Mountain Crest Trails Traverse Western U. S.

Backpacking exploring expeditions from Canada to Mexico are possible during proper seasons over the Pacific Crest Trail system, according to information given by Clinton C. Clarke, of the Pacific Crest Trail System conference.

Traversing five national parks, 19 national forests, and crossing 16 main highways at their summit passes, the Pacific Crest Trail system furnishes a continuous route of 2,300 miles of trails through Washington, Oregon and California from border to border. The trails are located just beneath the summit crests of the great mountain walls of the Cascade range in Washington and Oregon and the Sierra Nevada in California. The Cascade Crest trail, 440 miles in length, runs from Canada south to Stevens pass, Mount Rainier and the Columbia river.

The Oregon Skyline trail, 410 miles long, reaches from the Washington line to McKenzie pass, Crater lake and the state line between Oregon and California. Three hundred and thirty miles of the California system are included in the Lava Crest trail reaching from Oregon to Yuba gap by way of Mount Lassen. Central California contains three trails: the Tahoe-Yosemite, John Muir, and Sierra trails, totaling 608 miles and covering Yuba gap to Lake Tahoe, Lake Tahoe to Tuolumne meadows, Tuolumne meadows to Mount Whitney and Mount Whitney to Tehachapi pass. The Desert Crest trail covers 480 miles in its course from Tehachapi pass to Mexico via Soledad canyon, Cajon pass, and Mount San Jacinto.

The Desert Crest trail, according to Mr. Clarke, will afford opportunities to those who are physically able and sufficiently skilled to enjoy mountain climbing and life on the open trail by the backpacking method during the winter season when the rest of the Pacific Crest is blocked by snow.

Describing the Desert Crest trail, Clarke stated, "A pathway of wide horizons and a great variety of mountain scenery, the trail traverses a semi-tropical region along the summit ridges rising above the desert country."

"Although there are fine camps with good water and stone fireplaces at approximately 15 mile intervals across the desert," Clarke declared, "there is no pasture or green feed for animals."

Mrs. Borah May Write . . . Mrs. Taft Can Speak . . . New Conversations Between Nazis and Soviet Worry Allies.

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—Plans for the future are still uncertain for "Little Borah" as Mrs. William E. Borah, widow of the senator, is affectionately known. Except for one thing—the decision to give up the spacious, beautifully furnished apartment in which she and the senator lived for many years. It was their only home. They had none in Idaho. When they returned there in the summer they lived in a Boise hotel.

The senator left a small estate which with the $10,000 which widows of members of congress receive, will enable Mrs. Borah to live comfortably. Borah could have made big money, but he always refused. He had many offers of legal cases; and a few years ago he was handed a contract by a newspaper syndicate for $52,000 to write a weekly, 1,200-word article. But he rigidly adhered to the rule that he was an employee of the people and that they were entitled to his full time.

Borah was so meticulous about this that when, during his fourth term, congress increased senatorial pay from $7,500 to $10,000 a year, he refused to accept the additional $2,500 until re-elected.

Mrs. Borah has a sister in Moscow, Idaho, and another in Portland, Ore. She will visit them before deciding where she will settle permanently. In the past, she has had a number of requests to write about Washington and about her many experiences in the official and social world. She has always declined, but now she may turn her gentle, wit and charm to such work.

Merry-Go-Round.

Mrs. Bob Taft, wife of Ohio's G. O. P. "favorite son," doesn't play bridge, but she can make a better political speech than her husband. . . . The SEC is quietly investigating a Wall Street "bear raid" on securities of the $800,000,000 Standard Gas & Electric company, following inside reports that the raid was staged by utility interests as part of a campaign to discredit the

More to Blow About

Mrs. Bob Taft helps Girl Scouts blow out birthday candles. She can also blow about making better speech than her senator husband.

SEC . . . E. R. Stettinius, able young head of the U. S. Steel corporation, is high among the possibilities for assistant secretary of navy, made vacant when Charles Edison was elevated to the cabinet. . . . Townsendsites have picked St. Louis and June 30 as the place and date for their convention this year. Politicians are much interested in the timing, because it is before the two national nominating conventions. In 1936, Townsend teamed up with Father Coughlin against both Roosevelt and Landon.

War Pessimism.

The confidential war reports received by government agencies have not been too optimistic of late regarding the Allied positions.

This pessimism has nothing to do with the sudden mobilization of the Dutch and Belgians, which had behind it only the fact that the canals which constitute the best defense against Germany were frozen, and the lowland countries suddenly realized how easy it would be for the Nazis to cross.

Chief reason for pessimism is the very mediocre success of the British blockade, plus rumblings of new conversations between Russia and Germany.

How far these new conversations have gone is impossible to say. But they revolve around the Russian failure in Finland and the fact that the Russian transportation system has broken down. This gives the Germans an excellent excuse to become the technical doctors of the Soviet.

In fact, Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop, who has been under a lot of German army criticism for negotiating the Russian pact in the first place, now sees this as a golden opportunity to redeem himself. He has proposed to Stalin that Germany take over Russia's transportation and industry, but only if she has a completely free hand.

Whether Stalin accepts is anyone's guess. But if he does, Russia and Germany together will constitute the most powerful region in the world, ruled by two dictators, stretching from the Rhine to the Pacific.
