FULTON.

A MINE OF WATCHES.

OFFICIALS UNRAVE THE WATCHES AND JEWELRY OF CONNELL & CO

Found Buried at Canon Hill. In the Eastern Part of Fulton. Property Identified and Arrests Made. One of the Burglars Presented His Sweathair with a Stolen Watch. Mrs. John K. Distin Dead. Other Ful'on News.

FULTON, Oct. 16.—Last night's TIMES made mention of the work of the police on the recent burglary case. It seems that great success has crowned their efforts. It was given out last night that most of the plunder taken from G. F. Connell's jewelry store has been regained, in fact only two or three watches are as yet missing. As was suspected, the plunder was buried, and the place of interment was Canon Hill, in the eastern part of the town. Nineteen watches, forty chains and one hundred fifty pairs of cuff buttons were unearthed. The officers who have worked on the case and who deserve the credit of the affair are Deputy Sheriff T. G. Poole, W. J. Dempsey, detective for the R. W. & O. and Local Police Officer Conley, who has been in with the schemes and assisting. Fred Connell, the proprietor of the jewelry store, has also been acquainted with the police moves and has aided in the solution of the mystery. The way the affair came into the hands of the police, which has been a puzzle for some, is somewhat like this: Deputy Poole and Officer Conley were about together on the night of the burglaries, and they noticed that Frank Cavanaugh, Albert Fogarty, Chabouey Taylor and another were congregated near the alley-way that leads to the rear of the Onside street stores. There was no strong ground for suspicion at the time, but as soon as the news of the losses was spread, and the locality of one of them being so near, their suspicions were turned in this direction. Then followed the arrest of Cavanaugh, but on another charge, and then the arrest of Taylor, charged with having knowledge of the persons who committed the crimes. It was from this Taylor the information has been gained. Tola Taylor, a sister of Chabouey Taylor, was questioned as to whether she had knowledge of the burglaries, but from what she told it was thought that she was not implicated. Information later revealed the fact that she did know more of the affair than she had told and Officer Conley went to Oswego yesterday afternoon, and brought the brother back here. Then it was learned by questioning that the sister Tola had been presented with a watch about noon on Tuesday, by Fogarty, who had kept company with her. She confessed that she had some of the property when faced with the fact, and had returned the goods. It is said that Fogarty has left Syracuse, and that a man answering his description has been detained in Cortland. It is thought that he has the remainder of the stolen goods—some two or three watches. The officers who have been so persistent in working the case, and who have also been so successful, deserve credit, and surely the $500 reward offered by Connell & Co. should go to them. According to the reports the officers did some clever and hard work while in Syracuse, and it is claimed that traces of the cloth have been found. Search warrants have been issued and were given over to Officers Clark and Vogelung. Efforts are being made to secure $500 bail for Taylor's release from jail.

DEATH OF MRS. JOHN K. DISTIN

One of Fulton's Oldest and Esteemed Citizens Passes Away.—Was Ninety-two Years Old and Came to Ful'on Eighty Years Ago.

FULTON, Oct. 16.—Mrs. John K. Distin died at the residence of her son, John W. Distin, in the north part of the town, yesterday, in the ninety-second year of her age. She died at the old homestead, where she had lived for over 60 years. Her husband, John H. Distin, died last April. Mrs. Distin's maiden name was Harriet Hubbard. She came to the town of Volney with her father, the Rev. Thomas Hubbard from Pittsfield, Mass., in the year 1818, and has been a resident here ever since. She was the last of twelve children, her brothers Thomas, Ansell, Halsey and Seth being pioneers of the town of Volney. In her younger days she taught some of the early schools of the town. As early as 1820 she taught the school at Mount Pleasant, and some of the oldest inhabitants were her scholars. Old Uncle John Ives was one of her pupils. A few years ago she was thrown from her carriage and injured her head, since which time her mental faculties have been dimmed. A year or two later, a fall and a broken hip made her a cripple for the remainder of her life, but loving hands have tried to ease the pain, and carry the burdens of a kind and loving mother, who has reached that happy home to which she has pointed so many inquiring ones. She was a woman of strong religious character, and has been a member of the M. E. church for 75 years. She leaves three children, Mrs. J. H. Pittinger of Brooklyn, Mrs. H. Lindly of Jersey City and Mr. J. W. Distin of Volney. The funeral services will be held at the homestead on Monday at one o'clock, conducted by Rev. Mr. Book of Mount Pleasant.

LAST EVENING'S CONCERT.

It Was Truly First-class, and One of the Best Oswego Has Had in a Long Time.—The Audience an Appreciative One.

The concert given last evening at Normal hall by the McArtt Symphony club, of New York, was by far the best entertainment of the kind Oswego has had for a long while. The members of the quartette proved themselves artists by their fine ensemble playing and their superior solo work, and were received with the most enthusiastic appreciation. Herr Theodore Hoeh seemed to be the favorite of the evening; and as a cornetist of remarkable skill certainly deserves the honors he won. One of the instruments played by him was unique—the alpine echo horn, constructed with two tubes one giving the full tone, the other the echo. Herr Hoeh's lung capacity is certainly marvelous, and was exhibited last evening in a cornet trill of such duration that the audience fairly held their breath from sympathy, greeting the last turn of the trill with a great burst of applause.

The viola d'amour solo by Richard Stoelzer was one of rare beauty. The instrument is one of unusual sweetness, with the characteristic tone color of the ordinary viola intensified into greater richness and power. The effect of this fourteen stringed instrument is peculiar. It gives an almost orchestral effect at times, and sometimes sounds like a rich-toned harp. Mr. Stoelzer played with great expressiveness. Mr. Otto Lund, solo violinist, is a master of his instrument, playing with fine technique and sympathetic touch; and Mr. Blodock, as a cellist, showed remarkable ability.

The audience were greatly delighted with Miss Gumsier, who has a rich, mellow contralto voice which she knows how to use with splendid effect. The following is the PROGRAM.

1. Overture, "Il Trovatore" Mozart
2. Viola d'amour solo, "Father's Prize Song" from "Hilf dir selber" Wagner
3. Cornet solo, "The Wild Duck" Ibsen
4. Cornet solo, "Fantasia in G Major" Hoeh
5. Violin solo (Sonne de Ballet) Beriot
6. Quartette, a. Douce Carresse, b. Gavotte, c. Mazur, d. Symphony Club
7. Alpine Echo Horn Solo, Alpen Jubel (1st time) Hoeh
8. a. La Grande Solo, b. La Grande Solo, c. La Grande Solo, d. La Grande Solo
9. Contralto solo, "Cavatina" from Opera, Donna Catarina, Marcolante
10. Grand Duo (Over National Song) Leonard
11. Emperor's Salute, Roman Triumphal Procession, Hoeh

The only criticism that can be made of the concert is not a criticism of the performers; it is simply the pity that there were not more selections on the program of quartet playing. It is a pity and a somewhat curious one, that audiences in general are better pleased with solo than with ensemble work, apparently failing to appreciate the special kind of skill required in the latter, and the distinctive beauty arising from the blending of the separate parts into a harmonious whole. The excellent playing of the quartet last evening, their delicate shadings and skillful phrasings, made the listener wish for more of the same sort.

A Pleasant Surprise.

A most pleasant and complete surprise took place last Thursday evening when a number of friends of Mr. Charles Farmiter called upon him most unexpectedly at his home on West Fourth street, the occasion being his nineteenth birthday. The evening was spent in social games and a bountiful repast was served, at the close of which the Rev. George F. Love of the West Baptist church arose and with a very amusing and interesting address presented the young man with four valuable and useful books in behalf of his pastor and Christiana Endeavor friends, of whom the party was composed. At an early hour Friday morning the young people retired to their respective homes, all having enjoyed a pleasant evening and wishing Mr. Farmiter many happy returns of the occasion.
