibilities. Readers of The Palladium are ere this advised of the governor's statements and suggestions, and we need not rehearse them. They are all plain and practical, and most of them will be endorsed by citizens of all parties. It but remains for the legislature, which is in both branches, in political accord with the governor, to address itself to the work in the spirit that moves the executive, in order to benefit the party and the people of the state.

In New York last week Roscoe Conkling was called upon to explain the difference between the law governing hotel keepers and that affecting proprietors of restaurants. The question arose through Billy McGlory who runs a concert hall, taking a party of half a hundred girls in his employ to the Hotel Brunswick, one of the most fashionable hotels in the city, and there, under an assumed name, at ... o'clock in the morning, giving them a supper. Before the supper was finished, however, the proprietor of the Hotel Brunswick learned the character of the guests being entertained at his tables, and was very indignant about it. When McGlory ordered the supper he offered to pay in advance and it was claimed by some that the proprietors could not refuse to furnish anything on the bill of fare to any well-behaved person offering to pay for the same. But it appears that while that rule does not apply to hotel keepers, proprietors of restaurants may do as they choose about it. Mr. Conkling, in expressing his opinion to a reporter, said the hotel-keeper's license obliges the proprietor to receive any and everybody, so long as they were well-behaved, and only when they become disorderly can he exercise any power in declining to receive them or entertain them further. The position of a hotel-keeper and that of a railroad company are similar. The latter being a common carrier is obliged to carry everybody so long as they conduct themselves properly and do not interfere with the rights of others. Just so in the case of a hotel-keeper. A restaurant keeper is in a different position. He is in precisely the same position as any other vendor of goods. A dry-goods merchant, for instance, has a perfect right to say: "I will not sell any dry goods to ladies, but will sell only to men." The question of expediency might come in, but no one can dispute his indubitable right to sell or refuse to sell his goods to whomsoever he pleases. Just so with the restaurant-keeper; he can do as he pleases, and has a perfect right to make all kinds of rules and regulations to govern his business as best suits himself. The regulation, for instance, that after a certain hour no lady unaccompanied by a gentleman, nor any number of ladies alone, are to be allowed in certain uptown restaurant, comes absolutely within the scope of their power, and one can [illegible].

Washington [illegible] Cincinnati Commercial:—The reason as given recently by one of secretary Folger's friends, for the coolness existing between Conkling on the one hand and Folger and Arthur on the other, is substantially this: When Arthur became president, Conkling was asked to accept the portfolio of state. This he declined on the ground that he was out of politics and ambitious to make money, of which he stood badly in need. What did he want, was asked in a tone that indicated a ready compliance. "I have but one request to make," said he slowly and with emphasis; "I want that fellow Robertson kicked out of the custom house." In vain Arthur and Folger reasoned with him. It would be impolite, they said, considering Arthur's manner of succession, to remove Robertson without cause. Already there existed a strong prejudice against the administration, and it needed but a single false step of this sort to array solidly against them all the opposition of the half-breeds. When Robertson's term expired Mr. Conkling should name his successor. In this strain they argued for over an hour. Conkling listened patiently, with a sneer on his haughty face. He never interrupted them for a moment. When they finished he seized his hat and left the room. He has never gone near them since.

It is now definitely settled that the new suspension railroad bridge to be built for the accommodation of the Michigan Central and Canada Southern railroad will be constructed below the falls. It is intended to construct a cut off from Welland, Ont., to the Niagara branch crossing Chippewa creek, which branch will be used to reach the suspension bridge from where the crossing will be affected to the American side, and all east bound thro' freight consigned to the New York Central will go over this route, while the local freight to be forwarded over the different roads will go thro' Buffalo over the old line, via. the international bridge. The new route will do away with vexatious delays at the international bridge, caused by the bridge being opened for the passage of vessels. It is estimated that not over 6 months will be necessary for the completion of the bridge and laying the tracks.

Joseph B. Chaffee, whose death occurred at his home in Binghamton, last Saturday, was for many years a prominent personage in masonic affairs. For a number of years he filled the responsible office of grand lecturer under the grand lodge of this state, and later that of grand lecturer in the grand commandery. He was past high grand priest of the grand chapter of royal arch masons of New York.

Binghamton people are afflicted with a curious epidemic, whose symptoms are sickness of the stomach accompanied by a violent diarrhœa, lasting three or four days; it, however, readily succumbs to medical treatment. It is estimated that 2,000 people in the city are suffering from it. The cause is unknown.

THE MESSAGE.

COMMENTS BY NEW YORK PAPERS.

New York, Jan. 3.—The Tribune says [illegible] first state paper is clear, straight and forward, but not strong. It contains a few good recommendations, but several of first importance are conspicuous by their absence.

The Sun says Cleveland's message is plain, simple unaffected and straightforward. It has the signal merit of brevity. Its topics are of a practical character. Its ideas are few but for the most part sound.

The Star says Cleveland's message is a business document from beginning to end; so concise and admirably stated. It can be read with intelligent satisfaction.

The Times says the first message of Cleveland contains plenty of evidence that it is the work of a novice in state affairs. There is little fault to be found with such definite recommendations as are contained in the message. On the whole the impression produced by the message is one of disappointment.

The Herald says Cleveland's first message ambles easily through and around various topics that are of interest in the state administration, and is extensively statistical and mildly suggestive.

HONEST AND LIBERAL.

When the Hops in each bottle of Hop Bitters (at the present price, $1.25 per pound,) cost more than a bottle is sold for, besides the other costly medicines, and the quality and price are kept the same, we think it is honest and liberal in the proprietors, and no one should complain, or buy or use worthless stuff, or cheating bogus imitations because the price is less. jan2d&w2w

LABOR TROUBLES.

THE COOKE FAMILY MURDER.

Little Rideau, Quebec, Jan. 3.—The employe who killed four members of the Cooke family is named Frederick Mann. No motive is assigned for the deed. But for the timely appearance of a neighbor Mann might have killed two more girls. The floors, walls and doors of the house are spattered with blood. The body of Cooke is almost unrecognizable, his head having been battered almost to a jelly. Willy, who was wounded may die.

SHE GOT GOOD TERMS.

LOG-ROLLING.

While Wrestling With a Fallen Tree a Lumberman Receives Consequential Damages.

While on a hunting excursion in the great cool and [illegible] I met William Coll, a lumberman. Accustomed life and labor in the forest from early manhood he was a true Knight of the Axe. Many a tree had fallen before his ringing strokes, and fleets of rafts had borne away to market the sawed products. Coll is a character, and if Oscar Wilde is right in saying that all movements in unhindered labor are graceful, our friend William, stripped for his work, and attacking a tree as Richard I. assaulted the heavy doors of Front de Boeuf's Castle, must have presented an admirable picture.

One day, however—but let him tell the story himself, as he told it to me:

"I was in the woods, you know, trying to start a log down a hill. Thinking I could get a better purchase on it from the lower side, I tackled it there with my log rolling hook and threw my weight on the lever. She started, she did, but, an log would have it, before I could get out of the way, she rolled right over me. If it hadn't been for a lot of small limbs and brush lying in the road, she'd have ground me, she'd a crushed me flat. As it was, I got up without a broken bone but with some mighty bad bruises."

"Not by a blamed sight, stranger. I took cold, rheumatism set in, and, if I hadn't heard of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS and used 'em, I'd a' been unable to do another lick, I shan't never have made another chip fly. But the Capcine took hold quick, and I'm 'bout as good as new. But there's one thing you can still do for me—I shall never wrastle with another log unless I have the advantage of the ground. For as I told you before if it hadn't been for them brushes, I'd been smashed so you couldn't 'a told me for a dead man."

The Capcine is the thing for rheumatism. It doesn't keep you waiting. The word CAPCINE is cut in the centre of the genuine. Price 25 cents.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

[From the Boston Globe.]

Messrs. Editors.—The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1 per bottle or six for $5, and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity."

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.

"GATH" ANNIHILATES CHICAGO.

THE CHIEF CITY OF THE WEST DESCRIBED AS A MIGHTY PIGGERY.

"Gath" in Cincinnati Enquirer: To me Chicago is less agreeable as a place to enter in than Cincinnati, but it has so many people, such almost incredible growth and speculations, yet such wild business, that it seems a hundred years less civilized than Cincinnati, but a hundred years ahead of any physical competitor in the West. It is, perhaps, the only society in the world that had no original modesty. Honesty was an afterthought to these people, like Franklin's kind of honesty that he defended on the score of its being good policy. Yet here dwell, side by side, almost in the same house, generous impulses and a sordid life, the hog bound to get his snout into the money trough, and the little pig who can tie an affectionate memorandum in his tail. Domestic life and even social aspirations sprout to some extent out of this mighty piggery, where the blood of cattle speaks mainly to heaven and no ministers' spire where is the cemetery, where food and drink are gunpowder, and war so the death is the duty ... and the battle of avarice extends to the corporations, so that they have a war twice a year and massacre each other's property.

A city to possess such a glory as to cast ... about nearly 600,000 people, who do not know their own origin, who drifted upon this dead level of prairie like the ... and rose to raise their eyes and souls from the earth they are pulled up to their feet, sympathies exist here like garden seed sown in a mulch, which cannot survive the snow, and scalping is regarded as the Spartans did their sickly babies that dropped in ice water, not fit to live. When this place was a fort, and the Indians captured it, the garrison surrendered and the garrison children were put into one wagon to be transported east. Suddenly a Indian boy spring into that wagon and began to tomahawk and scalp the white children there. Something of the spirit of the child comes Chicago in his [illegible]; for nobody cares is considered to have any ... but helpless. They corner bread and meat ... and ... wonder this is the only American city where there is a distinctly socialistic party ... at elections. Where the Turner makes the laws and the nihilist ... unknown ... to trophy of his own people. The three men who represent it the most nearly are Jay Gould, Richard ... and Abraham Lincoln, none of them from Chicago. Chicago is no Illinois city only in fact, not in spirit. It is no more typical of the section ... that preceded it than St. Petersburg is of the Finland on which the rude conqueror ordered it to rise. Such a ... as has made these people by lake Michigan not totally unlike their Russian counterparts in North Europe. The czar is the dollar; their Greek church is Chicago real estate.

DEATH IN A TUNNEL.

HORRIBLE CONVICTS LOSE THEIR LIVES BY THE BURNING OF A TUNNEL.

... N. C., Jan. 2.—As 20 convicts, mostly negroes, and two white men engaged in the Cowee tunnel on the Western North Carolina railroad were ... the Tuckaseegee river, Saturday morning, a convict discovered the flat leaking and gave an alarm which created a panic. The men all rushed to one end of the flat bearing it down, and it immediately filled and sank. The Tuckaseegee is swift and deep, and [illegible] just below. The men clung together in ... those who could not swim clinging to those who could ... were carried into the rapids and drowned, and only twelve convicts ... washed ashore below the rapids insensible but was resuscitated.

TREATED LIKE A GENTLEMAN.

LIEUTENANT DANENHOWER TESTIFIES CONCERNING COLLINS'S TROUBLE.

Washington, January 2.—Before the Jeannette board of inquiry to-day Lieut. Danenhower was asked all the questions suggested by Jas. Collins, except a few comparatively unimportant ones ruled out, as asking for hearsay evidence. He said that scientist Collins was treated throughout as an officer and a gentleman, and in detailing the trouble between commander DeLong and Mr. Collins he gave substantially the same story as commander DeLong in his report to the secretary of the navy.

Lieut. Danenhower refuted the minor statements made by friends of Mr. Collins ... that ... of Mr. DeLong and Mr. Melville. He said that Mr. Melville treated everybody, natives included, in the best possible manner, and, in his judgment, what was done was generally for the best.

Some documentary evidence will be submitted, but it is not probable that any more witnesses will be examined until Mr. Barnett's return from Siberia. The board ... to make a report to congress during the present session.

A burglar was detected in a residence in New York last evening and jumped through a plate-glass window and fell 20 feet upon the pavement. He then ran, bleeding profusely, to a hospital where he fell unconscious. He has an ugly gash in his windpipe and his condition is critical.

Failing!

That is what a great many people are doing. They don't know just what is the matter, but they have a combination of pains and aches, and each month they grow worse.

The only sure remedy yet found is Brown's Iron Bitters, and this by rapid and thorough assimilation with the blood purifies and enriches it, and rich, strong blood flowing to every part of the system repairs the wasted tissues, drives out disease and gives health and strength.

This is why Brown's Iron Bitters will cure kidney and liver diseases, consumption, rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, malaria, intermittent fevers, &c.

... S. Paca St., Baltimore, Nov. 28, 1881.

I was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia, and for several weeks could eat nothing and was growing weaker every day. I tried Brown's Iron Bitters, and am happy to say I now have a good appetite, and am getting stronger.

GAMBETTA.

FRANCE'S DEAD STATESMAN AND THE CAUSE OF HIS DEATH.

Gambetta's friends deny that he was shot by the mother of his son. His friends say he received an accidental wound in the forearm. The wound was healing nicely, but his desire to appear in public and silence his enemies grew so that he requested the doctor to stop suppuration, which the latter did, though he pointed out the danger. In a few hours the pus from the wound being debarred its natural outlet, took another course, burrowing under the skin towards the shoulder, and soon manifested itself in two large phlagmous under the armpit. They caused him the greatest pain. He arose from bed, hoping to be able to go to Paris the next day, but had to retire. A slight fever was subdued, but the Sunday night before Christmas Gambetta dined heartily, and becoming excited during a political discussion suffered a relapse. Meantime the pus worked its way downward and showed itself in an abscess in the stomach. Later other abscesses appeared, grew in size and nearly blocked the caecum.

A post mortem was held to contradict a rumor that death was caused by a bullet in the abdomen. It showed that there had been a long standing inflammation of the bowels, which led to the contraction of the small intestine, bringing about infiltration in the rear of the colon in the very wall of the abdomen. The pistol wound inflicted a ... ago had no connection with the cause of death.

The body will lie in state in the Rue St. Didier until the funeral. ... ter has gone to Nice to obtain her father's consent to a state funeral. The cabinet decided that the funeral should be similar to the funerals of Thiers and Clemenceau, members of the government of national defence. Parisians decided to close their shops on the day of the funeral.

All the troops in Paris and Marseilles have been ordered to attend the funeral of the dead statesman.

The decomposition of Gambetta's body, hastened by the muggy weather, has been fearfully rapid. The aspect of the face has become so shocking that the idea of having the body lie in state in the Palais Bourbon has been abandoned.

Gambetta's father has consented to a state funeral. The government will devote 30,000 francs to meet the cost. The brain of the deceased will be given to the Anthropological society.

CASUALTIES.

Cape Town advices state that during the past two months 6,000 people there have been affected with small pox and 2,400 died. All efforts to suppress the disease were unavailing, owing to the objection of the negroes to vaccination.

"It is a great art to do the right thing at the right time." The person subject to derangement of the kidneys or liver has a protective duty to perform in purchasing a package of Kidney-Wort. Its invigorates these organs and by its cathartic and diuretic effect, cleanses the whole system of all bad humors. jan3d&w1w3p

James Heppel of Troy fell down a 40-foot bank at Schaghticoke last night and had both his legs broken. He was not discovered until noon yesterday and is so badly frozen that his death is expected. Heppel's father was killed some time ago by a powder explosion at Schaghticoke, and his brother was recently killed by an accident at Albany.

PHYSICAL SUFFERING.

The attorney general filed a complaint in Albany yesterday against the Western Union Telegraph Company for neglect to pay the state taxes on their dividends for 1881. The complaint alleges that up to November, 1881, the tax amounted to $121,000, of which only $1,250 has been paid. The suit is brought to recover this sum with interest and penalty amounting to $15,000.

The suit of the Allegheny Valley railroad at Pittsburg against the estate of Wm. Phillips, late president of the road, for the recovery of nearly $600,000 alleged to have been misapplied, resulted in a verdict for plaintiff for $466,000.
