Spy Suspect Was Seized On Way to South America

The government attempting to show today that Frederick J. Disbrow, alleged master spy, was about to be sent to Germany espionage assignment to South America before his arrest in Jamaica, Special Agent Lawrence A. Quine of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, testified at the deportation trial of Disbrow and 15 others identified as found in the defendant's apartment.

"I was able to answer the questions of Disbrow's connection with the German espionage service and identified him," Investigator Quine said yesterday.

The London Morning Post yesterday described as "the best of the defendants" Frederick J. Disbrow, who was identified as a German spy in Jamaica and to have been connected with the espionage service of the German government.
