Troubled with an Elevator.

People who go to apothecaries to have their diseases prescribed for occasionally get very strange diagnoses. In one case a man wearing a long countenance is said to have entered an apothecary's shop and remarked:

"I seem to have something queer in my stomach, and I want you to give me something for it."

"What are your symptoms?" the apothecary asked.

"Every little while something seems to rise up and then settles back again, and by and by it rises up again."

The apothecary put his chin in the palm of his hand and meditated a while.

"Look here," he said gravely, "you haven't gone and swallowed an elevator, have you?"—Chicago News.

A Freight Car's Run with a Fair Wind.

During the fierce and biting wind which prevailed in this vicinity the other day, a freight car standing on a siding here was blown through a safety switch to the main track and thence down to near Lehighton, a distance of four miles. It passed Packerton at the rate of twenty miles an hour. Messages were sent over the wires to look out for the car, and it was stopped and side tracked in time to avoid an accident. The car passed Packerton before the message could be sent there to catch it in its flight, and its speed, without a locomotive attached, startled all who saw it.—Mauch Chunk Cor. Philadelphia Record.

No Need of "Beauty Sleep."

It is all nonsense about "beauty sleep" coming in the hours before midnight, and that the rosy cheek on the country lass is the reward for retiring at the time when the proverbially pale faced city girl's evening commences. The late hours of fashionable life would not necessarily scatter the roses from the cheek if the late hour for retiring could be the same every night without variation. It is irregular hours and meals that cause pale and haggard faces. The handsomest couple I ever saw retired regularly at 11:30, and always indulged in a light lunch just before retiring. They were both pictures of health.

The lady did not look over 23, though she never hesitated to say that she was 38 years old; and the husband looked at least ten years younger than he really was. They were both devotees to the laws of health. For years they had allowed nothing to interfere with the regularity of sleeping and eating hours. Almost the midnight hour was chosen for retiring, because it allowed them evenings at the theatre and an hour or so at even the most fashionable receptions. When alone in their home they never indulged in an earlier hour.—Chicago Herald.

Advice for Speakers.

One of the common mistakes made by the tyro in public speaking is that of exhausting his subject and his audience at the same time. By too great discursiveness the pith of the subject is lost, and what might have been a victory is turned into signal defeat. To save such a disaster one should think carefully upon any subject before attempting to talk upon it, and in the thinking keep strictly to the salient points and the simplest possible form of giving them expression.

Only the born orator, the genius, may safely venture into the flower garden of speech and indulge in glowing and highly colored perorations. To the ordinary speaker close attention to facts and simple statement in well chosen and convincing language are the safest and surest means of winning golden opinions for self and success for one's cause at the same time.—Jennesse-Miller Magazine.

Twenty years ago no photograph was more often seen than that of President Lincoln sitting with a big book on his knee, and his little son Tad leaning against him and looking at it with him. The book was then thought to be a Bible, but it wasn't. It was Photographer Brady's picture album, which the president was examining with his son while some ladies stood by. The artist begged the president to remain quiet, and the picture was taken.

Sailors are a bowlegged class. An old salt always walks as if he were on the deck of a ship, and he never takes great strides like a landsman. He is used to having to walk great distances, in his imagination, on the quarter deck, and he can't get rid of the habit of making the most of his promenade.

A new leather dressing is a stuffing or filling compound in which are employed neatsfoot oil, beeswax, extract of logwood, borax, castile soap and other ingredients, in specified proportions, in order to soften and polish as well as preserve leather.

Senator Morrill, in spite of his 80 years, is devoted heart and soul to the improvement of the Capitol building at Washington. It is to him that is to be given the credit for the beautiful terraces which add so much of elegance and beauty to the Capitol building.

AN ITHACA SENSATION.

Fred. Bradbury Sues a Hotel Proprietor for Alienating His Wife's Affection.

ITHACA, Jan. 16.—The principal topic of conversation in this city is the report that Fred. Bradbury has begun suit against M. Casey for $10,000 for alienating the affections of his wife. The prominence of all the parties concerned increases the interest in the case. Bradbury is proprietor of the Ithaca Glove and Mitten factory, of this city, while Casey recently purchased the Alhambra hotel. Mrs. Bradbury is a handsome brunette about about twenty-five years old. The charges made in the complaint are that Casey has broken up the household and separated Bradbury and his wife. It is stated that Bradbury informed his wife recently that he was going to New York to be gone several days, but that instead he went into the country and returned about midnight with his attorney; that when the attorney knocked at the front entrance Casey made a hasty exit at the rear and ran into Bradbury's arms. Casey is silent upon the matter, but it is said that he will defend the suit. Bradbury has also begun a divorce suit against his wife.

THE CANVASS FOR SENATOR.

A Belief that the Persimmon Will Fall in Gov. Hill's Lap.

ALBANY, Jan. 16.—It is practically conceded that Smith M. Weed has withdrawn from the Senatorial canvass. His quarters here are closed. This is looked upon as the best of evidence that he has given up the struggle and in favor of Gov. Hill, who it is conceded will take the nomination and will be the only candidate before the caucus. This is argued because it is well known that Mr. Weed would not resign in favor of any other candidate than Gov. Hill. No other name than the governor's is mentioned to-day, and State officials admit that they believe Gov. Hill is the man.

Preparing to Hunt Seals.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—Preparations are being made by the resident owners of sealing vessels for the coming season. A new departure will be introduction of steam launches in the business, two of which will be carried by the schooner Henry Dennis. She is now at Seattle, but will soon sail for this port to engage hunters and receive her steam launches. The steamer Mattie Dyer and the schooner Helen Blum are also being fitted out. The former was seized last year.

Florida Exposition.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 16.—The subtropical exposition opened its fourth annual session in this city at 6 o'clock last evening. Nearly 2,000 persons were present. The exhibits are nearly all in place and every thing promises a prosperous season. Rev. Sam Jones will be here for ten days some time in February or March, and early in April the exposition will close with a grand interstate military drill.

Navy Recruits Wanted.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—It is estimated by the bureau of navigation that about 1,000 new enlistments will be required within the next 60 days in order to make up the complements of the new vessels about to go in commission, and several old vessels whose crews will soon be ready for discharge on account of the expiration of their terms of enlistment. All the men at present available at the various recruiting stations will be taken up by the vessels of the squadron of evolution which, will soon start for southern waters.

Revolution in Buenos Ayres.

BUENOS AYRES, Jan. 16.—A strong rebel force is reported to be assembled in the provine of Entre Rios. The people of the province are much alarmed at the situation of affairs. The telegraph wires have been cut. The Government has sent a heavy detachment of troops to the disturbed district to suppress the outbreak. All sorts of rumors are in circulation as to the origin and strength of the revolution.

Senator Spooner's Offer.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 16.—Senator Spooner is said to have declined an offer of $25,000 a year to locate in Chicago and become solicitor general of the Chicago & Milwaukee railroad after his retirement from the Senate. It is is said to be his desire to remain a resident of Wisconsin, and Milwaukee will be his future home. He has already been retained as counsel by some of the heaviest iron houses in Cleveland, and will devote himself almost exclusively to corporation business.

The Chaskel Chemical Works Closed.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The establishment of James Chaskel, proprietor of the Chaskel Chemical works, has been closed by the sheriff on executions amounting to $14,796. Mr. Chaskel said, yesterday, that his liabilities would reach $70,000.

A Fatal Coasting Accident.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Jan. 16.—May Jennings, aged ten years, while coasting, last evening, was run into by another sled, knocking her into the street. The second sleigh struck her in the back of the head, causing a hemorrhage of the brain from which she died at 1 o'clock this morning.

A Life Resident Coming.

BELMONT, N. Y., Jan. 16.—Henry Smith, who was, yesterday, found guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of Rufus Carnahan, at Clarksville, last April, was this morning sentenced to imprisonment for life at hard labor at Auburn.

A 15 YEAR OLD DESPERADO.

He is Under Sentence to be Hanged To-day.

OPELIKA, Ala., Jan. 16.—Gov. Jones has refused to commute the sentence of John Johnson, a 15 year old negro murderer, sentenced to be hanged to-day. Johnson was one of three young desperadoes who started on a tour of robbery several months ago. One was captured in Lagrange. The other two came to Opelika, and shot a negro who pursued them. For three days Johnson defied the officers, during that time shooting at a dozen men, and then resumed his journey towards Birmingham on the railroad track with his pistol in his hand. Mr. Stringfellow, a track walker, saw him and walked on with him to Gold Hill, but could not get an opportunity to disarm him. On their arrival at Gold Hill, Stringfellow notified Justice of the Peace P. J. Moore, and the two started after Johnson, who had kept on down the railroad track. When they overtook him the negro had concealed the pistol. Moore told him he was going to arrest him and demanded the pistol. Johnson said he would give it to him, and with a quick movement jerked it out of his shirt and shot Moore through the heart. Stringfellow then jumped on the negro and threw him down. As he did so Johnson fired at him, and the powder blackened his face. Stringfellow finally succeeded in taking the pistol from him and took him back to Gold Hill. From there Johnson was taken to Opelika just in time to prevent lynching by Moore's friends.

OPELIKA, Ala., Jan. 16.—The negro boy Johnson was hanged here for the murder of Jenkins Moore. Johnson on the scaffold said he felt "like he had religion." His last request was made to the sheriff, whom he asked to bury his body nicely.
