HARPER'S WEEKLY of last week contains an interesting article by Frederic Remington on the Indian troubles in the west, illustrated by sketches from photographs taken on the spot. The Ghost Dance is graphically depicted.

ANDREW L. HESS, of Ogdensburg, will be confined in the county jail shortly unless he furnishes $500 bail. He is held to appear before the grand jury charged with assaulting and wounding another man in the head with an axe.

HOLIDAY GREETING.—Be sure and call at the lower drug store and look at our complete line of Plush and Fancy goods before buying elsewhere. Rock-bottom prices. Remember the place: Frank P. Barber, druggist and pharmacist, lower drug store, Canton, New York.

NOTICE is hereby given that the regular annual meeting of the stockholders of The First National Bank of Canton, N. Y., for the purpose of electing Directors, will be held at the banking rooms of said association on Tuesday, January 13th, 1891, at 11 o'clock, a. m. W. N. BEARD, Cashier.

THE unexpected death of Amos Jones, of Boston, will be seen announced in another column. He was employed on the detective force in Boston and went to visit friends and while with them he was taken suddenly ill and died in twenty minutes. His death was the result of a wound in the breast received while in the war, from which he never recovered. The body was brought to Canton accompanied with the finest display of flowers ever seen in Canton.

CANTON has, does and will continue to furnish to the outside world, first class men for every avocation in life, as will be seen from the fact that Mr. L. J. Prescott, so well and favorably known to the citizens of Canton and vicinity, has recently been engaged to take the entire charge of the saw mill now being erected by Mr. J. Hurd at Tupper Lake. This mill will employ two hundred men, and cut two hundred and eighty thousand feet of lumber per day. While Mr. Prescott will retain his residence here we congratulate Mr. Hurd in securing his services as being the right man in the right place.

Christmas is coming! You want to buy presents that will be appreciated. Send the PLAINDEALER to a friend for a year, and at the same time reap the benefit of our great feast of fiction. See seventh page.

Ingalls, collector, who will receive taxes at The First National Bank, Canton, Mondays, Tuesdays, Fridays and Saturdays; at the Postoffice at Rosendale Falls, Wednesdays; and at Edwin's Hotel, Morley, Thursdays, for the next thirty days, commencing Dec. 9th.

WE begin this week the publication of a serial entitled "The Exiles." It is a story abounding in interest and will be peculiarly fascinating to those who have eagerly read of the lives of the political exiles in Siberia. Facts regarding the life of these unfortunate are skillfully interwoven with romance and tragedy. We can commend it to our readers believing that they will be benefited with a perusal of it. Look for the first chapters on the sixth page.

SOME weeks ago two enterprising World reporters made a quiet visit to the jail in Canton and interviewed Langevin, McDonald's pal, and took pictures of the jail. They then went to Canada and tried to work "scoop" by capturing McDonald themselves, but unfortunately failed. Monday's World has a six column article descriptive of the deeds of "Mac" and his pal. It is doubtful if either would recognize his own exploits, so vividly are they portrayed.

THE announcement of the death of Miss Libbie Southworth, of which notice is given in the obituary column, is sad to a great multitude of friends. Hers was a cheerful, sunny disposition, and she endured her long and lingering sickness with great fortitude and patience. She gradually faded away notwithstanding the skill of her physicians and the unremitting attention and affection of her parents, brothers and sisters, and died peacefully and happy. The sympathies of the community are with the afflicted members of this hitherto happy family in their sad bereavement.

At the annual meeting of the Canton fire department, held at Fireman's Hall Thursday evening, Dec. 5th, the following officers were elected: Homer Bailey, chief engineer; Wm. O. Place, 1st assistant; Ed. Aldrich, 2d assistant; Angus J. Lake, secretary; F. J. Chappel, treasurer; Asa Dailey, engineer; Chas. Colby, janitor. Silas Wright Engine Co.—Winfield S. Leonard, foreman; Geo. Rushton, 1st assistant; E. E. Stevens, 2d assistant. Hose Co. No. 1—Fred Gilson, foreman; Alvin Aldrich, 1st assistant; Angus J. Lake, 2d assistant; F. J. Wheeler, director. Hose Co. No. 2—Ansel Watson, foreman; Chas. Paige, 1st assistant; Chas. Rogers, 2d assistant.

Take our great offer in time! Many have done so, but you are yet "out". Read our gift offer on the seventh page, and then send in a dollar and a new name. It is a rare chance for lovers of choice fiction.

HOLIDAY GREETING.—Be sure and call at the lower drug store and look at our complete line of Plush and Fancy goods before buying elsewhere. Rock bottom prices. Remember the place: Frank P. Barber, druggist and pharmacist, lower drug store, Canton, New York.

FRANK BRAGDON died at his home in Canton on Friday last of consumption. He had the grip last winter and never completely recovered from it. He was a valiant member of the band and worked too hard at that, still farther increasing the trouble, as it afterwards proved. Last summer he had made arrangements to play with the band on the next forenoon, being in apparent good health, but that night he was taken with hemorrhages and from that time his decline has been rapid and sure, resulting in his death as stated above. The funeral was held at the house and was largely attended, as Frank had many friends.

A CARE of COOL, consolidated check occurred last week Saturday, when a young man, a stranger in town, went into E. L. Heaton's jewelry store in this place and asked to be allowed to look at some watches. As is the custom a lot of watches were handed out for his inspection and he was allowed to look them over. This he did for a few minutes and then grabbed one and bolted for the door. Mr. Stockton was behind the counter at the time, and by the time he got to the door all that he could see of the man was his coat tails vanishing around the corner of Hodekin street, where all trace of him was lost. He did not show good judgment, as the watch selected by him was not of sufficient value for him to run the risk that he did, but there was this about it, that it was also not of sufficient value to warrant any expense by Mr. Heaton in its recovery. The fellow is reported to have been about eighteen years old, wore a slight mustache, and looked as though he was from the country. Look out for him.

MANY will watch with a good deal of interest the result of the action by the Board of Supervisors relative to the employment of the prisoners confined in the county jail, at hard labor. The trouble will not be to find work that the men can do or to find men who will work and earn good wages, but it will be in getting any contractor to employ them, especially if he holds his office through the votes of the people, as these men commonly use an office in such a way as to gain a re-election, and they will not feel that it will help their cause any to hire these men as long as there are other laborers to be had. Of course there are many ways that these county charges can be employed; they can be put out haying, at work in the lumber woods, or in a multitude of other ways, but here there will be difficulty in properly guarding them from escape. They could be employed to the best advantage by the street and highway commissioners, but the trouble mentioned above will be found here. Sheriff Backus has had some lively times after runaway prisoners, and it looks as though when this change is put into active practice there will be an opportunity for him to get more than enough exercise unless he is careful in the selection of the prisoners he puts out to work. The Sheriff is satisfied that it can be done and that it will save the county a good round sum during the year.

If you are intending to build a veranda, go to D. A. & W. A. Moore, Potsdam, for Turned Posts and Spindles.
