"With It."

A Woodward avenue grocer yesterday displayed a dozen watermelons—the first of the season—with a sign bearing the figures "75c." surmounting the pile. A colored man came along and stopped to gaze lovingly at the luscious fruit, and directly he asked of a clerk:

"Lands alive! but watermelyons heab already! How much does it say on dat sign?"

"Seventy-five dollars apiece."

"H'm! 'Pears rather high at the first send off, but I reckon it ain't. Regular old red cores, I reckon, an' ebery one of 'em worth de money or no sale."

"Will you take one?"

"Not jist dis minit. I'll be comin' 'long back in 'bout an hour, an' den, if de price has drapped to circumolate de attitude of my integrity, I'll tote one home."—Detroit Free Press.

A Strange Visitor.

Hamilton, O., has a mysterious visitor. He is a man of about 45, and during the several weeks he has spent about the town no one has been able to get a single word from him. He carries a bundle to which he clings all the time, using it at night for a pillow. What it contains no one knows. He sleeps in an open wheat field. He has never entered a door, never asked for food or been given a mouthful of food and puts in the day walking up and down the pike. He visits a spring, where he drinks copiously, but what he lives on outside of water, where he came from, or what his name is no one has been able to ascertain.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Site for London's Big Tower.

A site two miles west of St. John's Wood has been fixed upon for the Watkin tower, and a small company of engineers, capitalists, railway men and others are about to inspect it. It is not intended that any time shall be lost in carrying out the project. The ground is actually bought and before many weeks are over the digging of the foundation of the tower will be commenced.—Public Opinion.

An unusually large number of American actors and actresses are in London, namely, Fanny Davenport and husband, Sadie Martinot, Margaret Mather, Cora Tanner, Minnie Palmer, Carrie Turner, Lilian Lewis, Helen Bancroft, Kate Forsythe, Evans and Hoey, Donnelly and Girard, Harry Lee, Otis Skinner, Ralph Delmore, Mary Anderson and Grace Hawthorne, besides all of Augustin Daly's company.

Prince George's involuntary cruise on board the Thrush has been satisfactorily explained. The prince fell in love with a maiden whom it was not deemed wise for him to wed and he was sent away in the hope that time and distance may cure his infatuation.

A Child's Feat.

A retired general of the Union army, who lives in a small town in the interior part of the state, was talking about New York's children. "I am a countryman myself," he said, "and I have a small acquaintance with the ways of the town. Perhaps that is one reason why I can never get accustomed to the extraordinary wisdom of the little people of New York. Like many another old fogy I am still practically afraid of a waiter. When I go into a restaurant it makes me nervous to have a waiter standing and watching me and with a crowd around, and I find it almost impossible to order anything else than beefsteak and fried potatoes from a bill of fare. A few days ago I took my little niece down to Governor's island to see some of the big guns and other paraphernalia of war. On the way back in the elevated train she said:

"'Uncle, if you are a general you must have a great deal of money.'

"'What makes you think so?'

"'Because generals own forts and islands and big cannons and all that. It seems to me that if you have so much money you ought to spend some of it on me.'

"'How?' I asked.

"'Well,' said the little girl thoughtfully, 'I don't know which I would rather have, a new pair of gloves or lunch all alone with you at Delmonico's. I think, however, I prefer Delmonico's.'

"We discussed it all the way to Twenty-third street, and as she finally made up her mind to the luncheon I took her over to the restaurant and placed her in a big chair—she is less than 8 years old and her chin barely rose above the edge of the table—and prepared for lunch. She took the bill of fare, glanced over it and glibly ordered raw oysters, shad roe, cucumber salad and broiled chicken, with asparagus and green peas, and teased me half an hour to give her a sip of champagne. Imagine any child 8 years of age anywhere else ordering a lunch of that sort. She succeeded better at her time of life than I, after sixty years of work in this vale of tears, and had acquired one of the most difficult feats of civilization, that of ordering a dinner."—Blakely Hall in Brooklyn Eagle.

Some half dozen years ago I knew a man who was hard, stern, grasping; who never allowed a dollar to slip through his fingers; whose faithful wife worked early and late that he might not have to spend an unnecessary cent. Many and many a time have I seen her on her knees, cleaning her floor with a brush; I have seen her, too, stand up and put her hands to her back and moan with pain. I have seen her paint her own floors, and paper her own walls, and beat her own carpets, with great, rough hands and red arms bared to the blistering winds. Well, let me tell you how she was rewarded.

After years had worn by in toil and care, with never a caress or a word of appreciation or a ray of pleasure, this unhappy couple bought a lot in a fine location and builded thereon a beautiful home—one that excited admiration in every breast. It was all finished and elegantly furnished. The lawn was the loveliest in the whole city, with fountains playing upon it from morning till night; the greenhouse was filled with rare flowers. Oh, each time I passed that house I broke a commandment. When it was ready for occupancy the poor, tired, worn out wife sickened, and on the very night she was to have moved into her new house she gave one long sigh and went home to a land whence there is no returning.

In five months her husband had married again, and everything that had been planned with such patient hope and love had to be changed to please the new mistress, while the old one with the broken heart lay with care lined face and hard, work worn hands out in Lone Fir cemetery. This was the first picture [illegible]nd that I ever saw, but I have [illegible] and admirable copies of it hanging the walls of life.—West Shore.

GEN. EARLY'S RECORD.

He Is Denounced as a Drunkard by an ex-Confederate.

NEW YORK, July 7.—A special to the World from Fredericksburg, Va., says trouble is rapidly brewing between Gen. Jubal Early and Maj. H. Lacey who was one of Gen. Holmes' staff officers in the Confederate army. The trouble is the outcome of the bitter Mahone campaign last fall. Gen. Early took occasion to contradict a statement of Maj. Lacey's to the effect that Gen. Robert E. Lee had once said that if he were to select a successor to himself at the head of the Confederate army he would have chosen Mahone. Each of the gentlemen have since denounced each other through the newspapers, and at the recent unveiling of the Lee statue in Richmond, Early refused to recognize Lacey when the latter accosted him. Yesterday, the Lance published a statement from Major Lacey reaffirming the truth of his statement as to Gen. Lee's admiration of Mahone, and denouncing Early as a drunken blackguard. The Major adds that he "will not permit a man of Early's character and reputation to insult without such resentment as gentlemen should show." He also promises to furnish the Lance with a history of Gen. Early's war record, to show how utterly useless he was in the Confederate army. This arraignment of Gen. Early will probably appear in next Friday's edition of the Lance. It is thought a conflict between the two ex-confederates will be the result.

A CITY DEVASTATED.

Great Destruction in the West by a Cyclone.

MILWAUKEE, July 7.—Advices received at the office of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad company this morning state that Fargo, N. D., was devastated by a tornado about 2 o'clock this morning and that many of the best buildings in the city were totally wrecked. Several people are reported killed and many injured. A northern Pacific passenger train, consisting of twelve cars was blown from the track half a mile west of the city, injuring a number of passengers, some of them seriously. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul freight house was destroyed and its contents ruined. Telegraph wires were blown down and the city cut off from communication with the outside world for several hours. The elevator at Fenny was blown over on the main track, and the railroad authorities have reason for beleiving that havoc had been wrought all along the line. A wrecking outfit has left St. Paul for the scene of the wreck on the Northern Pacific, near Fargo.

Extending Its Operations.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—The Alaska Commercial company which until recently had the exclusive right to capture seals in the American waters of Behring sea, has now secured a contract with the Russian government granting it the exclusive right to capture seals on the Siberian coast. The number of seals to be taken is limited but is not known.

Our Flag Pulled Down.

HAMILTON, July 7.—On Friday last at Mount Hope, undertaker Joel Smith hoisted the stars and stripes over his residence in honor of the "Fourth." A deputation of neighboring farmers requested its removal, but Smith declined, whereupon the flag was riddled with bullets and divided among the crowd. A second flag raised by Smith met a similar fate.

Shot by Robbers.

ST. JOHN, N. B., July 7.—At Bloomfield, a station twenty-five miles from here, Saturday night, Charles Scheck was fatally shot while attempting the arrest of two men suspected of breaking into stores at Sussex. The men were followers of Robbins' circus who had been left behind the show.

A Nobleman Murdered.

CETTINGE, July 7.—The commandent of the body guard of Prince Nicholas of Montenegro, and a cousin of that ruler, Col. Martinovitch, was to-day assassinated in the public market place of this city. The crime was inspired by a desire for private vengeance. The assassin was seized upon by the people and lynched on the scene of his crime.

Four K. of P.'s Killed.

MILWAUKEE, July 7.—Gen. Carnahan, commander uniformed rank Knights of Pythias, received a dispatch from Montano Ills., at noon to-day announcing the wreck of the Illinois Central special train containing the sixth regiment of Illinois Knights. Four of the Knights were killed and six injured.

A City Swept Away.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 7.—There are rumors which appear to have foundation, that the cyclone on the northern Pacific has swept away the city of Fargo. The Western Union telegraph wires are down flat for miles. No details can be obtained yet.

The Elmira Gazette says that Calvin S. Wheaton, formerly Grand Chief Conductor, and now the head of the Independent Order of Railway Conductors will, it is understood, establish the headquarters of the new order in that city, which has been his home for many years, and later will likely publish a magazine for the order.

THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY.

Its Main Offices Permanently Established in This City.

The Auburn Street Railway Company has taken an office in the Cayuga County National bank building and its main office will hereafter be maintained in this city. The recently elected officers of the company are: David B. Gould, St. Louis, president; G. W. Allen, Auburn, vice president; Jay E. Storke, Auburn, treasurer; A. H. Underwood, Auburn, secretary. Directors: David B. Gould, H. E. Cobb of Boston, U. O. Crane of New York, G. W. Allen, D. A. Smith, Jay E. Storke, George H. Nye.

President Gould who has been in the city for three days will leave to-night for Boston, to purchase the motors, rails, etc., for the construction of the road in Owasco street. The contract for the ties has already been let and from present indications work on the road will be commenced within two weeks.

The formal consent of Samuel Laurie has not been given as yet, but it is probable that it will be as his attorney M. V. Austin expressed himself satisfied with the arrangement to construct the road on the east side of the street. This will remove all the ground for objection on Mr. Laurie's part and it is probable that his consent will be obtained. This will remove all chance of delay on account of litigation, and it is probable that the road will be in operation within two months.
