A CHANCE FOR THE ALDERMEN

The aldermen have even yet a chance to gain the approval of a large majority of the people of the city.

THE SUMMER GIRL

There is a standing joke going the rounds of paragraphers at this time of year.

Then for a companion piece you are shown the tumult of the weekends, how the girls chirk up as the men come down for their Sundays off from the wilding office.

The fellows who make these smart pictures, however, perhaps gained their impressions from that type of hotel where you call people by their front names the second day.

This does not mean that summer girlhood is not interested in you. She is very deeply interested.

It still remains true that you can sit just as close to the summer girl as ever in the hammock.

So assured is the belief that the Senate will adopt the reciprocity bill without amendment when it comes to a vote tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock that the program is to have the bill engrossed in advance and taken immediately to the White House.

Home economists have prepared statistics showing that women have charge of the expenditure of $9,000,000,000 out of the $10,000,000,000 annually paid out in the United States for food, shelter and clothing.

Life Insurance Popular Moody's Magazine. The number of persons in this country who make use of life insurance as a means of saving exceeds the total number who avail themselves of all other recognized modes of thrift.

In other ways for various pleasures, vices and dissipation in which the women of his household do not participate.

AMERICAN FIRE WASTE

Fire losses in the United States and Canada for the first six months of 1911 aggregated $120,000,000—an increase of $30,000,000 over the total for the corresponding period in 1910.

Statistics collected in Europe by American consuls, just made public by the State Department, show that we lag far behind European nations in the important art of combating one of the great destructive forces of nature.

The American instinct for economic invention seems to have failed entirely in dealing with one of the greatest sources of economic waste.

A man who spends his mornings and nights digging in his vegetable garden rarely ever votes the Socialist ticket.

July 22, 1911, should be a red letter day in Oswego's calendar. It will be celebrated in years to come as the anniversary of reciprocity with Canada.

The brokers are trying to sell Chinese railroad bonds in this country. But will the Chinks ride on railroads, which would probably take them out of sight of the graves of their ancestors?

Dr. G. Stanley Hall wants school teachers to be more graceful. Good practice for that would be to wait the small boys around the room by the ear more frequently.

President Taft might save embarrassment on his next German ambassador by feeding him on sauerkraut some day, and seeing if he can keep it down until he has time to get out doors.

Cleo de Merode, the Paris dancer, is coming over to lecture on "How to attract men." From her experience of the bald headed row, she ought to know.

Dr. Forman of Cornell says study of Greek would divert young men from the passion for money getting. Possibly, if there was anyone left in college to be diverted.

The Congressional Record reverberates with the words "loud applause" inserted by the men who made the speeches.

But as all the rest had sought cover in the cloak rooms, no one can disprove it.

THE TIMES EVENING

Chit-Chat.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

In a recent novel, Elizabeth, the young heroine, in a moment of insane anger with the man she is engaged to and really loves, marries a man for whom she cares nothing.

Of her state of mind afterwards the author writes: "She would fall to thinking with vague amazement that the irreparable catastrophe was out of all proportion to its cause.

"Suddenly it seemed to her, as she looked across the roaring gulf that separated her from the past that all her life had been just a sunny slope down to the edge of the gulf.

"It is not the pebble that turns the current. It is not the easy slope that invites it. All her life Elizabeth had been inviting this moment—just as some of us are today inviting baleful tomorrows.

I quote these paragraphs because I think they contain a lesson that more people need than will read the novel. There are no wrong deeds without consequences.

And we think we are fortunate in fraternal and assessment associations, old time or legal reserve life insurance being the only kind of insurance that is worth the serious attention of business men.

The total life insurance carried in the United States today is about $150 a head of the population, a sum considerably greater than that of any other country in the world.

I ordered some potatoes down at the grocer's store; the price was something awful—I sat me down and swore. The grocer man informs me the price will stay up there; the crop is quite a failure, 'round here and everywhere.

Missouri State Song. Missouri fair, we bring to thee Heart's full of love and loyalty; Thou central star, thou brightest gem Of all the brilliant diamonds.

because there are no consequences to our acts.

But we are wrong. There are always consequences. You think perhaps I mean merely the effect upon the character, and you think you do not need to worry about such vague spiritual consequences as long as there are no material ones.

In another passage in this wonderful novel the author says of Elizabeth—"She gasped at the realization—which comes to most of us human creatures sooner or later—that sins may be forgiven, but consequences are eternal."

That is something we all fail to realize until we have to. We are slow to appreciate that although our yielding to this and that and the other small temptations brings no perceptible consequences, it is slowly but surely paving the way for some larger yielding that shall bring life-changing consequences.

The only way you can escape the consequences for weak and wicked acts is to neutralize them by good and strong acts.

You cannot prevent the acid from hurting your hand by trying to wash it off, but you can save yourself from serious burn by promptly neutralizing it with an alkali.

Today is the day for those of us who need it to apply the alkali of self control and good deeds to our characters.

MISSOURI STATE SONG. Missouri fair, we bring to thee Heart's full of love and loyalty; Thou central star, thou brightest gem Of all the brilliant diamonds.

CHORUS. Thus lift your voices and join the throng That swells the praise in joyful song. Till earth and sky reverberate—Our own dear, our grand old State—Missouri.

She came a compromise, for peace; Her prayer is still that strife may cease; She mourned her life, yet 'er her gray, Who 'd be by side, in death they lay—Missouri.

Nor North, nor South, nor East, nor West, But part of each—of each the best; One, homeless one, come to her call; Her arms are stretched to shelter all—Missouri.

General Weather Conditions Oswego, July 21.—Comparatively low pressure predominates over the entire Northern section, there having been a decrease over the lake region and the Northwest during the past 24 hours.

Northwest, Arizona, Missouri, New Mexico, Tennessee, Ohio, Pennsylvania, the Southeastern portion of New York State and Massachusetts during the night.

Rather low pressure also prevailed over the Central section, where showers have occurred quite generally and where partial cloudiness prevailed this morning, with light West to North winds. The temperature remains about stationary in the district.

Partially cloudy weather prevails in the Southern section, where light local showers have occurred in the Central and Western portions and continue at some points this morning and the air movement is light from Southern quarters over the Western and Western quarters over the Eastern portion.

These conditions appear favorable for continued fair weather in this vicinity this afternoon, tonight, and probably Saturday, but with partial cloudiness, and with light Southwest to North winds this afternoon and Saturday, shifting to Southerly tonight. The temperature will be slightly higher, and may reach eighty this afternoon or tomorrow afternoon.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Forecast till 8 p. m. Saturday: For Eastern New York—Unsettled tonight, Saturday probably fair; much change in temperature; moderate variable winds, becoming Westerly.

For Western New York—Probably fair tonight and Saturday. U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, WEATHER BUREAU. Published by authority of the Secretary of Agriculture.
