

PREPARING FOR DEATH STRUGGLE

Next Fight at Ojinaga Will Be Bloodiest Battle of War.

FEDERALS ARE CONFIDENT.

Villa Will Hurl His Reinforced Army Upon Entrenchments at Ojinaga in One Supreme Effort to Wipe Out Huerta's Power in Northern Mexico.

Presidio, Jan. 8.—If Pancho Villa has arrived in the rebel camp to assume command of the constitutional forces surrounding Ojinaga, he had made no effort to resume the battle up to last evening, and is awaiting the rest of his reinforcements.

Meantime, every hour that elapses is giving the federals further time to make their fortifications more impregnable to the assault of the rebel army and federal officers appear to be very little in fear of the renewed hostilities by the rebels.

Federals Ready for Villa. General Francisco Castro who with General Salvador Mercado, is jointly in command of the federals, declared that they were ready for Villa and to let him come on with all his forces.

Villa reached the rebel camp near Ojinaga Tuesday night, according to plans for a renewed attack upon the federal stronghold. Not all, if any, of the reinforcements from Chihuahua arrived with him, as he came in an automobile and the troops had to come on horseback.

In the face of the rebel preparations to renew the attack and the federal preparations to repulse it, Ojinaga has begun to assume normal conditions. Numbers of stores have reopened and refugees who sought shelter in Fresido are rapidly returning.

The federal troops are still burning the bodies of the dead rebels who were killed in the charge which cost them so many lives. There is every indication that the rebels charged, in their last assault Sunday evening, to within 200 yards of the federal trenches, but were literally mowed down by a withering rifle fire from the federals.

Rebels 12 Miles from Ojinaga. Federal scouts report the rebels at San Juan, 12 miles south of Ojinaga. At that point the rebels sent 57 of their wounded across the Rio Grande to be treated. They were placed in a school house there and are being cared for by a United States army surgeon. Two were turned over to the Red Cross and brought here because of the serious nature of their wounds.

The rebel army combined is said to be in such numbers as to promise a formidable front to the last vestige of Huerta's northern military government, which after its retreat from Chihuahua is making a stand on the border.

MANY KILLED IN BATTLE

Flank Movement by Federals Cause Big Losses on Both Sides. Juarez, Jan. 8.—One hundred and thirty soldiers, 87 federals and the rest rebels, were killed in a battle last Saturday and Sunday between Huerta and constitutional forces, eight miles northwest of Torreon, according to advices reaching General Benavides.

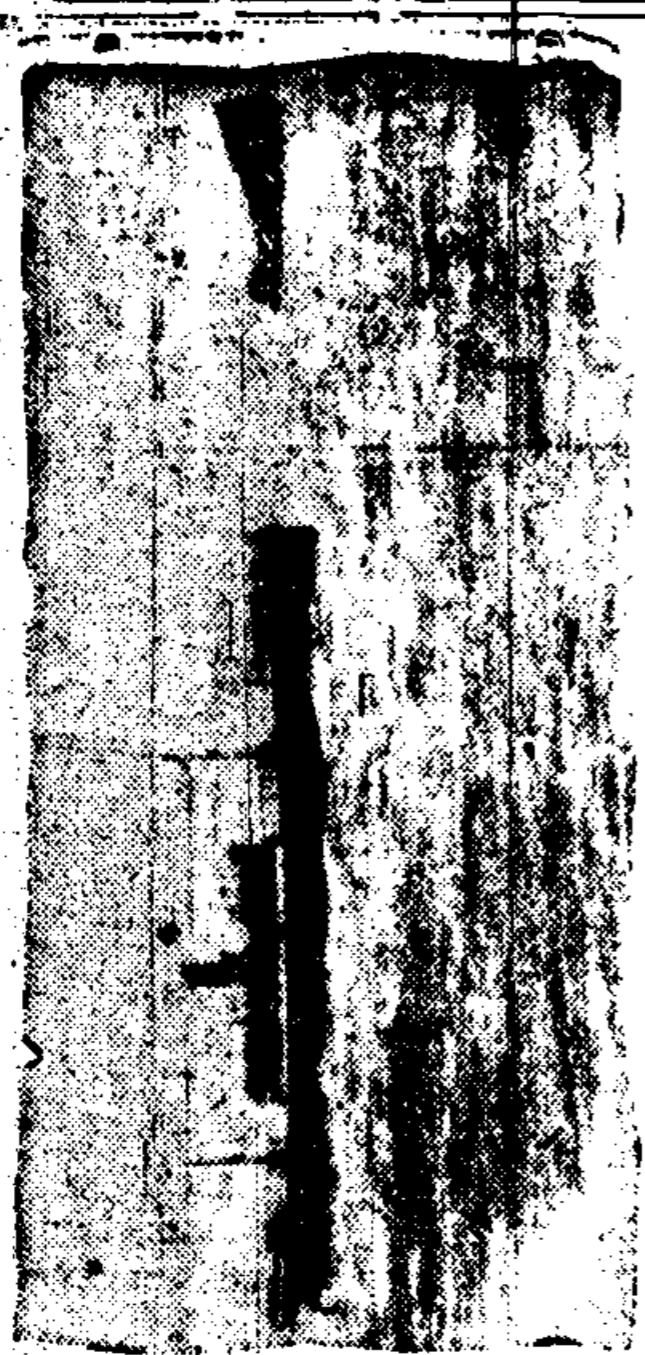

Two thousand federals who had sallied out of Torreon, evidently to attempt a flank movement around the rebel forces besieging the city, were driven back into Torreon.

Of the 87 federals killed, six were officers. The rebels lost is estimated at 43 dead and 60 wounded. The federals wounded, it is reported, will number close to 150. Twenty-eight prisoners were captured and executed by the rebels, according to the reports received by General Benavides.

Heaviest fighting occurred Sunday afternoon in the open country that lies between Aviles and Salamanca, suburbs of Torreon. The defeat of the federals, rebels say, demoralized the federal army of 4,000 men in Torreon and evacuation of the city is expected.

Constitutionalist forces under Colonel Eulalio Gutierrez and General Jose Robles have recaptured the important towns of Parras, Gen Copeda and San Pabito, Coahuila, from federal forces after three days' fighting, according to official advices also received by General Benavides. Parras and Gen Copeda are situated on the National railway line connecting Saltillo with Torreon. No details of the losses on either side or the number of men involved in the fighting had been received in Juarez.

Possession of the two points gives the rebels a big advantage over the federal army in Torreon, which is more thoroughly than ever now cut off from communication with Saltillo and Monterrey, from which points it had expected to draw its military and food supplies.

WAR ON FOOD 'CHEATS'

Nation-Wide Crusade Launched at Meeting in Washington. Washington, Jan. 8.—A nation-wide crusade against "cheats and cheapeners of food products" was launched here with an address by Dr. Carl Alsberg, chief of the bureau of chemistry, department of agriculture, before the woman's department of the National Civic Federation.

Dr. Alsberg emphasized the imperative need of strengthening and extending the scope of the pure food and drug act, and urged the women to cooperate with the government officers in an effort to secure additional legislation supplementing the present laws.

As he pointed out inadequacies of the existing law, Dr. Alsberg said legislation was needed to permit federal inspections of all factories where foods and drinks are manufactured. Such a law, he said, would within several years do away with epidemics of typhoid and similar dangerous diseases.

RESERVE HEARINGS ENDED

New York Not to Have Big Regional Institution. New York, Jan. 8.—Secretary McAdoo and Houston abruptly ended yesterday their hearings on the organization of the federal reserve. They stopped one day ahead of time and left conviction in the minds of bankers that they would not recommend a big reserve bank in New York, with 40 or 50 per cent of the country's banking resources, as proposed by a majority of the financiers here.

"We're not as green as we may look," was Secretary McAdoo's answer at the close of the hearings to a question whether the organization board had finally determined that New York was to have a reserve bank of unquestioned prominence in resources.

Auburn Prison Matron Resigns. Albany, Jan. 8.—Friction with the warden of Auburn prison, following recommendations made after the recent investigation of the woman's prison at Auburn by Miss Madeline Doty and Miss Margaret Watson of New York, resulted in the resignation of Miss Nettie N. Leonard, the prison matron. Superintendent of Prisons John B. Wiley immediately appointed to the place Mrs. Margaret F. Daly, who for several years has been matron at the Western House of Refuge at Albion.

Missouri River Unusually Low. Leavenworth, Kan., Jan. 8.—The Missouri river is at its lowest stage for 20 years. Huge sandbars, some of them more than a mile long, are numerous from Kansas City north. The Big Muddy is virtually unnavigable. Last summer's drought is held responsible.

Weather Everywhere. Observations of United States weather bureau taken at 8 p. m. yesterday follow:

COUPLE DRESSED FOR DEATH

Suffering From Consumption Man and Wife Inhale Deadly Gas Fumes. New York, Jan. 8.—Joseph Shuffley, 56 years old, a shipping clerk, who had a neat little home of his own in the Bronx, invited his best friends, Benjamin Petzold, to go out with him on Tuesday night for a little celebration. They spent several hours together in a cafe and Shuffley bought a bottle of champagne. On parting he asked Petzold to send Dr. Rabbo, his physician, around to see him and his wife.

Dr. Rabbo has been treating the Shuffleys for a long time. Both has consumption and a short while ago they physician told the husband that he had but nine weeks to live.

Last night the doctor went to the house at 8 o'clock as Petzold had told him to do and found it dark. He smelled gas and a policeman helped him break down the door.

On their bed Dr. Rabbo found Shuffley and his wife dead. Every gas jet in the place had been turned on full. Mrs. Shuffley, carefully dressed in fresh white night gown, with a ribbon tied at the breast, lay beside her husband, with her head on his arm.

He, too, was dressed for death. On his other arm lay Rico, their pet dog, a huge spaniel, dead, too. The bed was covered with a silk comforter and it was evident that the couple had taken great pains, and almost pride in the ceremony of suicide.

TURN'S LOOSE 500 DEER

Owner of Jersey Preserve Must Now Respect Game Law. Belvidere, N. J., Jan. 8.—Hundreds of wild deer have been liberated during the last few days from Buckwood park, the great game preserve of C. C. Worthington, and are now wandering over farm and mountain land in the northern section of Warren county. No notice was sent to the state fish and game commission.

Mr. Worthington, a pump manufacturer, owns many thousands of acres of mountain land on the Jersey side of the Delaware Water Gap, and his property has been licensed as an inclosed park, giving the owner the right to kill the animals for meat at any time.

With a section of fence two miles long removed and the deer allowed to roam at large, the animals can be shot or killed only during the five days of the state's open hunting season.

A herd of deer escaped from the preserve several years ago, and Warren county farmers complained at the time that the animals destroyed much of their winter wheat. Farmers in the vicinity of the park are watching for a renewal of these depredations as it is thought fully 500 deer have left the park.

DYNAMITE EMPTIES COURT

Sticks in Pocket of Witness Starts Grand Jurors Stammering. Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 8.—Twenty grand jurors fled in terror from the grand jury room of the court house when Alex Burz, a councilman of Swopertonville, entered with a stick of dynamite protruding from each coat pocket.

Burz was called as a witness in a dynamiting case, his house having been blown up several weeks ago. The explosives he carried were some that had not been exploded.

Burz entered the jury room in a careless manner and after he had bumped against a swinging door one of the jurors noticed the explosives. The jurors were quickly on his heels, struggling to get out of the room.
