Has His Pocket Filled. While the Kingford band was playing in the park last night Mr. William Newell, a grocery clerk, was in the crowd and suddenly discovered that his pocket had been picked of about $13. The pickpocket made his escape in the crowd.

Wings Their Banner to the Breeze. The young men's republican club of this city were doubtless the first in the country to run up the Blaine flag after his nomination. Even before the voting was ended, after it was announced that Mr. Blaine had received 414 votes which was a nomination, a flag with James G. Blaine for president was immediately run out from their headquarters amid the enthusiasm of assembled republicans. That is the kind of enterprise and feeling which is going to win in this contest. All hail, young republicans!

Nearly Nabbed. Yesterday Chief Baker received notice that a man who had given his name as Simon Kirov was wanted in Palmyra for robbing a house in which he was boarding. The man was traced as far as Sodus where he was seized but it was thought that he came this way. Chief Baker received a description of the man during the day. Yesterday afternoon when near Moogin's grocery on the East side the chief ran into a man who so fully answered the description that he at once accosted him and as used him of being Simon Kirov, the name which he goes by here. He denied it and said that he had never been in Palmyra and had never seen Sodus given in a dream. "That is nonsense," replied Chief Baker, "I saw you in Sodus yesterday." The man weakened and said his name was Simon Leroy and he had come to the city to go on the canal and had already shipped. He was locked up to await intelligence from Palmyra.

Chief Baker has received a telephone to hold Kirov or Leroy, whichever his name may be until Sheriff Conrat of Palmyra can come after him.

Desperate Attempt at Suicide. Thursday morning a woman named Bridget Madison attempted suicide in Syracuse by cutting her throat with a razor. She made a deep cut in the left side, two or three inches in length and barely escaping the jugular vein. The prompt attendance of a physician, who sewed up the wound will probably save her life. The cause for the act was the loss of $200 which her husband had given her to keep for him. The Standard says she put this money into a tin box, her and put the box under bed. Only herself and her husband knew where the money was. Mr. Madison returned from Tonawada two or three days ago, was home a short time and then went away again either to Brewerton or Oswego. While away this time his wife examined the box in order to assure herself of the safety of the money, but to her dismay she found that the box had been broken open with an axe and the money was gone. This was on Wednesday. The same day Mr. Madison returned and when he found that the money was gone some high words ensued. It is generally believed that Mr. Madison himself took the money; however that may be, Mrs. Madison became almost beside herself.

SENIOR SCHOOL NO.

Interesting Exercises and Addresses. At the regular Friday afternoon exercises of Senior school No. 1 there were present yesterday, in addition to parents and patrons of the school, Mr. E. J. Hamilton, city superintendent of schools, and Rev. Mason Gallagher of Brooklyn. The latter made a short address which recalled to the adult hearers his old-time speeches and which, like those, carried his audience, young and old, with him. He spoke of his life in Oswego, encouraged the slow and dull to persevere, recalled Mr. Hamilton's principalship of the high school, spoke of his son's having been under Mr. H.'s care and closed with an invitation to all to make a return call on him in Brooklyn. Mr. Hamilton then spoke of Mr. Gallagher's great interest in and pride in our schools, his many visits to them in former times, his efforts in their behalf, his bringing noted men to visit the schools, and reminded the children of the many graduates as well as patrons who took a deep interest in the "Academy" school.

BUSINESS STILL BOOMING

At McCarthy's China Hall in the Jefferson Block. Prop's must not suppose because Mr. James McCarthy of China hall has rested the front of one of his stores, that he has any idea of contracting his business. He remains the rear part of the store and in addition to that has fitted up the spacious rooms above the store in which he will keep the larger articles which have hitherto been kept in the south part of the store, ice chests, baby carriages and articles of that kind. In these lines the stock is immense and at remarkably low figures. Indeed in proportion of the store is a general line of household and fancy goods which are being disposed of regardless of cost.

In the main store there is an ever changing parade of the wonders of the earth, for McCarthy is always on the alert to secure novelties and when anything new or novel is put upon the market, he is always the first to secure it. The entire store is filled to repletion with the choicest stock of fresh and seasonable goods. Lamps in every conceivable pattern and at every price; elegant chamber sets; fine glass ware, of such quality as has never been put upon sale in this city at the price. An endless variety of the best goods in market appear in every department of this elegant store. Visit it and take a look at the bargains.

A WANDERING WOMAN.

A Russian Girl on the Tramp-The Dis-abilities Under Which the Officers Labored in Making her Understand. Last evening a woman was picked up on the tracks of the E. W. & O. railroad near St. Paul's cemetery. She was neatly dressed, but wore a pair of men's boots and the dust on them showed that she had tramped many weary miles. When spoken to she answered in an unknown tongue and after many desperate efforts to make her understand she was brought to the station and gentlemen of every possible nationality were found but one and all retired dismayed, unable to understand her. At last Mr. Jules Wendell was brought in and upon hearing her speak it dawned upon him that she was a Russian. But Mr. Wendell has been so long absent from his native land that he had nearly forgotten the language. He at last gathered that she understood the Polish language and suggested that Henry Karpinski, the dyer, was a Pole and he was sent for. Mr. Karpinski was the right man in the right place and drew from the woman the following interesting history. Her name was Mary Lubinski and she was a native of the section known as Red Russia. About three months ago she came to this country, and at Castle Garden, New York, was hired by an agent to work in this county. She was to get $6 a month the first month and $8 the second. She could not remember the place where she had worked but it was somewhere on the main line of the R. W. & O. railroad. The first month the farmer for whom she worked, doing the labor required of a man, only paid her $1, and the second month only $2. She was required to sleep in the same room with the men who had come to this country with her and sooner than do that, she had slept in the open air. From her story it was apparent that she was treated as a brute and those who so imposed upon her, whose names, unfortunately, are not known, ought to be ashamed of it. The men left the place some time ago and Mary left yesterday morning and walked all day carrying a large bundle. She says that small boys threw stones at her and annoyed her and she was glad to get to the city. It was evident that she regarded the city to be in a state of siege and listened curiously to the booming of the guns and the music of the band. In some way she had discovered that the two men she had worked with were at the Oswego Falls brick yards and she wishes to go there. She has a little money which she evidently knows how to take care of. The officers at the station got a good meal and found a place for her to sleep and she was to go to Oswego Falls this morning.

Yesterday afternoon two daughters of Mr. J. G. Jenkins with their brother and Miss Morrow were driving on Bronson street when the horse ran away and in front of A. G. Cook's house ran on the walk and the wagon collided with a tree and a hitching post and all the occupants were thrown out. The boy was quite badly hurt and the rest considerably bruised.

Day before yesterday at the request of L. C. Carlton, one of Burg's agents, Dr. Bell went to Hannibal for the purpose of killing a glandered horse owned by John Jackson a foundry man. Jackson bought the horse of an old man, whose name is not given, who bought him five years ago of some Gipsies. There was every reason to believe that he was glandered even then. In killing him Dr. Bell found that one of his nostrils contained about half a pound of straw. Jackson threatens a suit against the man of whom he bought the horse.

The Wrong Kelly.

Yesterday A. W. Kelly, a gallant tar from San Francisco, went to the U. S. engineers office and by representing that he was Lieut. J. D. J. Kelly, a somewhat well known literary character, he procured a loan of $2, on the ground that he was financially embarrassed. He got the money and when it was ascertained that he was not what he claimed he was arrested. This morning he pleaded guilty but claimed exemption on the ground that he was crazed by liquor and did not know what he was doing. He is a man of excellent education and while in the city has been made cordially welcome by many of our young men. The recorder reprimanded Kelly sharply and imposed a sentence of $10 or 10 days and 25 days additional without the option of a fine.

Death of Mrs. Orlie B. Rhodes.

On Thursday, Alice, wife of Prof. Orlie B. Rhodes, principal of the Hungerford Collegiate Institute at Adams, N. Y., died in that village. The deceased was a daughter of Simon Osborne, of Fulton, and the announcement of her death was a great shock to her many friends in that place as well as in Scriba, where, with her husband, she formerly resided. She possessed the attributes of true womanhood in a remarkable degree and her amiable characteristics made her a welcome guest to the social circle. Her bereaved husband will have the sympathy of all in his sad affliction. An infant six weeks old is left without a mother's fostering care. The funeral took place this afternoon at three o'clock at Adams.

How the News Was Received Here.

There were eager crowds about the bulletin boards yesterday until the news came in that on the fourth ballot, James G. Blaine had received an overwhelming majority and had afterward been declared the unanimous choice of the convention. The news was greeted with the utmost enthusiasm and before ten minutes had elapsed the first Blaine banner was flying to the breeze from the window of the Empire League, better known as the Young Men's republican club, and a number of the members were on hand ready to celebrate the nomination.

Immediately upon hearing the news a dispatch was sent to Major Auer at Syracuse, asking him to send down a gun to fire a salute. Directly after it was discovered that someone here had a gun, and it was at once set to work and the order to Major Auer countermanded. Scarcely was this salute finished when the Seventh ward republican club which had secured a gun, opened fire and kept it up to a late hour. As soon as it grew dark fireworks were set off from the windows of the Empire League club rooms and other parts in the city and there was a general jubilation and it was noticeable that those who had been the most pronounced supporters of President Arthur were foremost in the ratification. There was every evidence that the republicans are taking hold of the matter earnestly and getting ready for a rousing campaign.

BOARD OF EXCISE.

The meeting last evening of the Law and Order League represented before the Board of Excise for the purpose of presenting a petition for the repeal of the law which provides that hotel licenses shall only be granted where such place of entertainment is actually necessary for the accommodation of travelers. Mr. Morehouse referred particularly to the impression prevailing generally that as soon as a person applied to the board for a license he was then under the protection of the board. This was contrary to law and he requested the board to direct their attorney to prosecute all such violations of the statute. The following licenses were granted: HOTELS. P. H. McMahon. The above license was granted on the vote Com's Smith and Stone. Com. Herron dissented. CHARLES KLUCKER. ALE AND BEER. Mrs. William Hall. DRUG STORE. J. R. Paddock. Mr. Morehouse requested permission from the board to obtain from the clerk the names of all parties who have applied for licenses and not paid for them. Com's Herron and Smith assented. Com. Stone objected. Mr. Morehouse obtained the names of six hotel keepers and three applicants for ale and beer licenses who have failed to receive licenses for reason of non-payment for the same. He said the law and order league would take immediate action in the matter. Adjourned.

RAFFIING THE NOMINATION.

How the News Was Received Here. There were eager crowds about the bulletin boards yesterday until the news came in that on the fourth ballot, James G. Blaine had received an overwhelming majority and had afterward been declared the unanimous choice of the convention. The news was greeted with the utmost enthusiasm and before ten minutes had elapsed the first Blaine banner was flying to the breeze from the window of the Empire League, better known as the Young Men's republican club, and a number of the members were on hand ready to celebrate the nomination.

There was every evidence that the republicans are taking hold of the matter earnestly and getting ready for a rousing campaign.

FULTON, June 7.—The news of the nomination of Blaine was received with the utmost enthusiasm. Cannons boomed, fireworks were sent up, the band played and bonfires blazed and everybody went wild for Blaine. There has not been such excitement over a nomination in years. A great many citizens displayed flags.

MAJOR AUER'S BATTERY.

Why it did not fire the Salute in Oswego over the Republican Nomination. It is to be regretted that the despatch to Major Auer countermanding the order to bring his gun here did not reach him in time, as it appears by the Standard that the train had left. The only course then was to send a despatch to Baldwinville and have the gun sent back. There was no "wangle" here, however, but at the time the first despatch was sent it was not known we had a gun in the city. Superintendent Phelps had nothing whatever to do with ordering the battery or countermanding the order further than his name, which is customary with all train orders on his division, was attached to the despatch. Mr. Phelps fears a misapprehension may arise in Syracuse regarding his connection with the matter. There is no occasion for hard feeling in any quarter over the affair. It was simply a business transaction of every day occurrence. An order was given and countermanded. The promptness with which Major Auer responded is complimentary to him. A less energetic man would in all probability have received the countermand. Of course the gentlemen who gave the original order have no intention to permit him to suffer for any loss through the alacrity in which he responded to their order.

ONIDA COUNTY TRAGEDY.

David Weaver shot and killed by a Wounded Husband at Steuben Corners. URICA, June 7.—David Weaver aged 60, in comfortable circumstances, married and having four children, was found dead yesterday near Charles Maydole's barn at Steuben Corners. Late last night it was developed that Weaver was intimate with the wife of Richard Jones, a neighbor for some time. Weaver left home Thursday at 10 p. m. It is supposed he went to Jones' house and that the latter returning from Welch Gynanafa at Remsen discovered him and shot him as he departed. The bullet passed from his neck to his brain. Jones is missing. Mrs. Jones is about 35. She has three or four children.

MARINE NEWS.

What is Transpiring in Marine Circles Along the Lakes. A statement for the month of May shows an increase in the arrivals at Chicago of 300 vessels as compared with the same period in 1883. Grain shipments show a decrease. Masters of vessels passing through the straits are somewhat mystified by the appearance of a stake recently located one quarter of a mile west of Waquochoance. It marks a seventeen foot shoal.

The schooner Three Brothers stranded a few days since on Porcupine Island, Lake Superior. She is 349 tons burden and was built at Black River, Ohio, in 1873. She has three masts, and her valuation is $12,000, or thereabout.

The schooner Benetict, reported last week stranded in Georgian Bay, has not been released. The tug Porter has taken the job and is at the scene of operation. It is fifty miles from where the vessel lies to the nearest inhabitant.

GREEN BAY, Wis., June 6.—The two government dredges which have been at work at Oconto harbor, have been transferred here and to-day began operations on this harbor, completing the work under the late appropriation. They will remove about 70,000 yards, giving a width to the channel of 200 feet and a depth of sixteen feet.

Commons, June 7.—The sloop "Tourist" was seized here Monday by the fish-men. The captain, F. Rose, who recanted himself the owner, bought a cargo of fish valued at $300, with the understanding that he was to pay for them on his return trip. The boat returned Saturday but with another captain who says Rose has sold the boat and will not pay for the fish. Rose is on a "spree" with the proceeds of the fish money. Every effort will be made to keep the boat.
