

Missionary Society Meets At Morley

The Missionary Society of the Wesleyan Methodist church met with Mrs. Charlotte Rymer Friday afternoon. The minutes of Mrs. Russell Frase presided at the devotional and business meeting which opened with a song, call to prayer. Scripture reading was the 13th chapter of 1st Corinthians from the Philippi translation. Home missions was the topic of the day. Mrs. Fred Rowen told about the mission work in the Cumberland mountains at Zions Hill. Luge Mission, Means Mission and Wheel Rim.

Mrs. Archie McDonald told of the work in the Blue Ridge mountains at Glenville, Tucka-goe, Buck Creek. These missions were founded by people who started with little money for construction of churches and who started one mission and after that was going good they would go on to other parts to do likewise. The mode of travel was on foot and sometimes they had a mule.

Sunday School was held in school houses.

Mrs. Frase told about the Hepzibah orphanage at Macon, Ga. There is a farm connected with it where part of the maintenance comes from and the remainder is financed by offerings from missionary societies. At present there are thirty children living at the home but at times there are as many as fifty.

Members are requested to bring their self denial boxes at the next meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. Max Henry.

Those who attended were Mrs. Russell Frase, Mrs. Anna MacFadden, Mrs. Gertrude Frauton, Mrs. George Woodbridge, Mrs. Mary Wheeler, Mrs. Charles Sherman, Mrs. Miller Nelson, Mrs. George Karn, Mrs. Fred Rowen, Mrs. Anna Lawrence, Mrs. Robert Becker, Mrs. Archie McDonald, Miss Emma Stevenson, Mrs. Max Henry.

A quilt pieced and set together by the ladies is ready to tie. The women sewed rags for rugs which have a ready sale.

Mrs. Josephine Giffin, 101, Dies In Potsdam, Born In Log Cabin

Mrs. Josephine Giffin, 101 one of the oldest residents of northern New York, died Monday morning at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr and Mrs. Arthur Senter, 2 Pleasant street, Potsdam.

Mrs. Giffin, who was born in a log cabin near Canton, had been in a coma since Friday night when she suffered a cerebral hemorrhage while reading her Bible at home.

Mrs. Giffin, who would have been 102 next Sept. 21, retained a keen mind and had an interest in world and civic affairs in recent years.

Mrs. Giffin was born in the town of Canton, Sept. 21, 1855, a daughter of James H. and Ruby Gifford Taggart. Her parents were pioneers of the Canton-Potsdam area.

At the age of 20 she was married to D. E. Moore, an agent of the New York Central railroad for many years. Two children were born to them, Claude Moore of Antwerp, and Mrs. Senter D. E. Moore died in 1897.

Two years later Mrs. Giffin was married to Marshall Giffin. They lived at a farm near Eben until he died in 1905. Later Mrs. Giffin purchased a home on Pleasant street, Potsdam, where she had lived since.

At the age of 100, Mrs. Giffin was very active. She helped with housework, knitted and read daily newspapers even when she entered her second century of life.

During her earlier life Mrs. Giffin had been an artist in oil painting and an expert in such activities as crocheting, embroidery, knitting and rug making. One of her hobbies was raising canaries many of which she sold.

In recent years she spent much time braiding rugs. She gave this up a few years ago. Members of her family during the past few years received knit pairs of socks made by Mrs. Giffin.

During the summer months Mrs. Giffin often spent some time at the Senter cottage at Higley Flow.

Mrs. Giffin's son, Claude Moore, is in the undertaking business with his son, Roger, at Antwerp.

Besides her son and daughter Mrs. Giffin is survived by three grandchildren, Arnold Senter, New Jersey; Mrs. Roscoe (Corcne) Haller, Montgomery, Ala.; Roger Moore, Antwerp, and four great-grandchildren.

To Reconstruct DeKalb Jct.-Rens. Falls Road

John W. Johnson State Superintendent of Public Works today (Feb. 28) announced receipt of a low bid of $37,865.25 from Troy Slag Products Co., Inc. Troy, for reconstruction of the 5.84 mile DeKalb Junction-Rensselaer Falls town road starting at Rensselaer Falls and extending southeastward to Route 11 near DeKalb Junction. Four bids were received.

The new road will consist of 18-foot wide graded gravel pavement. Included will be construction of a new 100 foot long concrete beam bridge over Little Creek just outside Rensselaer Falls. The bridge will have a 24 foot wide pavement.

Also included in the project will be alterations and additions to existing drainage structure and facilities, construction of driveway entrances, protection of guide posts and table under railings, and miscellaneous other related work.

Work is expected to get under way in about a month following a check by State engineers of all bids received. If the low bid is declared acceptable after this review, a formal award of the contract will be made and necessary contract forms will be processed. The time lag between receipt of bids and contract execution is normally three weeks.

Scheduled for completion by November 1, all work will be under the supervision of Robert W. Sweet, District Engineer in charge of the Department's dis-

4-H LEADERS MEETING

MARCH 14TH AT 7 P. M.

The spring meeting for 4-H leaders who are teaching clothing projects will take place on Thursday evening, March 14, at the Methodist church in Canton, beginning at 7 p. m.

At this time leaders will have the opportunity to make collars, facings, and to try several easy to make belts. There will also be time to work on various types of covered buttons.

The teaching job of the New York State Extension Service is based on helping rural people to train themselves to improve their farm life. This is done through the training of present farmers and homemakers, and through the development of future leaders in 4-H clubs.
