Tailors Expect Business Rise As Strikers End

Wholesale Canners Settle 10-Day Dispute—Union

Reports Increase in Pay

Yonkers women proposed hikes for an increase in cleaning andibing businesses. As 'Friday strike which had lasted 10 days was called off, and the employer agreed to a five per cent wage increase in the baking business. The agreement was reached at the end of the strike. The employer agreed to raise wages and to continue the strike if the workers refused to accept the contract. The Workers' Union local 339 was represented by Robert Goodwillie, and the Palisades Canners by Mr. A. B. Avery. The union members said they were satisfied with the agreement and that it would be put into effect.
