

Fulton wins eight tournament spots

Wrestlers from seven high schools, capped recently in the Fulton Wrestling Holiday Tournament, sponsored by the Fulton Athletic Booster Club. Fulton placed eight wrestlers in the finals and easily won the tournament, coming away with 176 1/2 points, well ahead of runner-up Beaver River with 129 1/2 points.

This week at Towpath Towers

Sympathy is extended to the family of Darwin Bristol who died Tuesday night after a long illness. Eleanor L. Ponte entertained family last weekend; her daughter from Kansas, grandson and wife from Boston, son from Rochester and a son who lives right here in Fulton. Eleanor said it was a little crowded but they had fun and played a lot of cards.

Florence Roth was the only member from Towpath who attended a recent luncheon meeting. Last week Ethel Burnett and I didn't have to brave the cold and snow to attend the 1984 Shakespeare Club. It was my first to entertain and we had 12 for refreshments and business meeting followed by a book review of the autobiography of Beverly Sills given by Mary Hamer. Roll Call was the name of the opera and I named Richard Crooks a famous Metropolitan Tenor. Maybe he was a count who's count.

On Saturday, Florence Roth and Norma Stogge went by with other members of All Saints Church to the Venue in Mission Ridge at the Civic Center in Saratoga. It's a beautiful place. Several New York were represented and the speaker was Very Rev. John Allen, Presiding Bishop of the United States.

Monday noon Leah Wilber, Grace Givens, Frances Kadareth, Lena Drexel and I attended a quarterly meeting of the Ladies of the Church. Mary Hester was with us as a guest. The January and February meetings have been scheduled for the middle of the day because of our winter weather. 23 were present. Hostesses were Jean McDougall, Gladys Gurley, Lena Drexel, Marion Lavanchard and myself. The meeting was conducted by Billie Wilber, Vice President and a slide program on historical buildings and monuments in New York State was presented by Marion Lavanchard. She exhibited extra pictures of Fort Ontario which were interesting and educational. The ladies of the First Congregational Church prepared and served a delicious luncheon.

The First United Methodist Church, Methodist Circle met in the Community Room Tuesday afternoon for their annual Prayer Service. After coffee, the program was given by Mrs. George Adams.

Joe and Erbus Muckey and their sister, Eva Scott, are home from their visit in Atlanta. The weather was beautiful and they had such a good time that they stayed a week longer than planned. More about their trip next week.

We had our ever number of 50 at coffee hour this week. Mary Scott was a guest. We signed a card for Marion Poulakis who sang for us and with us 180 weeks but is now in Oswego Hospital recovering from surgery.

The view from my window today looks like a Christmas card. The seagulls appear to be the most on the sea. I think that only once in the 50 years has the river been frozen entirely over and the ice has been so thick this year. Rose and Rachel Tregeous are home after spending several weeks with one of their daughters and her family. Names and place next week. See also page 10 telephone listings.

We had 18 at table class today when Kenneth Patrick showed colored sheets of their recent trip to Iceland and Egger. The pictures were very nice and we learned a lot of bits and pieces. We hope to go on the trip on Kenneth's next boat.

It isn't too late for New Year's resolutions. Take care of yourself, good health, good money, good friends. Be kind, be cheerful and helpful. People will repay you in kind. Avoid anger. Resolve to listen more and talk less. No one ever heard anything good about a quarrel.
