THE FULTON PATRIOT

ESTABLISHED 1846 | FULTON, N. Y., THURSDAY, JANUARY 23, 1947 | Vol. 102; No. 4

BILL BOOSTER SAYS:

The Fulton Teachers' association is putting on a campaign to arouse interest in the proposition of more state aid to schools

The campaign has a much broader outlook, evidently, than that of securing higher salaries for teachers.

The association set its goal to the securing of boosts in state aid from $100 per year per grade school pupil to $175 per year and from $180 per year per high school pupil to $225 per year.

Also, the association points out that such increases would mean modern school buildings, wide choice of subjects, more individual instruction in smaller classes, greater facilities for recreation, increased emphasis on physical fitness, improved and modernized equipment and better paid teachers.

While, of course, some of the points touched upon above do not enter into the picture presented by state aid to schools, nevertheless it is a commendable effort upon which the teachers have launched.

State per capita pupil aid is given communities for use under the discretion of the local school authorities for general school purposes.

Therefore the per capita payments may be allocated to teachers' salaries, administrative expenses, new books, etc., etc. etc. —the general running expenses of the school system.

We put it that way to disabuse the minds of those who have had the idea that when the state aid, which this year we understand will top $200,000 to Fulton schools, is determined upon it is used exclusively for teachers' salaries. It could be, but isn't. The board of education has to allocate the money to its proper use for the benefit of the school system.

Furthermore, as we analyze the teachers' effort, it has no bearing upon the present legislative consideration of Governor Dewey's recommendation for appropriation of money from the state's surplus so that the underpaid teachers may receive raises ranging upwards to $800.

What the local teachers are aiming at is a permanent program of increased state aid.

What the Dewey proposal aims at is to provide $300 to $800 raises to teachers who have not had commensurate increases since June 30th, 1945.

Of course, if a teacher has had a $300 increase since June 30th, 1945, exclusive of planned increment, the board of education may, if it chooses, use the state money to reimburse the city for that increase.

It is believed, however, that the board of education will use the state money for increase of salaries, without respect to any increases that have been made since June 30th, 1945.

Be that as it may, the campaign of the teachers for permanent upping of state aid is being pushed and is quite likely to succeed in whole or in part

More and more the voices of the payers of income taxes in lower income groups are being lifted up against the idea of the 20 per cent across the board reduction.

That proposition is being held up to the limelight for juhat what it is—an effort to give the higher income groups big juicy plums while casting ragged little crumbs to those in the lower income groups.

One editorial comment in a daily paper states that efforts have been made to lift the pressure on lower income groups by such provisions as the health service baloney of deductions of all spent for such purpose above 5 per cent of net income and the extension of exemption upon dependents over 18 years of age who are still in school

Those provisions to the man in the lower income groups mean nothing at all.

The legislators better wake up to the fact that there are a whole lot of people in the lower income groups who are capable of thinking and who are becoming more and more determined that they will not continue to be the goats.

LANIGAN WARNS COMMUNISM AS WORLD THREAT

Addressing the Holy Name society of St. Mary's Catholic church, Oswego, at its annual banquet last week, James E. Lanigan of Fulton told the 250 men present that the pattern of revolution is becoming apparent in the world and its visible expression is Communism. The only antidote is Christianity, he said, "a militant and active Christianity."

Mr. Lanigan said it was a pleasure to fraternize with the men of St. Mary's parish on such an occasion and cess in this event which has such cesscess in this event and their membership in a society which has such high and laudable aims, fostered by the parish priests.

Mr. Lanigan said there had been two things going on in the world for the past few years, the war and revolution. Now that hostilities have ceased the pattern of revolution is becoming apparent in Communism, whose aim is to destroy Christianity. The principal exponent of revolution Mr. Lanigan said, is Russia.

He characterized Communism as a philosophy of government and said that it is unthinkable that it should gain a foothold in this county. Yet there are people who accept the teachings but reject the name of communism.

Urging increased activity in the lay apostolate in combatting error and advancing truth, Mr. Lanigan scored the complacent attitude of many Americans who refuse to believe their nation and ideals are in danger "until the threat is on their very doorsten."

"It rests with us whether subversive forces either from without or within, rob us of our American heritage. May we not fail in the task."

JOHN T. SULLIVAN RE-ELECTED TO PRESIDENCY

At the annual meeting of the Oswego County National bank, held last Thursday in Oswego, President John T. Sullivan of Fulton, in his annual report to the directors, said that despite heavy withdrawals of temporary government deposits which had taken place during the past year, that an increase of approximately $2,000,000 in other deposits that had come to the bank had been sufficient to offset largely the government's withdrawal of funds.

The net operating profit of the bank for the year, after deductions for taxes and similar items, Mr. Sullivan said, had been most satisfactory, making it possible for the bank to increase its surplus to $500,000, so that the surplus of the bank now equals stock, which is also $500,000. These figures also provided for substantial increases in reserves and undivided profits.

The following were elected as directors: Frank C. Ash, Earl D. Brown, Don A. Colony, Webb G. Cooper, Dr. Emerson J. Dillon, Stanley P. Emerick, John D. Haskell, Thomas J. Johnson, Thomson Kingsford, James M. Long, Elliott B. Mott, Walter W. Schneckenburger, Edward D. Street, John T. Sullivan, Edwin M. Waterbury and Frank G. Wells.

Members of the Phoenix advisory committee were redesignated as follows: Dr. Emerson Dillon, Richard W. Sweet and Irving S. Wood.

Campbell, chairman of the board; Earl Brown, executive vice-president and secretary; Elliott B. Mott, vice-president; Alfred G. Tucker, vice-president and cashier; Carroll R. LEGION SEEKING 2,600 VETERANS IN POST TOTALS

A campaign to bring the total county American Legion membership to 2,600 will be completed without delay, Hugh Barclay, commander of the county organization stated at a meeting held in Pulaski last week. The quota, fixed by the state and national headquarters, represents an increase of 600 members more than were on post rolls in 1946.

Three prizes, diamond studded Legion pins, were offered in the membership campaign, and two of the pins, one for the post commander and the other to the chairman of the post membership committee, went to Hannibal post for doubling its membership the past year. The post was organized in 1945 and has become one of the most active in the county. The third pin will go to the post in the county which shows the greatest percentage of membership increase. The deadline is March 15, and complete membership returns will be available by April 1.

There was a discussion on the Boys State, to be held this year at Colgate university, with an attendance of 1,000 boys, representing an increase which will give Oswego county posts an opportunity for sending 12 delegates this year.

VETERANS MUST MAKE REPORT OF THEIR EARNINGS

More than 50,000 veterans in school or training on the job under the G. I. Bill in the Buffalo regional area will soon receive a new simplified earnings report form from the Veterans Administration.

The reports are required under the law passed by the last congress which set limitations on the combined wages and subsistence allowance of these trainees. If the veteran's earnings plus his subsistence allowance exceed $175 a month if he is single or $200 a month if he has dependents, the law requires that his subsistence payments be reduced to bring the total within these limits.

All veterans enrolled under the G. I. Bill must make the report, even though they have no earnings. Failure to report will cause the veteran's subsistence payments to be stopped. However, only G. I. Bill (Public Law 346) enrollees are affected. Disabled veterans in school or training under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act (Public Law 16) are exempt, since the earnings limitations of the act do not apply to them.

The new form calls for a report of compensation for productive labore once every four months for veterans training on the job, and once each semester or term for veterans attending schools which operate on the semester or term basis. Veterans in schools which are not on that basis will report once every four months in the same way as job trainees.

Only one-quarter of the veterans will receive the report each month. The division into reporting groups is based on terminal rights of the veterans' case numbers. Those whose numbers end in two or three will receive forms this month, while those with numbers ending four, five or six will receive forms the next month and so on. This plan is designed to even out the work of review in regional offices.

The first group who receive the forms will be required to report their actual earnings for October, November, December and January and their estimated earnings for the next four months. As soon as the January earnings are terminated the report is to be completed by the veteran and his employer and returned to th VA not later than Feb. 5. If the report is not receive by that date, subsistence payments will be suspended until it is received. Forms will be distributed to veterans by their training officers.

Instructions on the back of the form (VA- 7186J) include definitions on "regular" and "occasional" overtime, a question that has confused many veterans. If the veteran had no regular hours or fixes his own, all of his pay must be reported.

Those who are uncertain about what earnings to report should ask their training officer for help in making out the form.

TO HEAD RED CROSS DRIVE

According to an announcement by M Floyd Dresser, chairman of the local American Red Cross chapter, Thomas G. Cantine has ben chosen to head the 1947 drive for funds for the Red Cross.

The Red Cross enters the year of 1947 with another year of accomplishment behind it. Like the army, navy, state department and many welfare agencies, the Red Cross must carry a vast load of responsibilities accumulated during the war. Commitments to servicemen and veterans are far in excess of anything previously expected in peacetime. Services for the armed forces and services of veterans, including home service, will demand the major part of the annual budget for some time to come.

Included in the continuing activities are: Disaster preparedness and relief; first aid, water safety and accident prevention; maintaining of recreational centers overseas; nursing services including disaster nursing, home nursing and public health nursing; nutrition service, blood donor service, Junior Red Cross, camp and hospital service, service in veterans' hospitals and claims service.

The local campaign is scheduled for March.

ESCAPES DROWNING

Kenneth Welch of R. D. 3, had a narrow escape from drowning two miles north of Jacksonville Sunday morning when his car overturned in three feet of water and pinned him inside.

Millard Hawthorne, his brother-in-law, who was following a short distance behind in his car, saw Welch's machine leave the road and land upside down in the water. He waded to the car, kicked in a window and pulled his gasping brother-in-law to safety. Welch suffered minor facial lacerations.

Both men were returning to Fulton from Little Utica and Welch's car apparently skidded on the icy pavement. Hawthorne was traveling about 600 feet behind Welch.

The car landed upside down and the water completely covered all the windows except the right front, which was half immersed. Welch was trapped inside the rapidly filling machine when Hawthorne pulled him from the front seat.

Farmers in Oswego county are planning to oppose the adoption of daylight saving time this spring, according to a decision reached at a meeting of the executive committee of the county Farm Bureau.

INCREASED STATE AID IS ASKED BY TEACHERS

On Monday Miles Abbott of the Fulton High school faculty, went to Albany to interview State Senator Isaac B. Mitchell and Assemblyman Henry D. Coville on behalf of the Fulton Teachers Association and to present to the legislators petitions bearing the signatures of over 4,000 residents of the Fulton area urging favorable action on bills for increased state aid and higher salaries for teachers.

Tuesday afternoon Miss Grace Lynch, chairman of the newly formed Oswego River Valley Teachers Association, attended a meeting of the Central New York teachers in Syracuse. This meetig was called by Dr. John F. Hummer, assistant superintendent of Syracuse schools and president of the central zone, to plan action in the campaign for permanent legislation favorable to the teachers.

Wednesday a Fulton Teachers Association meeting was scheduled at High school to hear Mr. Abbott's and Miss Lynch's reports. At that time a decisoon was cheduled to be made on further action. The teachers feel that nothing less than a permanent salary schedule adequately financed by the state will solve the teachers' problem. Governor Dewey's solution is only a temporary measure extending over a 15-month period, thus not parmanently raising the teachers' status.
