

Gorgeous Indian Summer Hailed by Chest Canvassers

Campaign In Most Zestful Stage With All Hands Busy, and Spurred By Extraordinary Sacrifices Encountered Here and There as Men and Women Rally to Meet Obligations

Skies smiled benignly today upon the army of Community Chest workers, who took advantage of admirable weather to canvass a maximum number of prospect cards in Auburn's effort to raise $88,800 for welfare and charitable work during 1932. Though there was no report luncheon today, William E. Haefner, campaign chairman, stated that informal check-ups by captains indicated that real progress has been made since the first report yesterday noon, when subscriptions of $12,950.50 were turned in.

At tomorrow's luncheon at the Hotel Osborne, marking the half way mark in the drive, campaign leaders are hopeful that workers will report the majority of the prospect cards canvassed.

Workers are already bringing in unusual stories of the self sacrifice which many Auburnians are displaying in meeting their obligation to the less fortunate. Yesterday one worker reported that a woman prospect who had given last year was adamant in refusing to subscribe this year because she herself was in more straitened circumstances. Today the same woman telephoned to Chairman Haefner, asking him to send a solicitor on a return trip and she would subscribe as before. Her conduct, she said, spurred her to real sacrifice.

Chief Broadcasts.
D. E. French, one of the leading workers for Auburn's Community Chest, spoke over radio station WMOB last evening, appealing for a generous response in the campaign now under way. Tonight at 8:20 A. J. Lauer will broadcast in behalf of the Chest. In his talk last night Mr. French said:

"Last May, in Washington, D. C., there was celebrated the anniversary of fifty years of Red Cross service to the people of the United States. The American Red Cross was organized in 1881, to aid in the prevention and alleviation of human suffering in times of war and peace."

"In accordance with its charter, the Red Cross Chapter in Cayuga County is carrying on the Home Service program which was established in 1917 to assist the men who fought in the World War. During the past year the secretary has interviewed and assisted over 900 veterans to secure disability compensation, hospitalization, or other benefits provided by the government. It is truly said that every time the Congress enacts new legislation in behalf of the ex-servicemen, the work and responsibilities of the Red Cross are increased."

"The prevention and alleviation of human suffering is a fundamental peace time activity of the Red Cross. Our chapter equipment includes a loan closet in which clothing, bedding, layettes, maternity packages and disaster relief supplies are kept, ready for emergency use in Auburn. The volunteer service makes surgical dressings and supplies for the Auburn City Hospital and provides

Gives Cow in Lieu of Cash

A cow, tuberculin tested and in prime condition, is the latest unique contribution to the Auburn Community Chest.

One high powered solicitor, approaching a man who lives outside the city but does business in Auburn, found the offering hard. Finally the prospect offered a cow to end the discussion. And he was taken up on the matter. Today a committee from the Chest visited the farm to look over the animal and determine whether the Chest would sell it for slaughter, or as an addition to somebody's herd.

ROTARY HEARS DISCIPLE OF ENTHUSIASM

'Have a Purpose in Life,' He Advises—Scorns Chronic Kickers and the Prideful

"Have a purpose in life; cultivate a joy in living; be enthusiastic. You live in a great and prosperous country, among surroundings that are conducive to happiness." Such was the burden of an unusual "pep" talk delivered with gusto at the noon meeting of the Auburn Rotary Club in the Osborne Hotel today by Edward T. Bailey of California. His subject was "Full Speed Ahead." He told a number of amusing stories and held the interest of the Rotarians every minute.

Mr. Bailey reviewed some of the mighty strides that are recorded in America and declared that the present economic pinch is but a passing phase. Depression, he stated, has become an outlaw word. He heaped scorn upon chronic groaners and pessimists and advocated cheerfulness as an antidote for sluggishness and doubt.

"If you have a toothache do not go around telling the world about it," he said. "Other people have toothaches but suffer in silence."

Mr. Bailey also ridiculed men who are proudful because of education or wealth and who refuse to greet their fellow men cheerily and refrain from doing anything to promote community weal.

"Have a purpose in life and swing into things with other men with enthusiasm," he advised. "Pep," he said, has a three-W definition—Purpose, enthusiasm and perspiration.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 10.—(P)—Paul Ryan, 28, of Camillus, was found dead this morning, shot through the neck by his own shotgun, in underbrush in the Otisco Lake Region by a searching party of 100, organized after he failed to return from a rabbit hunting expedition.
