Midstate Telephone plans expansion in area

Midstate Telephone will spend an estimated $4.7 million in 1983 to improve and expand facilities in the Fulton Service Area, according to Stanley R. Smith, Vice-President Customer Service.

These expenditures will be added to the over $15 million Midstate has spent on capital improvement for the area over the past five years.

"In 1983," Smith said, "we will continue to provide our customers with the best possible service. In order to do so, we must maintain our aggressive policy toward growth and development -- the same policy that made for great technological improvements in 1982."

Midstate's major project last year was the conversion of the Fulton analog switching center to a new digital technology switch. This new system needed for the introduction of toll free calling to Oswego and Syracuse, will be completed during the second quarter of this year. To carry the anticipated increase in volume of calls, aerial cable was placed from Fulton to New York Telephone's boundary line in Clay.

In addition to benefiting from the toll free calling, Midstate customers will enjoy more rapid completion of calls and improved transmission. Another advantage to the digital system is that it enables customers to use 0 + dialing, when making collect and credit card calls. After 0, customers may dial the long distance number themselves, and then indicate billing information.

"The 1983 budget will allow us to continue our overall modernization," Smith explained.

A major project this year will be the remodeling and installation of new digital switches in the Phoenix and Central Square exchanges.

In order to accommodate increased traffic, electronic transmission equipment will be added to the Fulton-Syracuse cable routes. Throughout 1983, major aerial cables will be placed to facilitate more private lines, and reduce party lines in the rural area.

Midstate serves over 31 thousand customers in the Fulton Service Area, who complete some 214 thousand calls on an average business day. The Corporation employs 129 men and women in the Fulton Service Area.

Midstate's 1983 expenditures are part of the $140 million capital expenditures of its parent company, The Mid-Continent Telephone Corporation, of Hudson, Ohio.

Mid-Continent, one of the nation's major independent telephone holding companies, has operating affiliates in 13 Midwestern, Eastern and Southern states, serving more than 700,000 customers and [illegible] phones.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH:

Ecumenical service set

Sister Emily Louise of The Episcopal Order of St. Margaret is next week's Ecumenical Lenten Service speaker. The service, the second in this year's series sponsored by the Fulton Council of Christian Churches, will be held at the First Presbyterian Church, Third and Cayuga Streets, on Wednesday, March 2, at 7:30 p.m. Worship Leader for the service will be the Rev. Stuart Wattles, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

Sister Emily Louise has been a life-professed member of the Order of St. Margaret since 1964. Very gifted musically, she has used this talent in schools in Haiti, in nursing homes in Montreal, and she ministered in the first black nursing home in Roxbury, Mass. She has been in the Central New York Diocese of the Episcopal Church for the past five years, serving at St. Margaret's House in New Hartford.

The Lenten Ecumenical Services are held at a different Fulton Church each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend and after each service there will be a Fellowship Hour.
