Personal.

—Mr. Fort, agent for Jarrett & Palmer's great "Julius Cæsar" Combination, is in town. This play, with Lawrence Barrett and E. L. Davenport in the leading parts, will be given on Wednesday evening, November 1st.

—Hon. Henry S. Randall, of Cortland, a well known politician and wool grower, died at his residence in Cortland on Monday, aged 66.

The Lake Shore Hotel.

The decorative paper hanging just completed at the Lake Shore Hotel by Frank Lamoit has greatly beautified the house, especially the parlor and dining room. The seamless paper in the parlor is particularly admired.

—Orders for this kind of work addressed to Frank Lamoit, Hamilton House, will be promptly attended to.

The Color Guard.

We are glad to hear that we are to be favored with the reproduction of the Grand Military Drama known as the Color Guard, which gave such universal satisfaction when played here last winter.

We understand it is to come off about the sixteenth of October, and we feel confident that it will be one of the best entertainments of the season, as great pains is being taken to improve the caste.

Everybody wants to see Charley Collins as he assumes the inimitable rolo of Peter Rygley, the Dutchman in much droubles. In his comic delineations of that character he has no superior.

TOWN DELEGATES.

AUGUST 15.—The Republican electors of the town of Granby met at Howes Hall, Tuesday afternoon, and chose the following persons as delegates to the several Conventions:

County—M. J. Gerr, South Granby; W. V. Surdam, Minetto; J. G. Reynolds, Fulton; I. W. Marsh, Bowen's Corners; H. H. Merriam, Oswego Falls; H. C. Gardner, Fulton; E. M. Wells, Fulton; S. B. Dutton, Dexterville. I have taken pains to give the Post office address to each delegate, thinking it would facilitate candidates for the office of County Clerk in finding their residence. Carriages will be at the depot of the several railroad stations on application to convey thither the aspirants to office. The largest liberality will be exercised by the delegates in keeping open house at all hours, but any spasmodic effort like gushing, will work a forfeiture to the coveted position. It is hoped that arrangements of a sumptuous character to accommodate twelve candidates daily will be perfected soon, that all may have their application considered. Considerations of money or canal boats will be disdainfully neglected, as virtue is the order and corruption the exception in the rural districts.

Congressional District—E. D. Chapman, W. Lamson, I. F. Pierce, W. Summerville and James Rice.

Assembly—J. C. Wells, A. H. Betts, Geo. Burch, Russel Carter and Ed. C. Marsh.

—At the Volney Republican caucus, held in Fulton Tuesday afternoon, the following delegates were chosen:

District—Jas. D. Lasher, C. T. Bonnett, Wm. Sisson, Morgan VanBuren, W. G. Gage.

Assembly—A. C. Livingstone, C. M. Lee, John Robinson, John Van Buren, R. G. Bassett.

County—H. C. Howe, R. G. Bassett, Geo. W. Haley, H. S. Gardner, Fred Vant, Wm. Blakeman, Jos. Liprarie, D. M. Perine, W. H. Coats, W. H. Pentelow, F. W. Squires.

Town Committee—James D. Lasher, A. Bennett and F. Vant.

The delegates to Congressional Convention from Schroeppel are J. M. Williams, R. Sutton, Davis Conger, James T. Gregg, M. M. Carter.

Centennial Executive Committee.

A settlement having been made with the Fire Works Co., the Centennial Executive Committee will meet in the Mayor's Room, Thursday evening, August 17th, for final settlement with the Treasurer. A full attendance is requested.

SUICIDE.

Charles J. Robinson Dies by His Own Hand.

Details of the Affair and Probable Cause.

About nine o'clock this morning considerable excitement was caused on West First street by the report that Charles J. Robinson, lately proprietor of the St. Nicholas hotel, adjoining the TIMES office, had shot himself in the head and was dead. Our reporter immediately proceeded to investigate the affair and soon found that it was true. He had been found a few minutes before in a back room on the third floor by Mr. Geo. W. Burt. On going to the room our reporter saw Mr. Robinson lying on a bed in the middle of the room on his back with his head and shoulders turned partially toward the left. His left arm was extended and his right arm laid lightly and partially extended across his chest. In his hand was a Smith & Wesson seven shooter, which, upon examination, proved to have had one chamber dissolved. There was a bullet hole in his forehead just at the top of his nose, a small streak of blood running down his forehead and slightly staining the pillow and sheet, without a close examination one would suppose him to be sleeping. But he was dead. His body was cold. He had nothing on but his shirt and pants.

The Chief of Police and the coroner were at once notified and a jury was summoned. An inquest was at once held. The causes which have led to this are variously stated. It is certain, however, that since the fire which destroyed Mr. Robinson's hotel, he has been wholly changed in appearance and actions, and his physician, Dr. Milne, says that his mind has not been sound. For more than two weeks he has been particularly affected in this way and his friends have watched him closely fearing he would take his life. His financial affairs have troubled him greatly, and although he had a good bankbalance, he seemed to be troubled more about imaginary difficulties. Some of those who have had relation with him state positively that he had not drank anything since the fire above mentioned, while others say that for a few days he had been drinking deeply. A few days ago he attempted to take his life by taking morphine but was prevented by his friends.

The coroners inquest was held this forenoon. The only witness that it was deemed necessary to swear were Mr. Geo. W. Burt and Mrs. Lancaster, the latter being his housekeeper.

Mr. Burt says that yesterday about five o'clock Robinson acted strangely and did not want Burt to leave him; that he talked about the Morris suicide. He didn't talk much, but Burt feared he intended to commit suicide and so took his keys and locked up two revolvers which he found; one of the pistols was on the desk and the other in his pocket. Burt then went away but returned about nine o'clock and remained with him during the night. About twelve o'clock Robinson got uneasy and got up and went out to get a drink, and come back. He then told Burt he had got to sleep somewhere else. Burt then got up and laid down on the sofa, as Robinson seemed to be rational, and went to sleep. He did not wake up till about six o'clock, when Mrs. Lancaster said Robinson went out about five o'clock. Burt went to search for him; and finally saw a light through the wall in the back room on the same door with his room. He got a step ladder and climed in the window where he found him lying on a bed dead. He found him about nine o'clock. He has threatened to kill himself before. Mr. Burt says he has been drinking considerably lately.

Mrs. Lancaster, his house keeper, testified that she heard him go out about five o'clock, but heard nothing more of him. She did not hear the pistol shot.

Dr. Dewitt examined the wound and gave it as his opinion that the shot must have caused almost instant death.

The verdict of the jury is that Mr. Robinson came to his death from a pistol shot wound in his head, inflicted by his own hands. The case was a very plain one and the verdict is fully justified by the facts.

Mr. Robinson left no near relations in this city. He has a daughter living in Chicago, and some brothers in the West. His remains have been taken to the residence of Mr. James McCarthy to await the last rites.

THE FOURTH WARD AROUSED.

Meeting of the Club in Richardson Hall—Able Addresses by Judge Churchill and Hon. Geo. B. Sloan.

The Republicans of the Fourth Ward, as we have already announced, have organized a vigorous club and last night held their first public meeting. They have engaged Richardson Hall for the campaign and propose to do some vigorous work for Hayes and Wheeler before the campaign closes. They are wide awake Republicans and will not fail for lack of good work.

The announcement of a public meeting called out an intelligent audience which filled the hall. The meeting was called to order at eight o'clock by Volney K. Burr, President of the club, when a glee club sang "Columbia."

Judge Churchill was then called on to address the club, which he did in a brief but able speech. He congratulated the club on its successful oganization under such favorable auspices. He hoped their organization would be not simply for the campaign but would become a permanent institution, which would put forward the best men for office. They had met there on one of the most important duties free men can engage in—the right for free assemblage and free discussion. It has been well remarked that for this year the men are to be the platforms. Experience has taught us that bad men can pervert even the best platform. The speaker then proceeded to discuss the candidates, comparing their records, first showing that the nomination of Governor Hayes was not an accident, but that it had been conceded from the first that if none of the prominent candidates named could succeed he was the very best man that could be nominated. He was a candidate from the first so far as the Ohio delegation was concerned, and they were very much in earnest in pressing him. His nomination was received in the convention with the utmost enthusiasm. The nomination of Mr. Wheeler was received equally as heartily. He then referred to the lengthy letters of the Democratic candidates, and read in contrast the letter of General Hayes when nominated for Congress and one from Mr. Wheeler in relation to Kansas. These letters were not written since they had been nominated but when in "sundress," and proved them to be true men. He next referred to Tilden, the so-called "Apostle of Reform," who, he said is looking sharply in Republican eyes for the mote of corruption when he has a larger beam in his own eye. His connection with Tweed was fully shown up.

Song by the Glee Club "Rally round the Flag."

Hon. Geo. B. Sloan was next called on to speak. The Republican party, he said, is a party of industry while the Democratic party is composed largely of men who make politics a business. Hence their organization is apt to be more effective in those things which make up the excitement of campaign. But the Republicans are intelligent Democrats smell the spoils of office afar off. A great many things press upon our minds in regard to this campaign, and many things which the Democrats tell us we ought to forget. But we do not propose to forget the great struggle for national life and put men who attempted to destroy the country in the places of those who saved it.

While Gen. Hayes was serving his country in the army, imperilling his life, he regretted to say that Samuel J. Tilden was engaged in a far different occupation. When he was waited upon to take a stand in favor of the country, he refused to simply sign his name to a call for a Union meeting. He remained consistent to that position all through the war. He never promoted the loyal cause in any way. When the war had lasted three years he was a member of a committee that reported a resolution to the Democratic Convention declaring the war a failure. Is it unreasonable to suppose that such a record shall be forgotten? But the Democratic party tell us we ought to forget this and put power into Democratic hands in the interest of reform. For the last twenty years no reform has been proposed which has not been opposed by the Democratic party. The Republican party is the party of reform. It has reformed eleven States of this country from a state of rebellion until they have laid down their arms. It has reformed four millions of slaves into freemen. It has reformed 61 Rebel Generals into members of Congress. Give the party another lease of power and it will reform these men so completely that they will be good citizens. Democrats say we must have a change because the times are hard. This is the same story we heard when Tilden was elected Governor, but are the times any better? It is utter balderdash to think that the election of any one man in itself could do any such thing. It is a natural consequence of the war. There will be no better times until we resume specie payments.

Congress has passed a law providing for the beginning of paying in specie by a definite time and it will be done if the people sustain the Republican party. The Democrats are trying to ride two horses. Republicans are united. There is but one road out of the difficulty and that is the hard money road.

Mr. Sloan next referred to Mr. Tilden's canal record showing that his Canal Investigating Commission was but a tender to his aspirations to the Presidency. Not one solitary man has been punished and not a dollar recovered. He then showed how hisnomination was secured in strong contrast to that of Governor Hayes which was unsought for by him. Republicans understand the means which are to be resorted to, to secure Tilden's election.

Song by the Glee club "Star Spangled Banner."

The meeting then adjourned. It was a most enthusiastic and successful meeting. The remarks of the speakers were well received and at times heartily applauded.

FARM FOR SALE!

The farm of the late John Bishop, of the town of Oswego, 2½ miles from this city, on the road to the city Poor House, is offered for sale. The farm contains 66½ acres. Has a good house, a large orchard, 3 barns, sheds, ice house, corn and hog house. It is watered by three good wells, a large cistern and a living stream crossing the pasture. Terms of sale made known by applying on the premises. JOHN S. BISHOP, Executor.

Old Settlers Re-Union.

The Old Settlers Association of Oswego county will hold its next annual meeting and pic-nic on the Oswego Falls fair ground, Tuesday, August 29th, 1876, to meet at 10 o'clock A. M.

The Agricultural Society, through its officers, have generously tendered the grounds and buildings to the Association for the day, free of charge, and as the situation is most delightful, bordering on the beautiful little lake Neatahwanta, it is expected that there will be a great turn out and a good time.

It is desirable that every town in the county be represented, especially by the old residents, and that they bring historical reports for record.

A short history of each town, the name and age of the oldest persons now living, and date of the oldest who have died since the last meeting August 27th, 1875.

Last year the ladies brought baskets well filled with eatables, and it is expected that the example will be followed this year, so that the "Old Settlers" and others shall not go away hungry. Come one, come all, the old the young, the great the small; don't stop to think, but heed the call, and come in time to enjoy it all. F. W. SQUIRES, Secretary.
NORTH VOLNEY, August 14th, 1876.

The Rifle.

—A dispatch from Hamilton, Ontario, August 9th says:—

A meeting took place here to-day of the marksmen who are to compose the Ontario team to the Centennial match, for the purpose of electing a captain, and to name the eight men, with two reserves, for the team. Colonel T. C. Scoble, of Toronto, was unanimously chosen. The team is:—Capt. J. J. Mason, A. Bell, Geo. Murison, H. W. Cruit, Major J. M. Gibson, Lieut. James Adam, Major Cotton, and George Disher, with George Margetts and Captain Johnson, reserves.

—Colonel Alfred H. Taylor, of Albany, Assistant Adjutant-General, has received a circular letter from the Crescent City Rifle Club, of New Orleans, proposing a rifle match, each competing club to shoot on its own range in the presence of an umpire or judge, and to telegraph the result to the headquarters of the New Orleans Club, who will give the figures for publication throughout the Union. The Crescent City Club will provide the prizes to be shot for and will make all arrangements for deciding upon the winner. In the circular, Thursday, October 19, is named as the day for the match, entries to be made on or before September 20. Each team shall be composed of eight men and fifteen shots shall be fired at each distance of 800, 900 and 1,000 yards, with no sighting shots; all the other conditions to be the same as set forth for rifle matches in the Creedmoor regulations for 1876.

—Arrangements have been completed for the short and mid-range Centennial matches at Creedmoor which take place September 12th. They are as follows:—The first match will be at 200 yards, open to all comers; any rifle not exceeding ten pounds weight, with three pounds minimum pull of trigger, may be used in this match; breech-loading rifles to be loaded at the breech only. Each competitor is to have ten shots from a standing position, and no sighting shots will be allowed. The second or mid-range match will be also open to all comers; military rifles of 50 caliber or over to be used at 500 yards, and other rifles at 600 yards, but no rifle, in either match, can exceed 10 pounds in weight nor have less than three pounds pull of trigger. The position may be any without artificial rest. The entrance fee to each match will be $2, and competitors may enter for either distance. Both these matches will be concluded on the first day of the meeting. The prizes agreed upon yesterday for the short range match are, first prize, a United States Centennial medal, offered by the Centennial Commissioners, and $100, offered by the National Rifle Association; second prize, Centennial medal and $50; third prize, Centennial medal and $25; fourth prize, Centennial medal $20; also 10 prizes of $10 each, and 10 of $5 each. The prizes to be awarded in the mid-range match are, first prize, Centennial medal and $100; also a marquee tent 23 feet by 12 feet, presented by William Bailey of Dublin, Ireland, second prize, Centennial medal and $75; third prize, Centennial medal and $50; fourth prize, Centennial medal and $25; fifth prize, $14. There will also be five prizes of $10 each, and ten of $5 each in this match. The winner of any one of the first four prizes, if he should so desire, will be furnished with piece of plate of the value of the prize.

COUNTY TOWNS.

PULASKI.

AUGUST 12.—A meeting was held at the rooms of the Hayes and Wheeler club last evening, and contrary to the predictions of the sham reformers it was in every respect a success. Staunch Republicans and liberals were in attendance in sufficient numbers to fill the club room and all evinced an intense interest in the exercises of the evening. After transacting the business of the evening, Dr. J. N. Lyman, of Columbus, Ohio, entertained the audience for about an hour with a very able and patriotic address, and being personally acquainted with our next President, Mr. Hayes, he paid a glowing tribute to his worth as a gentleman, a christian, a scholar and a statesman, while he did not neglect to contrast his patriotism and bravery as a soldier during the war of the rebellion with the infamous and disloyal record of that bogus reformer (Tilden). If Dr. Lyman did make a mistake in saying that our sheriff had joined the party who elected him last fall, he made no mistakes in candidly and truthfully presenting the issues of the presidential contest to his hearers.

The exercises of the evening were interspersed with music by the Glee Club and short speeches by other gentlemen, and when the meeting was adjourned the people departed well satisfied and thoroughly convinced that the Hayes and Wheeler club of Pulaski will be a success and exert an important influence in the impending contest.

Sanitary Effect of Shade Trees.

The London Medical Examiner, alluding to the sanitary effect of trees, says: "Apart from the sense of relief and coolness which they impart, their value as purifiers of the atmosphere is almost incredible. It has been calculated that a good-sized elm, plane or lime tree will produce 7,000,000 leaves, having a united area of 200,000 square feet. The influence of such a large surface in the absorption of deleterious gases and the exhalation of oxygen must therefore be of immense benefit in overcrowded and unhealthy districts. It is now well known that the plane and other deciduous trees of the same family are the most suitable, as they not only expose a large leaf surface to the atmosphere, but by shedding their bark annually throw off the result of smoke, acids, and other poisonous fumes which by accumulation would be fatal to the oak or other trees of slower growth and apparently more hardy nature."

DOOLITTLE HOUSE, OSWEGO,

SATURDAY, AUGUST 19, 1876.

We are visited daily by those who have been suffering for years with some organic disease, which has been treated by the best medical skill, year after year with little or no benefit. The reasons are obvious; the causes of your condition have been guessed at. It is only the physician who can explain your disease, either of mind or body without asking any questions, and comprehend how far it had diseased the other organs, that would have any success in its treatment.

The success attending Dr.
