

ALL-STARS TOP MARCELLUS, 14-7

The All-Stars Baseball Club stepped over to Marcellus Saturday afternoon to cross bats with the league team of that town and the local athletes showed fine form in handing the leaguers a decisive 14 to 7 beating. The Auburn nine bunched hits to score in all but two innings. The All-Stars were the first club at bat and in their half of the first inning they earned three runs on some solid base hits and as the game advanced the Auburn team continued to keep up in front although the village nine made two strong threats for victory in the closing innings.

Murphy pitched good ball for the Stars and his slants were handled well by Pete Mantell behind the plate. The Stars infield seemed bound to keep pulling off sensational plays which cut off base hits and runs for the Marcellus team. Corredogras, Whiting and Surber engineered some sparkling infield plays while Corkery handled some high long drives in the outfield. McClarn at first base and Sullivan in right field featured for Marcellus at fielding.

The lineups:

Auburn				Marcellus

BOXING NOTES

Chicago, July 2.—(AP)—With his title battle in defense of his title just a month away, Sammy Mandell, world lightweight champion, is finding difficulty in getting down to 135 pounds.

The titleholder, who will give Tony Canzoneri, former featherweight champion, a shot at his crown August 2 at Chicago stadium, weighs more than 140 pounds now and is seeking a training camp site here. He had been working in his gymnasium at Rockford, Ill., his home.

New York, July 2.—Humbert Fugazy, boxing promoter, today started a sort of habeas corpus proceedings before the New York State Athletic Commission today to compel the Madison Square Garden Corporation to produce Max Schmeling whenever Fugazy sees fit to toss him into the ring with Phil Scott, the gender-sected London ladder climber.

All of which means that the old argument over priority rights to the Berlin bruiser's services, which died down to a whisper while Schmeling was preparing to fight for himself and for charity, Pauline Uendun, the burly Basque will fare amez when the signor steps onto the carpet and makes formal application for a date for the Schmeling-Scott fight which the commission already has approved.

As a counter move, to keep Schmeling fighting under Garden colors, Matchmaker Tom McArdle will ask the commission to define Max's status. McArdle is anxious to send the German against Jack Sharkey in Yankee stadium in September but cannot make a move in that direction until Max straightens himself out with the boxing fathers and Herman Von Beulow—his estranged manager of record.

Syracuse, July 2.—The complete card arranged by Matchmaker Waldron amateur ring fans at the Alhambra Friday night follows:

Eddie Dempsey, Syracuse, main bout six rounds.

Jimmie Jones, Rochester, vs. Eddie Martin, Binghamton, semi-final, six rounds.

Benny Odell, Baldwinville, vs. Johnny Madden, Rochester, six rounds.

Patsy James, Syracuse vs. Frankie Martino, Elmira, four rounds.

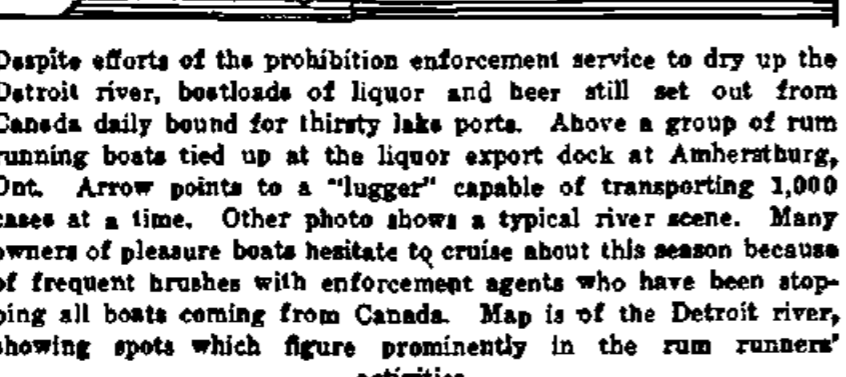

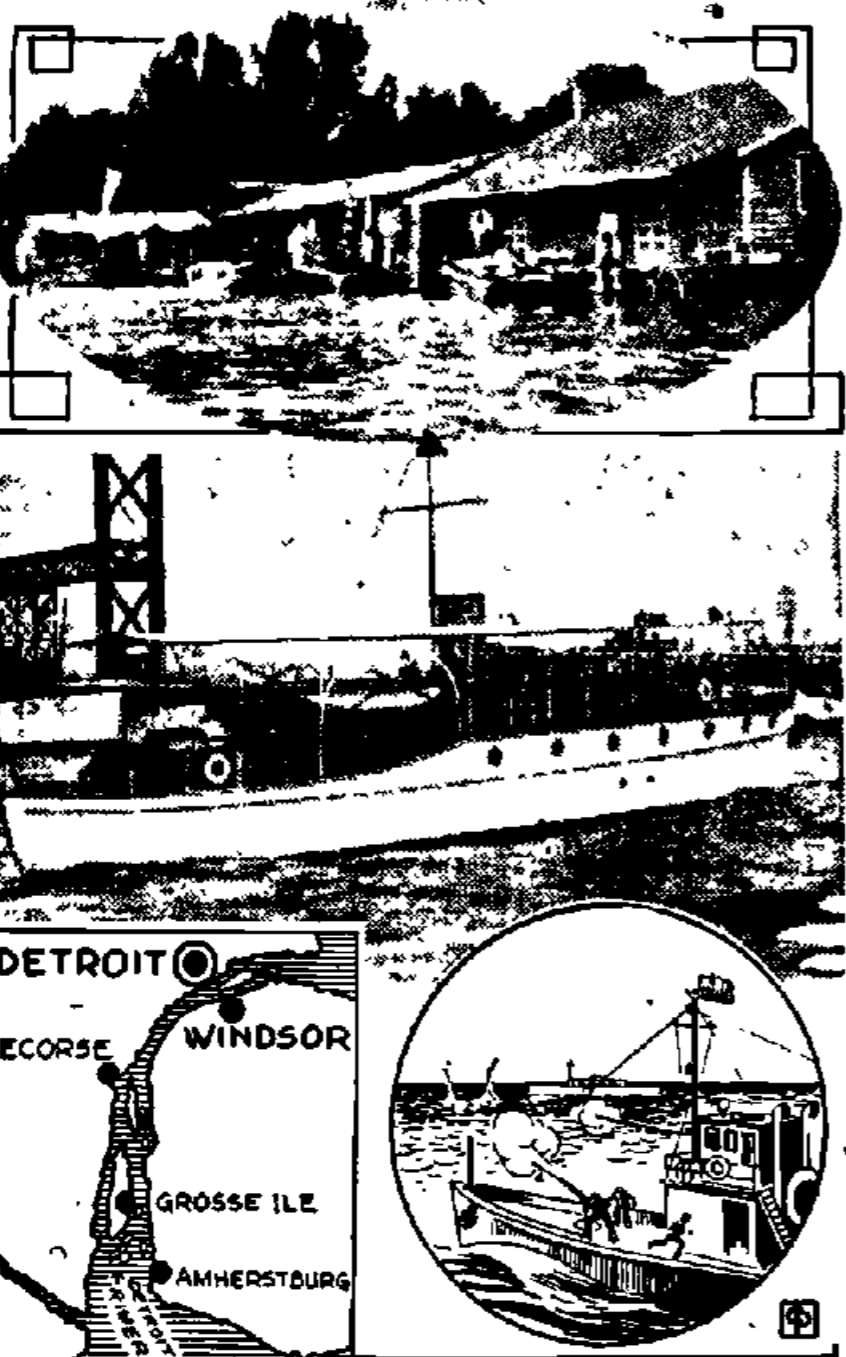

Joe Marsh, Auburn, vs. Tony Fedora, Fulton, four rounds.

Johnny Savage, Baldwinville, vs. Young Neville, Syracuse, curtain-raiser, four rounds.

In all there will be 30 rounds of milking with every boy on the bill a seasoned performer, the Alhambra A. C. officials believe action will be forthcoming from the opening gong until the bell clangs for the close of the Dempsey-Blackjack feature.

New York—Dr. Paul A. Lewis, pathologist associated with the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, has died in Bahia, Brazil, of yellow fever, contracted while trying to find a more efficient method of preventing the disease. He was 50 years old.

WHERE THE RUM RUNNERS RUN

Despite efforts of the prohibition enforcement service to dry up the Detroit river, bestloads of liquor and beer still set out from Canada daily bound for thirsty lake ports. Above a group of rum running boats tied up at the liquor export dock at Amherstburg, Ont. Arrow points to a "lugger" capable of transporting 1,000 cases at a time. Other photo shows a typical river scene. Many owners of pleasure boats hesitate to cruise about this season because of frequent brushes with enforcement agents who have been stopping all boats coming from Canada. Map is of the Detroit river, showing spots which figure prominently in the rum runners' activities.

DIAMOND DUST

By Herbert W. Barker
Associated Press Sports Writer.

The Fourth of July, time-honored point for taking pennant soundings, is close at hand and if baseball tradition holds true neither the New York Yankees nor the St. Louis Cardinals will repeat their major league championship victories of last year.

Baseball tradition has it that the leaders on July 4 are the pennant winners of late September. There have been exceptions to this rule but they have been surprisingly few and far between.

As the races stand now neither the Yankees nor the Cardinals can reach the top of their respective leagues by July 4. The Yankee es languish in third place in the American League, nine full games back of the league-leading Philadelphia Athletics. The Cardinals trail the Chicago Cubs, pace-setters of the National circuit by five games.

Whatever happens between now and Independence Day, the Athletics cannot be ousted from the American League lead. The Cubs' hold on first place in the National League is not secure. Donie Bush's Pittsburgh Pirates, trailing by only half a game.

The National League situation remained in status quo yesterday as the Cubs and Cardinals, meeting in the league's only battle, struggled to a 11-11 draw called at the end of the sixth inning to allow the Cardinals to grab a train for Pittsburgh. Six pitchers—to give them their official title—saw service in the shortened fray and among them granted 29 safeties. Riggs Stephenson, Cubs' outfielder was the batting star of the day. He crashed out two home runs and a double and drove seven runs.

In the American League, the Yankees barely escaped dropping a little further in the race. Benny Paschal's pinch home run with Koenig on base in the seventh gave the Boston Red Sox Paschal's homer enabled the Yanks to shake the spell that Bayne had woven over them this season. Bayne already had beaten the champions twice and seemed to be well on the way to a third victory when Paschal came through. Herb Pennock was given credit for the verdict although he was out of the game when the winning runs were scored, Paschal being a pinch batsman for him.
