

The Daily Times.

THE CURIOSITY OF POLITICS.
Baxter and Brooks, the contending claimants for the Governorship of Arkansas, were both Republicans. Baxter was supported by the Republican party proper of that portion of it which Senator Clayton is leader in. Brooks was supported by some Republicans, some "liberals" and the Democrats generally. The contest was close, or so alleged to be, but Baxter was given the certificate by the Board of State canvassers. The Legislature also declared him elected, and he took possession and entered upon the discharge of his duties.

Brooks and his friends alleged that there were irregularities in the election and that he, not Baxter, was the legally elected Governor of the State. He proceeded by writ of habeas corpus, against Baxter, but the Supreme Court decided against him. He then brought suit in a lower court, before a single judge, in the absence of any defense on the part of Baxter, who was not present even by counsel, and in that manner got a decision in his favor. But no process to put him in possession of the office was ever issued, even in this irregular manner. Sustained only by the authority of this incompetent authority, Brooks, with a party of friends, took the Governor's office by surprise, and openly dispossessed him of the office.

So much is already history. The President has been appealed to by both "Governors," and has declined to interfere. Baxter says that all is right. If the general government will lend hands off for a little while he will soon settle the matter. "Governor" Brooks. "The result is the friends of both parties are arming for the fray. There will, doubtless be an instance amount of brag and bluster upon both sides, but perhaps some blood shed. A lively little skirmish seems imminent. The "curiosity of the thing" is the change which has taken place in the following of the two would be Governors, Governor Baxter and Senator Clayton have had a slight "impasse," as Parson Nash would say, and his friends who elected Baxter, if he was elected, are now encouraging and abetting Brooks, while the Democrats who supported Brooks, and encouraged him to contest the election, are now sustaining and following to the support of Baxter.

Arkansas Trouble.

Arkansas Trouble.
The Arkansas trouble is a curious one. It is a contest for the Governorship of Arkansas between two men, both of whom are Republicans. One is Governor Baxter, who was elected in 1892, and the other is Senator Clayton, who was elected in 1894. The contest is a curious one because it is a contest between two men who are both Republicans. The contest is a curious one because it is a contest between two men who are both Republicans.

First Edition.

First Edition.
The first edition of the paper was published on Monday, April 20, 1874. It was published by the Oswego Publishing Company. The first edition of the paper was published on Monday, April 20, 1874. It was published by the Oswego Publishing Company.

Trade and Commerce.

Trade and Commerce.
The market is steady. Flour is in demand. Wheat is in demand. Corn is in demand. The market is steady. Flour is in demand. Wheat is in demand. Corn is in demand.

Marine News.

Marine News.
The steamer "Oswego" is expected to arrive from New York on Monday. The steamer "Oswego" is expected to arrive from New York on Monday.

Printing.

Printing.
The printing of the paper is done by the Oswego Publishing Company. The printing of the paper is done by the Oswego Publishing Company.

To Business Men.

To Business Men.
It pays to advertise. It pays to advertise. It pays to advertise.

Second Edition.

Second Edition.
The second edition of the paper was published on Monday, April 20, 1874. It was published by the Oswego Publishing Company. The second edition of the paper was published on Monday, April 20, 1874. It was published by the Oswego Publishing Company.

General News.

General News.
The Arkansas war is a curious one. It is a contest for the Governorship of Arkansas between two men, both of whom are Republicans. One is Governor Baxter, who was elected in 1892, and the other is Senator Clayton, who was elected in 1894. The contest is a curious one because it is a contest between two men who are both Republicans.

Arkansas War.

Arkansas War.
The Arkansas war is a curious one. It is a contest for the Governorship of Arkansas between two men, both of whom are Republicans. One is Governor Baxter, who was elected in 1892, and the other is Senator Clayton, who was elected in 1894. The contest is a curious one because it is a contest between two men who are both Republicans.

New York City Gossip.

New York City Gossip.
The President and the Finance Bill. The President's Bureau of Education. The President's Bureau of Education.

The Weather.

The Weather.
The weather is fair. The weather is fair. The weather is fair.

Port of Oswego.

Port of Oswego.
The port of Oswego is busy. The port of Oswego is busy. The port of Oswego is busy.

Books.

Books.
Gibson's Sixth Bulletin. Gibson's Sixth Bulletin. Gibson's Sixth Bulletin.

Our Circulation.

Our Circulation.
The circulation of the paper is increasing. The circulation of the paper is increasing. The circulation of the paper is increasing.

Crimes and Casualties.

Crimes and Casualties.
A man was killed. A man was killed. A man was killed.