ELECTION SEEN AS CONVENTION DRAWS NEAR

For West Side Fight Looks for Vice-Commander; Mayor to Attend.

With Four Out of Five of the State's 31 delegates already in attendance at the New York Republican State Convention, Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, chairman of the convention's headquarters committee, assured delegates at 2 p.m. yesterday that all measures to attract the expected 10,000 to 15,000 delegates and alternate delegates would be taken.

La Guardia promised the delegates that every effort would be made to keep the convention in session for the full five days of the meeting, beginning tomorrow at 10 a.m.

Just as he adjourned the meeting, La Guardia was hailed by the cheering 1,200 delegates present as he announced that 7,000 delegates have already signed up to attend the convention.
