A Cheerful Briton
That German Steel
We Go Up to 14 Miles
Danger to Their Souls

Maj. L. E. Angus, British attaché, addressing the American Bankers' association, says: "Confidence has returned to the United States, fear has declined, monetary velocity will increase. There will be an immediate boom—first, in consumer goods; second, in plant and machinery; third, in housing industries."

The British major—may all he says be verified and multiplied by ten—says truly there is any amount of money in America, but it "revolves" too slowly. It will soon speed up and "revolve," or change hands thirty-five times a year.

If Lloyd's would insure the accuracy of the major's prediction, a good many would buy policies.

The particularly offensive plan to buy in Germany steel to build the Triborough bridge in New York will probably not go through. It is explained by those concerned that they can buy 1,000,000 pounds of German steel piling for less than half the American price; as a further "bonus" it is said "American firms submitted identical bids."

The government's blue eagle was invented to prevent price cutting; but that is not the question, nor is the difference in price of the fact that work is taken from American workers to give it to German workers the most important fact. Buying steel in Germany, helping to finance the German steel industry and Mr. Hitler's program, with American dollars, would seem to endorse Hitler's program of persecution. That is the important fact.

Officers of the American air corps, Capt. A. W. Stevens and Orville Anderson, rose above the earth into the stratosphere to a height greater than any human being had ever reached, with the possible exception, of course, of Elijah going up in his chariot of fire.

The American officers radioed: "We are at 74,137 feet, trying for 80,000 feet." They did not go higher, but broke all records.

Seventy-four thousand one hundred and eighty-seven feet is more than 14 miles. It is higher than the theoretical maximum height of 72,200 feet.

A movie news reel photographer in Ethiopia, Edward Genack, was assaulted when he tried to make moving pictures of warriors at Harar. The Ethiopians beat the camera man, explaining afterward, "We shall lose our souls if we are photographed." That will surprise Hollywood, where the belief is the other way around. Once, it was generally believed, even by real Christians, that if you made a wax miniature figure of a man and stuck pins in it at intervals you would kill the original. Man is a superstitions biped.

Not long ago, when foreign countries were starving, America sent over American corn, and the foreign countries would not eat it. Even Russia refused.

Now, thanks to various devices for persuading our farmers to produce, as little as possible, the United States imports more than 20,000,000 bushels of corn in one year.

Shortage of corn means shortage of food for hogs, and that meant expensive "hog meat," pork chops and bacon. Somebody always has to pay the bill and now it appears to be those that eat, a decided majority.

At Maryland's Pimlico race track a horse named Axicon, winning the $1,000 relay steeplechase, paid $340.40 for a $2 betting ticket, 170 times the amount paid. That news will cause many unfortunate races to lose several times $340. Nobody ever won at race track gambling in the long run, if that were possible, who would support bookmakers and tracks?

Speaking in Arlington national cemetery, the President warned the country that there is danger of war, urging "adequate defense on land, on sea, and in air."

He knows, as does everybody, that defense, first—in the air, and second—under the water, is most important.

President Roosevelt announced the early "consummation of a commercial agreement between Canada and the United States," referring to "our two peoples, each independent in themselves, closely knit by ties of blood and common heritage, with standards of life substantially the same."

While eleven lawyers and clients discussed the sale of a window-cleaning business in New York's Brownsville, four young gunmen entered, said pleasantly, "Reach for the moon, gentlemen," meaning "Stick 'em up." The hands went up; the gunmen walked out with $2,261 in cash.

That was not playing the game. It is customary for lawyers to get money from gunmen, although, doubtless, these were not that type of lawyer.

BIG CARD PARTY MONDAY

Among activities scheduled for Thanksgiving week at the Holy Family church is the annual card party, which will be held Monday evening, Nov. 25. All card games will be played, with prizes for all games and a door prize of one-half ton of coal. On Wednesday evening, Nov. 27, a bingo party will be held. At this time a new 1936 Ford sedan will be given away. A door prize of half a ton of coal will also be given.

AUTO SHOW DEC. 2-7

Members of Homer Russell Smith post, American Legion met Friday evening to discuss plans for the annual automobile and industrial show. The show will be held in Recreation Park auditorium Dec. 2 to 7. According to reports received, most of the local merchants and practically every automobile dealer will have exhibits. Entertainment will be presented every night.

Life Span Growing Longer

During the 50 years beginning with 1880 the population of the United States of America increased 145 per cent as shown by the census of that year and of 1930. But the number of persons over sixty-five years old increased approximately 600 per cent during the same period. This lengthening of the life span is not due wholly to improvement in medical science, sanitation and living conditions generally, observes a writer in Copier's weekly. Restricted immigration and a declining birth rate also have had their effect. There were nearly 7,000,000 persons over sixty-five years old in a population of 122,800,000 in 1930.

Oil of Tree Valuable

Recent discoveries by chemists indicate the oil of the cotton tree is probably destined to play an important role in the future of the protective coating industry of the world. The tree which grows wild in the valleys of Asia and Apody of South America, lives to be more than 100 years old and reaches a height of 90 feet or more. The seed or kernel of a fairly light-colored oil resembling tung oil in color and in many of its chemical and physical properties. It will probably be used largely in the manufacture of spar varnish and enamel.

Barrel-Organ in Church

Shelton, a village in Suffolk, can claim two records. It has the only privately owned church in the country, and in that church is the only church barrel-organ. This instrument is operated with a handle, and has three drums containing 30 hymn tunes in all. —Answers Magazine.

Idealism

The power of idealism is a curious power of seeing what we like to admit and then trying to imitate it; seeing things that were beautiful and trying to make other things like them; this power of idealism being a great guiding force in the upward movement of humanity.

Old Title Revised

Henceforth the coronet of the Tower Armouries in London is to be designated master of the Armouries, the title used from 1485 to 1679.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.
"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ Scientist, on Sunday, November 24.
The Golden Text is: "The Lord is good unto them that wait for him, to the soul that seeketh him" (Lamentations 3:25).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Behold, the eye of the Lord is upon them that fear him, upon them that hope in his mercy; To deliver their soul from death, and to keep them alive in famine" (Psalms 33:18, 19).
The lesson-sermon also includes the following correlative selections from the textbook of Christian Science: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy; "Christian Science explains all cause and effect—mental, not physical. It lifts the veil of mystery from Soul and body. It shows the scientific relation of man to God, disentangles the interlaced ambiguities of being, and sets free the imprisoned thought" (p. 114).

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
Lesson for Nov. 24—"Haggai and Zechariah."
For 16 years no successful effort was made by the exiles who returned from captivity to rebuild the ruined temple in Jerusalem. Glad as these homeless Jews were to get back to their fatherland, they faced a burdensome struggle for the mere necessities of existence. Not only were they few in number and devoid of wealth, but they also had to contend with drought; and a consequent failure of crops.
Such a set-back naturally adversely affected their morale. It seemed as if God had forgotten them in His anger. Their faith began to waver. But fortunately, at this critical juncture, the prophet Haggai, who combined genuine enthusiasm with unusual common sense, aroused them from their lethargy by the summons to "work for the Lord," "the work," said he, "that God has not yet come to His city. But how can we live with His people if they provide no dwelling for Him? Gird up your loins, assemble the stone and mortar, erect a temple, and all will be well."
Stirred by Haggai's imperative summons, the people at once set to work under the leadership of Zerubbabel, their governor, and Joshua, the high priest. How appealing to the imagination is that September day when the foundation was laid. We
