Lancers Cop Skaneateles Parade Prize

The Purple Lancers Junior Drum Corps was awarded a $150 cash prize Monday as the best drum corps participating in a Skaneateles parade sponsored by the Skaneateles Fire Department.

Second place and $100 cash went to the Satan's Angels of Seneca Falls. The Motiville Drum Corps took third place and received a $50 prize.

The Onawaco Fire Department won two trophies in the competition for the most men in line—36, and second place for the best appearing group in sports attire.

The Westport Fire Department took first for the best appearing group in sports clothing.

The Meridian Fire Department, which had a vintage hand pumper dated 1890 in the parade, placed first in the most colorful outfit category.

The Jordan and Elbridge fire-fighters took first and second place respectively in the full dress uniform competition. The Elbridge Ladies Auxiliary was awarded the trophy for the best appearing ladies group.

The Montezuma, Sennett, Port Byron and Union Springs fire departments also had contingents in the 40-minute parade.

The Skaneateles Lions Club copped the first place trophy for the best float. The float depicted the organization's interest in aiding the blind.

The Skaneateles Central School band led the parade. Other schools with bands in the parade were Jordan, Elbridge Central School and Marcellus Central School. The W. Mynderse-Rice Post, American Legion, had its engine in the parade.

The Syracuse Kitties, a pipe band, and the Skyrup Drill Team of Syracuse University, which won a trophy as the best drill team, both gave demonstrations at Austin Park after the parade.

A crowd estimated at between 4,000 and 5,000 saw the parade wind its way through the village to Austin Park where the firemen had tents set up for their various concessions and games. A 10 p.m. fireworks display closed the festivities.

However, this was to be expected in view of their youthfulness and brevity of experience.

Some of the groups did not yet "jell" probably because they had not been performing long enough as a group.

The Villagers did "jell" in all facets of their performance and their forte was vocal harmonization on the order of that of The Beatles.

Bloodmobile Set at CRC Sept. 11

The development of new ways for using blood has greatly increased the demand, according to local American Red Cross officials.

It is hoped the Red Cross bloodmobile scheduled for Monday, Sept. 11 at Columbian Rope Company, 309 Genesee St., will collect a large amount of blood to help maintain the supply needed for Cayuga County residents.

The hours are from 11 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. and it is open to the public.

A unit of blood has become more than a unit of blood. It is a raw material that can be separated into four or more fractions to help patients suffering from a variety of diseases.

Instead of giving the entire unit of blood as a transfusion, the red cells are separated from the plasma to meet needs of patients for such cells. From the blood plasma other blood components are extracted, each useful for a different condition.

The Red Cross says that the new method yields several products:

- 1. Packed red cells, which are best used in most cases where transfusions are required.
- 2. Blood platelets, which can be used to prolong the lives of persons suffering from leukemia and other diseases caused by platelet deficiencies.
- 3. Plasma, the fluid part of the blood in which the platelets and red and white cells are suspended.
- 4. Important derivatives processed from plasma are:
  - 1. Antihemophilic factor (AHF) which can stop the otherwise uncontrollable bleeding of hemophilia.
  - 2. Gamma globulin, helpful in fighting infectious diseases.
  - 3. Serum albumin, useful in controlling shock and protein deficiency.
  - 4. Fibrinogen, used to control bleeding in childbirth caused by a deficiency of this factor.

The new technique, referred to as component therapy, allows maximum mileage out of every pint of blood and provides what the patient lacks and needs.

In many cases, component therapy has increased the number of pints of blood needed. For instance, 12 units of whole blood are needed to make one unit of fibrinogen.

'Battle of the Bands' Turns Into Bedlam

By AL BACHTA

Loyalty to their favorite rock groups turned a quiet and attentive group of teen-agers into a screaming mob during the closing minutes of a "battle of the bands" Sunday afternoon at the Auburn Theatre.

The battle of the bands suddenly became a battle of the bands fans when the show came down to the wire as a contest between the apparent favorite Auburn group, The Villagers, and the group considered the best by the judges and some of the fans, The Ridgewoods of Skaneateles.

A majority of the 600 teenagers who sat quietly through most of the competition enjoying the entertainment became rabid partisans during the final round of the competition.

When The Ridgewoods were announced winners by the judges, the crowd surged towards the stage and two girls made it to the stage to embrace their young "heroes." Fans of The Villagers were still voicing their disappointment over the judges' decision and the belief that "their" group was the best in the competition on as they left the theater.

Most of the groups in the competition showed talent and future promise. Musical talent was displayed by all the groups although the singing of some of groups left much to be desired.

The winning group showed ability in both the "hard rock sound" and the slower "rock ballad." They were strong on intricate guitar work and rhythm and blues styling.

The group with the most showmanship was The Warlocks of Port Byron. They were outclassed musically by The Villagers in the second round of competition.

The winner in the first of three rounds of competition and also in the final competition was another Skaneateles group, Brand X.

The other groups competing in the "battle" were The Key Breads of Wolcott, The Concordes, The Eastern Standards, The Newkirks and The Limit, all Auburn groups.
