Peace Offer Came After Conflict Had Raged Two Years

Germany's move for peace came just two years and 133 days after she declared war on Russia and two years and 129 days after England declared war on Germany. German territory held by the allies—the western edge of Alsace-Lorraine. Austrian-Hungarian territory captured by the allies—about half of Galicia and all of Bukovina and the southern fringe of the Trentino, as well as the western border of the Isthmian peninsula, north of the city of Trieste. Turkish territory captured by the allies—All of northeastern Armenia and part of Mesopotamia. Bulgarian territory taken by the allies—None. Entente territory occupied by the German allies—Northern France, practically all of Belgium, Poland and Lithuania, more than half of Roumania, all of Serbia and Montenegro and nearly all of Albania. Some of Greek Macedonia is occupied by the German-Bulgarian forces, although Greece is not in a state of war. Germany has lost all of her overseas colonies.

Gossip Today Center on the Boston Red Sox and the Probable Successor of Bill Carrigan as Manager—Baseball Notes

By H. C. HAMILTON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Jan. 5.—Baseball folk turned today from wondering what the National Commission is going to do about it, to speculation on the probable successor of Bill Carrigan, former manager of the Red Sox. Bill turned in this third and "last" no yesterday, thereby satisfying at least himself that he is not going to manage the Red Sox in the 1917 season. Bill's announced intention of sitting in his easy chair alongside the old iron safe the rest of his life didn't stir up much dust. His backset into an assertion that he stood ready to help the Boston team over the rocky roads of early spring looks a great deal as if Bill might yet have considerable to do with the Red Sox play. Jack Barry is expected to be proclaimed leader of the world's champions. But there are also murmurs concerning Larry Gardner and other members of the team. Barry already has given his word that he does not want to manage anything, but he might induce to change his mind. Most any one would do under the agreement made by Carrigan. So long as Bill is handy to dash in from the bank and put a few jerks in on a sag chase, any other manager will be likely to turn in a good season. New York, Jan. 5.—Declaring that minor league and major league baseball players are making him to a man in his demands on the National association, David L. Fulton, president
