The Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument.

A meeting of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument association was held at the city hall last evening. If attendance may be taken as a criterion the meeting was not as enthusiastic as it should be. Only five persons were present. Mayor Higgins called the meeting to order and on motion of Hon. A. S. Page it was continued until July 28th. It is hoped that there will be a large number present as officers are to be elected and other important business transacted.

A Pleasant Surprise.

As Mr. Alfred Watts of Southwest Oswego, returned from his labors last Saturday afternoon, he was very much surprised to find a happy company of people assembled at his home. His estimable wife had planned this pleasant surprise for him, it being the anniversary of his birthday. The house was beautifully trimmed with roses, ferns and daisies. After spending a delightful afternoon on the green lawn, the guests were invited to the dining room, where a bountiful repast was served. Many costly and beautiful gifts were presented. Among them a silver tea set, an elegant easy chair, and a beautiful gold watch and chain. Guests were present from Oswego, Rochester and the surrounding towns. The party broke up at a late hour, all wishing Mr. Watts many happy returns of the day.

FROST VERSUS FROST.

THE ACTION OF MRS. AMELIA FROST AGAINST EDGAR E. FROST.

The Domestic Affairs of the Parties Come Before Justice McLennan in Syracuse Yesterday—The Wife Asks for a Separation and Also Asks Judgment for Over $3,000. Money Lented to Her Husband.

The domestic trouble existing between Edgar E. Frost and his wife has been the subject of gossip in this city for the past two years or more. The matter came up before Justice McLennan in Syracuse yesterday on complaint of Mrs. Frost in two actions, one for separation on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment, and the other to recover money which the plaintiff claims to have loaned her husband. The name of a young lady is brought in the case, although nothing of a criminal nature is charged. John J. Lamoree is attorney for the defendant. The plaintiff states in her complaint that her husband became infatuated with the young lady alluded to; that he spent his leisure hours away from home; that he disparaged the plaintiff in social circles by refusing to accompany her into society; that finally he left her, refused to speak to her, and neglected to make any explanation of his conduct or provide for her support. To the complaint, Judge Stowell, in behalf of Mr. Frost, interposed a demurrer, the principal ground taken being that the acts alleged in the complaint did not constitute cruel and inhuman treatment. This was what brought the attorneys before Justice McLennan yesterday, the motion being to overrule the demurrer and compel an answer. It brought up the fine point as to what cruel and inhuman treatment really is and it was argued exhaustively, numerous authorities being interposed by either side. Judge McLennan, however, decided the motion, on a famous case which he had before decided, and which was affirmed both by the appellate division, and the court of appeals. It was the case of Atherton against Atherton.

In deciding the case at bar, Justice McLennan was not certain that the allegation that Mr. Frost would not speak to his wife, was taken alone, a ground for separation. The fact that he left her might constitute cruel and inhuman treatment, so might the fact that he had taken advantage of her regarding her separate estate. Mr. Lamoree called the court's attention also to the alleged fact that Mr. Frost demanded of his wife a release from his marital obligations. The attorney held also that Frost's refusal to converse with his wife was an insult to a refined woman. Justice McLennan decided that in view of the Atherton case, he would have to overrule the demurrer and direct the defendant to answer within twenty days. Judge Stowell said that he should probably appeal from the decision.

In the other case, Mrs. Frost demands judgment for some $3,000, which she claims Mr. Frost owes her. She alleges in January, 1893, he gave her his promissory note for $3,300, payable on demand, and has also paid $198 thereon. She also alleges that in August, 1892, he loaned $500 of her money, and later $300, which was afterwards paid, but which he failed to turn over. She also alleges that he took her bank book and drew $200 from the bank, which he did not replace. She also asserts that he took personal property, amounting to the sum of $100, and did not bring it back. To this last allegation the defendant demurred, and Justice McLennan, also overrules this demurrer.

Of course the occurrences before Justice McLennan yesterday were a mere statement of the plaintiff's side of the case, as made by her attorney, and contain no suggestion of what the defendant's will be when his attorney files for him an answer, if the case shall ever proceed to that length. That may be such denial or qualification of the plaintiff's pleading, alleged tenders of repayment of all sums justly due on his part and refusal of acceptance thereof by the plaintiff, as may put an entirely new face on the case. Hence fair-minded persons will not be unduly prejudiced, but reserve judgment on the real merits at issue until at least such time as both sides have spoken. not one. Judge Stowell, it should be said, was out of the city this morning when a Times reporter called to see him. But it is understood that he will appeal from the question of law which the pleadings have raised, not yet being satisfied apparently that the general term will agree with the result of yesterday. Not till this test has been made—not till it is finally determined whether there is a case at all or not for trial—will the public get from the legal proceedings a true idea of what is or is not involved in the unfortunate contest.

WANTED TOO MUCH.

The Proposed Silk Factory Will Not be Located Here in all Probability.

At the meeting of the Business Men's association to be held in the mayor's room at the city hall this evening a report will be made of the proposition of Rudolph Cohen, of New York city, who was here last week looking for a site for the erection of a silk factory. He was shown around the city by Mr. Tanner and seemed highly pleased with what he saw, especially the water power for manufacturing purposes. He talked over his plans and stated that the factory he proposed to erect would be four feet by one hundred feet and two stories in height. About one hundred and fifty hands would require employment. But there is little hope of the factory being located here for when Mr. Cohen commenced to talk of terms he wanted entirely too much, for besides a site he demanded a bonus for bringing the factory here.

AWAITING AN ANSWER.

Receiver Tidman Sent a Dispatch to the Johnson Rail Company Offering the Receiver's Certificates as Security for Bonds.

A copy of the resolution passed by the Department of Works directing Receiver Tidman of the Lake Ontario & Riverdale Railway company to commence work in putting in the tracks in West First street, within twenty-four hours or else the department would ask the Common Council to revoke the road's franchise was served upon Mr. Tidman yesterday afternoon. The answer given to the Department of Works was the serving of a copy of the order granted by Justice Wright some time ago restraining all persons from interfering with the receiver or the franchise of the road pending the receivership. Nevertheless Mr. Tidman is doing everything in his power to facilitate the putting down of the rails. This morning he sent a dispatch to the Johnson Rail company of Johnstown, Pa., requesting that company to forward the rails and accept as security for payment the receiver certificates until sufficient money was realized to redeem the same. The answer was to be brought to the city hall and Mr. Tidman waited there.

An answer not having been received at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, Receiver Tidman used the long distance telephone and was told that General Manager Evans of the Johnson Rail Company was out of town and would not return till to-morrow morning when an answer would be sent. So the matter rests at present.

EASTMAN DIDN'T PLAY.

TWO STRANGERS ENDEAVORED TO BUNCO HIM.

One was the Usual Prospective Real Estate Purchaser—The Other had a Roll of Bills and Cards—The Buncos Stealers were Last Seen at Sandy Creek from Which Place They Took a Hasty Departure.

Monday morning two strangers alighted from the Utica train on the R. W. & O. railroad at Mannsville, Jefferson county, and went to the hotel kept by C. S. Gibson. They got breakfast at the hotel and were apparently strangers to each other. After breakfast each hired a single rig. They drove toward Belleville. One of them drove to the farm house of J. E. Eastman, a wealthy farmer who resides on the road towards Adams, and who owns several farms around Belleville, and inquired for Mr. Eastman. He was informed that Mr. Eastman was in Belleville and started for that village. Upon arriving there he found Mr. Eastman and requested him to get into the huggy and ride to the house with him, as he (the stranger) wanted to see him. Mr. Eastman rode up to the house with him. The stranger said that his father-in-law had sent him to look at a farm that Mr. Eastman owned. He said his name was Knowlton and that he was a nephew of George Knowlton of Watertown.

Mr. Eastman told the man that he had not time to go to the farm, but the latter insisted that it would not take over 30 minutes; so Mr. Eastman went with him. They looked at the farm, turned around and started back again. They got but a short distance when they met a fellow in the road on foot. He inquired the road to Adams. Mr. Eastman told him to follow the telephone poles and it would take him there. The man in the carriage with Mr. Eastman then asked the fellow where he was from and he said from Telesse and said that he had been to find his sister and that his sister was dead. He said he wanted to give her some money and pulled a roll of bills out of his pocket. The man in the carriage with Mr. Eastman told him he was liable to lose them if he wasn't careful, and he said he did lose $1,000 in Chicago not a great while ago. The man asked him how he lost the money and he pulled out a pack of cards and wanted the man to play cards with him, which the man in the carriage finally did, winning $10. They then tried to get Mr. Eastman into a game, but he told them he had no money to lose and didn't care to win any in that way. He was urged very hard to play, but steadily refused. They could not come the game they intended, and so the stranger drove the horse to Mr. Eastman's home.

An hour later the two rigs were seen to drive back to Mannsville. One of them reached there about 12 o'clock and delivered the horse over to Mr. Gibson and took his satchel and started for Sandy Creek on foot. The other rig drove through the village very fast, picked up the other man and then drove to Sandy Creek. Mr. Gibson followed them, reaching Sandy Creek about four o'clock, where he found his other horse at M. B. Mann's hotel. The two fellows had left the town on the south bound train at 3 o'clock. —Utica Observer.

Lake Marina.

CHICAGO, July 14.—All vessels that could get into Chicago river were easily chartered to-day at 14 cents.

ERIE, July 14.—The scarcity of soft coal as fuel is being felt here. The steaming scow Mansfield now serves only the Anchor line boats and the steamers at the hard coal trestles. All shipments of coal have been stopped, and all ore vessels which do not take hard coal are refused fuel. The price of coal still remains $2, however.

CLEVELAND, July 14.—The freight situation shows no change. Boats are being held at this end of the route until down cargoes are secured for them, but in most cases crews are being paid off. Some boats are being placed for ore with the understanding that they hold the cargoes until the shippers are ready to unload them at any Lake Erie port.

MEMONINEE, July 14.—The Memoninee Vessel-loaders' Union, which for years has tyrannized over Lake Michigan lumber craft, is fairly broken up, and there is no prospect of its ever getting back its old strength. Several members of the association, numbering the oldest of the vessel-loaders, have seceded from the union and formed a partnership to load vessels by contract, instead of running chances of getting work at 40 cents an hour. The secessionists number fifteen, and they have already taken one job, the cargo of the Mary Mills. They say the step was made necessary by the reason of the undue advantages taken by the other members of the union, whereby they stood a poor chance of getting work.
