The New Year promises to be the most interesting and important in the history of the American Republic. It will mark the completion of the First Century of our National Independence; and the ceremonies connected with the celebration of that event, will be unique and important, extending over a large portion of the year. It will be fiercely distinguished in politics, first by the action of the first democratic House of Representatives that has sat since the war; and second, by a Presidential Canvass, whose issues will forcibly appeal to every citizen. The year 1876 will be a year in which every intelligent and active man will require a Newspaper, enterprising enough to keep him promptly and thoroughly informed on all the news and opinions of the day, and honest and independent enough to remain unmuzzled and unsworn convictions of [illegible] in the approaching political canvass. A HORRIBLE FATE.

Death of a Man who for Fifteen Years was in Constant Torture—He would Eat his own Flesh.

[From the Evansville (Ind.) Journal.]

George Miller of Princeton died last Friday night, after fifteen years of the most hideous and tortured life one could easily imagine. No matter how wonderful the flight of fiction, there is now and then some true story coming to the surface which puts it to shame and sets all philosophers agog with amazement.

The history of George Miller is one of horrible strangeness, and is one most remarkable we have ever heard. Fifteen years ago, when Miller was 19 years of age, he was suddenly seized with an epileptic fit, and ever since then he has been subject to them. They came frequently and with fearful power and effect. The utmost skill of physicians was exerted in vain to relieve him; his affliction baffled all of them.

Ten years from the date of his first attack he became insane, and very dangerous, not only to strangers, but to his friends and family also. His case was incurable, and he could not be received into the asylum. For two years he was chained fast to his room to prevent him from doing any damage. But during the remaining three years of his poor life no chains were needed, for the insidious disease fast claimed him.

The muscles of his legs contracted so that his knees were drawn up within an inch of his chin, and his arms were drawn and distorted in a horrible manner. By this time he had become almost a wild beast. His tortured mind was unlit by a ray of reason. All human instinct even was gone. His appetite became ravenous and horrible. He would at times, when hunger was upon him, seize a bed-blanket or quilt and tear it to pieces like an animal, devouring the shreds as if they were digestible food. He would again tear his own flesh, and it was with difficulty that he was restrained from eating his own flesh.

Death finally released him from a condition as miserable as hell itself, and on Friday he died easily, we understand.

Dr. S. H. Stoptaugh held a post mortem examination of the body Sunday, and found in the left ventricle of the heart a lump of fat two inches long and a quarter of an inch thick. The gall-bladder was diseased by an enlargement, the right lobe of the liver was enlarged, and other derangements of his functionary organs.

It is certainly the most remarkable case on record.

SEVERED TIES.

A Young Wife Gives Her Heedless Husband the Legal Bounce

From the St. Louis Globe-Democratic.

Judge Lindley was in a quandary yesterday. A beautiful grass widow, young, slender and highly accomplished, appeared in court as a petitioner for a divorce and the restoration of her maiden name. Five or six years ago she had the misfortune to invest the golden coinage of her affections in a young man who proved to be worthless and unworthy. He failed in business, lost his ambition, and became too indolent and embecile to earn a living. She clung to him, however, as the ivy to the blasted oak, and tried her best to inspire him with a proper feeling of pride and self-respect, but he kept going down hill till he almost reached the gutter. She took him to California, hoping a change of scene would benefit his moral constitution, but the fresh breeze blowing through the Golden Gate, only made him lazier and more trifling. He lived literally from hand to mouth, migrating from hashery to hashery and leaving at each remove a lengthened chain in the shape of an unliquidated board bill. At length she resolved to free herself from the incumbus of a loafer husband, and, returning to St. Louis, found a welcome with her mother. After a while he followed, and made an effort to ingratiate himself with but he ignominiously failed in the endeavor. The injured wife said she would have nothing more to do with him, and attended to take care of herself. His mother-in-law, who had frequently given him money and paid his bills, now shook him, and the poor devil wandered away and has not been heard of for about three years. Before going he begged his wife to take him back on trial for another year, but she refused, and told him she had wasted enough of her life on a worthless scalawag. At length she sued for a divorce. In telling her story to Judge Lindley, yesterday, she could not change upon him any of the usual indignities that render the life of a wife intolerable and entitle her to a divorce—such as dragging her down three pairs of stairs by the hair of the head, lighting the stove with the combustible materials of her bustle, or going to bed with his boots on, no, she could not remember any blows, beatings, or other brutal acts, but he had mutilated her by taking her from boarding-house to boarking-house, and never paying her bills; by loafing and lounging and earning no bread to keep the wolf from the door. That was all, and it was a for even the most expert divorce lawyers to exaggerate such conduct into a cause for a divorce. The judge pondered for several minutes, looked sympathisingly upon the fair, youthful face of the anxious and nervous applicant, then seized the statute books and ran his eye over a certain page. Then his eye brightened, and he said, "I can give it to her on the ground of vagrancy." It seems that when a husband becomes lazy and loafferish, loses his grip, fails to provide for his family, and is good for nothing generally, he is, in the eye of the law, a vagrant, and his wife is entitled to be divorced from him. It is not the policy of the law to keep a handsome, ambitious and cultivated young wife chained for life to a miserable, sauntering, sneaking, God forsaken, hump shouldered husband, merely because she has promised, in the gush of early affections, to cling to him until death, and submit to all his caprices. The maiden name of the young wife was restored, and she left the court room as happy as a child, ready to take a new start in life.

HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW;

Hemorrhage or Spitting Blood, may proceed from the larynx, trachia, bronchia or lungs, and arise from various causes, as undue physical exertion, plethora, or fullness of the vessels, weak lungs, overstraining of the voice, suppressed evacuation, obstruction of the spleen or liver, &c.

Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry strikes at the root of disease by purifying the blood, restoring the liver and kidneys to healthy action, invigorating the nervous system.

was that of Edward H. Hamson, Engineer at George Sweeney's Pottery, 1234 Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia. He had a violent cough, night sweats, sore throat, great weakness, spit at different times a pint of blood, gave up all hope of recovery. Through the use of "Dr. Swayne's Wild Cherry Syrup" became a sound and hearty man, and remains so to this day, although over twenty years have elapsed since he was cured.

LIFE--GROWTH--BEAUTY.

London Hair Color Restorer.

London Hair Color Restorer.

Not a Dye; makes harsh hair soft and silky; cleanses the scalp from all impurities, causing the hair to grow where it has fallen off or become thin. Can be applied by the hand, as it does not stain the skin of the finest linen. As a hair dressing it is the most perfect the world has ever produced. The hair is renovated and strengthened and natural color restored without the application of mineral substances.

Since the introduction of this truly valuable preparation into this country, it has been the wonder and admiration of all classes, as it has proved to be the only article that will absolutely cut deception, restore gray hair to its original color

OF ITS SUPERIOR EXCELLENCE

Read this Home Certificate, testified to by Edward B. Garrigues, one of the most competent Druggists and Chemists in Philadelphia, a man whose veracity and character is above doubt:

I am happy to add my testimony to the great value of the "London Hair Color Restorer," which restored my hair to its original color, and the hue appears to be permanent. I am satisfied that this preparation is nothing like a dye, but operates upon the secretions. It is also a beautiful hair-dressing, and promotes the growth. I purchased the first bottle from Edward B. Garrigues, Druggist, Tenth and Coates streets, who can also testify that my hair was quite grey when I commenced to use it.

MRS. MILLER,
No. 730 North Ninth St., Phila.

Dr. Swayne & Son, Respected friends—I have the pleasure to inform you that a lady of my acquaintance, Mrs. Miller, is delighted with the success of your "London Hair Color Restorer." Her hair was falling rapidly, and quite gray. The color has been restored, the falling off entirely stopped, and a new growth of hair the result.

E. B. GARRIGUES,
Druggist corner Tenth and Coates, Phila.

Dr. Dalton of Philadelphia says of it: "The 'London Hair Color Restorer' is used very extensively among my patients and friends, as well as by myself. I therefore speak from experience."
