Indian Tribal Dances Expressions of Thanks

Americans dance for pleasure but the Indians dance to express various feelings. The dance-ceremonials of the latter are in effect prayers for rain, health and happiness, thanks for abundant crops, or a demonstration of joy for a victory, a new chief, etc. The deep philosophy of Indian life is reflected in the colorful tribal dances so interesting to see but often so difficult to reach.

as the inter-tribal Indian ceremonial where such dances are featured. The third annual ceremonial was held there recently.

The ceremonials are a non-profit effort to visualize the Indian customs and to exhibit their handicraft and encourage and stimulate them. The city dweller who thinks the day of the covered wagon is past can see on such occasions the caravans of peaceful Indians camped in picturesque array around their camp fires.—Pathfinder Magazine.

"Eat and Enjoy It" Is Motto of This Expert

In recent years we have had a perfect deluge of advice on our eating habits. "Eat and grow fat," warns one school of diet experts. "Eat and grow thin," urges another. But there is one expert who has no particular diet fad to exploit, and if she has any particular motto to suggest it probably would be "Eat and enjoy it."

She is Miss Nellie Maxwell, whose department, "The Kitchen Cabinet," is a regular feature in this newspaper. Thousands of women newspaper readers throughout the United States look to Miss Maxwell's "Kitchen Cabinet" for recipes of every variety of savory dishes, which they know members of their families will enjoy eating and which are not only palatable but also nourishing and which offer the proper ingredients of a well-balanced diet as well.

One reason why Miss Maxwell's recipes and her practical advice on household matters are so popular is because she understands so thoroughly the problems which beset her readers. For two years Miss Maxwell was engaged in domestic science extension work for the state agricultural colleges of Iowa and Nebraska. In that work she was called upon to give wives advice on how to plan their household work so they could do it more easily and satisfactorily than it had been done before.

Then Miss Maxwell became a lecturer and demonstrator at the numerous institutes which are held under the auspices of the University of Wisconsin. She has been a frequent contributor on household subjects to the publications of the university, and with her co-worker she prepared the Women's Bulletin for Wisconsin women, ten thousand copies of which are distributed annually.

Such is the record of the expert who writes "The Kitchen Cabinet" for this newspaper. We feel sure that every woman reader will find in it much that will be helpful. For users of "Nellie Maxwell recipes" find that they have a common bond whenever women who pride themselves on their cooking get together and "swap" ideas on what to give the members of their families to eat.

Comfort Kits Sent 40,000 Service Men by Red Cross

Gay patterned cretonne bags, or comfort kits, containing articles useful and amusing, are sent by the Red Cross to 40,000 soldiers, sailors and Marines, on foreign service, as Christmas remembrances.

The little gift bags are donated and packed by women in Red Cross Chapters all over the country. They are despatched by Army transport in the early autumn in order to reach the foreign ports and posts of the U. S. services in time to be hung on the Christmas trees. Giving the remembrance from home is the outgrowth of a plan adopted by the Red Cross prior to the World War when so many National Guard regiments were on the Mexican border.

Tree 130 Years Old Removed at Princeton

Princeton, N. J.—An elm, which has stood on the campus in front of Nassau hall for ten years, was removed by university employees. Struck by lightning four years ago, the tree began to rot away and had become dangerous to passers-by.

When the elm was planted in 1800, during the presidency of Samuel Stanhope Smith, only three buildings comprised Princeton university and the enrollment was less than 100 students.

NEEDS FOR RED CROSS SERVICE ON INCREASE, SAYS CHAIRMAN PAYNE

Disaster Relief and Service to War Veterans Make Heavy Demands—First Aid on Highways New Plan.

Demands upon the public services that the American Red Cross is organized to give are increasingly heavy, and will continue to be so in the future, John Barton Payne, chairman, has announced.

The two major services of the society—service to war veterans and their dependents, and relief in disasters—show each year a greater number of persons helped by the Red Cross.

Pension legislation passed recently for World War Veterans, and increased allotments to all Spanish-American War Veterans, have given to Chapters and the national society many thousands of additional cases to handle, Judge Payne said.

In the past year help was given in 108 disasters. Ninety of these were in the United States, twelve in foreign possessions and six were in foreign countries.

Health activities of the Red Cross also are being extended, especially in the rural communities where all health authorities agree the greatest need exists. Red Cross, with 794 nurses in its employ, is the greatest employer of public health nurses in rural areas in the United States.

In its campaign against accidental deaths, begun twenty years ago with its life saving and first aid programs, the Red Cross now has adopted an additional program—that of combating the huge toll of life from automobile accidents on the highways.

Expenditures of the Red Cross in the past year were $4,254,796.34, of which $1,208,151.09 was spent in disaster relief, the chairman pointed out.

"The Red Cross depends upon the public for its support, through their memberships enrolled each year in the period from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day," Judge Payne said.

"We do not receive any support from the Government, or through other taxation, although as the President of the United States is president of the society, and one-third of its governing members are representatives of U. S. Departments, it ranks as a semi-governmental agency.

"By joining as a member, in the local Red Cross Chapter, once each year, during the annual Roll Call, every citizen will have a part in carrying on this great humanitarian task."

Saving Mothers and Babies Is Important Red Cross Task

Saving mothers' lives and better babies were important features during the past year of the Public Health Nursing Service of the American Red Cross. About four-fifths of the 794 nurses in the Red Cross work made more than 100,000 prenatal and maternal visits, in addition to assisting doctors in the examination of 1,309,409 school children.

Statistics reveal that the lives of two out of three American women who die in maternity cases could be saved if they received proper medical and nursing care. As more than 15,000 women die in the United States each year from various diseases of the maternal state, this means that more than 10,000 of these deaths are preventable.
