Watered at the P. O. at Auburn as second class matter, hence entitled to be sent at second rates.

M. BOURGEOIS, up to date, keeps up a ceaseless search for a bunch of statesmen who can be confined in a ministry and whose views will command strength in the chamber. It is a weary task and at frequent intervals Bourgeois reports to President Faure that his assignment is impossible of fulfillment. The new President has determined upon a queer policy for a publicist. He has decided that, as President of France he shall have no policy. If France is Republican, he, too, will be Republican. If the Chamber should be Radical, he will be Radical and he is even prepared to become a Socialist on the triumph of that party. This leaves Mr. Bourgeois without anything to tie to. He can promise those whom he approaches no support save what they themselves can bring to a ministry. As yet he has failed as we have said, to find a band of men who can do or even think they can do this. The prospect is that President Faure will have to dissolve the chamber, asking the people to send him a new and amenable body of deputies. Then France may secure a Government.

PEOPLE THOUGHT when they had, after years of effort, secured the abolition of "the deadly car stove" they had achieved a great victory. So they had. To devise and adopt a steam heating system was very expensive and the railroads fought the reformers at every turn. When finally beaten they undoubtedly complied with the law to the best of their ability. But it is found that the passengers are first heated to a crisp and then cooled off gradually until they resemble the occupants of a country church who have not a stove in their house of worship. The inevitable result is a crop of coughs and colds distributed all over the country, some of them resulting in the grip and some in pneumonia. We abolished one killer only to crown another. How many victims the first claimed we could ascertain but those of the last are not to be numbered. How much profit have we made? At least these modern victims die in peace in their beds.

THE AUTHORITIES of the Monroe county penitentiary desire an investigation by the Cayuga county Board. Such an investigation could amount to nothing. It would rank with the grand jury's visit to the prison and other institutions. Everything is in readiness for it and it could not find fault if it would. Still we do not see that the pro forma investigation and verdict can well be avoided. Besides it will give a committee of Supervisors a chance for a junket in which, we venture a red apple, they would partake of something more delectable than bean soup and would have plenty of it. The way to investigate that pen, is for the Supervisors to drop in one or two at a time, when they are not expected and ask to see the men barge, and eat breakfast. We do not believe that there is anything the matter with the institution but it is entitled to an investigation which investigates.

NOTHING is heard of the Carlisle financial bill which was taken out of the House with the promise that it would come back again in a fortnight so enlarged and improved that its own mother would not know it and it would prove so acceptable as to be adopted. The first of February is approaching, and it is evident that financial legislation, if there is to be any, is to be the nature of riders on appropriation bills. To the Republicans fall the task of rescuing the country.

THE BROOKLYN strike remains in the same condition as on Tuesday. There was some more shooting by the troops last night, and this time it is known that one rioter was killed. The contest promises to last a long time in the same manner in which it is now carried on, in consequence of which the Third Brigade has been ordered to hold itself in readiness, probably to act as a relieving force. Much business in the city is at a standstill and all of it suffers greatly from the stagnation.

BOTH THE ALDERMEN and the Supervisors in Brooklyn are in favor of the strikers, though not of course of their resort to violence. The proposition to enact an ordinance requiring every motorman and conductor to have a certificate of competency from the mayor, would rock the companies of their last hope should he administer it judiciously. Then we might have a conference with some chance of a compromise.

Mr. Flynn moved to the city Tuesday. Mr. Howell is quite sick. The tax collector of Fleming will be at the Beach house January 29. Charles Peterson intends to go East on Friday. A social and literary entertainment will be held at Christopher Peterson's Thursday evening. Mrs. Alice Corey of Rochester is visiting at Mrs. S. Corey's. George Vanauken has accepted a position in a shoe factory in Rochester through the count.

RUN DOWN IN THE STREET.

WILLIAM DUCKETT BADLY MANGLED BY 'CHRIS' PARCELLS' HORSE.

While on his way to dinner Mr. Duckett was mangled by the horse of William H. Duckett, a foreman in the employ of D. M. Osborne & Co., and who resides over No. 25 East Genesee street, had a narrow escape from instant death about 5 minutes after 12 yesterday. Mr. Duckett was going to dinner from his work. As was his custom, he started to cross the street just east of the watering trough in front of Lewis' mill. The bad gone but a few feet into the road when he was struck and knocked down by a horse ridden by Christopher F. Parcells, the druggist. Mr. Duckett appeared to be dead but willing ones who hastened to his side found that the breath of life had not left his body. He was carried into a blacksmith shop in Seneca street and Dr. Sheldon Voorhees sent for. The physician found a ghastly cut just over Mr. Duckett's left eye and that his left leg was broken just above the ankle and his left arm was broken between the wrist and elbow. Mr. Duckett was removed to his home and Dr. Voorhees reduced the fractures. So far as can be ascertained now Mr. Duckett has not sustained internal injuries.

There are two stories of how the accident occurred. A very clear version of it is given by John W. Chamberlain. It is given by the stable at the National hotel at noon to go to his dinner. When near the junction of Genesee and Market streets he observed two men on horseback coming up Market street. They were near the City hall and the horses were moving along at a moderate jog. Mr. Chamberlain knew that they were Parcells' horses and watched them while he was crossing the crosswalk. He turned to speak to a couple of female acquaintances and then turned his eyes toward the horses again. Thereupon had increased considerably and Mr. Chamberlain says they were traveling at the rate of 15 miles an hour. They turned into East Genesee street and took the right side of the road, going very fast. Mr. Chamberlain noticed two men start to cross the street, one six or eight feet in advance of the other. The first man just got by the horses but the second, unfortunately did not. Mr. Chamberlain says that Mr. Duckett did not see the horses until they were directly on him and that he seemed powerless to move.

This story is corroborated in part by other witnesses who did not see so much of the occurrence as Mr. Chamberlain did. Mr. Duckett himself says that he had no intimation that any danger was impending until he looked up and saw the horses running at a gallop. Parcells rode the horse which struck Mr. Duckett while a young man named Houghtaling rode the other animal. Parcells' explanation of the accident is that the horse which he was riding had not been out of the barn in two weeks. It was frisky. The horse that Houghtaling had, so Parcells says, became scared at the electric cars and at a sign across the horse ridden by Parcells. Parcells says that he tried to avoid the accident but to no avail. Some other witnesses say that the electric cars were not near enough to the scene of the accident for the motorman to see the affair which would seem to make the story of Houghtaling's horse being scared a little far fetched. Mr. Parcells will retain the assistance possible to the injured man and feels very badly about the unfortunate affair.

Officer Hickey yesterday arrested three farmers for not having warning bells on their sleighs. All pleaded guilty, were reprimanded and agreed to use bells hereafter.

THE STEAMBOAT DISASTER.

Captain Conian's Statement That No Lives Were Lost Debated. St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 23.—A special to the Republic from Hawesville, Ky., says: Captain Conian, of the lost State of Missouri, was in the city last night and reiterated his story to the effect that no lives were lost in the disaster of Saturday night. The general public in this part of the country, however, knows to the contrary. There were too many eye witnesses who saw men drown all around them. Captain Conian also states that there were only nine passengers on board when the boat went down.

W. D. Crockett, a farmer, living two miles below this city, yesterday found the cabin register of the wrecked State of Missouri and reference to it showed that there were 15 cabin and two deck passengers. The list of cabin passengers is as follows: Miss Lottie Thornhill, of Fayette; Mrs. Mary Ann, of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. James McCaffrey and wife and Mrs. Bong, of Philadelphia, from Cincinnati to New Orleans; J. C. Fisher, no destination or starting place indicated; James Bush, Cincinnati to Cave-In-Rock, Ill.; C. C. Whitehead, Cincinnati to Loganport, Ind.; Mr. Tyler, Cincinnati to Cave-In-Rock; Dave Davis, Cincinnati to Cave-In-Rock; Mr. Shannon and wife, Louisville to Memphis; Thomas Sweeney, Louisville to Leavenworth, Ind.; O. L. Palmer, New Albany to New Orleans.

The following deck passengers were shown on the register: V. Tiler and John Brauner, from Cincinnati to New Orleans. It is not possible to discover who are lost, as the rescued are scattered everywhere. Mr. Leathers, of Hopkinsville, Ky., was a rescued passenger but his name does not appear on the register. How many were not registered will never be known. The cash drawer was found with $104 in silver and parts of torn bills were scattered about the wreck. A reduction in Wages. PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 23.—The miners employed at the W. L. Booth mines, have accepted a reduction to 35 cents per ton with the provision that the company stores be abolished. The men are to be paid in cash, semi-monthly. Other operators in the district are notifying their miners of reductions with a view to abating the company's stores.

A Hackettstown Miracle.

AN INTERESTING RECITAL.

From the (Hackettstown, N. J.) Republican. Reports from time to time reached the Republic of the remarkable cure of Mrs. Joseph Shields, the wife of our leading coal merchant, who has been suffering from a complication of diseases that nearly resulted in her death. In order to verify these statements, one of our reporters called upon Mrs. Shields and found that the reports were in no way exaggerated, and that Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy had saved her life. The particulars of the case are these: "I was taken sick," said Mrs. Shields, "with typhoid fever, and was delirious for three weeks. When I recovered I suffered untold agony with my back aching like a hammer. I could not get up, and I was unable to eat. I was fully with my kitchen. I would pass from one side of the table. My mother was with me and a friend of hers called and told her of the cure as they had passed through at her house, and that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy had been used by them, and the fact that I would find great benefit from it was.

A bottle was purchased, and I had taken a few doses before it began to relieve me, and in a few days came small, sharp, white stones passed from me. That evening the doctor called, and I told him that I had stopped his medicine, for he had told Mr. Shields the last time he called that he did not know 'how' to do for me. Some time before this was taken to the hospital, and the doctor there supposed, in Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was taken just in time. I do thank God from the bottom of my heart that he ever sent that lady here to tell me of Favorite Remedy, otherwise my death would have been my doom. I recovered, ever so many have told me that it is a wonderful cure. I can't say enough in praise of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. Many persons are using it upon my recommendation, and it is doing them good. I will cheerfully answer any questions," said Mrs. Shields. "I heard of my illness, feeling that others who were suffering will be benefited by using Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. No other could be better than this. I would like to see Mrs. Shields, who voluntarily tells the story of her remarkable recovery. Favorite Remedy ranks with the medical profession, as the most perfect of all blood and nerve medicines. It will cure all diseases of the skin, liver and kidneys, and the weaknesses peculiar to females, and it affords great protection from attacks that originate in change of life. It cures scurvy, rickets, rheumatism, dyspepsia, all kidney, bladder and urinary diseases, gravel, diabetes and Bright's disease."

FOR MRS. KELLETT.

The jury returns a verdict of $3,250 on Mr. Sanderlin's behalf. The jury in the present term of Circuit court seem to be very much in favor of the plaintiff. First came the suit of John Hunter against the New York Central railroad in which he secured a verdict of $5,000. This was followed by a verdict of $4,400 for the plaintiff in the Gaylord-Beardsley suit and then came a verdict of $5,000 in the suit brought by Frances A. Coppernal against the village of Weedsport to recover damages for injuries sustained by falling through a hole in a sidewalk. It took the jury in the Kellett-Winslow slander suit just about two hours to arrive at an agreement and a verdict of $3,250 in favor of the plaintiff was rendered Thursday evening. A motion for a new trial upon the minutes was made by counsel for the defense and denied. A stay of 30 days was granted pending a motion for a new trial before the General Term. When the Kellett-Winslow case was concluded a jury was secured in the amount brought by Jeremiah Quill against the Empire State Telephone & Telegraph company. On June 27, 1894, a glass insulator fell from a telephone pole at the corner of Genesee and Exchange streets and struck Mr. Quill on the left shoulder. As a result of it, it is alleged, the left arm became paralyzed and Mr. Quill has since been unable to use it. He brought suit against the city for $10,000 but a non-suit was entered against him. This time he sues the telephone company, alleging that it was through its negligence that the insulator fell and caused the injury to him. Rich & Aiken are Mr. Quill's attorneys and Underwood, Storke & Seward are the attorneys for the defendant. It has been shown on the trial that the Western Union Telegraph company was allowed to use the left arm of the pole in question and use its own insulators. It was from the lower arm that the insulator was struck to the extent which struck Mr. Quill. The case has been sharply contested on both sides. At the conclusion of the plaintiff's side E. E. Storke moved a non-suit as the plaintiff had failed to establish a cause of action. This motion was denied. When proofs were all submitted Mr. Storke moved that the court direct a verdict for the defendant. After some discussion Justice Adams said that he thought the case should be submitted to the jury and at 1 o'clock court took a recess until 2 o'clock. Wright & Cushing, attorneys for Eleanor D. Gaylord, in her suit against the executors of the estate of the late Nelson Beardsley, made a motion for the delivery of the amended complaint to them. The motion will be argued later. Judge Huggitt, of counsel for the defense, made a motion for a new trial which will also be heard later, all proceedings being stayed pending the determination of that motion. The divorce suit of Helen O. Heald against Dorc Heald was referred to William H. Seward, jr. The Quill case was given to the jury at 3:30 Friday afternoon. The jury in the suit of Jeremiah Quill against the Empire State Telephone & Telegraph company was, like all the other juries in the Superior court, of Circuit court, a plaintiff's jury. In deliberations were brief and its verdict was that Mr. Quill would be reasonably compensated for the damages sustained by him if paid $4,000 by the company. Of course the defendants will appeal the case. James Jackson was arraigned on the indictment charging him with stealing a horse and buggy in Weedsport. He pleaded guilty. He said he had had no intention of stealing the horse but took it to drive to this city. Justice Adams sentenced him to six months' imprisonment in the county jail. In the suit of Caroline P. B. Woodruff as executrix against James H. Baldwin, the court directed a judgment of $183.87 for the plaintiff, no appearance being made by the defendant. Judgment for the plaintiff for $705.53 was ordered in the suit of John E. McIntosh against the Grand View Beach Railroad company owing to the non-appearance of counsel for the defense. The suit of A. Burr Van Eken against Milton Alger was dismissed. In the suit of Helen M. Sanderlin against Alfred N. Hollister and another, counsel for the defense moved that the plaintiff be compelled to name on what cause of action they proposed to try, whether that the plaintiff was a visitor of a customer at the store. The court held that Mrs. Sanderlin must be considered as a customer. After argument the clerk was directed to keep the papers in the Gaylord-Beardsley suit until Judge Underwood can be heard. Court then adjourned until Monday at 11 a. m. Circuit court reconvened Monday. The case of Helen M. Sanderlin against Alfred N. Hollister and another, to recover $20,000 for damages alleged to have been sustained by a fall down an elevator shaft at Hollister & Noble's store in Market street was called. Wright & Cushing are the attorneys for the plaintiff and Taber & Brandner for the defendant, with W. E. Huggitt as counsel. All of the time up to the noon recess was consumed in securing a jury. A motion for a new trial on the minutes was made by counsel for the defendant in the suit of Jeremiah Quill against the Empire State Telephone & Telegraph company. It will be argued and determined later, all proceedings being stayed meanwhile. An order of discontinuance was entered in the suit of Joel J. Bailey against Chauncey J. Wesley. The suit of Helen M. Sanderlin against Alfred N. Hollister and another, to recover $20,000 for injuries alleged to have been sustained by falling down the elevator shaft at Hollister & Noble's store in Market street took up all of Tuesday in Circuit court. Dr. C. O. Baker, Charles A. Gwynn of this city and Dr. D. M. Toman of Syracuse, were the medical witnesses who testified in support of the plaintiff's claim. Tuesday the court allowed counsel for the defendant to send Dr. Fredrick Weston and William S. Cheesman of this city and Juliette E. Sanderlin of Syracuse to examine Mrs. Sanderlin. When they arrived at her home they found the three first named physicians and were refused an opportunity to examine the plaintiff. In the afternoon this was reported to the court and Justice Adams said that if the three physicians acting for the defense were not allowed to examine Mrs.

FOR MRS. KELLETT.

The jury returns a verdict of $3,250 on Mr. Sanderlin's behalf. The jury in the present term of Circuit court seem to be very much in favor of the plaintiff. First came the suit of John Hunter against the New York Central railroad in which he secured a verdict of $5,000. This was followed by a verdict of $4,400 for the plaintiff in the Gaylord-Beardsley suit and then came a verdict of $5,000 in the suit brought by Frances A. Coppernal against the village of Weedsport to recover damages for injuries sustained by falling through a hole in a sidewalk. It took the jury in the Kellett-Winslow slander suit just about two hours to arrive at an agreement and a verdict of $3,250 in favor of the plaintiff was rendered Thursday evening. A motion for a new trial upon the minutes was made by counsel for the defense and denied. A stay of 30 days was granted pending a motion for a new trial before the General Term. When the Kellett-Winslow case was concluded a jury was secured in the amount brought by Jeremiah Quill against the Empire State Telephone & Telegraph company. On June 27, 1894, a glass insulator fell from a telephone pole at the corner of Genesee and Exchange streets and struck Mr. Quill on the left shoulder. As a result of it, it is alleged, the left arm became paralyzed and Mr. Quill has since been unable to use it. He brought suit against the city for $10,000 but a non-suit was entered against him. This time he sues the telephone company, alleging that it was through its negligence that the insulator fell and caused the injury to him. Rich & Aiken are Mr. Quill's attorneys and Underwood, Storke & Seward are the attorneys for the defendant. It has been shown on the trial that the Western Union Telegraph company was allowed to use the left arm of the pole in question and use its own insulators. It was from the lower arm that the insulator was struck to the extent which struck Mr. Quill. The case has been sharply contested on both sides. At the conclusion of the plaintiff's side E. E. Storke moved a non-suit as the plaintiff had failed to establish a cause of action. This motion was denied. When proofs were all submitted Mr. Storke moved that the court direct a verdict for the defendant. After some discussion Justice Adams said that he thought the case should be submitted to the jury and at 1 o'clock court took a recess until 2 o'clock. Wright & Cushing, attorneys for Eleanor D. Gaylord, in her suit against the executors of the estate of the late Nelson Beardsley, made a motion for the delivery of the amended complaint to them. The motion will be argued later. Judge Huggitt, of counsel for the defense, made a motion for a new trial which will also be heard later, all proceedings being stayed pending the determination of that motion. The divorce suit of Helen O. Heald against Dorc Heald was referred to William H. Seward, jr. The Quill case was given to the jury at 3:30 Friday afternoon. The jury in the suit of Jeremiah Quill against the Empire State Telephone & Telegraph company was, like all the other juries in the Superior court, of Circuit court, a plaintiff's jury. In deliberations were brief and its verdict was that Mr. Quill would be reasonably compensated for the damages sustained by him if paid $4,000 by the company. Of course the defendants will appeal the case. James Jackson was arraigned on the indictment charging him with stealing a horse and buggy in Weedsport. He pleaded guilty. He said he had had no intention of stealing the horse but took it to drive to this city. Justice Adams sentenced him to six months' imprisonment in the county jail. In the suit of Caroline P. B. Woodruff as executrix against James H. Baldwin, the court directed a judgment of $183.87 for the plaintiff, no appearance being made by the defendant. Judgment for the plaintiff for $705.53 was ordered in the suit of John E. McIntosh against the Grand View Beach Railroad company owing to the non-appearance of counsel for the defense. The suit of A. Burr Van Eken against Milton Alger was dismissed. In the suit of Helen M. Sanderlin against Alfred N. Hollister and another, counsel for the defense moved that the plaintiff be compelled to name on what cause of action they proposed to try, whether that the plaintiff was a visitor of a customer at the store. The court held that Mrs. Sanderlin must be considered as a customer. After argument the clerk was directed to keep the papers in the Gaylord-Beardsley suit until Judge Underwood can be heard. Court then adjourned until Monday at 11 a. m. Circuit court reconvened Monday. The case of Helen M. Sanderlin against Alfred N. Hollister and another, to recover $20,000 for damages alleged to have been sustained by a fall down an elevator shaft at Hollister & Noble's store in Market street was called. Wright & Cushing are the attorneys for the plaintiff and Taber & Brandner for the defendant, with W. E. Huggitt as counsel. All of the time up to the noon recess was consumed in securing a jury. A motion for a new trial on the minutes was made by counsel for the defendant in the suit of Jeremiah Quill against the Empire State Telephone & Telegraph company. It will be argued and determined later, all proceedings being stayed meanwhile. An order of discontinuance was entered in the suit of Joel J. Bailey against Chauncey J. Wesley. The suit of Helen M. Sanderlin against Alfred N. Hollister and another, to recover $20,000 for injuries alleged to have been sustained by falling down the elevator shaft at Hollister & Noble's store in Market street took up all of Tuesday in Circuit court. Dr. C. O. Baker, Charles A. Gwynn of this city and Dr. D. M. Toman of Syracuse, were the medical witnesses who testified in support of the plaintiff's claim. Tuesday the court allowed counsel for the defendant to send Dr. Fredrick Weston and William S. Cheesman of this city and Juliette E. Sanderlin of Syracuse to examine Mrs. Sanderlin. When they arrived at her home they found the three first named physicians and were refused an opportunity to examine the plaintiff. In the afternoon this was reported to the court and Justice Adams said that if the three physicians acting for the defense were not allowed to examine Mrs.

MR. BURBY'S CASE.

At New York before the General Term of the Supreme Court, Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 17.—A case that is of considerable interest to the people of Auburn was argued before the General Term of the Supreme court which is sitting in the City hall this morning. It is a proceeding to review by certiorari the action of the Common Council of Auburn in removing William H. Burby from the office of city attorney of Auburn and to declare the office vacant. Mr. Burby was elected city attorney by the Common Council three terms. About two years ago a woman named Maude Marie V. Parcells brought an action against the city of Auburn for damages which she alleged she sustained by falling on a sidewalk. She got a verdict of $3,000 in the Supreme court. The Common Council directed Mr. Burby to appeal the case. He did it and judgment was affirmed. Some time ago he was accused of malfeasance and misfeasance in office, in neglecting his duty as city attorney in the management of the appeal taken by the city, neglecting to serve copies of the appeal books at the proper time, concealing and suppressing the contents of a stipulation regarding the time the case should be set for trial. At a meeting of the aldermen in September of last year Mr. Burby was removed from office. Lavern A. Pierce was elected his successor. Mr. Burby began proceedings to have the General Term of Supreme court review by certiorari the action of the Common Council and to declare the office vacant. The matter came up before the General Term of the Supreme court this morning. Ex-Surrogate John D. Teller of Auburn appeared for Mr. Burby. He argued that Mr. Burby had not neglected his duty in any way, that he had defended the suit brought by the Parcells woman to the best of his ability, and that the neglect to serve the appeal papers on the plaintiff's attorney was for the simple reason that the printer of the court books had been notified. Mr. Teller also said that the removal of Mr. Burby was simply a political scheme to install Mr. Pierce in the office of city attorney. He stated that when Mr. Burby was first chosen the office paid $900 a year and that while Mr. Burby was in the office the salary was raised to $1,500 and that Mr. Pierce was anxious to have the place on account of the raise of salary. Mr. Pierce appeared for the city. He argued that the Common Council was justified in removing Mr. Burby for his conduct in the case and stated that Burby had jeopardized the right and interests of the city of Auburn by failing to serve the appeal papers on the plaintiff's attorney. The papers were submitted and the judges will probably not render a decision until March.
