

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss K. KELLY 478 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the cause of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

CALLING FOR SPEAKER SWEET.

There seems to be a growing sentiment throughout the state that Speaker Sweet should be the Republican nominee for governor at the coming primaries or state convention. The Albany Times-Union says: "Reports from New York and elsewhere that Speaker Thaddeus C. Sweet of the assembly was actually a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor and would enter the primaries against Governor Whitman, created considerable gossip of a new and more important character at the capitol. When the speaker was shown a telegram asking if it were true that his name was to go before the primaries for the Republican nomination, he said: "It is true that this question has been considered from time to time, but to none of my friends have I given a single word, one way or another. That is the only statement I care to make on the matter at this time."

"It is common knowledge, however, among the supporters of Governor Whitman, that the candidacy of the speaker has been suggested to several important Republican leaders, including George Aldridge of Monroe, and William M. Ward of Westchester. Speaker Sweet's friends smile as if they knew better when told that Aldridge and Ward are for Governor Whitman's third nomination and that William Barnes has made up with the governor."

The Syracuse Journal says: "Speaker Thaddeus Sweet is practically certain of the support of the Republican organization in this county in case he announces his candidacy for governor against Whitman, it was learned here today. Support of the assembly leader will be regarded as a rebuke to the governor for his boasts that he can defeat any candidate pitted against him, his especial reference to Lieutenant-Governor Edward Schoenck being the specific objection to the attitude of the state executive. Political leaders are momentarily expecting an announcement of some kind that Speaker Sweet is to enter the fight for the Republican gubernatorial nomination."

The Syracuse Herald's staff correspondent at Albany, under date of March 18th, in speaking of the fight on the national prohibition amendment and the referendum resolution last week, says: "It was pointed out that the fight in the assembly really narrowed down to an issue between Governor Whitman and Speaker Thaddeus C. Sweet. Governor Whitman demanded the passage of the ratification plan approving the amendment to the federal constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages. "Speaker Sweet took a stand squarely in favor of the amendment providing that the plan should be submitted to the voters before any ratification bill was adopted. Therefore, the defeat of the first plan is a defeat for Governor Whitman, while the passage of the amendment is a victory for Speaker Sweet. It is the first time that Governor Whitman has gone down to defeat in the lower house. It only serves to bring out strongly the strength which the speaker has and the helplessness of the chief executive of the state when the speaker opposes him."

Some of the Syracuse leading Republicans are very anxious to have Speaker Sweet announce himself as a candidate for governor. They are outspoken against Governor Whitman and want Mr. Sweet to step into the arena. They hold he can get the nomination and be elected and that this will stop Governor Whitman's aspirations for the presidential nomination. Speaker Sweet has not made any response to their appeal.

Petitions Filed.

On Friday afternoon the committee on petitions for the special election, Rev. F. N. Darling, J. Fred Scholz, William Hunter, J. M. Foster, George E. Chubb and Fred E. Chubb, filed its petition or petitions with City Clerk Washburn at the city hall. Total number of signatures, 1,772; 858 men and 914 women. The number of signatures required in Fulton was about 600.

Oswego petitions contained 2,954 names; 1,203 were men and 1,751 women. The wets have engaged Attorney Joseph T. McCaffrey to represent them in attacking this petition, which is to be published both in the press and in pamphlet form with photographic reproduction of the signatures.

Oneida, 1,400 names—mostly men. Watertown filed petitions with 6,000 signatures; 2,200 women. Ogdensburg, 700. Auburn, 2,200 men and 1,500 women.

Senate Battle Today.

Today is the date set for the prohibition struggle in the state senate. Senator Wellington of Troy, has an agreement with Majority Leader Brown and he will move the discharge of the taxation committee of the Hill resolution to ratify the national prohibition amendment. All other liquor measures will be fought to a finish in the senate today. There will be a close call of the senate, all members will have to attend.

There are 24 members lined up for ratification in the senate; two more are needed. If the senate refuses to ratify it will strengthen the assembly. If the senate ratifies, under the pressure of Governor Whitman, swing into line and drop the referendum measure. Nine more votes are needed in the assembly. It is claimed that five are ready to go to the dry side as soon as the other four are secured.

The Special Election.

Rev. F. N. Darling, chairman of the petition committee, requests the publication of the following: "There is a misunderstanding on the part of some regarding the election on the no-license issue. There are some who feel that to have a special election will bring needless expense upon the city, and they ask why the matter is not deferred until the regular election in the fall. The answer is just this: The law requires that the question of no-license in cities shall be voted on at a special election to be held in the spring. That is the reason why 38 cities in this state are all going to vote on the same day, the 16th of April."

Pitts National Secretary.

Advices received from Chicago are to the effect that Clarence E. Pitts, for many years the head of the prohibition movement in Oswego county, and who recently moved to Chicago, has been selected as secretary of the new national organization formed in that city last week. Mr. Pitts was one of the most aggressive prohibition workers in Oswego while a resident of that city.

The Canadian Drought.

Canada, except for the provinces of Quebec and Ontario, will go dry April 1st, and on December 1st the legal cases in Quebec and Ontario will vanish and the sale or manufacture of intoxicating liquors will be prohibited throughout the dominion. Under regulations issued last week the manufacture and sale of liquor is prohibited, but in Quebec beer may be manufactured and in Ontario whiskey and native wines made until the end of the present year. The new regulations, which supplement provincial laws, also prohibit the transportation of liquors into or their delivery in prohibited areas.

Soldiers Get Liquor Easily.

The case of Tony Guzzo of Oswego charged with selling liquor to a soldier at his home in Oswego, came up before the federal grand jury at Albany last week; he changed his plea of not guilty to that of guilty, and was fined $75. It was thought that Guzzo was selling booze and a soldier was given a marked dollar and sent to his house to make a purchase. He got it and the officers afterwards found the marked dollar in Guzzo's possession.

The war department recently ruled that soldiers might be served with liquor in homes where they were bona-fide guests. The Oswego police force complains that soldiers in an intoxicated condition are a daily sight on the streets of Oswego. There are certain cash, side houses where the soldiers are "guests" for the purpose of securing liquor. One of the soldiers said last week that the uniform was all that was necessary to get liquor in Oswego and money is not even required.

FORMER FULTONIAN'S IDEA.

In one of our exchanges we find the following from the pen of Joseph H. Odell, who will be remembered as a former pastor of the local Presbyterian church. There is no doubt that Mr. Odell is 100 per cent American, although of foreign birth. He says, in answer to the question, "What is a Civilian's Share?" "No civilian can say he has done his share while anything more remains that he may do. If the men and women of capital give one-half of their accumulations in order to save the other half, they may consider that they have gotten off cheaply; if the business man allots a third of his time to war work in his community he is well off compared with his neighbor whom the draft took; if it be necessary to go to bed tired every night, before any one grumbles he should picture the man in the trenches with no bed at all but the muddy floor of a dug-out and no covering but his wet, cold clothing; if a woman has to abandon social functions to make surgical dressings she ought to remember that the fairest and noblest women of other lands have been nursing in the hospitals at the front for many weary months without respite or reward; if the laboring man is called upon to exceed the usual hours of work he may thank his stars that he still has a chance to work as a free man for freedom; if the industrial economist is inclined to carp at narrowed profits he should consider that production for the whole must overrule profits for the few, because if we lose the war we shall have to pay indemnities for all the nations into the coffers of Germany—which will eat up all our profits for many generations to come.

"If we are prone to chafe because of a sugarless or meatless or wheatless menu we bow our heads in reverence at the thought of the father and mother who will sorrow for the son who rests in an unmarked grave across the sea; to one understands the spiritual and universal significance of this war who talks of having his share."

In the health report sent out from Washington for the week of March 22 from the estimated population of the cities of the country at 26,577,990, the total number of deaths were 7,444. There were 41 cities reported. The highest, Memphis, Tenn., was 28.2; the lowest was Seattle, Wash., at 7.8; the section of Central New York, represented by Syracuse, was 17.2. For deaths under one year the average was 18.5; Lowell, Mass., had the highest, at 21; Los Angeles, Cal., the lowest, 4.9; Syracuse, 14.

FELDMAN CASE RECALLED.

On Thursday, Frank Elliott, manager of the McKinstry store, was called on the long distance phone and asked by New York parties the reason for the return of his check marked "forgery." Mr. Elliott told the parties that he had never issued the check in question and that it was a clear case of forgery.

The New York parties stated that a man had called at their clothing house, presented Mr. Elliott's card, purchased a lot of clothing to be shipped to the McKinstry store and had given a check for part payment—larger than the part payment he was allowed to make—and the firm had given him the balance in cash.

Mr. Elliott asked for a description of the man impersonating him at the New York clothing house and was told that he was a stocky built man, wearing glasses and slightly gray. This description tallies with the description of one M. J. Feldman, formerly a tailor and repair man in Fulton, who about two years ago played a similar game on a firm there, using the name of John W. Stevenson. Mr. Stevenson happened to be in New York at the time, was called to the store, pronounced the check given as a forgery, and the police went out and arrested Feldman, who was sent to Sing Sing for 18 months.

The Oswego County Trust Company on Thursday received checks from its New York bankers for $400, $88 and $50, all given as part payment on clothing purchased, as a whole or part payment, and in each case the amount of the check was in excess of the amount of the bill or part payment, and the man who presented the checks received the surplus on each in cash from the dealer.

FOURTH DISPLAY WEEK.

The fourth annual display week by Fulton merchants will occur on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Thirty merchants have notified Secretary Barrett of the chamber of commerce that they will participate therein.

Edward Gillin of the L. A. Withers store, Thomas Mele of the Edwards store, and J. C. Murphy of the Chappell-Dyer store, Syracuse, have been chosen as judges of the spring display week windows which will be opened Thursday.

An effort is being made to have this display eclipse all former efforts and the 30 entries are busy on novel and attractive displays. The public will be given a free exhibition of spring and summer styles that it will pay our readers to inspect.
