WEDNESDAY EVENING, JULY 2, 1856.

FOR PRESIDENT.
JOHN C. FREMONT,
OF CALIFORNIA.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT.
WILLIAM L. DAYTON, OF NEW JERSEY.

I heartily concur in all movements which have for their object "to repair the mischiefs arising from the violation of good faith in the repeal of the Missouri Compromise." I AM OPPOSED TO SLAVERY IN THE ABSTRACT AND UPON PRINCIPLES, SUSTAINED AND MADE HABITUAL BY LONG SETTLED CONVICTIONS. While I feel inflexible in the belief that it ought not to be interfered with where it exists under the shield of State Sovereignty, I AM AS INFLEXIBLY OPPOSED TO ITS EXTENSION ON THIS CONTINENT BEYOND ITS PRESENT LIMITS. JOHN C. FREMONT.

The Beauties of Acquiescence.

The citizens of the United States have been pre-eminently an acquiescing people—particularly the inhabitants of the Northern States. When Texas was annexed for the avowed purpose of opening up a new Southern market for Slavery, and giving an increased Slave representation in Congress, the people of the North were justly indignant thereat, especially when they counted the cost of the sanguinary struggle in which we were embroiled with a sister Republic, for a purpose so infamous. But the political leaders of the day at once commenced the work of preaching acquiescence. "It's of no use," said they, "to make a fuss about the thing now; it can't be helped.—It is the very last thing the South will require, and if the people of the North will acquiesce, we shall have peace." Anxious to secure peace, the people, deceived by this specious pretence, smothered their indignation, shouldered Texas and its debt, hoping that this was indeed the very last concession which was to be made to the renewed demands of Slavery.

The country was again quiet—plunged in a most happy state of acquiescence. All at once the insatiable spirit of Slavery demanded a new concession. It demanded that the people of the North should turn negro-hunters to chase down fugitives who were escaping from the Southern lash and auction-block. The South demanded that, to secure this end, the right of trial by jury and the privilege of habeas corpus should be stricken down. The people of the North were again indignant at this new demand, from which they had been promised an immunity. They rose in their might, and repudiated, and denounced the authors of this great wrong. Throughout the Northern States, the indignation was extreme. But in spite of their expostulation the demand was acceded to. Again the people declared that this spirit of aggression on the part of the Slave Power was not to be endured. They demanded the repeal of that bill. Again the political leaders came before the country, assuring the people if they would only acquiesce once more this was positively the last aggression, and the last concession which would be made. Determined to assure the country that this was the very last concession which was to be made to Slavery, both the great political parties declared in their platform that "the Compromise measures of 1850, including the Fugitive Slave Law, were a FINAL AND CONCLUSIVE settlement of the dangerous and exciting subjects which they embrace." They called it up in Congress and re-ratified it there, and the President in his inaugural address declared that the dangerous subject of Slavery should not be again disturbed. Always anxious for peace, the people of the North were led to put confidence in this declaration. They contented themselves with consigning to political obscurity their traitorous representatives who had betrayed them, and sunk again into acquiescence in the hope of peace.

Vain hope! The Black Power is never satisfied. In its very nature an aggressive institution, it forever lusts for new conquests. The people were astounded and awakened from their fancied dream of security by the intelligence that an effort was making for the repeal of a time-honored compromise which secured to Freedom "forever" a portion of Territory. Against this flagrant injustice, this wanton breach of public faith, the people thundered, the Press denounced and the Pulpit fulminated. Men of all parties united in opposing this common wrong. But in vain. The deed was consummated. Kansas and Nebraska were given up to the new doctrine of Squatter Sovereignty, the avowed object of which was to give the people of the Territories the right to form their own institutions as they pleased.

Still the people of the North hoped against hope. They would exert themselves to colonize the Territories with Free Settlers from the North who would found Free institutions. But here Squatter Sovereignty turned upon them, and the very authors of the Nebraska Bill refused to recognize the principle they had themselves avowed.—The men of the North were left to make the discovery that Squatter Sovereignty was designed only to protect slave-holders—not to protect Northern Freemen. Actual settlers from the Northern States were driven out of the Territory by force of arms; their houses were destroyed, their lives sacrificed, their ballot-boxes demolished, and the President refused to interfere, although he was one of the chief plotters in the passage of the act which declared its object to be "to leave the people of the Territory PERFECTLY FREE to form their own institutions."

These are some of the beauties of "acquiescence," which we have already reached.—They have been sufficient to teach Northern men that there is to be no "acquiescence," hereafter, but that the opposing forces of Slavery and Freedom, marshalled for the contest, must engage in a death struggle for the mastery on this continent. "Whom the Gods wish to destroy they first make mad." It has been left to the Slave Power to develope its nefarious purposes, by its contempt and defiance of public faith, by its disregard of the very laws enacted by it. Hereafter there will be no compromise, until Kansas is saved to Freedom, [illegible] the Federal Government is bro't [illegible] the policy of its founders, as [illegible] divorce itself from all connection with or responsibility for the existence of the foul curse in a Republic professedly free. Thus much the scoundrels who repealed the Missouri Compromise have effected, and now there is scarcely a man in the Nation who has the brazen assumption to say a word to the Free North upon the subject of "acquiescing" under its accumulated wrongs. Liberty has gained a point in this warfare which it will never recede from.

Correspondence of the Times & Journal.
From our New York Correspondent.

NEW YORK, June 30th.

Fashion has put her furniture into covers and gone away to ruralise, till August calls her to preside again over crowds at the watering places. Our boarding houses are depopulated, and our hotels are filled with strangers. Social parties and public amusements have died out, except a few irregular enterprises of "the summer season." The weather, which has been unusually cool, now gives unmistakable evidence that the solstice is past. A musical soiree, here and there, however, has enlivened those who have not yet taken flight. Mrs. Howland, who has the fashionable school on Murray Hill gave a brilliant parlor concert on Friday. Another previously given by Mrs. C——, caused a wide sensation on account of circumstances. The lady—the wife of a wealthy man—once lived in superb style, kept her carriage, and no doubt was envied of her acquaintance; though she wore her honors meekly. Her robe of splendor, like many another, covered a heavy heart. Her husband, rich and munificent—proud of his wife as of his other belongings, was moody and gloomy at home as he was pleasant abroad, and often indulged in terrible out breaks of ill temper. In one of these, he raised his hand furiously, to strike his gentle wife, who had ventured to remonstrate against his harshness to their only child, a girl of twelve. The girl rushed forward, stayed, with a commanding gesture, her angry father's hand, and sternly rebuked him. Her childish words were barbed with keen truth; they pierced the proud man, and he desisted from his intended violence. Many times afterwards, in his paroxysms of rage, he caught the calm restraining eyes of his little daughter, and the demon within him was quelled.

Thus years rolled on. It was the young girl's birthday. She had been happy that day, and so had her loving mother. The husband came home late—and after evening had closed in, entered the magnificent drawing room where sat his wife and daughter. The latter talked gaily, and he let her finish what she had to say. Then he reminded her that she had now reached the age of womanhood, and that he was no longer legally obliged to support her. Both the ladies smiled; it was rather unusual for Mr. C—— to jest with them! With a gloomy frown, he told them he was in earnest; that he would no longer suffer his daughter to live in his house, nor at his expense.

To his wife's surprised questioning he answered by reminding her of the day when she was saved by her little girl from being struck—and of the child's words on that occasion. Those reproving words had rankled in his bitter heart, and begotten a fierce, longing for revenge; an unnatural hate towards his innocent child. Again he assured them that on the morrow she should leave his house forever. He was glad she could not force him now to maintain her.

It is to be hoped—for the pride of womanhood—that the wife did not seek, by entreaties, to soften this determination. In the morning both she and her daughter were in readiness to leave their home. Mr. C—— looked surprised; his wife had permission to remain; she could be useful to him. But she chose to go forth with her children.

The two went forth, and strove to earn for themselves a shelter and food. Mrs. C—— had studied singing under some of the first European masters, and had a pure Italian style; she issued a few manuscript circulars—referring to persons of high standing, and was so fortunate as to obtain a few pupils. Not long since she sent out invitations for a private concert at her house in West Fifteenth street. Those who attended were delighted with the performances, and with the grace and melancholy meekness which had adorned scenes of fashionable gayety.

The brute who turned these helpless ones from his door, still revels in the importance of wealth and position, and is courted by many for that species of influence. But the blessings of sympathizing hearts are with the injured, uncomplaining victims, happier in all their toil that they are delivered from the curse of his presence.

The latest literary novelty is Mrs. Stephens' Illustrated New Monthly—adorned with engravings and the products of her gifted mind. About the coolest spot in the business part of the city is in her publisher's office. There was a "happening in" of several members of the daily press there on Saturday, while another retired publisher was holding forth on the best way of advertising, to catch the public. He had "run up 12,000" for Mr. Godey, by a similar contrivance.

The atmosphere of the Upper Lakes would be refreshing just now to panting Metropolitans. The mercury is at 90°.—Adieu for the present. R.

QUIET AT LAST.—Mr. FILLMORE having made a sort of political tour from New York to Buffalo, and having made the same speech at three different places, has at last reached his home in Buffalo, made his speech there and the furor is ended. The sequel will show that the Ex-President has added nothing to his fame by his stump speeches. They contain sentiments which we would not have believed Mr. Fillmore would utter, and if we thought he stood the least chance of being the next President, we should certainly endeavor to point out a few of his fallacies. Regarding him, however, as a "dead cock in the pit," the game is not worth the candle.

[illegible]

—A considerable portion of the business part of the village of Camden, Oneida Co., was destroyed by fire on Saturday night.

—Wilson and Sumner of Massachusetts were burned in effigy at Orangeburg Court House, Virginia, on Wednesday week.

—A man, named Cornhill, was recently convicted in Clarke County, Kentucky, of stealing two plugs of tobacco, and sentenced to two years' confinement in the penitentiary.

—It is said that Jenny Lind is about to pay another visit to the United States.—She will receive a cordial welcome.

—The officers of the Railroads running west, from Buffalo, have determined, after the 1st of July, to abolish all ticket offices, agents, runners and solicitors at the East.

—The Rochester Union says the farmers in that vicinity begin to complain of weevil in the wheat, which threatens to destroy the crop in some of the localities.

—Counterfeit $2's on the Steuben County Bank, are in circulation. The bill is entirely new—evidently a very recent issue. Look out for other denominations of the same sort.

—Either the Rochester thieves are very green, or the Rochester editors are very flush. During the reception of Mr. Fillmore in that city on Friday, Mr. Dewey of the American, and Mr. Allen of the Democrat had their pockets picked!

—According to the Syracuse Standard, two men captured a snake near that city a few days since, which was found to contain five hundred and seventy-six embryo snakes There were twenty-four knots and eggs, each containing twenty-four snakes.

—There was a great boat race at Halifax, N. S., on Thursday, at which the greatest speed on record was made by a Halifax row boat, owned by James Pryer, which made five miles in twenty-eight minutes, beating the St. Johns boat by ten lengths.

SHORT OF TIMBER.—We observe that the "Fremont Club," the organization of which appears in the "organ" of last evening, is made up Know Nothings and outsiders, so far as the officers are concerned. GEO. W. RATHBUN is one of the permanent officers, representing the 3d Ward. Mr. Rathbun is not a resident of the city. He resides in the town of Oswego, two miles from the city. Not only so, but he is a Know Nothing, and run on the Know Nothing ticket for office in the town of Oswego, and was defeated by the Democrats last spring.—Timber must be scarce when the Fremonters have to go out of town to get officers.—It is natural they should take Know Nothings as their party is identical with Know Nothingism.—Palladium of this morning.

There is perhaps more truth in the above paragraph than the Palladium has uttered since it hauled down the "Corner Stone," and abandoned the Wilmot Proviso. It is true the party referred to resides in the town of Oswego, but so near the city line that a stone could be thrown from his residence to the corporation limits. I know of no real objection to an individual under those circumstances co-operating with the liberal party of the city, in their endeavors to help a good cause. More particularly as the call for the Fremont Club embraced the friends of Liberty in the city and its vicinity. The Palladium will find more "timber" on and off the corporation of Oswego, about election time, than it now imagines.

But it was necessary for the Palladium (that it might not appear eccentric) to couple with its article other allegations not in accordance with the truth. The party alluded to, never belonged to the order of Know Nothings, or any other secret association. He was nominated last Spring by the Democratic party, of the town of Oswego, to the office of Road Commissioner, and was defeated by a combination of Custom House men and Hunkers, for the reason that he did not believe in the infalibility of President Pierce, or in the institution of Slavery. R.

July 2d, 1856.

☞ The Louisville (Ky.) Courier, a Buchanan paper, thinks that gentleman will carry every Southern State, except Missouri and Maryland, but adds it is very likely that FREMONT may be the successful candidate in the canvass.

☞ FUDLEY DARLING is a practical joker. This morning he set the whole town in a roar by stating that we were a "blackguard." This coming from one who indulges habitually in such choice expressions as "blower," "bugling," "windy," &c., &c., is decidedly the joke of the season.

STANZAS FOR THE SEASON.—Inspired by the tuneful Nine (perhaps he took but five) an Indiana writer live, thus treats the theme canine:

Marshal, spare that dog, touch not a single hair; he worries many a hog from out his muddy lair! O! do not kill him—dead; he wags his narrative, and prays for life—not lead. Go get the muzzle now, and put upon his mouth, and stop that bow-wow-wow! and tendency to drouth. He is your children's pet, companion of their joy; you will not kill him yet, and their dear hopes destroy. No, Marshal, spare that pup, touch not a single hair! Oh! put your pistol up, and go away from there.

A DEGRADED BEING.—It is not strange that a political thimble-rigger like the editor of the Palladium, who has stifled his honest convictions, smothered out the last remains of conscience, turned traitor to the land of his birth and the home of his adoption for the paltry spoils of the Custom House—it is not strange that such an individual should accuse every other [illegible] of being actuated by a desire to feed upon the "leeks and garlics" of office. Honor and conscience are strangers to him. For the daily pittance which is doled out to him he has embraced the harlot Slavery, turned a deaf ear to the pleadings of Common Humanity, dishonored God and scoffed at the plainest precepts of Religion. A victim of self-abasement, despised by the wise and good, hated by himself, he lives but to vent his morose and discontented disposition in malevolent attacks upon all that is pure and virtuous. While we cannot but feel pity at his moral degradation, we can have no sympathy [illegible] until he "ceases to do evil [illegible] do well."

POLITICAL STRAWS.—The Hards have changed their day of meeting in State Convention from Aug. 6 to July 30, in order to be on hand at the same time as their brethren, the Softs—all for "Union and harmony."

—The Cincinnati Commercial says: yesterday a vote was taking of all the judges, lawyers, officers, jurors, witnesses, &c., in the several Court rooms and public offices of the New Court House, which resulted in, for FREMONT, 109; FILLMORE, 31; BUCHANAN, 84; whole number of votes, 224.

—Judge PROBASCO, the law-partner of TOM CORWIN, has accepted a challenge from STANLEY MATTHEWS to discuss the merits of Democracy and Republicanism. They are to speak at six different points in Hamilton County, Ohio.

—The largest and most enthusiastic meeting of the season was held in the City Hall at Poughkeepsie, on Monday evening last, by the young men of that place, called for the purpose of organizing a Young men's Fremont Club.

—The Rhinebeck Mechanic, heretofore devoted to Americanism, has hoisted the flag of Freemont and Dayton.

—The Philadelphia Times has taken down the names of Fillmore and Donelson, and now supports the principles of the Republican party.

—The Boston Journal comes out openly and squarely for Fremont. This is a most telling evidence of the strength of our nomination.

—Hon. David K. Carter, formerly Democratic member of Congress from the Stark district, O., is out for Fremont and Dayton. He addressed the ratification meeting held in Cleveland, Saturday evening, and was received with hearty applause.

—The Lansingburgh (Rensselaer Co) Democrat, one of the oldest Democratic papers in the State is out for Fremont.

—A great Fremont demonstration was held in Lafayette, Indiana, a few days since. At least 12,000 Freemen were in council.—The utmost enthusiasm prevailed the vast assemblage.

—The Union, lately a neutral paper published at Urbana, Illinois, and the Register, also a neutral paper published at Canton, in the same State, have raised the Anti-Nebraska flag, and will support Col. Bissell and the whole Rupublican ticket.

—A noble meeting to ratify the Philadelphia nominations was held at Rochester Friday night. The Democrat says that no less than 3000 persons were present.

—Gen. Dix has declared in favor of Buchanan; thereupon the N. Y. Evening Post illustrates by the following anecdote; "My dear Coleridge," said Charles Lamb once to his old and dear friend, "you are one of the very best men in England; you have but one infirmity, you always fail just when you have a duty to perform."

☞ It is a great pity the Palladium cannot make out the Republican party in favor of Disunion. It copies this morning a petition which some crack-brained individual has started, and flounders through a leader of poor logic in an effort to hold the Republican party responsible for it. It winds up, as usual with such patriotic prints, by quoting with great unction from Washington's Farewell Address—sentiments which the Republican party most heartily subscribe to.

His Enemies Praise Him!

HEAR WHAT JOHN A. DIX SAID OF JOHN C. FREMONT IN 1848.

In 1848, Hon. JOHN A. DIX, in a speech in the Senate of the United States, in favor of ascertaining and paying certain claims in California, delivered March 29, endorsed Col. FREMONT as follows:—

"In the execution of these objects, the young and accomplished officer at the head of our troops, Col. Fremont, exhibited a combination of energy, promptitude, sagacity and prudence, which indicated the highest capacity for civil and military command; and in connection with what he has done for the cause of science, it has given him a reputation at home and abroad, of which men older and more experienced than himself might well be proud. That the country will do justice to the valuable and distinguished services, I entertain not the slightest doubt." "The objects accomplished by Colonel Fremont, as subsequent developments have shown, were far more important then those I have referred to. There is no doubt that his rapid and decisive movements kept California out of the hands of British subjects and perhaps out of the hands of the British government, and it is in this point that I desire to present the subject to the Senate" * * * "It is in this point of view that the transactions possess the greatest interest and importance, and that the sagacity, promptitude and decision of our youthful commander in California, at the time the disturbances broke out, have given him the strongest claims on his countrymen. Any faltering on his part—any hesitancy in acting promptly—might have cost us millions of dollars and thousands of lives; and it might also have cost us a contest of which the end is not readily foreseen."

Can as much be found anywhere, even from political friends and associates, in favor of James Buchanan?

Arrival of the North America.

The steamer North America arrived at Quebec, from Liverpool, Monday morning. The news is quite important.

The American difficulty is likely to be settled amicably, and Mr. Dallas will not be dismissed. The funds rose slightly in consequence.

In the House of Lords on Monday evening, the 16th, the Earl of Clarendon stated in reply to the Earl of Derby, that it was not the intention of the Government to advise Her Majesty to suspend diplomatic relations with the United States.

This announcement was received with loud cheers.

The Earl of Derby expressed his satisfaction at the statement, but he regarded the course taken by the Government as humiliating, and as acknowledging that they had been in error.

Lord Clarendon appealed to the House not to join the Earl of Derby in pressing the motion, and the subject then dropped.

☞ A German named Riesberg was recently executed at Bidwell, California, for murder. As he was being conducted to the place of execution, a friend approached and shook him by the hand with the feeling advice—"Take care of yourself, old fellow." [illegible]

CITY AND COUNTY.

☞ The Water of Lake Ontario is now five inches higher than last year, and 1½ feet lower than in 1854.

☞ The great Concert of Madame DE LA GRANGE and M. GOTTSCHALK, comes off to-night at Doolittle Hall. It will be surprising if there is not a great crowd in attendance.

☞ Mr. HAMILTON, Principal of the High Schools has consented to read the Declaration of Independence on the coming Fourth. The officiating clergyman will be Rev. Mr. SALISBURY, of the West Methodist Church.

POLICE DEPARTMENT.—Two cases of drunkenness were brought before the Recorder this morning, and dealt with "according to law." Patrick Cavanaugh was convicted of larceny, and sentenced to 90 days imprisonment in the county jail.

NEW OMNIBUS.—A new and beautiful omnibus made its appearance in our streets yesterday. It belongs to the newly established and popular "Hamilton House," and was manufacrured for the proprietor at Troy. It will run to the steamboat landing and Railroad, conveying passengers to and from the Hamilton House.

STRAWBERRY AND FLORAL FESTIVAL.—The Ladies of the Second Presbyterian Church and Society will hold a Strawberry and Floral Festival at Abbey Hall on Wednesday evening, July 2d. It is the intention of the Ladies to make this festival equally attractive to any similar entertainment of the season. Many useful and fancy articles for a gentleman's toilet will also be offered for sale.

☞ Dr. Smith, Aurist, is at the Munger House and will make a short professional stay. All those afflicted with deafness should give him a call. The Troy Post says he is working wonders among the deaf.—We are informed that his treatment, in many cases, has been followed by the most remarkable success. Many of our citizens have been greatly benefited by his skill, and others are constantly applying to him.

EXCURSIONS.—There will be plenty of opportunities afforded for excursions during the Fourth. The Chief Justice Robinson, Capt. Young, will make four excursions during the day, for the accommodation of pleasure-seekers. She will leave Bronson & Fort's dock at 11 A. M., 1.30 P. M. 3 P. M., and 4.30 P. M., making a pleasant run in the lake of one hour and a half.

RAILROAD MEETING AT SYRACUSE.—A large meeting was held in Syracuse last evening to consider the project of extending the Syracuse and Binghamton R. R. to Oswego. Speeches were made by several gentlemen, a committee was appointed to take subscriptions to the stock, and the meeting adjourned to meet again on Tuesday of next week.

FREMONT RATIFICATION AT FULTON.—We learn that the Fremont ratification meeting at Fulton last evening was very large and spirited, there being upwards of 1000 persons present. Speeches were made by JOHN SNOW, of Oneida, ORNON ARCHER, of Wayne county, and others. As a whole it was a ratification meeting which completely threw into the shade the miserable fizzle got up by the Buchaniers, at the same place a few evenings since.

THE EUROPA.—The new and splendid steamer Europa, of the Collingwood line arrived this morning from Toronto with a large load of passengers, besides a considerable quantity of freight, among which was 600 barrels of flour.

The Europa will leave this port for Toronto this evening, and will return early Friday morning, July 4th, in time to make three pleasure excursions on the lake during the day. We learn that among other attractions designed to render the trips agreeable to excursionists a full band, from Toronto, has been engaged to furnish music on the occasion. The contemplated excursions cannot but prove pleasant and delightful to all who desire a few moments respite from the noise and dust of the city.

THE WATCHMAN. A tale of Life's Vicissitudes. By the author of "The Watchman," "Old Doctor," "Lawyer's Story," &c., New York: H. D. Long successor to H. Long & Brother, Publisher—121 Nassau street.

A perusal of this work has fully confirmed us in the favorable opinion we had formed of the capacity of the author of "The Watchman," as a writer of fiction.—The tale is a simple story of life's vicissitudes, as it purports to be, exceedingly well told, and abounding in touching pathos, as well as lively humor. It is full of lively and spirit-stirring incident, and will interest the reader from preface to finis. We predict for the work a degree of popularity seldom attained by works of this description. It cannot fail of being appreciated by the public. I. J. BOSWELL has it for sale.

PHOTOGRAPHS—A NEW ART.—When Dagnerreotypes first made their appearance it was thought the art of picture taking had obtained its greatest perfection; subsequently the Ambrotypes appeared excelling in every essential point the Daguerreotype, but now a new art has been inaugurated in this city by Mr. T. GRAY—the Photographic art. The Photographs are taken on paper, and any number can be produced from one sitting. Mr. GRAY is the first to introduce the new method in this city, and he has spared no expense in making all the necessary additions to his Gallery that the new art requires. He has some fine specimens at his rooms, which resemble the finest steel engravings when complete, and equal in resemblance to any likeness produced on canvass by the most skillful artists. Mr. G. will continue to take Ambrotypes, and he has some as fine specimens as will be seen anywhere. In inaugurating the Photographic art, Mr. G. has had some of the best artists in the State to assist him. Those wishing likenesses produced by this art should give him a call, as they will get something heretofore unknown in the art of picture taking.

PHOTOGRAPH, AMBROTYPE & DAGUERREOTYPE GALLERY.

HAVING made permanent and extensive arrangements for taking Pictures in either of the above arts, the subscriber invites the public at large in particular to call and examine his specimens. It is unnecessary to extend a formal invitation to his old friends and customers as he flatters himself that their patronage and influence is permanent, from the satisfaction that has been evinced at his pictures.

Being the pioneer in the Photographic Art in this city, he would say to all those who wish a picture that excels in point of beauty and correctness any thing heretofore produced in this city, to give him an immediate call, as his means for producing these pictures are extensive, having spared no expense to develop to the fullest extent, the art of producing the Photograph.

These pictures will be furnished to any person wishing number at $4,00 per dozen. I wish it understood that because they are cheap they are not inferior to any in the State. They will be furnished in such style that their cost will be nothing compared to their beauty and correctness. If any one should deem the cheapness of the picture an objection, they can have them at any price from $25 down to $5 per dozen.

N. B. Remember the place, No. 21 East First street and fail not to call, as will endeavor at all events to satisfy you in order to get your money. T. GRAY.

PATENT GALVANIZED PORTABLE OVENS.

KENYON & COLLINS, Oswego, N. Y.

WILL keep on hand and for sale at Manufacturers' prices an assortment of these ovens. These ovens were awarded a silver Medal at the Fair of the Utica Mechanics' association, January, 1856, the Prize Medal of the Ohio Mechanics' Institute, May, 1856, the first class premium at the Vermont State Fair, October, 1855, and also at the New York State Fair, 1855. Warranted to Cook with Less Fuel than any other Oven in use. This invention, the result of practical experience, is now confidently presented to the public, as superior in point of economy, safety, durability, ease of management, convenience, and above all in the unrivalled manner in which it does its work, to any other invention of the kind now in use.

It is a perfect oven, doing everything required of it in the most superior manner.

It will roast, at the same time, as many different kinds of meat as the oven can contain, and each piece will be perfectly sweet and free from the gases from the different varieties, as these gases are let off through an escape pipe at the top.

For baking Bread and Pastry, this oven is without a rival, as the heat is regulated by dampers at the bottom, and is under the perfect control of the operator. It is not excelled in point of economy, as the heat required is generated within the oven.

It proves to be the best apparatus ever used for drying all kinds of fruit, as a high or low temperature can be easily obtained. Farmers and others will find it very valuable for this use.

The material from which it is manufactured being a non-conductor, and constructed with air chambers, there is no radiation of heat, and a small quantity of fuel will keep it going for hours.

For Hotels, a water boiler is attached when desired by which a supply of water can be readily heated without additional fuel.

It is substantially made of American Galvanized Iron, which will neither rust or burn out, and the oven will last for years. July 2d
