BILL BOOSTER SAYS:

Under the head, "New Director of Commercial Education at Newark," "The Balance Sheet," a magazine for commercial teachers, has the following to say about a Fulton boy:

"Raymond C. Goodfellow, recently appointed Director of Commercial Education of Newark, New Jersey, is a native of New York state. He received his early training in the rural schools. In 1908 he was graduated from the Fulton High school at Fulton, New York. After graduation from High school, Mr. Goodfellow was a teacher in one of the rural schools of Oswego county. Not being satisfied with rural school work, he left this field and entered the Rochester Business Institute the following year and in 1912 was graduated from both the commercial and secretarial courses and completed the teacher training methods courses in these subjects. In 1913 he was placed in charge of the commercial and secretarial work in Colby academy in New London, New Hampshire, and stayed in this position for two years. In 1915 he secured a position in the East Orange High school, East Orange, New Jersey, and was again teaching subjects of both the commercial and secretarial courses. He remained in East Orange High for nearly four years. In 1918 he began his work as supervisor of penmanship in Newark, New Jersey. His work led into the teacher training field and when not engaged in supervision work he was conducting teacher training classes. In this way [illegible] teachers were [illegible] handwriting [illegible] th this work [illegible] York university and was graduated with a B. C. S. degree in 1923. Mr. Goodfellow is married and lives in South Orange, New Jersey. His diversions are gardening and golf. He is the author of "Progressive Lessons in Practical Movement Writing," "Rational Arm Movement Spelling Blanks," and "Standard Form Charts." Mr. Goodfellow is at present serving his second year as president of the Newark Teachers' association, which is comprised of the entire teaching and advisory staff of approximately twenty-six hundred members."

We'll say that Fulton is being duly and richly honored in the work of Raymond C. Goodfellow and we extend to him our hearty congratulations and best wishes for continued success in his profesion.

And while we're on this subject of Fulton boys who are making good, notice comes to us from the convention headquarters of the Frigidaire Corporation as follows:

"Recognition as one of Frigidaire Corporation's outstanding salesmen in the entire United States was given Harold Caffrey of Fulton, New York, today (February 1st), at the annual regional convention here (Buffalo), when he was called to the platform and amidst the blare of bands and the cheering of 1,000 fellow salesmen from this part of the country was presented with $50 in gold."

Now from the west district of Fulton comes a vigorous complaint on the smoke nuisance.

A housewife telephoned us that the west district housewives are contemplating calling upon the city for permission to use the road scraper to remove the coal dust from the west district hallways.

Our west district housewife is of the opinion that there are smoke-stacks, other than those of the Oswego Falls Corporation that should be investigated.

REPORT OF PUBLIC LIBRARY

Mrs. Lillian M. Brown, librarian at the Fulton Public Library, has submitted the following report for the year 1929:

Circulation—I have the pleasure of presenting to you for 1929, the circulation figures of 63,431, the largest in the history of the library. This is an increase of 5,729 over 1928, and an increase of 9,335 for the last two years.

The largest monthly circulation was 5,794 in March, although it was only 100 less than that in January. The smallest circulation was in June, while in July and August it was nearly 5,000 for each month.

In the adult department there has been an increased use of books of non-fiction, special interest being shown in Ludwig's "Napoleon," Strachey's "Elizabeth and Essex," Hackett's "Henry the Eight," Thompson's "The New Russia" and many other new books of biagraphy, travel, and philosophy.

Registration—During the year 1,026 persons have registered, and expired cards numbered 809. A three-year registration period gives the present number of borrowers as 3,314, which is 365 more than last year.

Additions—There were 600 volumes added to the book stock in 1929, mostly by purchase; 437 for the adult department and 163 for the children's room.

Books withdrawn, either because they were worn out or lost or missing at inventory time, numbered 226, so that on Jan. 1st, 1930, there were 11,319 accessioned volumes in the library, 9,398 of which are in the adult department and 1,920 in the children's room.

Magazines—Magazines and newspapers currently received number 70. Of these 45 are by supscription and the rest are gifts of either friends or publishers.

Reference Room—The reference collection contains about 1,178 books, 15 new volumes having been added this year. Bound periodicals are included. The number counted as reference during the year was, relatively 740, the number of books consulted 1,581, while 11,539 persons have made use of the reading room.

Children's Room—The children's room has been a busy place throughout the year, with the exception of the two months of the summer vacation, when the children are too busy outdoors to be greatly interested in books or reading.

The circulation added up as follows: Fiction, 13,595; non-fiction, 2,654, and magazines, 455, making a total of 16,595, an increase of 1,357 for the year.

There has been a generally good attendance at the story hour, which was held every Saturday morning from Thanksgiving time until Easter, the annual Christmas story hour coming on Dec. 21st. During the holiday season the children's room itself was bright with decorations and a gaily trimmed Christmas tree.

During Children's Book Week——Nov. 17-23—all the new children's books bought for the occasion—100 or more—were on display for the entire week and a Book Week and Library film was shown at the local theater, which attracted the attention of many of the parents and caused considerable interest among the children themselves.

Special acknowledgement is made to The Fulton Patriot, the Oswego Palladium-Times, the Syracuse Journal and the Syracuse Herald for gifts of their issues; and to these and to the Syracuse Post-Standard for their courtesy in printing lists of books and library notices.

The librarian takes this opportunity to express to the members of the board of trustees, her appreciation of their helpful interest in the work of the library, and to thank the other members of the staff for their everyday co-operaton which has made possible this successful year.

REDUCTIONS ARE GRANTED IN FIRE INSURANCE

Harry L. Waugh, chief of the fire department, received word last week that due to improvements recently made in Fulton, that the fire insurance rate has been reduced one cent, from 31 to 30 cents. This cut will amount to considerable saving on insurance premiums.

The reduction is made by the State Underwriters' association, following an inspection of the improvements in the fire department apparatus the last year.

The additional fire alarm boxes installed in the past two years, as well as the additional equipment installed at the engine house, coupled with the additional water main extensions, are among the things which have earned the reduction.

NO RAISE IN RATES.

William S. Hillick, city attorney, has returned from Albany, where he represented the city of Fulton in the protest which has been filed with the Public Service commission against the increasing of telephone rates in the state.

A. H. Shean, manager of the Oswego County Independent Telephone company, states the proposed new schedule of the New York Telephone company would not affect local telephone customers.

Mr. Shean says that the toll rates in the local district were reduced in a new schedule which became effective Jan. 1st, and that patrons of the local company would not be affected by the telephone rates under consideration at the Albany hearing.

CHARITY BALL.

Plans are now under way for a charity ball to be held at the Quirk ball room on the evening of Feb. 28. This ball will be held under the auspices of the Alumni association of the Pi Tau sorority.

Miss Hazel Hollingsworth has been chosen chairman of the committee, and assisting her are Miss Helen Ottman and Miss Dorothy Bidwell. The proceeds will be donated to a charitable organization in the city.

CULKIN PLEADS LAW CHANGE FOR CHILDREN

A plea for the physically handicapped youth, as differentiated from physically and mentally defective, was voiced last Wednesday by Representative Francis D. Culkin of Oswego. One of the most effective ways by which the federal government can serve is by extending the rehabilitation laws, as provided in a bill introduced by Representative Daniel A. Reed of Dunkirk. Mr. Culkin's remarks were addressed to the House committee on education, of which Mr. Reed is chairman.

Prior to his congressional service Mr. Culkin sat on the Oswego county Children's Court bench, from which experience he drew repeated illustrations to emphasize his points. The committee was asked to lower its age limit, which at present is 14 years, in order, according to Mr. Culkin, that rehabilitation work may be accomplished while the youth is physically more menable to medical and surgical treatment.

"A great opportunity," Mr. Culkin said, "for successful and nationally helpful work exists among the children of the great middle class of our country, from whom we recruit the most of our leadership. It is undoubtedly true that the group, comprising the backbone of the republic, are in most cases unable to meet the expense of modern surgical relief. The families of this group are frequently large and the battle is a stern economic one, namely to feed, clothe and provide education for their offspring. Beyond this they are unable to go.

The removal of tonsils in most cases involves a disbursement of $50 for surgical services and hospitalization. The correction of a hernia or an eye condition costs $150; glasses cost $25. To correct bad hearing involves a disbursement of $150 and upwards. In most communities about the only door of relief of this group is the department of charity. To this ancient source of public welfare the average American citizen will not go. In the meantime the child suffers.

"I earnestly urge that the statute under which your committee is operating be amended to include surgical relief for [illegible]ren of America whose pare[illegible] unable to meet the cost of [illegible]surgery.

"The rel[illegible] come in early life. If th[illegible] permitted to suffer from t[illegible]on until he is 14 [illegible] is done to his [illegible]ened and his neglected, [illegible] They are [illegible] worth while children, if given the relief I suggest. To my mind, this is the most important work which confronts America today in the field of social service."

"FIVE-COUNTY CONVENTION.

Mrs. Angie Waugh, former president of the W. C. T. U. of this city, will be a speaker at the five-county convention which will be held in Syracuse today.

The meeting will be held at the Wesleyan Methodist Episcopal church at East Onondaga and Jefferson streets, and will be an all-day session, at which representatives of the W. C. T. U. from Cayuga, Oswego, Onondaka, Cortland and Madison counties will be present.

The subject of Mrs. Waugh's address will be "As a Community Asset." She will be accompanied by a number of the members of the local organization.

Other speakers at the convention will be Mrs. Netta Tuxill of Auburn, Mrs. Mabel Hults of Marathon and Mrs. George F. Lee of Syracuse. Their topics will include "In the Home," by Mrs. Tuxill; "A Social Factor," by Mrs. Hults, and "In Our Schools," by Mrs. Lee.

The meeting will open at 10 o'clock and will be presided over by the following county presidents: Miss Laura Post of Cayuga; Mrs. Gertrude Rice of Cortland; Mrs. Mary Judd of Madison; Mrs. Edna Wiltsie of Oswego and Mrs. Anna C. Farrington of Onondaga.

Devotions will be led by Mrs. Bertha M. Hyatt and the salute to the flag will be by Mrs. F. J. Bierce. The address of welcome will be given by Mrs. Farrington.

The afternoon session will open at 1:45 and listed on the speakers' program are: Mrs. Mary Judd, who will speak on "Hold Fast;" Mrs. Edna Wiltsie, "Membership;" Mrs. Anna Farrington, "Publications;" Mrs. Ella McCarthy, "Citizenship," and Rev. Arthur P. White, "Ten Years in Review."

A report of the Albany conference will be given by Mrs. Gertrude Rice and Miss Laura Post.

SUIT DISCONTINUED.

Stipulations of discontinuance have been filed in the county clerk's office in the negligence action of Wesley J. Scott vs. N. Y., O. & W. Railway company.

The Scott case grew out of an automobile accident at a crossing near Fulton nearly three years ago, when his car was struck by a gasoline car on the railroad. Charles M. Vought, a Syracuse university student, who was a passenger in the Scott car, also brought suit, and in the trial in January, 1928, a verdict of $40,000 was returned for the plaintiff. Subsequently this was reduced to $25,000 by order of the court and was sustained on appeal.

CROP OUTLOOK SHOWS NEED OF ADJUSTMENTS

Farmers must plan their production this year particularly in view of the outlook for prices for each product during the next marketing season and adjust expenditures carefully to maintain farm incomes, according to the annual outlook for 1930, prepared by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, in co-operation with representatives of the agricultural colleges and extension services of 45 states and the Federal Farm Board.

"The domestic market may improve later in the year, but it is unlikely that the demand for farm products in the summer and fall of 1930 will be as good as during last summer and fall," according to the report. The demand for some products has been affected by the decline in industrial activity since last June. Butter, cotton and wool have noticeably been affected, and apples, potatoes and grains have failed thus far to make the usual seasonal price advances."

"The outlook for farm mortgage financing and for marketing credit is more favorable than a year ago. On the other hand, the outlook for production credit appears less satisfactory in most of the south. A somewhat larger supply of labor for farm work will be available at slightly lower wages during the first half of the year. The general price level for farm machinery is expected to remain about the same as during the last four years, while there is no evidence of an immediate change in prices for fertilizers.

"There is little in the wheat situation in the United States and other countries to indicate that prices for the 1930 crop of the United States will be much different from those prevailing for the 1929 crop, unless fall-sown wheat suffers severe winter damage or the spring wheat acreage is reduced. World stocks will be somewhat lower on July 1st, 1930 from a year earlier, but the world acreage will probably not be materially changed and yields per acre are not likely to be as low as in 1929, when they were below average.

"An increased corn crop would yield a lower price than in 1929 in view of the possibility of lower feeding requirements.

"The underlying dairy situation is not as bad as would appear from present butter prices, but unless dairy herds are closely culled and more heifers sent to slaughter, there will [illegible]ther increase in the size of [illegible]erds in 1931 and 1932.

[illegible] present outlook for poultry and eggs does not justify any increase in production of chickens over 1929, either for eggs or meat, unless producers are willing to face the prospect of reductions in price levels.

"There is no material improvement in either domestic or export demand for oats in prospect, whereas more active competition from larger supplies of other feed grains is probable. Feedstuff prices are expected to continue lower than a year ago during the next three or four months. A further increase in the acreage of legume hays and decrease in acreage of timothy, prairie and other grass hays are expected this year. Repitition of the large production of red clover and alsike clover seed is not expected. Maintenance of acreage of alfalfa for seed, but curtailment of sweet clover for seed is suggested.

"Present prospects indicate that higher returns are to be expected from flax in 1930 than from wheat and other small grains grown in the same area under the same conditions. Flax acreage could be increased one-third without fear of reducing domestic prices in the world price level.

"Commercial production of apples is expected to continue to increase gradually over a period of several years, and new plantings are justified only where there are unusually favorable conditions for the production of high quality fruit. A considerable increase in the bearing acreage of grapefruit and oranges is expected. The probability of heavy grape production and low prices continues.

"Prospects for strawberry growers now seem to be better than in any year since 1926; smaller acreages are in prospect, and there is liklihood of reduced yields in some districts.

"Potato growers report that they intend to plant an acreage six per cent larger than last year, apparently forgetting the unprofiable season of 1928. The high potato prices being received now are not the result of low acreage last season, but due mostly to adverse weather conditions last summer. If the intentions for 1930 are carried out, prospects for lower potato prices after the first of July are in view.

"The constant tendency toward expansion of lettuce acreage, particularly in California and Arizona, confronts the industry with difficult marketing problems, although there is as yet no evidence that the peak of demand has been reached.

"Onion growers in most states will find it advantageous to reduce acreage. The total acreage of tomatoes grown for shipment to market in 1930 should be held close to that of 1929. The acreage of dry beans seem to be well adjusted to domestic demand.

"The present prospect is for favorable cabbage markets until August, in view of relatively light holding of old cabbage and reduced acreage in southern areas. Further increase in lace cabbage acreage does not seem warranted."

TWO TERMS OF COURT FOR FEBRUARY

Two courts will assemble on the same day at the court house in Oswego on Feb 10th.

Justice Jerome L. Cheney will preside at the regular special term of supreme court, known as the equity term, when cases will be tried without a jury. The calendar for this term is now being made up.

On the same day and hour, 10 a. m., County Judge Don A. Colony will convene the February term of county court. This calendar is also being compiled. It will consist of criminal and civil section. The criminal calendar will be large, containing all the indictments of the January grand jury which have not been disposed of up to this time, and one or two put over from the November term. This calendar is being made up by District Attorney Harry M. Stacy.

The civil calendar for the February term is made up of 18 cases. The time for filing notes of issue expired Jan. 30th, 12 days before the opening. Included in the cases on the calendar are the following:

Ralph Shapira vs. Max, Gover and Jack Rosenbaum.

Abraham Danzzig vs. same defendants.

Jane Robertson vs. same defendants.

These are all negligence cases growing out of an acoident on the highway near Rome several months ago. Plaintiffs were passengers in the car.

Barney Scruti vs. Sam Vecchio, negligence; Mary Scruti vs. same defendant, negligence.

Fulton Electric Corporation vs. William Mitchell, labor and material.

B. F. Goodrich Rubber company Inc., vs. Harold Thorpe, contract.

Albert Mullen vs. Moses Welner, contract.

Margaret C. Gault vs. E. Meigs Wells, negligence

Carl F. House vs. John Wolf, negligence.

Fred Timon vs. Manton Hall, negligence.

William H. Clark vs. Jessie Tully and Margaret Tully, negligence.

John Frazer vs. Frank Lewis.

Ernest H. Chauftly vs. W. B. Shoults, note.

John Gray vs. Frank Lewis, alleged breach.

Patrick Laughlin vs. Mary Donovan, contract.

Albert A. Inman vs. Joe Lochiavo and Joe Marobito, doing business under the name and style of Lochiavo & Marabito, contract.

Bert Bareham vs. Joseph Zuia, negligence.

POSTAL CHANGES IN EFFECT.

Post office officials have announced an increase in the maximum amount of C. O. D. charges on domestic registered and unregistered collect-on-delivery mail, in the maximum amount of indemnity on domestic unregistered collect-on-delivery mail and insured mail, effective Feb. 1st.

C. O. D. packages are being registered in amounts up to $160, but after the first of the month, packages valued up to $200 may be registered. With the increase, C. O. D. packages must be prepaid at first class rates of postage. C. O. D. fees after Feb. 1st will be as follows: Up to $10, 25 cents; to $50, 30; to $100, 40 cents; to $200, 50 cents.

Indemnity against loss or breakage of registered C. O. D. packages will be obtained from from $100 to $1,000. The fees will be as follows: From $200 to $300, 60 cents; from $300 to $400, 70 cents; from $400 to $500, 80 cents; from $500 to $600, 90 cents, from $600 to $700, $1.00; from $700 to $800, $1.10, and from $800 to $1,000, $1.20.

Fees on ordinary C. O. D. packages will be as follows: From $100 to $150, 35 cents, and from $150 to $200, 45 cents. The fees now are: Up to $10, 12 cents; from $10 to $50, 15 cents, and from $50 to $100, 25 cents.

Packages are now being insured up to $100 and with the change they will be insured up to $200. The new insured rates are: Up to $5, five cents; from $5 to $25, eight cents; from $25 to $50, ten cents; from $50 to $100, 25 cents; from $100 to $150 30 cents, and from $150 to $200, 35 cents.

DEFERS DECISION.

Action was deferred until May on a motion made in supreme court by D. P. Morehouse, Jr., as attorney for the Oswego City Savings bank, for permission to institute an action against James H. Mackin, as temporary receiver of the O. K. Manufacturing Company, Inc., of Oswego, to recover on certain mortgages held by the bank on four houses and lots in Ellen street, owned by the O. K. company. Thomas L. McKay represented Mr. Mackin on the motion.

Justice C. I Miller stated that he would put the matter over until the special term section of the May term at Pulaski, to await the report of the receiver and meeting of the creditors' committee. A similar action by the Security Building and Loan Association, brought up at the special term held Monday, Jan. 13th, before Justice Miller, also was put over until the May term. This case is a mortgage foreclosure on the company's building.

Mr. Mackin was appointed temporary receiver Nov. 4th, and he has since had charge. James V. Washburne, principal stockholder, president of the company, was declared incompetent in late December and his wife was appointed committee.

ANNUAL ROLL CALL; CHURCH CELEBRATION

Rev. John Gerald York of Wellsville, former pastor of the Baptist church in this city, was in charge of the mortgage-burning feature of the evening session of the annual church day and roll call of the local church on Thursday. Mr. York was introduced to the congregation by Mrs. William Sylvester in behalf of the ladies of the church. Mr. York gave a resume of the events leading up to the movement for the building of a new church and spoke with earnestness and feeling of his pastorate in Fulton, his first after graduation from the Rochester Theological Seminary. Upon his call for the burning of the old church mortgage, Mrs. Lester Baldwin, president of the Ladies' Aid society, and Mrs. F. C. Boigeol, treasurer of the Philathea class, the two women's organizations which were instrumental in raising the first two thousand dollars for the church building fund, attended to the burning, the congregation standing and singing "Praise God, From Whom All Blessings Flow," while the mortgage papers were going up in smoke.

Mrs Sylvester read a letter from Mr.. Rogers, a former pastor, who is wintering in Florida, and Mr. Horsman read a telegram from Rev. Floyd N. Darling of Binghamton, after which Miss Clara Wilson, reading an appropriate poem, presented Rev. A. C. Horsman with a basket of flowers in token of the appreciation of the church for the pastor's work during the past four years. Mrs. Earl Baldwin then read a poem congratulatory to the work of the Ladies' Aid, after which Mr. York delivered the address of the evening, in which he defined what the church might be for him; as deep as his convictions, as wide as his visions, as high as his ideals. It was a masterful sermon and was listened to with rapt attention by the large audience present.

During the afternoon reports of various societies and classes were read and the "In Memoriam" was delivered by Irving Galusha, who paid a fitting tribute to the memory of Frank M. Connell, the only member of the church to pass away during the year.

Officers were elected as follows: Church clerk, Mrs. Irving Galusha; financial secretary, Clarence Walter; organist, Miss Esther Baldwin; deacon, Earl Baldwin; in memoriam, Mrs. E. W. Taylor; floral committee, Mabel Church[illegible] and Alma Thomps[illegible] A. C. Horsman, Mrs. E. W. Taylor, Mrs. William Holt, Mrs. Glenn Streeter, Mrs. F. B. Trask; music committee, Mrs. Earl Baldwin, Mrs. Howard Kio, Earl Baldwin, Mrs. Arthur Sylvester, Irving Galusha, Miss Esther Freeman; ushers, Floyd Cox, Arthur Sylvester, Carl Wheeler, John McGraw, Charles Jamison.

Sunday school officers—Superintendent, Alpheus Wilcox; assistants, Charles Jamison, John McGraw, Harry Hopkins; secretary and treasurer, Clarence Walter; cradle roll superintendent, Miss Greta Snyder; children's department superintendent, Mrs. Ida Snyder; secretary and treasurer of Children's department, Miss Marion Loomis; Sunday school pianist, Mrs. Ray Palmer; assistant, Mrs. Lester Taylor; chorister, Irving Galusha; assistant, Samuel Sturdevant.

William Hamilton and William Sylvester were re-elected to the board of trustees for three years and A. B. Kirne and Joseph Rogers were named to the finance committee.

NEW SMALL POX CASES.

Two new cases of small pox were diagnosed on Sunday. Dr. L. A. Simpson told The Patriot that one new case was in the Freeman family, Miss Esther Freeman having developed the ailment, while the other case is that of Miss Esther Woodbury.

LOWER FALLS GRANGE.

Nearly 100 members of Lower Oswego Falls Grange met in their rooms Saturday afternoon, and after a bountiful birthday dinner, the regular Grange session was held.

The following program was given during the Lecturer's Hour: Songs, Grange; reading, Sister Curtis; instrumental numbers, Gedney Stewart; under the leadership of Scoutmaster Brother Vogelgsang, several Boy Scouts gave an interesting demonstration and readings, which were enjoyed by all.

The next regular meeting will be held next Saturday afternoon Dinner will be served promptly at 12:30. Everyone welcome.

RECEIPTS FOR JANUARY.

Receipts of $2,072.75 are reported by County Clerk Walter C. Matteson for the month of January, 1930.

The main source of income was from automobile license fees, principally registration of cars. This brought $1,96260 into the treasury of the county. Other items in the reports of receipts are as follows:

Recording deeds, $201.15; recording mortgages, $235.90; recording other papers, $81.85; docketing judgments and discharging dockets, $23.55; searches, $118.50; copies of papers, $30.30; filing papers, $54.50; miscellaneous receipts, $154.85.
