Postmaster Praises Fulton Patrons
Heartfelt thanks from Postmaster Munger and his employees were expressed this week to the Fulton public.
"We couldn't have done the job alone," the Postmaster said. "Everyone cooperated beautifully and we were able to deliver all the holiday mail reaching the Fulton post office in time for the last delivery and postal employees were able to spend Christmas with their families," the postal official said.
"If people had waited for the last minute to mail their gifts and greetings we would have been working throughout the holiday," he said.

No backlogs were noted in post offices throughout the area.
Another significant factor was the use of ZIP Code on a great volume of the mail passing through the Fulton post office. This meant more efficient mail handling operation than in previous years.
