Fulton's finest compete at annual Battle of the Athletes-

Taking one for the team

Jen Crook provides the last line of defense in the Moonball competition at the Battle of the Athletes. In the event, a ball must be kept from touching the ground. The event was held Friday, June 5 at the Fulton Athletic Complex. Crook was a member of the green team.

In formation

Fulton Youth Soccer camp planned

Fulton Youth Soccer announced that Britannia Soccer will be conducting a week-long soccer camp at the Fulton Athletic Complex Aug. 3-7.

Complete teams and individual players of all abilities, ages 5 through 18, are invited to attend this fun-filled week. Britannia's staff is fully-qualified with coaches and professional players from all over Britain. Coaching will be customized to meet individual players' needs thereby maximizing fun and learning. As well as professional coaching, each camper will receive a free camp T-shirt and skill awards.

High quality hand-stitched soccer balls and shinguards are also available.

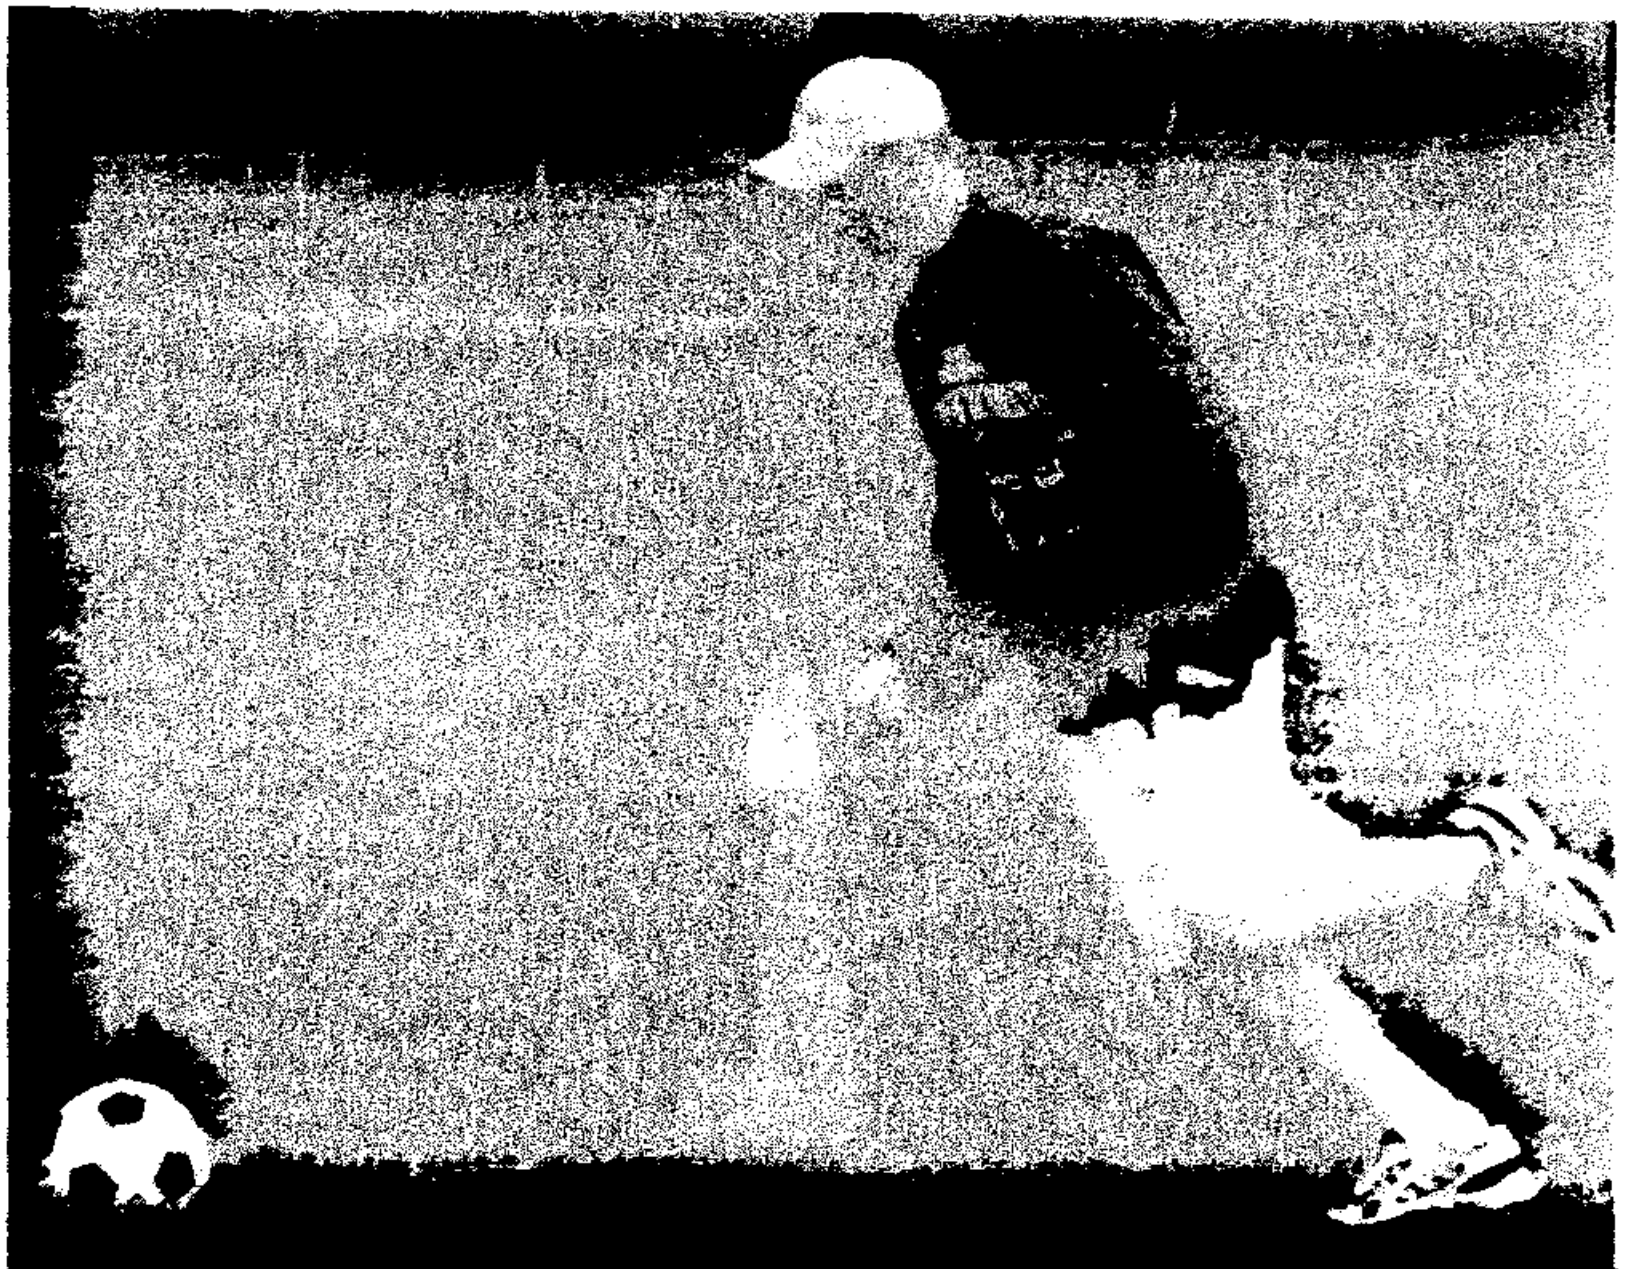

In addition, Britannia's will hold a free parent/coach clinic during the week of the camp. Space is limited.

Those needing a registration brochure or requiring any further information may please call Judy Lamb at 592-5572.

Getting dizzy

Chelsea Wright tries her hand at the Dizzy Izzy, in which participants must spin around a bat seven times. Wright's red team finished third in the Battle of the Athletes, while the purple team took first and the black team took second. The teal, navy, and burgundy teams rounded out the top six.

Kicking it

Fulton athlete Matt Digby tries to navigate a soccer ball through an obstacle course at the Battle of the Athletes, held Friday, June 5 at the Fulton Athletic Complex.
